New Raids Spare Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — United States planes resumed attacks on North Vietnam's southern panhandle below the 20th parallel today after a 36-hour halt for New Year's, the U.S. command announced.

The bombing halt above the 20th parallel, which includes Hanoi and Haiphong, remained in effect. It was ordered by President Nixon Saturday in preparation for the resumption of secret peace negotiations in Paris next Monday.

A communique said air operations over North Vietnam resumed at 1 p.m. [illegible] gave no details, but U.S. officials said the bombers were attacking supply routes below the 20th parallel to slow the annual dry-season push of war material across the demilitarized zone and through Laos into South Vietnam.

The U.S. command also reported that bombing operations were resumed in South Vietnam at dusk Monday after a 24-hour holiday halt.

The pattern was the same during the Christmas ceasefire, and again there was no explanation why the halt in North Vietnam lasted 12 hours longer.

The command said that, from dusk Monday until dawn today, U.S. planes made 44 strikes in South Vietnam, all but two of them in the northern quarter of the country below the DMZ.

During the bombing cessation in South and North Vietnam, U.S. air attacks shifted to the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos, Hanoi's main supply route southward, and to supply lines and base camps in Cambodia, the command said.

U.S. planes also flew missions in support of Laotian forces battling North Vietnamese troops in the Plain of Jars, in northeast Laos, the communique said.

Radio Hanoi said that a B-52 RA-5C reconnaissance plane was shot down Sunday in Quang Binh, North Vietnam's southernmost province. It did not mention the fate of the crew. The U.S. command said it had no plane losses to report.

Peace at Any Cost Is Plea from Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul appealed Monday in a year-end speech for peace "at any cost," expressing "the wish that the new year may be a year of refound and strengthened peace."

Speaking from the window of his Vatican study, the pontiff expressed good wishes "for those countries which we all know are still suffering with the desire that the conflicts which torment them may have an honest, humane and happy conclusion."

"Peace is possible, must be possible, we must want it at any cost," he said.

The 75-year-old pontiff's voice was weaker only occasionally in the 10-minute speech to about 5,000 persons in St. Peter's Square. But because of the flu, he cancelled a scheduled mass at the Don Orione Institute for crippled children two miles from the Vatican.

Syrian Jets Engage Israelis in Dogfight

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Syrian jet planes battled today and the Israeli military command said it knocked down one Soviet-built MiG-21 fighter.

The Israelis said a dogfight developed when Syrian aircraft attempted to intercept Israeli planes on patrol.

In Beirut, Lebanese military sources said two Syrian MiGs were shot down.

The Israeli announcement did not indicate whether any Israeli planes were hit while on patrol today but said all its planes returned.

The Syrian-Israeli ceasefire line has been tense since Nov. 21 when the heaviest fighting in more than two years erupted.

Arab guerrillas slipped into Israeli-held territory from Syria three times at Christmas, the Israelis said, prompting an Israeli air raid on Syria last Wednesday.

The Syrians responded with an artillery attack on Israeli positions and settlements on the Golan Heights Saturday. The Israelis replied with a night air raid on a Syrian army camp.

The Israelis have shot down 40 Syrian planes since the Six-Day Mideast war.

It was the first air battle since Nov. 21, when the Israelis said they knocked down six Syrian MiG-21s.

'Bloody Clutches of Great Powers' Assailed by World Church Leader

BANGKOK (AP) — The general secretary of the World Council of Churches accused the United States and the Soviet Union today of using their power to divide the world into spheres of influence and of being involved in all the tragic conflicts of recent years.

Dr. Philip Potter, speaking at an 11-day conference of the council, in this Thai capital told 300 church leaders from 70 countries:

"We have seen many wars in which these powers have been involved, in Vietnam, India, Pakistan, Nigeria, the Middle East, the Sudan and elsewhere.

"No nation, however weak or insignificant, has escaped or can escape the bloody clutches of the great powers."

Dr. Potter, a West Indian also said that Christians have become ambivalent about violence. He spoke of violence in existing constitutional systems and the counter-violence of those seeking liberation from the injustice of those systems.

"When Africans, Asians and Latin Americans decide to use violence against the repressive attitudes and actions of foreign powers or the regime which rules them, they are hastily urged by Westerners to be docile and forbearing," he said.

Lauderdale's 'Normal Night' Sees 30 Arrests

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police said Monday night was "normal" as they made between 25 and 30 separate arrests in a beachfront area where 36 persons were arrested in a riot involving 1,000 youths earlier in the day.

About 150 police and sheriff's deputies clashed with about 5,000 young persons before dawn Monday in a melee touched off by a barroom arrest. Police termed the clash a "general riot" that produced 27 injuries.

Brady said those involved in the riot were mostly tourists and New Year's revellers. Monday night's crowd was mostly local youths, he said.

"It's not a normal " Monday night—no way, shape or form in comparison to last night," said Police Chief William Brady, the commander of the police substation on the beach.

Irish Guns Slay Three

BELFAST (AP) — Ireland's gunmen began 1973 with the murder of a young Roman Catholic couple in the Irish republic, an ambush in Northern Ireland in which one Catholic was killed and two were wounded and a rocket attack on a Belfast police station.

A farmer in the republic two miles from the border with Northern Ireland reported he heard 15 shots and a girl's scream about 2 a.m. Monday. Police found the body of darkhaired Brigid Porter, 24, lying across the corpse of her fiance, Oliver Roonce, 26, in a field. A few hours earlier, they had been dancing at a village festival.

Sources said both had been expelled recently from the Irish Republican Army, and there was speculation the guerrilla army had killed them as traitors. But the IRA denied this, and local opinion was that they were the victims of Protestants from Northern Ireland.

Three Shot Over Parking

NEW YORK (AP) — Infuriated at being edged out for a parking space by another car, a woman pulled out a pistol and shot all three occupants of the other car, killing one of them, police said. She was being sought.

The shooting Monday followed an argument on the street over who had rights to the parking spot, police said.

Police said the woman and a male companion fled the scene in their car.

McKee Beats Moore For One

Oshawa right winger Dave McKee still has the puck on his stick but a second later it was behind Bobcats' goalie Bob Moore in Metro Junior "B" hockey action Saturday night. McKee's unassisted effort tied up the score 3-3 and was the beginning of the Legionaires' march to a 5-3 lead at the start of the third period. The game, however, went to the Bobcats in a 6-5 final as Belleville tallied three goals in the third.

Abstaining Dangerous

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy drinkers are warned by an expert against getting too enthusiastic about New Year's resolutions to quit suddenly. Dr. Eugene LeBlanc of the Addiction Research Foundation advises them to consult a doctor before quitting liquor outright because a sudden stop to alcohol intake could endanger their lives. Dr. LeBlanc said the bottle-a-day man who stops without medical supervision is taking "a significant health risk." It is more dangerous for an alcoholic to cut off suddenly without medication than for a heroin addict to quit, he said.

Oops

HAMILTON (CP) — Detective Sergeant Garry Nelson knocked over a small bottle of fluid Saturday night and police immediately evacuated a dozen nearby homes. After a few drops of the liquid had been taken gingerly to a police laboratory, it was found to be nitro-glycerine. The two owners in the knocked-over bottle in a house being searched, with another bottle of the same quantity, were neutralized and burned.

Three Nations Join Euromart On New Year's

BRUSSELS (AP) — Nine flags flew outside the headquarters of the European Common Market today after Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined the world's richest trading club.

There was little fanfare to mark the enlargement of the European Economic Community on New Year's Day.

Prime Minister Edward Heath called Britain's entry into the EEC a "tremendous opportunity" and predicted that enthusiasm over membership will increase as the advantages become clearer.

The conservative Danish newspaper Jyllands Posten/ casitioned: "What we will see is a gradual process of change and adaptation which many will feel murderously slow."

The Irish government issued a special stamp, and Prime Minister Jack Lynch declared:

"It is my belief that many of the economic and social differences which exist between north and south Ireland will rapidly disappear when we have fully adopted to community membership."

In the immediate future, Danish and Irish farmers stand to gain from high food prices. Britain, with only a small farm population, is seeking new opportunities for its industry that could increase production and jobs.

All the Common Market countries, including the original six—France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—have given up some of their independence.

The basic arrangement is that of a customs union. All members let in each other's goods without duty and charge the same import taxes on goods from outside the trading bloc.

Five Die at Edmonton

Plane Wrecked Making Landing

EDMONTON (CP) — Five persons were killed early today when a Flying Western Airlines Boeing 707 air cargo plane crashed during the final phases of an instrument-approach landing at Edmonton International Airport.

The plane, which carried five crew members, was destroyed in the ensuing fire during a blizzard. Temperatures in the area at the time were near zero, with blowing snow and winds gusting near 60 miles an hour.

A PWA spokesman said it was originally believed that a fifth person was aboard the aircraft but this was not the case.

The five crew members were all from Vancouver.

Five hours after the crash RCMP had managed to get one investigator available into the crash scene. The lone officer had managed to find three bodies but was having difficulty locating other victims because drifting snow was covering the wreckage. No names were released.

Insp. Jack Wylie of the RCMP's Leduc detachment said the air traffic controller was on watch of trees, exploded and burned.

Insp. Wylie said the plane was transporting 75 head of cattle from eastern Canada. It was to have stopped at Edmonton to refuel before continuing overseas with its shipment of livestock.

The plane hit power lines as it went down on the north shore of Telford Lake one mile east of Leduc and west of the south edge of the airport, about 20 miles south of Edmonton.

A department of transport spokesman said the crash site is in open farmland sprinkled with the odd patch of bush and trees—actually was in the general vicinity of the flight path for the runway that would have been in use at the time.

Harry Herbert, PWA's director of public relations at Edmonton, said there was a complete airport power failure at a critical period of approach. It deprived the 707 of vital electrically-powered ground navigational aids, and runway lights, he said.

Mr. Herbert said that at the time of the power failure the plane was three miles southsoutheast of the airport.

Insp. Wylie confirmed there had been a 15-second power failure at the airport.

But he said officials wouldn't be able to determine whether it had any connection with the crash until the plane's flight recorder had been recovered and the time of the crash compared with the time of the power failure.

The department of transport spokesman discussed a report that the power failure had caused the crash. A more likely possibility was that the cargo plane had hit power lines when it went down.

RCMP said they plan to bring in tracking dogs to search for the remaining bodies.

The plane left the radar screen at the airport at 1:34 a.m. MST. Confirmation from the control tower and RCMP that there were no survivors came shortly before 4 a.m.

Timmins, Windsor Teachers May Skip School Tomorrow

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Lambton County's 527 secondary school teachers agreed Saturday to return to work Wednesday after they reached a tentative contract settlement with the county's board of education. However, 1,140 other Ontario teachers still may skip classes.

High school teachers in Timmins and Windsor and separate elementary school teachers in Essex County have not accepted their boards' proposals on the issues of salary and job security and many have threatened to resign.

Metro Toronto's 2,000 separate elementary school teachers have been working to rule since early December despite the board's "goodwill" gesture of a 6.3-per-cent pay raise to end the dispute.

Toronto teachers received between $5,000 and $16,000 in 1972 and are demanding a 17.4-per-cent increase. They were offered a 12.17-per-cent raise in November.

In the Windsor area, 375 of 429 Essex County separate school teachers say they will resign if a salary dispute is not settled. They received from $5,200 to $14,000 in 1972.

The Essex County Separate School Board has made no plans to keep its schools open in the event of mass resignations but the Windsor board of education will run high school classes with administrative personnel and 142 of 790 secondary teachers who have not submitted resignations.

Negotiations between the board and the teachers of Windsor's 14 high schools were to continue today. The current salary range is $7,600 to $15,400.

Negotiations continue between the Timmins Board of Education and 244 secondary school teachers, 217 of whom have threatened to resign. The board has made plans to open classes with administrative personnel if teachers fail to return to work.

New Flight Recorder Recovered

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Federal officials say a sophisticated, new flight-data recorder will help investigators determine why an Eastern Air Lines TriStar jetliner plunged into the Everglades swamp with 176 persons aboard.

Ed Slattery, spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board, said the recorder was recovered Monday, at the site of the wrecked Lockheed 1011 aircraft that crashed Friday night on a New York-to-Miami flight.

"This recorder has 64 value inputs, and it's the first time it has been used," Slattery said. "The previous ones gave only five, principally speed, altitude and heading."

He said a "myriad of details" on the stresses and operation of the plane's systems will be provided by the recorder.

After being analysed by Lockheed in Ontario, Calif., the information will be correlated with the cockpit voice tapes and those from the air-traffic-control tower.

Another system, called Automatic Radar Terminal Service (ARTS), will be used to check the sighting reports.

"All these will give us a very good picture of what happened in the dark space west of the airfield before the accident," Slattery said. "However, it's not necessarily going to give us the exact cause."

Slattery said the tapes will be presented at a public hearing on the crash to be held some time in March.

The list is two names shorter this year and well below its average of 130 names of a few years ago.

In Mr. Bales' announcement he described the men as "selected not only with regard to experience in courts but also general character and capability and to the contribution which an individual has made to his profession and to the community at large.

Included were many who had "given freely of their time energy and ability in various areas of public service in their communities as well as being leaders in their profession."

Smuggling Favorite Pastime Of Thirsty Newfoundlanders

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — They say Newfoundlanders are born with the taste for liquor and if they are unable to make it themselves, they'll try almost anything to acquire it without paying for it from the Newfoundland government shelves.

The favorite pastime of many an idle man is smuggling the potent rotgut available on the French-owned islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon off the province's south coast.

It's only a short boat ride to the best bargain of France but since Confederation in 1949, the illegal trade has been checked considerably. However, it has by no means been conquered.

Each year, fishermen and other daring residents are caught in the act of secretly importing what their palates desire. Many are convicted and most fined.

While the illicit trade—the ability to carry it out without prosecution often is considered the mark of a man—is pursued year round, it is usually stepped up during the pre-Christmas season.

However, in 1972 there may be more activity during the spring and summer.

The Newfoundland government has made legal liquor more easily obtainable in recent years through a chain of retail outlets in many outport areas.

But people buy high prices at the local liquor store. The price is not only high, but local connoisseurs claim that brand for brand the provincial products are like pale ale compared to the French booze.

Another price increase is expected early in 1973 and may cause more smuggling. This is not considered a serious offence in the compact isolated communities. But the summons against small fishing boats will be active around the Burin Peninsula.

The peninsula is the favorite starting point for a journey to the St. Pierre suppliers. The toe of the Burin boot is only 15 miles from the nearest point on the French islands.

The smuggling is not only carried on by fishermen but also by the increasing number of travellers to St. Pierre.

One story recalls the fishermen on being approached by an RCMP vessel, simply dumped his cargo of liquor over the side in bags, weighted down with rock salt and even a line to retrieve a certain amount of cork. After the search, he went on his way and, according to the tale, returned later to retrieve his booty when the salt dissolved and the cork brought the bottles to the surface.

True or not, it illustrates ingenuity designed to preserve the comfort of a cold winter evening.

From time to time, all types of vessels are stopped and searched, and fined if contraband is found. Occasionally, a small fishing boat may be stopped but the smaller craft are elusive.

The smugglers often have help from nature in the summer months, when the murky fogs roll in off the Grand Banks and cover the area in a thick, grey and almost impenetrable blanket. On such days, it would be tough to find a large steamer let alone a 25-foot motorboat with a stuffed engine, fishing gear at the many secluded bays and inlets on the peninsula.

So many liquor seizures are made during raids on homes, caves in the cliffs, lobster pounds, underwater caches and other places. Last summer, a police dog sniffed out a large quantity of illegally-imported liquor sunk in a bog at Lamaline.

The trade is not likely to stop soon. As long as there's rum on St. Pierre-Miquelon, some of it will eventually grace the meagre tables of the hardy outports that exist even those of the landed gentry.

Bolivian Devaluation Bears Hard on Poor

LA PAZ (AP) — Pedro Sanchez, a 33-year-old laborer for the city of La Paz, understands nothing about international finance. He only knows that Bolivia's recent 66-per-cent devaluation of the Bolivian peso falls disastrously on him and his family.

"What am I going to do?" he asked a visitor to the squalid adobe shack that houses his family, two scrawny chickens and two dogs. "I can't afford to buy clothing or enough food for my family."

When the military government of Col. Hugo Banzer devalued the peso from 11.2 to 18 to the U.S. dollar Oct. 27, the move who make up 85 per cent of Bolivia's five million inhabitants, found their purchasing slashed in half.

The International Monetary Fund, the world financial policeman, has been pressuring Bolivia's succession of military governments for three years to devalue the peso.

The IMF and other economists considered this a basic step toward attracting outside investment into this poor South American nation, where the annual per capita income is $200.

But observers here charge that the IMF didn't take into consideration the inability of Bolivian officials to cope by themselves with such sophisticated economic matters, or the potential plight of Bolivians like Pedro.

"These people from the IMF who came here were incredibly naive to deal with," recalls one diplomatic observer. "They should have come with a complete package of programs such as price controls and storage of basic foodstuffs to protect hoarding and stayed to see that they were carried out."

But they didn't and there was no control over soaring prices in many areas.

Since the last currency change there was more than 15 years ago, and since Bolivia imports many products, everybody, including the poor, tends to think in dollars, not pesos.

Pedro earns 12 pesos a day as an assistant to a city surveyor, working six days a week. That used to mean a salary of $1 a week.

"With that, I could at least buy clothes for the three small children," said Pedro, who finished only Grade 2. "Sometimes my wife Maria could even buy a few pieces of fruit for the table if we had extra money."

With devaluation, Pedro's salary is worth $3.00 and prices have risen an average of 50 per cent.

Pedro's home measures about 40 by 60 feet. It is built of sun-dried bricks of mud mixed with straw. A tin roof keeps out the rain. The family shares two beds. There is one room for the whole family.

The house is perched, like thousands of other shacks and huts, on dry, rocky land along steep canyon walls that surround La Paz. A nearby river bed, which turns into a swirling torrent that sweeps away humans and their shacks in the rainy season, is the public toilet.

Pedro's 27 year-old wife, who looks 36, cooks the family's spare food in little pots over a tiny kerosene stove. The family eats plain bread with coffee or cocoa when they arise at daybreak.

Lunch and dinner consist of noodle or rice gruel with a plateful of potatoes or rice and a little meat. There is too money to buy eggs, milk, fresh vegetables or fruit for the children, Margarita, 10; Anna, 4, and Eduardo, 3.

Tale Begun Before End Was Known

CALGARY (CP) — The tale of a Pegasus flight to Mars and raising a buffalo calf never made it as a short story.

So author Cliff Faulkner sent it to Switzerland and Soviet publishers as the first chapter of The White Calf.

"Mr. (Arthur) Clelland wrote me back and told me he liked what he saw so far and to keep it coming," Mr. Faulkner said, adding that he did just that—a chapter at a time—with no idea how it might end.

Eventually, however, "I saw the ending, and the book was complete."

The book, which began as a short story idea for a Boy Scout magazine, earned him the Little Brown Canadian Children's Book award in 1964.

It was followed by The White Peril, a continuation of the story of Eagle Feather and the Peigan band which portrays the white buffalo, five years older, as a fearful marauder on the plains. It is the story of the coming of the white man and the slaughter of the buffalo.

Since arriving in Calgary in 1961 as assistant editor of the rural weekly Country Guide, Mr. Faulkner has had four juvenile novels published.

He said he never writes "down to a children's level."

Beside writing children's books and working at Country Guide, 50-year-old Mr. Faulkner also does a rural radio feature for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's Calgary station during the summer.

B. C. Forest Service Resumes Camp Work

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's beleaguered forests, swamped by an avalanche of amateur woodsmen in past years, are getting a new lift from the B.C. Forest Service.

The service is back in the business of building campsites and generally improving tourist facilities after a 20-year hiatus.

In the period after the Second World War, the forest service launched the province's highly-successful campground program that was linked with highway construction. Within a few years, however, the demand for this type of roadside accommodation was so great that the program was turned over to the parks branch.

Now there are more than 5,000 government campsites in the province and the demand still is growing.

The new program has some differences from the old. The major difference is that the campsites now are being built in remote areas, most reached only by logging, forestry and mining roads. The service is finding it difficult to cope with the amounts of trash found even in these remote areas.

Harry Marshall, director of the campsite program, said: "Many parts of the forest have become badly polluted by a buildup of garbage left behind by campers over the last 15 or 20 years."

A number of private organizations, such as rod and gun clubs, have attempted to clean up the outdoors during the past decade, but have just been unable to keep up, he said.

"It's one thing to provide garbage cans, toilets and a few picnic tables, but quite another thing to service them all on a continuing basis," Mr. Marshall said.

"We decided late in 1969 that the forest service would have to become involved with recreation in the woods."

Two years were spent on planning the program and 1972 saw a cut-down, four-month program.

Mr. Marshall said the program got off to a late start, the main reason lasted only four months, and the service found itself facing a massive clean-up in some areas.

Drug Addiction Now Widespread

"In some nations you can find people dependent on certain stimulants such as amphetamines and similar drugs, taken together with tranquilizers and barbiturates, and sometimes all this is mixed with alcohol," says Stan Martens, a Norwegian who heads the Geneva-based division of narcotic drugs.

He calls the phenomenon "multidependencies," suggesting mass addiction.

Easy access to synthetic drugs of all kinds threatens wide areas of the world, Martens said at a recent news conference.

"This is a general phenomenon that is being found in the world. The reasons why it is so, we don't know enough about yet.

"It's definitely true that no type of country is immune. No sort of political or economic system, whether socialist, capitalist or level of development is safe."

"There are some countries who are saying, 'This can't happen to us.' But it happens to us."

China and Japan are exceptions, however.

"The Japanese seem to have licked the drug problem," says Alex Messing - Mierzejewski, director of drug programs at UN headquarters.

Police forces control the market, and the stable nature of its society has helped."

No solutions are near, just how China dealt with its hundreds of thousands of addicts is known, the answer may be known soon as China has taken a new role-set in international drug efforts. Contacts concerning drug control have been initiated with the Chinese both in Geneva and at UN headquarters.

Its head, C. W. A. Schurmann, has raised 5 million in voluntary contributions from 19 nations.

Martens's theory is that drug abuse can only be fought effectively by reducing demand through education and information and assisted treatment, and curbing the illicit traffic.

"The war must be fought on all three fronts, says Schurmann, former UN ambassador from the Netherlands.

Virus-free Potatoes

OTTAWA (CP) — The development of virus-free potatoes could mean the growth of a multi-million dollar export market for Canadian seed-potato growers.

Until now, several European countries have been banned Canadian potatoes for fear the imports would infect their domestic products.

With elimination of two particular viruses, federal department of agriculture is predicting $6 million to $10 million annual revenue for seed growers.

The process was developed under Dr. N.S. Wright at a department research station in Vancouver.

The viruses show no visible symptoms in potatoes and are particularly difficult to isolate. Plants are subjected to enough heat to kill any virus, but not enough to kill the plant.

Police forces have been used for woody plants, but treating softer, herbaceous plants with elevated temperatures was a tricky business," Dr. Wright said.

Dr. Wright had his first success in 1967 when five plants, the first in North America, were grown from seed. By 1970 20 tons of seed potatoes were sold to the Netherlands.

Dr. Wright said it will take several years before the whole Canadian potato industry is converted to virus-free potatoes. All provinces have set up programs to get rid of virus except Ontario and Saskatchewan, which import most of their seed potatoes from other provinces.

Those in Need

Maybe you read that story on an inside page of one of our Wednesday issues about the rural Indian slum of McDougallville — and maybe you did not.

In any event, the improbably-named community consists of 12 shacks on the outskirts of once prosperous Red Lake in Northwest Ontario. Most of the gold mines have closed and McDougallville's shack homes have no electricity or any of the other conveniences we take for granted. Last winter two babies died there when stove fires went out.

Indian and Metis leaders, as well as government departments, say homes are needed, but even in Red Lake there is a shortage.

And this makes us think of the new industry that is being established in Picton, for the manufacture of plastic furniture units and their export to needy countries around the world.

Company officials say that orders have been received for the dome-shaped units from 28 countries, including Mexico and Costa Rica in this hemisphere.

It seems to us that the Picton firm's interesting product could be of inestimable value in a situation such as we have described. It could mean a degree of warmth and comfort not experienced before and at modest cost, for those in need here at home, as well as for people overseas. Perhaps the Government would consider purchasing units for the use of people in such desperate straits as those in McDougallville.

Tasmanian Visitors

Sorrowful in a sense — and with good reason — are the folks from faraway places who find themselves mixed up with the nationals of some other country.

Like John and Sally Alker-Jones, who have fetched up in Belleville after an adventurous tour that began in their native Tasmania.

Now we have always been keenly interested in this island state to the south of mainland Australia, although never getting closer than New Zealand during our own travelling days a while back.

As reported Brian Boyton has explained, people are always confusing their homeland with Tanzania which is of much more recent political origin, being made up of the former Tanganyika and the island of Zanzibar. Besides, the two names are pronounced differently.

Tasmania derives from the Dutch navigator Abel Janszoon Tasman (1603-1650) who discovered the island as well as New Zealand. It is the birthplace incidentally, of such noted personalities as the late Errol Flynn, artist and swinger extraordinaire, and of actress Merle Oberon, not to mention the home of such animal-lore legends as the Tasmanian tiger or devil, a sheep-hunting marsupial that survived back when today however is believed extinct.

The Alker-Jones couple, who are staying with the grandmother of one, are from Hobart, a city and port with an idyllic setting and memories of a fairly recent natural disaster: a few years ago fire, its origins in drought on the slopes of surrounding brush and hill country and licked through the suburbs of the city.

Hockey Buff

Christian deVreeze is a Dutchman now living in Morn, Sweden, and he is in Canada with midget and juvenile hockey teams from his community.

Mr. deVreeze would appear to have taken well to the Swedish lifestyle which has been a pioneer in the reversal of traditional work habits for men and women.

Here for example is a quote from a Peterborough Examiner report on the visit of the teams and their director: "DeVreeze, who admits he enjoys doing nothing by 'working around the house and playing with the hockey' while his wife teaches, seemed overburdened with chores during the teams' brief visit to Peterborough."

We read a magazine article which dealt with this Swedish initiative. It showed that in not a few cases the wives went off to work while their husbands stayed at home and looked after the children and housework. There may be a few Canadian couples who subscribe to this arrangement, but we suspect they are only a few, apart that is from those cases of wives working to put their husbands through college.

A Job for New Specialist Elite

Politicians And The Fine Art Of Speech-Making

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — There is a relatively new and flourishing fringe benefit to living in the National Capital Region.

A sort of self-generated personal Local Initiatives program.

Speech-writing.

Not the ordinary everyday run-of-the-public service kind of speech-writing.

But a very specialized expertise of custom - crafting - to - order of the speech.

It is put together after the skilful fashion of an expensive Bond Street tailor preparing a carefully made - to - very - personal-measure suit for a very valued client prepared to pay the top price for only the best.

A speech like that, written to specifications, for a Very Senior Public Servant, say up in the elite of the inner circle of deputy ministers, fetches up to $1,000.

Now each department has its own staff of public relations men, who, along with special and executive assistants, customarily double as speech-writers.

But only for hoium speeches for ham-drum occasions.

That level of speech - writer churns out what is known as the "departmental" speech.

After it comes off his typewriter, it routinely is sifted through a critical screen of higher-level advisers to the deputy minister who, as second-guessers, never really believe they earn their comfortable salaries unless they tear the speech to pieces.

If the writer ever had anything like an original thought or a new and appealing idea, based on solid research in the speech, the second-guessers will carefully remove them.

The speech will be "sanitized" of any hint of originality and will become — after a rewriting — a safely, non-controversial, routine, usually dull speech.

But if the Very Senior Public Servant has a special speaking date coming up with a highly sophisticated and knowing audience, he will pass the speech "sanitation" process and call in the specialist, outside the specifications and particular requirements and agree on the fee.

These specialists, the elite in the speech-writing profession, are usually a very select few knowledgeable public servants who count the fee as a fringe benefit to their treasured talent. They prosper on the system of good salary plus fat fee. The one commissioned for the special assignment researches the specified subject in depth, writes some 6,000 brain-picked words, and the speech, circumventing the corps of aides and second-guessers, goes directly to the Very Senior Public Servant who is to deliver it.

He was to address a large and politically powerful special interest group at its national convention.

He ordered his speech through the ordinary departmental channels and the public relations men and aides went to work on it.

It was a safe "nothing" speech, written to the no-controversial, departmental formula.

It said in essence what the government had done for this special interest group in trying to strengthen the economy, and what in turn the government now expected, quid pro quo, from the group.

One of the then very, very few talented speech-writers happened to see it and told the cabinet minister he simply could not make it — that he would be bored off the platform as one of his predecessors had been when he made the very same speech.

And from the files he produced that dated speech to prove the new speech was little more than an amateur re-written up-date of it.

The minister was convinced, and ordered from the specialist an original speech with some new thinking.

The writer went to the files and pulled speeches made by the three top executives of the special interest group at their previous conventions.

He simply lifted their line of thinking, helped himself to the prime points they had made, and re-worked them all into the minister's speech.

So the minister went to the convention and made the speech in essence saying the government respected the great work of this special interest group and its sincere concern with the economy . . . and went on to say what the government really was aware of this, and in fact, in a very partnership to assist the group in achieving that objective that together they sought in the public interest.

He was, in fact, playing back to this politically powerful special interest group its own thinking of the year before.

His advisers, the second-guessers, the "sanitizers" had warned him he would be "overbaked" if he made such a speech.

But he made it, and the executive leaders of the special interest group came rushing to the platform to congratulate him while the convention stood and cheered.

The minister got it for free. Since then it costs others in the expanding speech-writing elite $1,000 to get it written to plans and specifications.

"Everything I do lately seems to annoy you."

Stern Test For Nicaragua's Gen. Samoza

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Hard-hit, tiny Nicaragua, undergoing a double punch of severe drought and a devastating earthquake, is one of those Central American republics we derisively call "banana republics." In fact, this columnist has heard this epithet of the ignorant Canadian used for almost any country in Latin America, including Brazil, a world giant of a country and a leading partner with the United States in North America.

Nicaragua, set in the middle of Central America between fellow republics Guatemala and Honduras, El Salvador, Costa Rica and Panama, the most southerly, was a major banana exporter.

But thanks to some aggressive Nicaraguan businessmen led by President and General Anastasio Somoza, the small country now exports cattle, beef, mineral products and sugar (as well as some bananas).

The bitter question facing Nicaragua today is pure and simple economic survival. Managua, the steamy capital, is in ruins and its 320,000 people, about one fifth of the country's total population, are scattered throughout the environs of Managua.

President Somoza, wearing his four-star uniform as head of the Nicaraguan National Guard, founded by his late and murdered father who President Somoza, is in charge of operations. He has already issued ten decrees, the first to evacuate the national capital, the second that the city will be totally razed and rebuilt.

Can he do it. President Somoza whom this columnist has personally interviewed, is an exceptional man—strong man leader of Nicaragua, at the same time, one of the staunch business executives in that region now known as the Central American Common Market (CACM).

Under his aegis, tiny Nicaragua has created the basic infrastructure essential for growth. This includes a good banking system, the international airline flying British BAC-111 jets, the Mameric State Shipping line, modern highways, railways and in Managua until last week, up-to-date sewage and water systems.

The latter facilities were financed by loans from the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank. The airline and shipping company, as well as some of the country's largest sugar operations are mainly owned by President Somoza—who is also something of a monopolist.

Until this year and the disasters of drought and earthquake, Nicaragua's future prosperity with that of her Central American neighbors, was tied to the Central American Common Market, the only one of its kind outside Western Europe.

As with it, there was supposed to be a common external tariff with more trade between the member-republics of CACM. Unfortunately for Nicaragua, key industries in her Central American neighbors—shoe-makers in Panama, food-processors and ethical drug manufacturers in Guatemala—started to flood the less-industrialized Nicaraguan market.

As far back as 1969 President Somoza indicated his country would not play ball within the scheme unless ways were found to give parity to his country's needs.

Critics of President Somoza—and being more or less a dictator he has many—insist basic wealth, welfare and literacy needs of Nicaragua are ignored. Instead they say, the president, his business cronies and U.S. interests (who have an already tax-free, open hand in Nicaragua) run the economy to suit themselves.

Natural disaster rather than economic downturn will prove whether Somoza is going to be the traditional Hispanic "father-of-his-people." He has drive, guts and management ability, all of which he will need to restore his republic and find much of the new foreign aid needed to help him.

Holding The Line

Ontario Embarks on 1973 With Eye to Economy

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

As we start out on 1973 there is certain encouraging data in our provincial affairs.

It seems that some of our spending costs may be under better control, if not actually contained.

The government has acted firmly on education costs and in this area it seems the line likely will be held.

The attack on health expenditures is more recent and the problem is more complex.

But in this fastest-growing, if not fifth the attack at least is underway; and though there will probably be an increase it should be nothing like the galloping increases of the past few years.

And along with this it appears that revenues may be good.

Economic forecasting is a most inexact practice these days, but most predictions look for a reasonably healthy 12 months ahead.

Any optimism, however, has to be strongly hedged.

For there are problems on the horizon, and a good many of them.

One of the prime ones is the disturbance in our export picture portended by the entry of the United Kingdom into the Common Market next week.

Then, of course, the situation in the U.S. is still uncertain.

And along with this there are extremely important labor negotiations due in 1973.

So that at the very least the year apparently will be one of much uncertainty.

Aside from these economic aspects there will be further uncertainties in other areas of government, and within government itself.

This is the year that the much touted reorganization of government is supposed to pay off. So far it hasn't shown too much.

And then it would seem that on the Davis record there will be a scandal or so. The only question being where they will break.

"Then said I, Ah, Lord God! I cannot speak: for I am a child but the Lord said unto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I speak." Jeremiah, 1:6,7

Never underestimate what the Lord will do through the least vessel surrendered to Him. "Without me ye can do nothing" but with Him "We are more than conquerors through Him that loves us."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1953

New Year was ushered in with all the traditional color, celebration and whoopee. Outstanding in the city were the dinner dances held by the officers of the 9th Anti - Tank Regiment, RCA (AD) in their colorfully decorated mess in the Bridge Street armouries and sergeants of the same unit and the Belleville Club.

Scarlet fever has headed the list of communicable disease reported to the health department for December despite the medical officer Dr. A. M. Breuls. A total of 18 cases occured in December with only a single case reported during November.

January 2, 1943

Beginning on Monday, purchasers of spirits in Ontario each will be restricted to 100 ounces a month, the Liquor Control Board of Ontario has ruled. Purchasers of wine will be restricted to one gallon a week. The Board announced that all bail beer sales to individuals would be limited to two 12 quart or two 24-pint cases of beer a week, effective immediately.

40 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1933

Many social gatherings were held to welcome the New Year. F. H. Blanchfield, Kemptville and assistant his office as an officer on the staff of the Dominion Income Tax office here.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cook, Ponton St. spent New Year's Day at Niagara Falls.

On New Year's Day, Mr. and Mrs. L. Phillips, Gordon St. celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding at Stirling at the home of the parents of the latter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eggleston, Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lynch, R. D. Adams and D. Ketcheson. The following will constitute the council for this year: Mayor Bennett Aldermen Thompson, French, Patterson, McGeown, Foster, Donohue, Robinson, Greenleaf, Vanalstine, Ketcheson, Lynch and Adams.

Quebec Focal Point Of Reorganization by PCs

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste: The Progressive Conservative party leader, Robert Stanfield, has just created a provisional administration and reorganization committee within his party's Quebec wing. . . .

This committee, invested with full and complete authority over the functioning and daily affairs of the party in the province until the permanent structures are set up, is to submit its report to the federal leader before March 1.

Mr. Stanfield . . . has said that his act is not final. The federal leader lacks the experience, manpower, leadership and long-established structures to allow it to function effectively. Since he said that the Conservatives will have to come to this some day if they wish to obtain a success in Quebec.

restructure his party in Quebec.

The creation of the provisional committee must be interpreted as a concrete gesture in the direction of this goal: . . .

If Conservatives have had no success in Quebec since 1958, except in 1958 and 1962 Diefenbaker, it is perhaps, though one cannot say for sure, that the Conservatives have never given themselves a real federal leader whereas the Liberals have had three. . . .

Let's admit that it would not be easy to recommend to Mr. Stanfield that the main his office in order to be replaced by a Francophone Quebecker. The Conservatives will have to come to this some day if they wish to obtain a success in Quebec.

Political Double-Talk And Bombs Supplant Vietnam Peace Hopes

Montreal Le Devoir: It is scarcely two months since Henry Kissinger announced "the great seriousness and good will" manifested by the representatives of North Vietnam, at the negotiating table. He added that, as far as he was concerned "Peace is at hand."

Not only has the climate of the negotiations seriously deteriorated since then, but we have seen, in recent days, the American air force resume bombing raids on North Vietnamese territory.

"One would like to be able to forget this war and enjoy the Christmas season. But too many human lives are implicated, too many values of civilization are involved for us to be able to forget it in favor of a feast-day whose real significance would be betrayed by such unfeeling behavior.

A spokesman for the Buddhist delegation to the Paris Peace Conference while in New York Times that never in the history of warfare has a war been so extensive as in Vietnam, but also, one has never experienced such seductive peace rhetoric as the politicians have been subjected to lately.

Politicians were successful for a while in making us believe peace was near. However, in the meantime, they have created, among those who have experienced the profound feeling of abuse which is doubtless at the root of the increasing scepticism of the people towards politicians.

Politicians are neither gods nor the sordid manipulators which we sometimes imagine them to be. They are also victims of these optical illusions which lead people to believe peace is near when it is often farther away than ever.

Quicker Hearings Promised Alleged Parole Violators

TORONTO (CP) — A Whitby area man who was jailed on allegations of violating his provincial parole, recently spent 54 days behind bars before being allowed a hearing by the Ontario Parole Board, the law student who represented him says.

His case was instrumental in securing a promise from the Ministry of Correctional Services that a parolee who is jailed and has his parole revoked will appear for a hearing before the board within two or three weeks.

The parolee—his identity could not be released because he is facing trial on several criminal charges—was re-released on parole after the law student threatened court action.

Allan Shipley, 27, the Osgoode Hall Law School student, said the courts could not dispose of the criminal charges against the man while he was being held in custody, and the parole board delayed dealing with the case because criminal charges were pending against the man.

"He was trapped in a circle of gross injustice," said Mr. Shipley.

Correctional services officials deny that the laying of criminal charges had anything to do with the revocation of the man's parole two months later. They said the parole was cancelled because the parolee failed to report to his supervisor as is required, and to police.

When the parolee was arrested Sept. 16 and held in Toronto's Don Jail, he had no access to bail procedures in the courts. His case was not heard until Nov. 2, and he was not allowed representation by Mr. Shipley.

Appearing on his own behalf, the parolee presented a brief prepared by the law student, and was released with an extended parole of 81 day's.

Americans See Hanoi Damage

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Americans who were in Hanoi during the intensive United States bombing attacks on the North Vietnamese capital said Monday they had seen numerous damaged non-military facilities, including a prisoner-of-war camp.

"We saw a hospital, housing development, residential areas as well as airports shattered and virtually erased," said Telford Taylor, a retired brigadier-general who now is a professor of law at Columbia University.

Their trip was sponsored by the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam.

Appearing at a news conference here Monday, the four said they brought back 600 letters from American prisoners in North Vietnam and 30 from women said to be held by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

Heath's Plane Diverted By London Airport Fog

LONDON (CP) — An RAF jet bringing Prime Minister Heath, Canadian High Commissioner J. H. Warren and others back from Ottawa was suddenly diverted from London's Heathrow Airport Monday after dense fog curtailedvisibility just as the plane was about to land.

The party, returning from Canada after attending the funeral for former prime minister Lester Pearson, then landed at Gatwick Airport south of London.

A spokesman for Heathrow said that "when the pilot decided to overshoot (the airport) he appeared to be quite close to the runway." But one of those aboard said there was no sensation of sudden upward movement and that the pilot "simply decided to back off" when visibility was cut to 200 yards.

A spokesman in the prime minister's office said Heath had invited Warren to travel with him in the VC-10 jet because he knew of Warren's long friendship with Pearson.

Heath talked with Prime Minister Trudeau at Ojawa for more than an hour Sunday after both leaders attended the Pearson funeral.

The two men talked in private for about 40 minutes. They were joined by officials of their two governments for a further 30 minutes.

A British spokesman said the talks "ranged widely over world affairs" but gave no details. He said they were a resumption of earlier discussions, the latest being when they met early in December during Mr. Trudeau's post-election visit to Britain.

'Better' Legislation Predicted by Trudeau

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Monday legislation will be better during the next session of Parliament because his minority Liberal government "will be forced" to listen to the public and opposition MPs.

However, he said, because of politics there will be some areas where the Liberals won't get the support of the opposition, then "we'll have to compromise."

The prime minister, interviewed on a CTV news special, said during the first several months of Parliament he is certain there will not be much legislation because everything will be debated for a long time.

Then, perhaps the legislation when it is passed will correspond more to the concerns of the House or at least to the political feeling of the parties in the House, but there will be less of it."

The Liberals, with 109 members to 107 for the Progressive Conservative Party when Parliament opens Thursday, will try to have constructive and progressive legislation, he said.

"I rather am impressed by the NDP when it says that it will support any constructive and progressive legislation . . . which I'm sure we always tried to have.

"But in this particular circumstance, we'll have the added test of their judgment added to ours."

In the half-hour interview, Mr. Trudeau said "there will be no moving back" from Liberal policies regarding the Official Languages Act, regional development, balanced growth and development, abolishing discrimination and multicultural programs.

But there will obviously be some accommodation on specifics of various laws attempting to do these things."

Toronto Celebrates On Subway

TORONTO (CP) — New Year's Eve was a moving experience for thousands of Torontonians saying goodbye to 1972 and welcoming 1973.

A Toronto distillery rented Toronto Transit Commission facilities for $30,000 between 8 p.m. Sunday night and 4 a.m. Monday and all rides were free.

It was illegal to have liquor on the TTC vehicles but there were open bottles, wineskins and flasks.

People sang and danced and made merry on the streetcars. There was no need to go to a hotel or private party.

A subway driver Charlie Mapes said:

"I guess in a city of this size, it takes something special like this to bring the people together."

One group had a class reunion and spent the night riding the subway, playing guitars, drums and harmonicas.

Several others spent hours on the subway just because it was free.

"I'm Scottish," said one woman, "and this is one of the biggest thrills of my life—getting in free."

"We're all cheapskates tonight," yelled another.

Pearson Is Buried In $10 Rural Grave

OTTAWA (CP) — Lester Bowles Pearson lies buried in a tiny, snow-covered rural graveyard now, his memory honored by thousands as his body lay in state on Parliament Hill before a state funeral Sunday.

"Humility with him was not a garb to be put on, but belonged to his inner being and his understanding of himself," said his funeral eulogist, the Very Reverend A. B. B. Moore, a family friend and former moderator of the United Church.

The 75-year-old former prime minister, who died of cancer last Wednesday, was buried in a brief private ceremony in a $10 plot he bought 36 years ago near Wakefield, Que., in the Gatineau Hills north of Ottawa.

Sunday's rituals began as eight RCMP pallbearers carried his flag-covered coffin from the Hall of Honor in the Parliament Buildings to a hearse for the procession through freezing rain to Christ Church Anglican Cathedral.

Prime Minister Trudeau led the honorary pallbearers—many of them cabinet colleagues of Mr. Pearson—on foot for the one-mile march, their pace measured by the funereal cadence of a military band.

Among the 1,200 who attended the cathedral service were Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener, representing the Queen, and British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

National leaders from around the world sent messages of condolence and tribute to the former prime minister, diplomat, writer and Nobel Prize winner.

"The wisdom of a humble man will lift up his head and seat him among the great," said Dr. Moore of Mr. Pearson during the hour-long bilingual and ecumenical service.

Mr. Pearson's widow, Maryon, son Geoffrey and daughter Patricia/their spouses and several grandchildren listened in composure to the prayers, hymns and anthem.

Then, to the wail of a bagpipe lament, the family and close friends formed the cortege for the trip along the twisting country roads through the rain to the gravesite.

The flag—which Mr. Pearson's government created in 1965—was removed from the coffin and given to Mrs. Pearson before the body was placed in the ground.

The Maple Leaf flag played a significant part in the proceedings that began Saturday morning in the Parliament Buildings.

Then Mr. Trudeau, Gov.-Gen. Michener, present and former cabinet ministers, senators, MPs and the diplomatic corps filed past the bier, bowing briefly in final tribute.

They were followed by more than 10,000 people who waited in a raw blizzard, then slowly circled the coffin and signed a book of tribute beneath Mr. Pearson's portrait in the main rotunda.

Parliament Alive In Our Day--Dief

OTTAWA (CP) — Not long after his famous political opponent had been buried, John Diefenbaker sat in his comfortable Rockcliffe den and talked about that turbulent decade when he and Lester Pearson battled each other across the floor of the Commons.

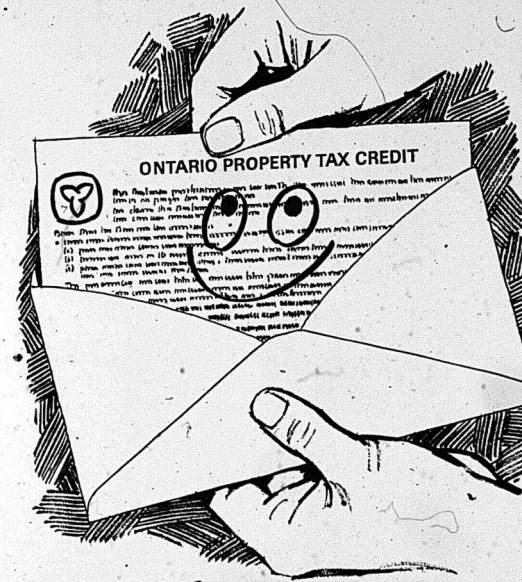
"During our day," he was saying, "Parliament was alive—it lived."

"It wasn't any personal animosity between us that made it that way. That's the way Parliament was, before this government changed the rules and made it a complete shambles. During the days of Pearson and myself question period was a real question period—we could stand toe to toe.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who referred to Mr. Pearson as "the happy warrior," sat across from his chief opponent for 10 years—first as prime minister and then, when the Liberals assumed power in 1963, as opposition leader. It was a stormy, often angry, , riod, spiced with scandals, economic upheavals, and guti emotional issues, such as the flag debate.

The great confrontations between the two men—so different in style—produced more stories, more books, more film features than any other period in Canada's history. Their battles were often complicated with a strong personal feud.

"Not at all," Mr. Diefenbaker was saying, as he looked back on a decade that had just lost one of its principal figures. "Mr. Pearson was a very congenial man. And I've never been one for personal antagonisms."



Many happy returns

Now, if you rent a house, rent an apartment or even a single room, instead of going to your landlord, you apply for your property tax credit when you file your 1972 Income Tax return. And the credit works for homeowners too.

Four years ago we introduced Ontario residents to a plan that eases the property tax burden by giving a rebate.

This year we've come up with an even better idea.

It's called the Ontario Property Tax Credit Plan. And not only does it provide an increased tax credit for many people, it makes more people eligible to collect it.

Now for the first time, roomers, boarders, most university students, and the elderly will obtain benefits.

And your landlord is no longer responsible for giving you the rebate. You simply apply for your credit when you file your annual Income Tax Return.

We'll include a special form just for that purpose in your 1972 Income Tax Kit. Plus a full explanation of the plan.

If you don't receive yours in the mail by the end of January you can pick it up at any Post Office.

If you have any problems, your federal District Taxation Office will be glad to answer questions.

The Ontario Property Tax Credit Plan. We thought of it. But we'd like you to get all the credit.

Girl Sailors Swab Decks And Fulfil Naval Duties

Toronto (CP) — "Admiral Nelson might be turning over in his grave, but these girls are great workers and the way they swabbed down the decks would have put many a sailor to shame."

Capt. John Parrish of HMCS Haida was talking about the invasion of his ship by girls from the Isabel Maxwell Corps of the Navy League of Canada Wrenette Corps.

They manned Haida at her berth at Ontario Place on the Toronto waterfront for 24 hours, fulfilling all the duties that traditionally are handled by sailors.

Haida, one of the most famous Canadian navy ships of the Second World War, was saved from the wreckers by a group of Toronto businessmen as a memorial to Canadian seamen who lost their lives at sea.

Staffed with three former naval officers, the ship is regularly manned by sea cadets who train on her. Until the Wrenettes arrived it had been a bastion of male chauvinism.

Under leadership of Lieut. Violet Ward, a wartime member of the WRENS, 23 girls took over the ship's duties, steering and working on board. They slept in hammocks rigged at the mess deck, cooked their own meals in the cramped galley, swabbed the grey decks and scrubbed down a wartime Sciffire and army tanks parked ashore. By 1100 hours they had everything aboard ship ready to welcome visitors aboard.

Chef Suggests Recipe For Leftover Turkey

TORONTO (CP) — Now, 'tis the season for leftover turkey, and food prices being what they are, the thrifty will use even the bones.

Before you get that far, there is a dish for those who are out of the last two cups of diced turkey that have no taste of traditional Christmas. It's suggested by Peter Kaiser, chef at Sutton Place Hotel in Toronto.

It calls for: 2 cups of diced turkey, 1-3 cup diced green pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 ounces dry sherry, 2 cups Hungarian paprika, a 10-ounce can of cream of mushroom soup and 1 cup of sour cream.

Sautee the green pepper for about five minutes in 1 tablespoon of butter and add the remaining ingredients except for the sherry and the other spoon of butter. Cook for about 15 minutes on a low heat or in a double boiler. Stir in sherry.

Boil some noodles in salted water for about 7 minutes, strain, then sautee gently in remaining butter. Serve the turkey on the bed of buttered noodles and garnish with parsley for color.

Now, to use the bones, cut away all the meat from the carcass. Pull the carcass apart and chop the bones coarsely. Place them in a large roasting pan and brown in a 450 degree oven for about 20 minutes.

Coarsely chop 3 medium onions, 5 carrots and 5 stalks of celery. Mix these with 2 tablespoons peppercorns, 3 bay leaves, a pinch of thyme, rosemary and marjoram, 1 clove garlic crushed, and sprinkle all over the bones. Fill the roasting pan with water until the bones are covered, and then add 1½ tablespoons of tomato paste.

Simmer this mixture, stirring it occasionally, for 4 to 6 hours in the oven (set at about 200) or on top of the stove. Add more water during the first two hours when the liquid reduces. For the last two to three hours, the liquid reduce by two thirds. Strain.

The liquid will make a base for a gravy that can be thickened with flour, or make a sauce for poultry. From a 20-pound turkey, you should have about 48 ounces of juice that can be divided into smaller portions and frozen.

Far-Away Places Bring Exotic-Tasting Foods

From the Test Kitchen of Marjorie Elwood

Visions of far away places dance in one's head when planning party appetizers. For instance, pickled shrimp involve using bay leaves from the Mediterranean, peppercorns from the East Indies and whole cloves from Zanzibar. Devilled ham has a cracker spread delightful with flavor of sesame seed from Asia, poppy seed and caraway seed from the Netherlands.

PICKLED SHRIMP

As an appetizer, or as a salad garnish, shrimp are extra delicious when marinated. For 2 cans of large size shrimp or one 14-oz. package of frozen shrimp, use a marinade made as follows:

In a cheesecloth bag tie ½ tsp. thyme leaves, ½ tsp. peppercorns, 1 small bay leaf and 1 whole clove. In a large bowl combine 1 cup corn oil, ¾ cup white wine, ½ cup finely chopped onion, 4 stalks celery, diced, 3 tbsps. tarragon vinegar, 1½ tsps. dried parsley flakes and 1¼ tsps. salt. Add spice bag. Let shrimp stand 3 to 4 hours in this marinade. Drain and serve.

When using frozen shrimp first cook then in 1 cup boiling eater to which has been added 1 tsp. salt and 1 tsp. packaged shrimp seasoning, according to package directions. Rinse in cold water.

DEVILLED HAM TRIO

Buy three small cans (2¼ oz. size) deviled ham. Carefully remove contents of each can, leaving meat whole. Cover top and sides of each round with poppy, sesame or caraway seeds. Arrange on serving plate and surround with assorted crackers. Garnish with parsley and radish.

SAVORY TIDBITS

These tiny sausages and mushrooms will keep indefinitely in the refrigerator; reheat them just before serving.

8 oz. can tomato sauce

1 cup white wine or tomato juice

½ clove garlic, minced

¼ tsp. dried oregano leaves

¼ tsp. seasoned salt

4 oz. can cocktail sausages, drained

10 oz. can button mushrooms, drained

In a saucepan, combine tomato sauce, wine, garlic, oregano and seasoned salt. Simmer for five minutes. Add sausages and mushrooms to sauce. Let stand, covered, in refrigerator. Reheat and simmer about 20 minutes, covered. Provide picks to spear the sausages and mushrooms out of the sauce.

COUNSELS ACCEPTANCE

VICTORIA (CP) — A course on "Accepting Womanhood," offered at Victoria's health education centre, tells women to be satisfied with the kitchen, kinder and knitchen' church, children and kitchen philosophy, Instructor Nancy Van Pelt says wives owe husbands "total acceptance" because men give up part of their freedom when they marry. However, "when a woman marries she has finally reached the goal she has been aiming for all her life."

Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CONWELL

Is a husband's wig his wife's idea?

RAEEZY, Ont., a wife will go along with her husband if he wants to wear a wig. She isn't likely to suggest the idea, though, mainly because she knows what to expect with the status quo. If a wife were to prompt her husband to buy a toupee, she may believe that she will be the one to prompt his roving eye. Even if his gaze already strays, a wife doesn't want her husband to think that she sanctions his looking at other women.

Does a tot know what belongs to him?

CERTAINLY—everything he can get his hands on. Yet parents will attach unnecessary significance to whether a child gives up something to another tot or buys him one rather than let the other child have it. When a toddler gives up a toy to a playmate, he does it because he thinks he can win the other child's favor. When he doesn't, he thinks more of his toy than he does of anyone or anything else—for the moment, at least.

Can laughter ease emotional tension?

YES; but it must be genuine laughter resulting from healthy humor. Lots of "material" circulates "for jokes in an emotion-filled situation and everybody can almost feel the tensions loosening up. If there is only an obviously forced effort to make someone laugh, however, the tensions will actually increase. Now all those present will be conscious of the strained attempt at humor and will become more aware of their own tensed feelings.

Pastor Feeds 70 Students Daily Hot Meals

HALIFAX (CP) — Halifax pastor J. C. Mack probably has the smallest budget.

He's been doing that for two years now with the help of several volunteers, donations and the facilities of his Cornwallis Street Baptist Church.

The 70 or so daily recipients are elementary school children, who go to the church for a hot meal when the noon bell rings.

The "hot lunch" program for school children began in 1971 as a feature of the Christian social action program undertaken by the church to serve meals to children of working parents who otherwise might not have a nourishing midday meal.

In 1971 an average of 35 children were involved in the program. In 1972 that number doubled.

Local volunteers and many of the teachers help make the program run by which often means giving up their own lunch hour to help prepare the food, serve it and wash the dishes.

The cost of the program which operates during the school year averages $5,000 yearly and is obtained through local churches and, individual donations.

Usually the meals include beef stews, hot soups, vegetables and desserts, all planned with the help of the dietary staff of the Izaak Walton Killam Children's Hospital.

Mr. Mack called the program a "most viable means of showing that the church is relevant in the social, as well as spiritual, needs of the people today."

He said the social benefits of gathering all the children together are often more important than the meal itself.

The social action program of the church also operates a clothing depot and plans to develop a special five-day-a-week program for senior citizens.

Ann Landers

Cycle Statistics Prove Lonesome Mom's Theory

Dear Ann Landers: I want to say a word or two about this column you wrote against motorcycles. I confess I cannot be objective because our only son was killed on a motorcycle two years ago. He was just 16. I don't think my husband will ever get over it.

I know you must have received a raft of letters from cycle enthusiasts who are annoyed with you. You probably had some complaints from people who make a living from the motorcycle business (it's a billion-dollar industry, you know). But I did want to thank you and send on this newspaper clipping which backs you to the hilt.

I was especially interested in the statement by the National Safety Council: "The fatality rate of all motor vehicles in 1971 was 4.7 deaths per 100 million miles travelled. For motorcycles the rate was 28 deaths per 100 million miles." In other words, you are five times safer in an automobile than on a motorcycle. Here's another statistic: The motorcycle death toll rose from 1,151 in 1965 to 2,300 in 1971.

Again thanks, Ann. Keep hammering away. If you save just one life it will be well worth it.—Lonesome Mom

Dear Mom: You are right about the "mail." I received an avalanche of blistering criticism from motorcycle enthusiasts who insist that a motorcycle is not dangerous until some idiot gets on it. This is the same cockeyed logic I get from the gun lovers who tell me "guns don't kill people—people kill people."

It was good of you to write and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: I flipped when I read your column about the wife who wanted to meet the other woman in her husband's life and force him to choose between them. I, too, have gotten her letter. It could be the best thing in the world for everyone concerned.

I met "The Other Woman" and I was very much surprised. She was no vamp. She was a high-class girl, very refined, beautifully groomed and a highly intelligent person with a charming and gracious manner. My husband picked her instead of me and I am not the least bit bitter about it. In fact, we are all better off—especially our children. Instead of listening to us fight all the time, they now live in a home that is peaceful and quiet. They see more of their daddy now than they did before. (It took a divorce to make him appreciate them.)

I am going to pick up the pieces and make something of myself. It won't be easy, but it will be a heck of a lot better than with a man who doesn't want me and is making his home to be with somebody else.—There Now

Dear Now: I might be wrong, but I strong suspicion that you are not the wife, but high-class, refined, beautifully groomed, highly intelligent, charming and gracious girlfriend who wishes the wife would let the guy go so everyone could "live happily ever after."

Why do I think so? Because wives who lose out don't write such letters. Girlfriends who are waiting for the guy to get a divorce do.

Turkish Housewives Demand More Political Involvement

ISTANBUL (AP) — A group of housewives has started a political party for women. By Turkish standards, that's a step forward for women, although it's hardly a big advance on the women's liberation front.

Eighteen middle-aged women who launched the Turkish National Women's party a few weeks ago say they have received 2,000 applications for membership, many of them from men.

Mrs. Melike Bayburt, presiding officer, says the party's aim is to "make a stronger Turkey by developing the role of women in Turkish society, in partnership with men."

She often quotes the country's founder, Kemal Ataturk, who reformed Turkish society after the First World War. He took many steps to improve the lot of women, who have been traditionally subjected by Islam to a subsidiary role in society.

Since then, Turkey has been retreating on the issue of women's rights, the party maintains, and the facts tend to confirm the complaint. Polygamy has increased since 1930. In 1935, 17 women were elected to the National Assembly. Now there are only seven.

Mrs. Bayburt, 42, has five grandchildren. She knows how hard the life of Turkish women can be. She was married at 16 and had her first child a year later. Although she came from an old Ottoman family with relatively liberal views, she received no formal education as a child. After her marriage she attended night classes.")

"At present women in Turkey are wives, mothers, cooks and agricultural laborers," Mrs. Bayburt says, "but they are not consulted when decisions are taken. We want to change this."

Her party, which plans to open branches in six provinces, calls for improved marriage laws, the establishment of daycare centres and a share of the decision-making for women. Despite these goals, some planks of the party platform would hardly win the support of many women in the West.

Look Chic In Loungewear Fashioned From the 30's

Now that the Christmas rush is over women are thinking about what they will wear after the holiday entertaining and partying.

Women try to look their prettiest during the holidays and most have already decided what they'll be wearing, especially if they are entertaining at home.

The at-home wear for the holiday season is the prettiest in years and much of it harks back to the glamorous era of dressing up back in the roaring '20's.

The caftan is hot fashion for home entertaining. The new, est way to wear it is belted," says Claire Haddad, Canada's most celebrated lingerie designer.

Some of the at-home fashions are elegant enough to step outside for parties. Indeed, some women are wearing them to parties," the designer points out.

The pure silk chiffon caftan, handpainted with flowers and belted in the front, is designed for at home but there's nothing to stop a woman from wearing it out on the town.

Urges, Needs, Emotions Still Alive for Oldsters

A man in his seventies asks whether his wife is right in saying that all intimate relations should be do... with at their stage of life. And probably many of the elderly people who read this will think so too.

May I offer the suggestion, based on good authority, that folk in their seventies and older are still human people? That, given reasonable health they have the same urges and needs and emotions (doubtless somewhat less urgent) than they experienced in earlier days?

The crux of the situation, at any age, is that the physical expression of love, at any age, must be a mutual thing to be satisfying. My medical consultant is very definite about this. And that, when there is a wife and husband should strive to satisfy each other.

He tells the story of Sir William Mulock, still active and alert, still on the bench, at 80. The case was one in which a pregnant girl was seeking man of 60, claiming him the father of her child.

The lawyer, at age 60, was making his categorical statement that it would be impossible for a man that ancient as 60 to father any child.

Sir William looked down at the lawyer over his spectacles and settled him with: "Tut tut, young man, you don't know a thing about it!"

Dear Doris: Just noticed this reference to Media Club signed by "Jean." What is this? — D. M. F.

Dear D.M.F.: Glad you asked. The Media Club of Canada is an association I am proud to belong to.

Away back in 1904 some farsighted women journalists decided to get together to share ideas. Gathering news, and getting acceptance for female writing were not such easy challenges in those days. So they formed the Canadian Women's Press Club, the first, chartered group of its kind in the world.

Through the years it has flourished, has been mutually helpful to members, received awards, held biennial conventions attended by writers from right across Canada.

In 1971 the constitution and name were changed, because it seems the men had no comparable organization — no club of national status whose membership was made up of paid writing women from a communications field—be it newspaper, radio, television, public relations, advertising, magazine, or book. And the men found the idea attractive.

Now the Media Club of Canada is made up of "all persons who can qualify" of either sex. And we can already boast a number of outstanding members of the opposite sex, "men" in our past ears ary.

Dear Doris: Read your column every day, and so disappointed when it's not in sometimes. I always say in my husband then. "I have looked all through the paper for Doris Clark. Have I missed it?"

I can always trust him for the answer, as he also is a faithful reader of yours. Thank you for the lovely Christmas message.—Faithful Friend.

Dear Faithful: It was those thoughtful youngsters in the fashion world who really sent you — and others — that Christmas message.

I enjoyed your Christmas message to me. And, Mr. Editor, I hope you realize this — I hope? See what the lady says?

Mayor Jeffrey Names Priorities

An enlarged planning advisory committee to encourage more citizen participation in the city's planning affairs, a 26-year program of road reconstruction and provision of more serviced land for industry are three main objectives proposed by Mayor-elect Robin Jeffrey.

Mayor Jeffrey, Belleville's first woman mayor in 15 years, outlined the objectives this morning at city hall at the inaugural meeting of the 1973 city council.

Before a crowded assembly in the city council chambers, Mayor Jeffrey took her oath of office from city clerk Adam Stalker and was invested with her chain of office, gavel and robes by ex-city councillors and leaders Alderman Jean Smith and Alderman Stu Meeks. Alderman E. A. Orr responded to Mayor Jeffrey's address.

Rev. George K. Ward of Bridge Street United Church delivered the invocation at the inaugural session and also pronounced the benediction.

Re-elected aldermen J. B. Corke, J. A. Ireland, Arthur Keegan, E. A. Orr, Paul D. Russell and Mrs. Jean Smith, along with Aldermen-Elect Stu Meeks, Joe Cox, R. G. Porter and Dr. J. S. Stack, had been earlier sworn into office.

The inaugural session also saw the presentation of service plaques to the retiring mayor, Dr. J. Russell Scott, and last terms aldermen Evan David, Gerald Joyce and Donald Soutter, who have bowed out of municipal office.

In her inaugural address, Mayor Jeffrey pledged that council would serve the common interest of the people and the city and would be servants to no special group of men or interests.

Mayor Jeffrey said she entered into the duties of her new office with few campaign pledges and assured she would set up new ways to keep the people informed on civic matters as well as to consult with them.

Because she strongly supported the involvement of citizens on committees boards and commissions, Mayor Jeffrey said the Belleville Sub-Committee had been enlarged to include the five task force chairman named to consider roles last year.

She would strive to encourage council to adopt a 20-year plan of road construction using funds that need not raise the mill rate to any extent.

The plan would be to use the interest from the city's reserve fund which had been set up to pay the foreign exchange rate in United States debentures.

The city must have more serviced land if it hopes to attract new industry which is necessary to create new jobs and additional assessment, Mrs. Jeffrey realized this would be expensive but she saw no alternative.

Another goal would be to work with the Moira River Conservation Authority to expand with the view of enlarging the authority's jurisdiction over city lands not now included in the authority.

The waterfront east and west of the city could be a continuous system of parks and marinas for all people to enjoy.

Later in the afternoon council reconvened to confirm appointments to the various city boards and commissions.

Anniversary Party Was Global Affair

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Barlow (standing) travelled with their daughter Lisa, more than 11,000 miles from their home in Melbourne, Australia to be with his parents for their 50th wedding anniversary, Monday, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Barlow are lifetime residents of Belleville, having lived in the same home at 285 George Street since they were married.

Anniversary at End of Journey

It isn't every day your parents celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary and after all, what's 11,000 miles?

Lifetime residents of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Barlow, Monday celebrated their golden anniversary, their special guests their son and his family who travelled more than 11,000 miles to be at the party.

Mr. Barlow, after living in this community for his entire life, is well known for his activities with American Optical where he was employed for a number of years, his operation of a gas station with his son Doug and his affiliations with local Masonic lodges.

During the anniversary party in the dining room of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, he said "I feel the same now about my wife Phyllis as I did 50 years ago."

Mrs. Barlow is an active worker in the church and, with her husband, acts as a volunteer in the program of English classes for new Canadians.

In recognition of the anniversary, both provincial and federal governments sent certificates of congratulations.

For Mr. Barlow's son, it was the fifth time he has made the trip across the Pacific.

Mr. Barlow Jr. met his wife in Toronto and travelled to her Melbourne, Australia, home to be married. Then both returned by boat to Canada. After two years it was back again to Australia to enter into business with his father-in-law.

Leaving four children in Australia in the care of their grandmother, Mr. Barlow, his wife Beverly and their daughter Lisa, 5, returned just before Christmas to be with his parents.

The trip by plane takes 23 hours of actual flying time but more than 30 hours with time allowed for stop-overs.

Police Report Safe Holiday

This New Year's Eve was a truly happy one for Belleville motorists and police, marking one of the quietest weekends in a long time.

A city police spokesman reported no calls came in Sunday with only two requests for police assistance between 4 p.m and 12 p.m. New Year's Eve.

"It was a very quiet weekend and unusual for New Year's," he said.

Another 15 calls came in between midnight and 8 a.m. These were described as "mostly crank calls, and complaints of noisy parties."

Smoke, Water Cause Damage

No cause has yet been established for a Monday night fire which has at least temporarily closed Lino's Pizzeria on Dundas near Church Street.

Neither the store nor an apartment above it was occupied when the fire broke out shortly after 7 p.m.

The Ontario Fire Marshall and fire investigators from the Belleville Fire Department are expected to make a report later today, after closer inspection of the converted brick home owned by Claudia Boruccki.

The fire looked real bad when we first got there, smoke belching out all over the place from the northwest corner of the upper floor," said Fire Chief Leo Culhane. Mr. Culhane said if a strong breeze had been blowing, or if windows had blown out, the damage would have been considerably worse.

The blaze was brought under control by trucks from both city fire halls one hour after the alarm was sent.

Damage estimates were not available, but a spokesman from the police department guessed it would mostly be smoke and water damage. The fire was concentrated in the attic away from the shop.

The owner, in Kingston when the fire began, was not available for comment on what insurance coverage the building had or to what extent he viewed the damage.

School Trustee Dies Saturday

Funeral service for Col. Everett Steele Fairman, retired educationist, World War II veteran and former commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, will be held Wednesday afternoon at Bridge Street United Church.

The funeral will take place from the John R. Parrott Funeral Home to the church where service at 1:30 will be conducted by Rev. George K. Ward, Rev. Alfred Poulter and Archdeacon A. S. McConnell. Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery.

Col. Fairman who retired in 1958 as principal of Sir Winston Churchill Public School, died at Belleville General Hospital on Saturday afternoon following an illness of about one month. He lived at 226 Charles Street.

A native of Campbellford he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fairman. He attended Campbellford high school and Peterborough Teachers' College, coming to Belleville in 1929 to take up a teaching career which, with time out for overseas service, was to continue for nearly 40 years.

Following retirement as school principal, he was elected as trustee to the Hastings County Board of Education and at the December election won re-election to the board.

A member of Bridge Street United Church, he served th as an elder and was a past president of the AOTS Men's Club.

He was a past master and past grand steward of The Belleville Lodge, No. 123 AF and AM, was chairman of the Belleville CNIB advisory board and was a past president of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Col. Fairman, who served four years during the Italian and European campaign went overseas with the 3rd, 4th Anti-Tank Battery and transferred to the 8th Battery 5th Light Ack-Ack, with which he was promoted to the rank of major and served as commanding officer.

Following the war he joined the 8th Anti-Tank Battery Unit in Belleville and, at the amalgamation in 1954 of this unit with the Northumberland and Durham Infantry and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, became commanding officer of the latter. This, a post he held for the next three years.

They will form a guard of honor outside the church and also at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery.

Col. Fairman is survived by his wife, the former Vera Sheffield, a daughter, Mrs. Grame (Barbara-Joan) Bell of Pointe Claire, Montreal, Que. and three granddaughters, Katherine, Susan and Sandra.

There are two brothers, Howard of Hastings and Earl of Whitby. Two brothers, Ernest and Gordon predeceased him.

Cigars, Cigarettes, Candy?

A cigar in every mouth was the message as Hastings Manor administrator Ken Yorke toured his residents' quarters Monday. Chocolate bars were the options for non-smokers. James Cooper, a 40-year employee of Canadian National Railways, said "this is my third New Year's here and they treat me real good."

Car Demolished In Collision

Charges have been laid in connection with a bus-car collision Saturday morning at the junction of Highways 7 and 37.

Mervyn John Heeney and his wife were proceeding west on Highway 7 and attempting to make a left-hand turn onto Highway 37.

A Trent Way bus, loaded with 41 passengers, missing the Heeney vehicle attempted to pass on the left hand portion of the roadway, and broadsided the car and snowmobile trailer it was pulling.

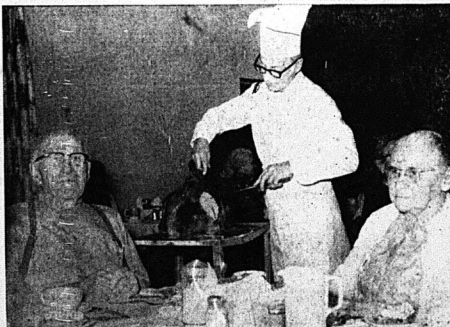
Neigher Mr. nor Mrs. Heeney nor any occupants of the bus were injured in the incident, but police spokesmen claim the car to be a "write-off". Two snowmobiles were thrown clear of the accident and left undamaged.

A police spokesman said at that section of the roadway there is a left-hand turn lane and a through traffic lane, making it unnecessary to pass on the opposite side of the road.

Lakefield resident Ralph Nicholson, 38, driver of the bus, has been charged with failing to obey an official highway sign, pertaining to the through traffic.

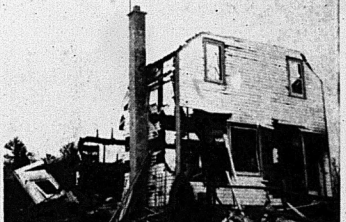
Picton Traffic Record Good

PICTON — A holiday season of safe driving through out the town was reported yesterday by a spokesman for the Picton police department. He said only one impaired driver was recorded during the Christmas and New Year's Eve Holidays.



Settling Back For New Year

While Hastings Manor chef Phil Poulin begins carving the turkey, residents Walter Lindenfield and Merle Clarke sit back and relax. Especially for the occasion, Chef Poulin donned the traditional cap. The turkey dinner and televised football games were highlights for the day along with favors passed around by administrator Ken Yorke.



Burned Out

A disastrous house fire marked the end of 1972 for the Duncan Bennett family of RR 2, Carrying place. They were away in Peterborough for the holidays when flames swept through their two-storey frame dwelling Saturday night. Although firemen from Trenton and Ameliasburgh lost most of the building and contents they managed to prevent the fire from spreading to a barn at the rear of the premises and next door to a neighbor's home.

Trojans Show Power, Rodgers Routs Irish

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California's ton ranked Trojans, unleashing a seemingly unstoppable attack and Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska, displaying the superb form that garnered him the honor emblematic of top Nation's finest college player, have left no doubt they deserve their honors.

The Trojans, bolstered by Sam Cunningham's four touchdowns, forged a 42-17 Rose Bowl victory over Ohio State Monday and clinched the national college football championship.

Rodgers, although weakened by the flu, scored four touchdowns and passed for another in the Cornhuskers crushed Notre Dame 40-6 in the Orange Bowl. Texas upset, Alabama 17-13 in the Cotton Bowl, rounding out New Year's Days' slate of bowl games.

"I tried hard tonight to prove I deserved it," Rodgers said of his Heisman selection. "I think that's the longest game of my life.

"I've had the flu all week. I was really fatigued."

Rodgers, the 5-foot-9 speedster, scored on runs of eight, four and five yards, scored on a 50-yard pass play and rifled a 32-yard TD bomb to Frosty Anderson.

"I threw a lot in high school," Rodgers said. "I knew that if were we able to fool them a little bit, I could get it to me. Rodgers took a lateral pass on the play and then lofted the ball to Anderson.

Cunningham surged over from inside the two on all three of his touchdowns and sophomore Anthony Davis rushed for 137 yards as the Trojans erupted from a 7-7 halftime deadlock and overwhelmed Ohio Buckeyes. Cunningham's efforts established a Rose Bowl scoring record.

"This is a satisfying victory because this was the AP national championship," USC coach John McKay said, referring the post-season poll to determine final national rankings.

Ohio State coach Woody Hayes said he felt the Big Ten Southern California team was the best he had ever faced.

"You can put me down as none-as we proved-but in the second half they passed us out of the park.

Ohio State scored in the second period on a plunge by Randy Keith and late in the fourth on a five-yard run by John Bledsoe.

In games Saturday, Auburn bombed Colorado 24-3 in the Gator Bowl, Arkansas beat Texas Tech 32-28 in the Sun Bowl, the East defeated the West 9-3 in the Shrine game and Tennessee beat Louisiana State 24-18 in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl.

Clemente Lost In Air Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Those words came close to Roberto Clemente say it was almost as tough to know him as it was to see him die.

His untimely death not only cut short one of the greatest careers in baseball history, but the life of a humanitarian whose personality was misunderstood by some, oversimplified by others.

He had a public image as Pittsburgh's leading Spanish-American, yet he ran out every infield grounder of his career as if the World Series were at stake.

He was proud of the skills that baseball reporters for what he believed was unfair press treatment of Latins. Yet he never forgot his team-mates, the fans or the little people.

He was a staunch believer in the Major League Baseball Players' Association, and also gave freely of his time and money to charity work that often went unnoticed.

ROBERTO CLEMENTE

When he was killed Sunday night in a plane crash off the coast of his native Puerto Rico, he was on a mission of mercy to deliver much-needed supplies to survivors of the Nicaraguan earthquake.

Roberto Clemente the baseball player was a perfectly constructed 183-pounder, who did so many things well in his 18 year career that he is assured a niche in the baseball Hall of Fame.

The records books show that Clemente recorded his 3,000th hit on Sept. 30 of last season against the Mets. That was something only 10 other players had ever done.

He also had more hits and more runs batted in while wearing a Pittsburgh Pirate uniform than any other player, and won four National League batting titles in compiling a .318 lifetime average.

Yet the record books cannot mirror the real Roberto Clemente, the man in uniform No. 21, whose wizardry in right field, at the plate and on the basepaths made him Mr. Pirate.

In 1960, for example, the Pirates won the World Series, but Dick Groat was the National League MVP, not Clemente.

He was hurt deeply by the slight and would not wear the World Series ring. Instead, he wore his All-Star ring, which he believed was the true measure of his skills.

Perhaps his greatest individual recognition came in 1971 when he led Pittsburgh to victory over Baltimore in the World Series.

Last season, a bout with a virus and sore ankle tendon left him sub-par physically as he still hit .312 in 102 games and helped Pittsburgh to the National League ast title.

He was selected to 12 All-Star games after coming to Pittsburgh in 1954 from the Los Angeles Dodger organization for a mere bargain draft price of $4,000.

The 38-year-old son of a sugar cane worker from Carolina, Puerto Rico, was signed by the Dodgers seven years after Jackie Robinson broke baseball's color barrier.

There were five black players on the Dodgers' parent club that year, and Clemente was signed to a minor league contract even though it meant the risk of losing him in the draft.

Pittsburgh finished last that season and promptly drafted the man who would become the greatest player in the club's history.

Simpson Soars To Victory

SASKATOON (AP) — Canadian athletes upset heralded American rivals Saturday to conclude two days of competition in the eighth annual Saskatchewan Indoor Games.

An impressive pole vaulting demonstration by Bruce Simpson of Toronto and Montrealer Claude Perreault's surprising victory in the high jump highlighted the game that drew about 2,300 fans.

Simpson extended his own Canadian indoor record to 17 feet, four inches, from the existing 17-2½, defeated a fine international field that featured three talented Californians and Volker Ohl of West Germany.

More outstanding, perhaps, than Simpson's record - setting vault was his narrow miss at 17-11 when he attempted to break the world indoor standard of 17-10½.

Simpson came so close on his third attempt that he predicted the world record, held by Kjell Isaksson of Sweden, is within his reach and that he can surpass the magical 18 - foot barrier—likely this year.

Ferragne managed 6-10 in the high jump, below his usual Canadian standards, but his victims included the world record holder, Pat Matzdorf of Los Angeles. Matzdorf Hill, Ill., fell of Vancouver joined Ferragne in missing at seven feet, but Perreault unkinked and until he cleared seven feet at this meet last year, won by virtue of fewer misses.

A handful of Canadian native records were toppled, two by Olympic ace Glenda Reiser of Ottawa, who conquered France Larrieu of San Jose, Calif., at 800 metres and 1,000 metres.

In her 1,500-metre victory Friday, she also set an open mark.

Both victories were easy for the younger easterner, ranked among the world's best female middle-distance specialists. Larrieu recently captured the United States cross-country championship.

Simpson and Reiser shared recognition as the top athletes in the meet. Versatile John Korchowski, who set a Saskatchewan open record Saturday in the senior 400 metres, was named top male in the invitational athletic.

David Hall of Trois-Rivieres, Que., a junior competing against senior competition, set his second open junior record Friday, winning the senior 1,400 metres in 3:51.2, almost six seconds ahead of the existing mark. Hill came within less than three seconds of the Canadian open record.

Among age-class athletes Melanie Lavell of Saskatoon set a handful of peewee women's Canadian open marks and clubmate Peter Danabasa set a couple in bantam competition.

The two-day meet attracted about 1,200 athletes, most of them in age-class competition, but the well-known Americans drew the biggest crowds.

Redskins Favored by Point

Miami, Redskins Bound for Super Bowl

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami Dolphins won football games more regularly than any other team in professional football, but it seems they can't convince anyone they're that good.

The Dolphins earned a berth in the Super Bowl with their 14th straight win Sunday, a 31-17 verdict over Pittsburgh Steelers, which gave them the American Football Conference title.

Nevertheless, bookies in Nevada made Washington Redskins a one-point favorite in the Super Bowl, to be played Sunday, Jan. 14.

The Redskins earned a spot in the big game by whipping Dallas Cowboys, last year's Super Bowl winner, 26-3 Sunday. The win gave Washington the National Football Conference title.

And it's not only the bookies who like the Redskins.Redskin blues does, too. He invited coach George Allen and his family to the White House and told him he expected a Super Bowl victory.

Mercury Morris, Miami's 1,000 yard rusher, doesn't buy the theory but says, "In the eyes of the world, we still have to prove ourselves.

"We have the horses to do anything we want to do, and that's not a bull statement. That's fact.

"The year won't be over for me after the Super Bowl," said Morris, "and I intend to come out winning, grinning and skinning. Like, give me some skins."

Morris said the Dolphins went to last year's Super Bowl to play, and Dallas went to win.

History has been good to Super Bowl losers who made it back to pro football's biggest game a second time.

Kansas City lost to Green Bay in 1967, but returned to defeat Vikings three years later. Baltimore Colts whipped Cleveland New York Jets in 1969, but trimmed Dallas in 1971. The Cowboys returned last year and smashed Miami 24-3.

Coach Don Shula said he would decide Wednesday whether Earl Morrall or Bob Griese will quarterback the Dolphins against the Redskins.

Morrall steered the Miami attack for the last 10 weeks after Griese left the field with a dislocated ankle. Griese returned to action in the second half against Pittsburgh, taking the Dolphins scoring drive of 80 yards, 66 and 49 yards, hitting Paul Warfield on a 53-yard pass play that set up the go-ahead score in the third period.

Washington's first title of any kind in 27 years came in Allen's second year at the helm. Coach Allen did it his way with his kind of team.

Quarterback Bill Kilmer, acquired by Allen in a trade from New Orleans, completed 14 of 18 passes for 136 yards and two touchdowns. He directed the Redskins to 316 yards and a decisive edge of Dallas' Doomsday Defence.

The Washington defence, which is Allen's work of art, ambushed the Cowboys on every pass and every run. Dallas has had its times during the game, and on seven possessions had to punt after running only three plays.

"Washington deserved to win," Cowboy coach Tom Landry said. "They were playing excellent football in every phase."

The Redskins opened the scoring with an 18-yard field goal by Curt Knight, who redeemed a disastrous season by setting a playoff record with four field goals, the last three in the fourth period.

Then lightning struck as Kilmer, with the Redskins buried in their own territory, connected with Charley Taylor on a 31-yard bomb that caught the Dallas 21. Three plays later, Kilmer fired a 15-yard pass to Taylor for the touchdown.

Woody Flashes Famous Temper

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State coach Woody Hayes showed a camera into the face of a Los Angeles Times photographer before the Rose Bowl football game with South California Monday, tore formed from a post-game meeting with newspaper men when asked about the incident.

Photographer Art Rogers said his right was damaged in the altercation "but the doctor doesn't believe it will be permanent."

Rogers, 55, said the incident occurred about five minutes before the game started.

"The Ohio State coaches were gathered in a huddle on the sideline and there were a half dozen or maybe a dozen photographers shooting," Rogers said. "I kneeled down and tried to photograph Woody between the other coaches' legs.

"All of a sudden, boom, I got it."

The photographer said The Times sent him to an eye specialist, who said his right eye was damaged.

After the game Hayes had launched into a brief accolade of Southern Cal for its 42-17 victory over the Buckeyes when a Times reporter asked for his side of the scrap.

"Oh, forget it," Hayes believed as he hooked over a microphone. "Those are big stories."

He then retreated to the Ohio State dressing room, much he had declared off limits to reporters earlier after a critical article in the Los Angeles Times.

Newcombe Captures Title

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The year started off on a new note for Australian tennis star John Newcombe but it was the same old story for Aussies Margaret Court and Evonne Goolagong.

Newcombe, a three-time Wimbledon champion was his first Australian singles title Monday with a 6-3, 6-7, 6-3, 7-5 victory over Onny Parun while Mrs. Court won her 11th Australian championship with a 6-4, 7-5 victory over Miss Goolagong in the first all-woman final of the third straight year.

"It's great to win the Australian title at last," said Newcombe after earning $4,570 from the total tournament purse of $53,200. "I've never even made the final before.

"I would have been disappointed to have this big gap in my career."

Newcombe won the first set 6-3 with his powerful serve. He teered in the second and then regained control in the third set when he began hitting aces past his New Zealand opponent in the third set.

"John's serves were just too hot for me," said Parun.

Mrs. Court, playing with a strained stomach muscle, won the all-Aussie women's final by keeping the ball away from Miss Goolagong's devasting backhand.

Margaret is playing terrific ally," said Goolagong. "She is moving faster and better than ever before, and I'm sure she could beat Billie Jean King.

"Naturally I'm a bit disappointed at not winning—this is my third time in the finals—but the third time I've been runner-up.

Mrs. Court won $1,718, Parun earned $1,070 and Miss Goolagong $3,430.

Tied at Top

EDINBURGH (Reuter) — Hibernian whipped their fellow Edinburgh club Hearts 7-0 Monday to gain a share at the top of the Scottish First Division soccer table.

Hibernian and Celtic both have 28 points each, but Celtic have two postponed games in hand.

Quinton Young scored the winning goal for Dundee United their 1-0 win over Partick Thistle. A crowd of 8,000 turned out of watch the clash between the two Glasgow clubs.

Trenton Captures Tourney

The Trenton juveniles ended the old year's hockey activities with a 4-3 win over Oshawa in the second five minute stop time overtime period of the championship match Sunday.

The Trenton club came out of the "B" championship series of their own Third Annual Juvenile Hockey Tournament to play the "A" champion Oshawa team.

Curt MacLeath, who tallied a single goal at the beginning of the third period of regulation time, beat the Oshawa netminder for the go-ahead goal.

The victory was by no means an easy one as Trenton's Wayne Cadberry, Doug Slutsky, and Don Armstrong had to knock in goals within two minutes of the conclusion of the game to come from a 3-3 deficit to a 5-3 tie.

Cadberry scored Trenton's other goal.

The Belleville Western Tire Juveniles fared well in their first tourney game with Kingston Rotary, but were defeated by Peterborough 7-4 to knock them out of the competition.

Jim Richardson, Wayne "Smokey" Andrews, Russ Hermanson, Gary Joudrey and Dave Taylor provided the firemen's markers for the 5-4 victory over the Bowmen. The Belleville team came back from a 2-0 deficit to win in the final period according to Western Tire coach Les Smrke.

"We really opened up in the last game and forgot the defense," said Smrke. "Joudrey and Cooper had breaks on the Peterborough goalie, but they missed. It just wouldn't work for us."

Holmes Celebrates Tying Tally

Bobcats' winger Ken Holmes has good reason to cheer as he scored the tying third period goal against the Oshawa Legionaires in Metro Junior "B" hockey action Saturday. Holmes beat Oshawa defenseman Jim Thoma on a pass from Paul Geachy turned the 5-5 tie into a 6-5 victory for the Bobcats at the 19:17 mark of the final frame.

Dixie Lee Scoring Falls Short

The Dixie Lee Fried Chicken peewee minors were eliminated from the Tam O'Shanter International Invitational Hockey Tournament by what they did not have, as opposed to what they did have.

The peewee series ended with a three way games won tie between Belleville, Belleville and Rhode Island as each team had won three and lost one contest.

The Rhode Island peewees, however, had a one goal advantage over the Dixiemen as they had defeated Picton 13-4 to give them a goal total of 21 over Belleville's 22. The single goal margin sent the Dixiemen into the peewee championship game against Trenton while the dixiemen came home.

The difference between the two clubs' goal totals came down to the Belleville's 12-3 loss to Trenton as Dixie Lee coach Bob Cook said, "We plainly blew that first game. "If we'd have played as well the first game against Trenton, we'd have been in the championship. The boys played terrific hockey during the rest of their games."

Rhode Island, however, faced similarly against Trenton as they went down to a 6-1 defeat in the championship game. The islanders had defeated Trenton 3-2 earlier in the series.

The Kinsmen Club bantam majors did see championship action in the Tam O'Santer, but they did not see a victory. Trenton bantams came up with a 4-3 victory over the Belleville team as Wilson Ryan, Straghn and Hacket lead the Trenton club to the tournament victory.

Tony Meagher earned two goals for the Kinsmen Club while Bob Thompson tallied a single. The Belleville team had lost to Trenton by a similar 4-3 score earlier in the tourney, while their trophy at times in the first period he kept us from scoring."

Moore attributed his improved goaltending to the "couple of saves I made at the beginning of the first period. I think it gave me my confidence back."

Moore put the stops on scoring efforts by the Oshawa Tom Olsen - Craig MacLeod - Mike Noonan line in the first 10 minutes of the game. But he failed to hold them off for 40 seconds more as the Legionaires' first goal with six attackers on the ice on a delayed holding penalty to Bobcats' defenseman Neil Turner.

Olsen's mark-up ended the first period 2-1 as Brian Cousins and Paul Lavender carried the Bobcats' lead. Lavender's goal came on a deflection from Cousins' point shot when the Belleville ace was in a power play five on four situation.

Mark Coates scored his first of two goals as he took a pass from defenseman Dave Plesch to beat Oshawa's goalie Logan high in the glove side corner.

The Legionaires provided the remainder of the second period scoring as Noonan, Olsen, who scored Oshawa's final goal for a hat trick effort, and Dave McKee tallied to give the visitors a 4-3 lead going into the third frame. McKee's unassisted effort came as he beat McGeachy on the left wing after stealing the puck off theBobcats' stick.

Oshawa's Olsen upped the lead to 5-3 at 7:38 of the third but Coates banged in his second and Ken Holmes, taking a pass from Lavender in the corner, scored the tie-up tally from the middle slot.

Wally Dainard was absent from the Bobcats' line-up Saturday while Mike Watt was forced to leave the contest when he aggravated an ankle injury.

The Bobcats go into the new year with a 11-4-4 record - tied record and a score to settle with Markham Waxers in an away game Friday. The Waxers bombed the 'Cats 13-5 on home ice December 27.

McGeachy Makes Move For 6-5 Bobcats' Win

By AL ZABAS
Staff Sportswriter

Coaches do more than stand behind players' benches with their hands in their pockets trying to learn a game. They make decisions that can turn tides into victories.

Bobcats' coach Moe Hunter made suchaa decision in Saturday's Metro Junior "B" 6-5 victory over the Oshawa Legionaires as he pulled Wayne McGeachy from the backline position to wing alongside centre Rick Meagher.

McGeachy, who had played opposite defenseman Tim Yohn throughout the hard hitting contest, was slotted a forward in the final line change of the game by Hunter. McGeachy's promotion up the ice advanced the Bobcats scoreboard markings to 6-5 as Meagher beat Oshawa goalie Mark Logan for the go-ahead goal with 43 seconds remaining in the final third.

Meagher's individual effort at the Bobcats' blue line set up McGeachy's goal at the centre breka through two Legionaire defenders and took the puck down into the Oshawa end for the assist.

"Meagher's second effort at the blue line was the key to the victory," said the Bobcats' coach. "If he hadn't broken through we would not have the two points."

The Bobcats hold down fourth place with a five-point margin over Saturday's opponents and rival Markham Waxers by three.

Most of the credit for the victory, goes to Belleville's netminder Bob Brown, who played a stronger game against the Legionaires than in his last two Bobcat outings with St. Mikes and Markham.

Oshawa's coach Armstrong acknowledged Moore's contribution to the Bobcats' victory.

"Their goaltender played a solid game. A couple of times in the first period he kept us

Rollins Runners-Up At Niagara

Rollins' peewee majors were halted one game short of the Niagara Falls Invitational Tournament, grand championship.

The Belleville all-stars suffered a 3-1 loss to Orillia in the championship game Saturday after winning four of five contests to obtain that berth.

"All the boys played well. There wasn't a weak link in the outfit," said Rollins' manager Norm Harris of his team's performance.

The 31 championship loss to Orillia was Belleville's second of the tournament after they dropped a 4-1 decision to London West in the opener. After that the team reeled off wins over London East (4-1), West Hill (5-1), Niagara (4-1) and London West (4-2).

Drew Sidenberg paced Rollins in the tourney with seven goals and five assists while Danny Duffy counted seven and four. Other top marksmen included Gary Frederick (3-3) and Gary McInroy (3-4). Goalie Brian Cook was another Rollins standout.

Coach Gord McInroy was pleased with his team's performance that earned them runner-up spot in the four day tourney, "We haven't played better or harder hockey all season than we did in that tourney," said McInroy.

Imperials Edge Trenton Midgets

The Blake Kerr Imperial midgets needed one goal to break a 2-2 tie with Trenton Sunday and centre Peter Crawford provided the last minute scoring services for the Belleville club.

The Belleville centre's unassisted tally, in what he called his "usual deke to the right, shot to the left" play earned the Imperials a 3-2 final and their first victory over the Trenton team this year. Trenton had edged Belleville 3-2 and 4-3 in two previous meetings.

Imperials' coach Robb Burrowes attributed his team's victory to the fact that his "boys were hitting Trenton much more than they're accustomed to. This gave us the chance. We were concentrating more on forechecking than on defense against them."

Roy Matheson, Trenton's coach, acknowledged after the game that "Belleville was hungrier than we were. They were up for it more."

Trenton, however, marked up the game's first goal as Harry Ayres trapped the puck from a face off to the left of Imperials' goalie Jeff Merrill and netted a low shot into the Belleville net for a 1-0 first period lead.

Steve Kirby retaliated in the second as he took a pass from Wayne Clapp to beat goalie Brummell, who "hadn't had a skate off for three weeks" according to coach Matheson. The second period ended in a 1-1 tie.

Belleville's Eric Powell scored the go-ahead goal in the third on a free on three power play as Trenton defenseman Brad Rease was in the penalty box for fighting and Mark Clemencie for high-sticking.

Team captain Al MacIntosh, who lost a second period goal when the referee ruled him in the Imperial's crease, tied the score 2-2. MacIntosh beat Merrill in the Belleville netminder's stick corner.

Kirby Tries For Second Tally

Though Blake Kerr Imperial midget Steve Kirby did not score on this spot on Trenton goalie Gord Brummell, he tallied Belleville's first goal earlier in the second period. Kirby took a pass from Peter Crawford who scored the Imperials' go - ahead goal, but the Trenton defensemen but failed to put the puck past goalie Brummell. The Blake Kerr midgets beat Trenton 3-2 as Crawford's final came at 19:21 of the third period.

Parent Finds Former Touch

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Scratch Bernie Parent off Philadelphia Blazers' list of costly disappointments.

The 27-year-old goaltender lured from Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League for $700,000 on a five-year contract, broke a foot soon after the Blazers started in World Hockey Association's first season.

But even after he got back into action at the end of November, Parent seldom played up to his ranking as one of the best netminders in professional hockey.

There is little doubt, however, that Parent was the key figure in the Blazers last two victories.

Monday, Philadelphia was

BERNIE PARENT

outshot 39-33 at New York, but Parent registered his first shutout in a 3-0 victory over the Raiders.

The night before, the Blazers were outshot 34-22 at Los Angeles and Parent stood up for a 1 victory over the Sharks.

In other games Monday, Alberta Oilers took a 7-3 win over Winnipeg Jets while Minnesota Fighting Saints and Houston Aeros played to a 4-4 tie.

Quebec Les Nordiques defeated Ottawa Nationals 8-4 and New England Whalers shaded New York 3-2 in other Sunday games. Cleveland Crusaders edged Houston 4-3 after overtime and Ottawa downed Chicago Cougars 4-2 in Saturday action.

After Sunday's game, Parent said: "It's a funny thing, the last time I came in here, I gave up seven goals. . . . We're only nine points shy, of fourth place but I think we can make the playoffs."

"We've won nine in our last 14 games and we're starting to put it together," said the former Boston Bruin. "We're the least playing like a team. The fellows are helping each other and looking to each other for passes. But most of all, we needed Parent back from injury."

Philadelphia remains in last place in the WHA Eastern Division but they have narrowed the distance to fifth-place Ottawa to five points. A month ago, it was 13 points.

Claude St. Sauveur, Andre Lacroix and Jim Mayers provided the goals for Philadelphia Sunday, one in each period. The Blazers scored 2,891 saves Parent stop 14 shots in each of the first and third periods and 11 in the second on the way to his shutout.

Bruins Back in Familiar Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Bruins have regained the National Hockey League East Division lead and, judging by the play of Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr, they'll be tough to dislodge.

Esposito scored three goals and Orr assisted on all three Monday night in the Bruins' 8-2 victory over Vancouver Canucks which put Boston two points in front of Montreal Canadiens in the East race.

The Bruins had emerged on top for the first time this season with their 2-0 victory over Minnesota North Stars last Friday, but the Canadiens temporarily regained a share of the lead with a 1-1 tie against Atlanta Flames Saturday.

The Bruins' winning streak now stands at eight games in which they outscored their op ponents 36-12.

Monday night, they ouclout the Canucks 53-25 and didn't allow a Vancouver goal until the third period by which time they had built a 6-0 lead.

Orr matched the league record for most assists in one game he's accomplished as he sparked the Boston explosion by setting up goals by Fred Stanfield, Don Marcotte, Johnny Bucyk, Ken Hodge, Mike Walton and Esposito.

The record of six assists by a defenseman was first set in 1947 by Babe Pratt of Toronto Maple Leafs and was matched by Pat Stapleton of Chicago Black Hawks in a 1969 game.

Hodge, in addition to his single goal, also assisted on all three of Esposito's scores.

In Sunday night games, New York Rangers whipped St. Louis Blues 6-1, Chicago Black Hawks beat Buffalo Sabres 4-2 and Detroit Red Wings tied Minnesota North Stars 4-4.

Saturday, Toronto Maple Leafs edged St. Louis 5-4, Vancouver beat New York Islanders 5-2, Los Angeles Kings defeated Philadelphia Flyers 5-3 and Pittsburgh Penguins and Detroit 2-2.

Highlights of the other weekend games included a four-goal performance by Bobby Schmautz in leading Vancouver over the Islanders Saturday.

Three goals by centre Jean Ratelle led the Rangers over St. Louis as New York climbed out of a tie with Buffalo, leaving the Sabres alone in fourth spot in the tight East Division race.

Adding to the St. Louis defeats at Toronto and New York was the loss of Blues defenseman Brent Hughes who suffered a broken leg in the game against the Rangers.

The Blues announced Monday they had called up Chuck Hamilton from Denver Spurs of the Western League as a replacement.

Detroit announced they have called up left-winger Danny Gruen from Fort Worth of the Central League and sent Robbie Ftorek to Virginia of the American League.

SCHMIDT TOP JUMPER

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN (AP) — Rainer Schmidt of East Germany won his second competition and jumping title Monday at this West German community and became the heavy favorite for over-all honors in the annual German-Austrian four-hill championship. The Canadian team is 13th. Repeating his victory Saturday at Oberstdorf, Schmidt leaped 89.5 and 91.5 metres for 229.1 points. The next event is Wednesday in Innsbruck, and the final Saturday in Bischofshofen.

Dynamos, Galt Gain Ground

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a profitable weekend for Moscow Dynamos and Galt Hornets in the 16-game Ontario International hockey tournament, keeping their hopes alive for the first-place award.

Moscow jumped into a tie for first place with Prague of Czechoslovakia, defeating Owen Sound Downtowners 11-4 Monday following a 5-3 win Saturday over Timra of Sweden.

Prague is undefeated after three games in the total-points competition and Moscow has a 3-1 record. The Hornets, who defeated Timra 8-7 Sunday and Owen Sound 7-5 Saturday, is third with four points followed by Kingston Aces with two. Owen Sound and Timra are winless after three starts.

The Canadian clubs competing in the tournament, which ends Saturday, are members of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

In exhibition games, Prague walloped Windsor Spitfires of the Southern Ontario Junior League 14 - 1 Monday and defeated Brantford Foresters of the OHA Sr. league 7-1 Sunday. Prague has outscored its opponents 40-13 in five games.

Monday in Owen Sound, the Dynamos snapped a 2-2 tie late in the first period when Yuri Rejn connected at 19:33. Moscow outscored Owen Sound 3-1 in the second and 5-1 in the final 20 minutes.

Juri Chichurin and Anatoli Motsvilev led the winners with three goals each, while Stanislav Schegolev, Vladimir Devyatov, Evgeni Kozlov and Mihail Titov added the others. Gord Gallagher, Rod Bloomfield, Jim Blair and Don Vipond replied for Owen Sound, who were outshot 39-28.

In Windsor before 4,125 fans, Julius Haas scored three goals and assisted on two others as the Czechs bombarded three netminders with 58 shots while the Spitfires managed 17. Haas also had three goals in Brantford.

Vaclav Nedomansky and Josef Palecek had two goals each for Prague with Frantisec Pospisil, Juri Novak, Jaroslav Pastar, Karel Vohralik, Eduard Novak, Miroslav Ehrrman and Milan Kaikl getting the others.

Paul Turkey got the only Windsor goal.

Galt nipped Sweden when Bill Heay scored with 49 seconds remaining before 1,418 hometown fans. The Hornets erased a 6-4 deficit with four goals in the third period.

Right winger Bruce Reier fired two goals to lead Galt to its win over Owen Sound as the Hornets peppered 53 shots against the opposition compared with 32 for the Downtowners.

In Barrie Saturday, Moscow led Timra 3-0 after the first period and 4-2 at the end of the second. Yuri Chicurin was top scorer for Moscow with two goals and Orjan Lindstrom scored twice for Sweden.

Six game records in the tournament which continues in Kingston tonight when the Aces play host to the Hornets.

Czechs Chop U.S.

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Jaroslav Holik shoved three goals to power Czechoslovakia over a United States B team 8-2 in exhibition hockey Monday night played in conjunction with the World Cup hockey tournament.

The Czechs, who finished the four-team round-robin competition with a 2-1 record, overpowered the U.S. team, which included only five members of the U.S. No. 1 squad.

Tonight, the tournament concludes with the U.S., losers of its games to Canada and Czechoslovakia, meeting Russia, which ripped the Czechs 6-3 and walloped Canada 12-3.

Holik, a 24-year veteran, scored two goals in the second period and his third goal in the final period.

Flyers Flying

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Barrie Flyers pulled two surprises in Star Cup hockey Monday—they defeated ZKL of Czechoslovakia 4 - 3 for their first win of the tournament and didn't take a penalty.

Jiri Janak and Zdenek Mrat scored for ZKL in the second as the Czech team went ahead 2-1, but Pat Monahan tied it up before the period was over.

In the third, Frantisek Sevcik scored for Czechoslovakia, but Bob Cunningham and Ron Robinson scored to give the Flyers the decision.

Only 1,087 fans were in the 14,000-seat arena for the game, in which only one minor penalty was called, going to Czechoslovakia. It was the first time in memory of hockey observers that a Canadian team had not been penalized in a game in Sweden.

The Flyers' record now is one win, one tie and one loss with two games left to play. The Soviet Wings and Brynaes of Sweden lead the tournament with six points each.

Totems Topped

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuter) — British Columbia Totems took it on the chin in Ahearne Cup hockey play again Monday, taking a 12-5 thrashing from Leksand of Sweden.

The Totems, like most Canadians teams in Sweden before them, were penalized heavily. They have yet to pick up a point in the seven-team tournament and, of course, are at the bottom of the table. Spartak of Russia leads with eight points.

Leksand jumped into a 5-1 first-period lead. In the second, the Totems closed the gap to 5-3, but then four players in a row went to the penalty box and the period ended 9-3 for the Swedes.

The Totems were outscored 3-0 in the last period as they ran out of gas, due in no small part to being frequently men short.

Espo Pads Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Phil Esposito's three goals in an 8-2 Boston Bruins victory over Vancouver Canucks Monday night gave the Bruins centre a six-point lead in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Esposito now has 24 goals and 34 assists for 58 points while Jacques Lemaire of Montreal Canadiens follows with 29 goals and 23 assists.

Southern Cal Cinches Title

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — We didn't make any changes in strategy—we just kicked the tar outta 'em," coach John McKay said Monday after his Southern California Trojans crushed Ohio State 42-17 in the 59th Rose Bowl football game.

He termed the finest team of his career, said he was particularly pleased with the decisiveness of his triumph because there was still some doubt that the Trojans were worthy of their No. 1 rating.

"In there anybody else The Associated Press wants us to play?" McKay said, referring to the traditional post New Year's Day poll by the news service to determine national rankings.

A subdued Woody Hayes, veteran coach of the Ohio State Buckeyes, who is seeking his 10th college triumph, doesn't participate in the poll, but he gave his vote anyway.

Asked if he thought the 1972 Southern California team was best he ever played, Hayes said:

"Yes, I think so. Because of their tremendous talent. You can run on them some, as we proved, but in the second half they passed us right out of the park."

Southern California's Mike Rae completed 18 of 25 passes for 228 yards and the Trojans, with the flashy running of sophomore Anthony Davis, presented a one-two punch that the Buckeyes couldn't stop.

After being held to a 7/7 deadlock in the first half, McKay turned his legions loose in an awesome second half display, scoring three touchdowns in the third period and two in the fourth.

Four of the scores came on short plunges from less than two yards out by Sam (Bam) Cunningham, the 218-pound fullback who has set a Rose Bowl scoring record.

The previous record of 18 points had been set by Elmer Layden of Notre Dame against Stanford in 1925 and matched by Jack Weisenberger of Michigan against Southern Cal in 1948, and Mel Anthony of Michigan against Oregon State in 1965.

Ohio State, while rushing for 307 yards, scored touchdowns early in the second period on a plunge by fullback Randy Keith, and in the closing seconds on a five-yard run by John Brockington. Rae also got a third-period 21-yard field goal by Blair Conway.

Bullets Bounce Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What's faster than a speeding Bullet?

Milwaukee Bucks didn't have the answer Monday night and, as a result, lost an 88-87 National Basketball Association decision to Baltimore Bullets.

Riordan scored 23 points overall as the Bullets beat the Bucks for the first time in 14 games.

The defeat, Milwaukee's second straight, cut the Bucks' lead in the Midwest Division to 2½ games over idle Chicago. The Bullets took a half game advantage over Atlanta in the Central Division.

In the night's only other NBA game, Los Angeles Lakers stomped Seattle SuperSonics 108-103. No games were played in the American Basketball Association Monday and neither league had any scheduled Sunday.

Saturday in the NBA, it was New York 100, Baltimore 98; Atlanta 120, Buffalo 110; Chicago 99, Milwaukee 92; Phoenix 107, Portland 104; Golden State 113, Kansas City-Omaha 107 and Boston 117, Philadelphia 107.

Goodrich scored 17 points in a red-hot second quarter and West fired in 16 in the third period. Goodrich wound up with 25 points and West had 31.

Quinte Rink Tops Seniors

The Quinte Curling Club Seniors won only two matches at the Cobourg playdowns Saturday but they were enough to earn the Seniors the representation for the western third division in Ontario Curling Association competition.

The Quinte Senior rink, skipped by Murray Johnson, will meet the third division eastern champions out of the Kingston area.

The Belleville rink defeated Cobourg in their first game as they captured a six end game in the ninth. The Cobourg rink decided to end the match in the ninth end as a result of an insurmountable lead, according to Johnson.

"In the game against Brighton, we ran them right out of rocks," said Johnson, "so they couldn't have thought to win. Brighton quit going into the 10th end."

The Quinte rink with lead Vaughn Storey, second Murray Bill Meagher, second Chris Glithero, and vice Bill Riley will meet the Kingston area rink in Picton in a two out of three serves Sunday.

Clemente Mourned

SAN JUAN (AP) — Puerto Rico's governor-elect cancelled festivities for his inauguration today as the island joined the sports world in mourning Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder Roberto Clemente.

The 38-year-old Puerto Rican athlete—whose long, lashing bat, speedy base-running and leaping catches earned him about $150,000 a year—was declared dead in the crash Sunday night of a plane taking off with relief supplies for earthquake victims in Managua, Nicaragua. Four others aboard the plane also died in the crash.

Gov.-elect Rafael Hernandez Colon cancelled the inaugural ball and all other social activities of his swearing-in. He takes over today from Gov. Louis A. Ferre, who ordered three days of official mourning.

"He was one of the greatest persons I knew," said John Galbreath, the Pirates' board chairman. "If you have to die, how better could your death be exemplified than on a mission of mercy?"

Bill Virdon, the Pirates' manager, predicted baseball reporters would vote Clemente into the Cooperstown, N.Y., Hall of Fame as soon as the five - year waiting period is up.

"His marvelous playing skills rank him among the truly elite," said Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. "And what a wonderfully good man he was. . . He had about him the touch of royalty."

Sources at San Juan airport said the four-engine DC-7 plunged into the ocean as it was making a sharp left turn after takeoff. The plane was owned by a San Juan air-cargo operator.

Six-foot waves hampered the search for victims 15 miles North of the airport. The U.S. Coast Guard said a suitcase and some wreckage was found and the search was to continue today.

A Port Authority official said three survivors of the crash were Jerry Geisel, the pilot; Arthur Rivera, co-pilot and owner; Rafael Matias, the flight engineer. A fourth reporter identified only as Lozano.

Clemente played his 18th season in the major leagues in 1972. He had paid the Dodgers $4,000 to buy his contract as a minor league player from Montreal Royals in 1954.

His lifetime batting average was .317, and he won four National League batting titles while averaging better than .300 in 12 seasons.

He was named the National League Most Valuable Player in 1966 and 12 times to the league's all-star team.

In 1971, he was named outstanding player of the World Series for hitting .414 while Pittsburgh beat Baltimore Orioles.

Last season, Clemente's average was .312 for 102 games, and he made the 3,000th hit of his career.

Kinsmen Win

The Kinsmen Club bantam hockey team came off their 7-3 O'Shanter Tournament 4 - 3 loss to Trenton Saturday to defeat the same team 6-1 Sunday.

Paul Hayman led the evening Kinsmen with a four goal performance while Dave Lamb and Ray Skelly scored single goals for the Belleville club. B.J. was tallied Trenton's lone marker.

Mark Crawford netted two goals for the Dixie Lee Fried Chicken team from Queen's Kingston Church Athletics in the 5-3 Quinte - St. Lawrence League victory Sunday. Bill Rowe scored Belleville's additional goal while Shaw tallied a single for Kingston.

Filion Wins World Title

NEW YORK (CP) — Herve Filion, the saucy little reinsman with the so-long-sucker smile, is the world's winningest harness racing driver for the fifth consecutive year.

The 32-year-old Canadian racked up 1972 with a world record of 604 winners and earnings of more than $1.3 million. He owns most of his horses outright or in partnership.

Filion could have raised the season in mid-December, when he had two more winners than his record 1971 showing. But he said reins kept cutting him, and he went down to the wire.

The Ste Sarah Canadian from Angers, Que., finished the year Sunday at Dover Downs in Delaware with three winners in seven drives.

On a miserable rainy Sunday, Filion's appearance increased attendance at Dover Downs to about 4,000, a track spokesman said.

Before the short, stocky Canadian became the world's leading harness driver, the month's races any reinsman won in one year was 386. In 1968, Filion had 407 victories, the first 400-plus record for one season.

He was still top gun with 394 in 1969, and again in 1970 with 386. He won his first 500-plus season in 1971 with a total of 502.

Once he had 12 winners in two days. Another time he rode in seven winners on a single card.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3

Aries (March 21 — April 19): Concentrate on what you are supposed to be doing while you discipline your surge of feelings to avoid waste.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Wherever you can gather up a bit for position, do so, being modest about what you promise in return.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Meet competition, deal with your opposite number. Your exercising rounds for more than other tangible factors.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Avoid fatigue as you select which of too many things you want to do. Doing a little more than one thing doesn't pay.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Duty calls, and it's time to get down to serious work. Some of today's decisions are more complex than appears on the surface.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your executive streak comes out on top—if you are trying to do some completely routine job, you complicate matters.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Think of today as an early moment in the founding of a new and broadly based way of life and prosperity for yourself.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Everybody has a long tale to tell, including surprise details which fit in with what you have already commended to put together.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Button down the fine points of the last two days transactions, prepare for a swifter orientation. fresh ventures.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You have considerable "luck," going for you. The one sensitive area: be sure that what you buy is all there and really works.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It is just as well delays are likely —come prepared to use every "lost" moment for serious study, meditation.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Financial details kept confidential have a way of being mundane, enlarged into causes for endless discussion.

To Your Good Health

Vaginal Prolapse Requires Surgery

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 70 and a radical hysterectomy. C. S.

What will happen if I don't have this operation? What organ is it that protrudes from my vagina? Otherwise I am in good health.—C. S.

This prolapse, or sagging, is the result of relaxation and weakening of tissues which support the vagina and adjacent organs. This results from age or from the stress of childbirth, or both.

The bladder is the protrusion. You are fortunate not to have any discomfort so far. Usually when the bladder is thus out of position, urine is not completely emptied, and there is a puddling of the remaining urine.

This usually results sooner or later in irritation of the bladder and once urinary infections develop, they often can prove difficult to overcome.

Your present condition will not improve as time passes; more likely it will worsen. Since otherwise you are in excellent good condition, and your doctor has advised an operation, I think you should heed his advice.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a problem with constipation. I am not elderly, but only in my early 20s. It has gotten to where my bowels will not move without the aid of a laxative habit, but I am afraid to take too many of them.

I am a single person. Could this have anything to do with it? Could this be a symptom of cancer? Can you suggest some way for me to get regular without taking laxatives?—K. S.

Laxative habit, eh? It's not uncommon.

Yes, the laxative habit can be broken if you learn the simple facts about how a normal bowel is supposed to behave. A daily movement is not necessary. Most people who use laxatives just don't understand that.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is pernicious anemia? and is there any cure aside from vitamin B-12 to be had?Mrs. C. P.

Pernicious anemia is a disease that results from lack of a substance called "intrinsic factor," which is necessary to enable the body to extract Vitamin B-12 from our food.

B-12 is the known cure for the disease—but it can be prevented from developing by giving adequate doses of Vitamin B-12, usually given by injection periodically. Injections generally are given about once a month, which may be a nuisance—but it is a vast improvement over what things were a few decades ago, before the B-12 treatment was discovered. Before that, the disease was always fatal.

In the very early days of successful treatment, large doses of liver extract were given, but later it was discovered that B-12 was the part of the liver extract which was essentially needed. So today treatment of a pernicious anemia patient is usually pretty easy.

Opening lead—six of clubs.

Most players are not beset much more on a probability than a certainty of success. Naturally, it is better to string along with percentages than bucks them, so when the indications are that one play is more likely to succeed than another, that is the right play to make.

Take this case where declarer must make a crucial deduction at trick one. If he plays the ace he makes the contract, and if he doesn't he goes down. If South plays low from dummy on the club lead, East takes the queen and returns a club. West's suit thus becomes established and if West does not matter whether declarer takes hearts or diamonds; in either event West takes the last club and cashes his clubs to put an end to the matter.

But if declarer goes up with the ace of clubs at trick one, he makes the contract. He can take a heart finesse at once or play A-K and set another diamond, and either way make nine tricks. This is because West has no way of cashing his clubs because the suit is blocked.

South cannot be sure at trick one that a club block exists but the odds favor it. He disregards the possibility of being led from a four-card suit, for in that case he cannot lose the contract.

Instead, declarer assumes West has five clubs. West's holding in such case can be K-Q-10-6-5, K-10-8-6-5, Q-10-8-6-5 or K-Q-8-6-5.

The first case is ignored because West presumably would have led the king with that holding, not the six. The second and third possibilities indicate that the clubs will be blocked by going up with the ace. Only in the fourth case is it right to duck the opening lead.

The odds in favor of going up with the ace are therefore 2 to 1.

Tomorrow: Defense.

Hangover Speeds Swimmer

VANCOUVER (CP) — It was warmer in the water than out Monday as 325 swimmers braved rain, winds and 41-degree weather int he 53rd annual New Year's Day Polar Bear Swim in English Bay.

Hundreds of spectators watched as the swimmers splashed their way into Polar Bear membership in the 44-degree water. Some stayed in less than a minute but 17 stayed in the full 30-minute time limit.

Sid Clarke, 25, a University of British Columbia student, won the Peter Pantages Trophy, named for the Polar Bear Club's late founder, by winning the only event of the day—a 100-yard race. He said he wasn't even trying, but "when you hit 44-degree water with a hangover, you swim like hell."

Misunderstood

NEW YORK (AP) — Two men found shot to death in an empty lot today were the victims of a "local drinking misunderstanding," not gangland revenge, police said Monday.

Offer Aid

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — A group of 90 Canadians who served in the Korean War has volunteered to go to North Vietnam to help rebuild schools, hospitals and homes destroyed by war.

The veterans, who earlier said they would return Korean War medals to Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener to protest United States' bombing of North Vietnam, have asked for diplomatic assistance.

Famine Looms

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said Monday that "despite the achievements in averting disaster during 1972, the outlook for food supplies for 1973 on present evidence is more serious and more threatening."

Junior Champ

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — John McPhail, 18, of Ottawa won the Canadian junior chess championship here Sunday. McPhail with a total of eight points from seven wins and two draws, defeated Kevin Spraghett, 18, of Montreal with seven points and Bruce Harper, 18, of Vancouver with six. McPhail will represent Canada in the world junior championship in July in England.

Defector Apparent Suicide

RUNNING SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Sergei Kourdakov, a former Soviet submarine officer who defected to the Western world in 1971, was found dead Monday, an apparent suicide, authorities said.

Kourdakov gained world attention when he leaped from a Russian fishing trawler during a storm off the coast of British Columbia Sept. 3, 1971. He braved the storm to swim to the coast in an ordeal that lasted 20 hours.

Kourdakov was named the No. 1 Communist youth of Kamchatka province in far eastern Russia at age 20. Before defecting, he was leader of the Communist Youth League, with 1,200 young Russians under his command.

While in the United States, Kourdakov has preached to various groups on what he felt were the ills of the Communist system.

Drew Critical

TORONTO (CP) — George Drew, former Progressive Conservative premier of Ontario, remained in critical condition Monday in Wellesley Hospital. Mr. Drew, 78, was admitted to hospital Nov. 19.

Toronto Safest American City

TORONTO (CP) — Although there were more murders, rapes and bank robberies in Metro Toronto last year than ever before, Judge C. O. Bick, chairman of the Metro Police Commission, says the city is still the safest of the continent's big cities.

The crime rate went up 4.3 per cent in 1972. There were 39 murders last year, compared with 38 in 1971 and 13 in 1970. Rape went up from 134 in 1971 to 180 in 1972.

Bank robberies climbed to 52 the previous year and from about $460,000 in money was stolen from Metro banks. In 1971, $261,000 was taken in bank holdups.

Despite the jump in crimes of violence, the 1972 crime increase would have been less than half of one per cent except for Bail Reform Act which added a new crime to the statistics. Failing to report in court after being given an appearance notice was a new statistic used by Metro police in 1972.

More than 7,000 of the more than 136,000 offences tabulated last year were for failing to show up in court.

Judge Bick, in an interview Sunday, noted that FBI statistics show that Detroit, which compares in population with Metro Toronto, cut its crime rate last year. However, there were still 432 murders in nine months, about 11 times Toronto's rate for all of 1972.

"Thank goodness we live here," said Judge Bick.

Nova Scotia Float Rose Bowl Winner

PASADENA, Calif. (CP AP) — Nova Scotia's 50 foot long floral representation of the sailing vessel HMS Bounty won the International Trophy among floats entered in Monday's 84th Tournament of Roses parade.

About one million spectators lined the parade route and millions more watched on television as the annual extravaganza of motorized gardens wended its way through the streets before the annual Rose Bowl football game between the University of Southern California Trojans and the Ohio State Buckeyes.

Nova Scotia's capture of the International Trophy made it two victories in a row for the province. Last year, on its first appearance here, Nova Scotia won the Ambassador's Trophy as best foreign entry, with a floral replica of the schooner Bluenose.

The theme of this year's parade was Movie Memories. A replica of the Bounty was built in Lunenburg, N.S., for the motion picture Mutiny on the Bounty, starring Marlon Brando.

Celebrate

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The singing of Happy Birthday and the munching of a 200-pound fruitcake marked the beginning of the city's tercentennial celebrations at midnight Sunday.

Give Blood For Equal Rights Law

With anti-amendment forces generating much mail to legislators, equal-rights supporters have sponsored a "give your blood for your rights" program to raise money.

The women — and many of their male sympathizers — have their blood typed and donated to the pay-ment to a coalition backing the constitutional amendment aimed at guaranteeing equal rights for the sexes.

Thirty-eight states must ratify the amendment for it to become law. So far, 22 have done so, but the amendment is mired in unfriendly committees in some state legislatures.

Missouri, Florida and Illinois are among the states where the hottest battles are being waged over the amendment, the caucus said.

Divorces Not Filed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — When the late V. L. Hash, a one-armed lawyer known for picking up a lot of walk-in divorce business, did not receive his fee, he simply forgot to legalize the separations.

And today, faced with 200 divorces which probably aren't legal, the Arizona Supreme Court will begin trying to unravel what it took Hash 40 years to accomplish.

Norman Linder of Phoenix, who thought he was divorced from his first wife in 1947 and has since remarried, still thinks of Hash and not at all fondly.

"All I can say is those people down there had better be careful or old Hash will be getting to them too. I'd say the same thing to that old son of a buck if he were still around. Matter of fact, I paid him."

The strange tale of Hash and the forgotten divorces began in the Depression days of the 1930s. Under an Arizona law which still stands, a judge makes the oral divorce decree, but the lawyer involved must file the written one with the court clerk before it becomes legal.

His niece, Virginia Hash, who also is a lawyer, recalls that he quite always cautioned his clients:

"You're not divorced until this decree is filed and it's not going to be until I'm paid."

And there was light.

Ignore End of Reduction

Tax Collections To Remain Same

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal revenue department has put off any administrative action toward collecting a scheduled increase in personal income taxes in case the government changes its mind about the increases.

By law, a three-per-cent reduction in all personal taxes, introduced in the middle of 1971, expired Sunday—the end of 1972. That should mean an increase for all taxpayers effective this week.

The revenue department, which collects taxes, ordinarily issues revised tax tables when a tax change is imminent to guide employers in making payroll tax deductions from weekly, fortnightly or monthly pay cheques.

However, no new tables have been issued to reflect the scheduled three-per-cent tax increase.

"We haven't replaced the tables," an official said Tuesday.

"In response to queries we're telling employers to continue deductions on the basis of 1972 tables."

Does this mean the revenue department expects the finance department to rescind the tax increase?

"We don't know what's going to happen," the official said.

But with Finance Minister John Turner expected to announce a new tax and spending budget soon and the possibility that tax rates will be changed, the revenue department decided to spare itself the effort and expense of producing a revised tax table for Jan. 1, only to have it overtaken by a further change within a month or two.

There has been speculation that the minority Liberal government, under opposition pressure to reduce taxes, might announce a decision at least to retain the general three-per-cent tax reduction.

Prairies Are Whipped By Shrieking Blizzard

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The biggest blizzard in two years shrieked across the prairies today, plugging transportation systems and causing havoc in both urban and rural areas.

Most parts of central Alberta were paralyzed Tuesday by winds whipping snow along at up to 60 m.p.h. By early today, the 24-hour blast was beginning to subside there, and was bowling through Saskatchewan on its way to Manitoba.

Temperatures of 15 to 25 below zero were falling in the wake of the storm, which disrupted unusually tame mid-winter weather in the West.

Most of Saskatchewan had felt the bite of the blizzard by Tuesday night. At 10 p.m., Saskatoon reported traffic had been fumbling through the streets in zero visibility for nine hours. Few vehicles dared to venture out to rural areas.

Visibility also was nil Tuesday in Regina. An RCMP spokesman said constables were stopping traffic from leaving that city. Roads were filling with heavy drifting snow. But no serious accidents were reported.

"There's no way they (motorists) can go fast enough to have a bad accident," said the police spokesman.

Some flights managed to get in or out of the Saskatoon airport was shut down late Tuesday. Norcanair, a Prince Albert-based airline, closed its operations.

CP Air, Air Canada and Pacific Western Airlines reported delays and flight cancellations. Trains and buses were running behind schedule.

The blizzard ripped into the Edmonton area at midnight Monday night and about an hour and a half later, a PWA Boeing 707 cargo jet crashed during final instrument approach to Edmonton International Airport. All five crew members aboard and 75 head of cattle died.

One Alberta road death was directly attributed to the storm. Sylvia Mary Rombough, 18, of Edmonton, died Tuesday night several hours after the car in which she was riding hit a semi-trailer truck on the Edmonton-Calgary highway not far from Edmonton International Airport.

RCMP in Leduc, 15 miles south of Edmonton, said more than 50 cars were involved in different accidents Tuesday on highway 2 to Calgary. An Edmonton towing company reported many cars in the ditch along that road and pulled its trucks out of the area at 9 p.m. because blowing snow and darkness had made the highway almost invisible.

Several multiple-vehicle crashes were reported.

All roads throughout Alberta and Saskatchewan were treacherous by late Tuesday. The storm carried only two or three inches of snow to most areas, but drifts were two feet deep in many places.

Windsor Schools Closed

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twenty-three thousand students in the Windsor area had a holiday today when disputes with teachers caused school boards to close their buildings in the city and surrounding Essex County.

Involved were the city's 13,000 secondary school students and about 10,000 elementary separate school children in the county.

Another 2,400 high school students in Timmins were to have a holiday. Only four of the 24 secondary school teachers in the town were to be available to supervise the other 200 Grade 12 and Grade 13 students.

In Windsor, 648 of the 700 secondary school teachers have resigned in the city's 14 schools. The board said the schools will close today but are scheduled to open Thursday.

Meetings went on today after negotiations broke off in Windsor late Tuesday with little progress reported. It was also known when the new talks would conclude.

The dispute does not affect the Windsor public or separate schools or two separate high schools.

Essex County separate school teachers also met today. Though nothing new was being discussed, the board wants the teachers' executive to authorize a secret vote to resolve issues instead of an open vote as previously.

Postmen Start Vote

TORONTO (CP) — Inside postal workers were to begin voting here and in Windsor today on the recommendations of a conciliation board report, four days before workers across the country cast their ballots.

L. A. Murphy, Toronto local president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, was one of four members of the national negotiating committee who favored acceptance of the report. Members are being told to make their own decisions.

The ballot boxes of the locals holding an early vote will be locked until postal workers in the rest of the country complete voting.

The results then will be sent to national headquarters of the Council of Postal Unions, which represents inside workers and letter carriers in bargaining.

The executive of the Toronto local of the Letter Carriers Union of Canada met Tuesday night to decide what proposals to be presented to Toronto letter carriers.

No one was hurt, and the plane didn't get off the ground. The suspect, identified as Charles A. Wenige, 37, of Baltimore, passively surrendered Tuesday night about three hours after he took two stewardesses hostages aboard a Piedmont Airlines plane and demanded to be flown to Toronto, authorities said.

Death Penalty Opposed

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Civil Liberties Union sent a telegram to Prime Minister Trudeau Tuesday urging him to abolish the death penalty in Canada and to explain his government's silence on the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. The group asked the prime minister to abolish hanging forever "in the interests of right to life and justice." The telegram also asked why the Canadian government had not spoken out against the "massacre" in North Vietnam.

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Michael E. Murphy, a student at the University of Illinois, returned from holiday vacation to his campus apartment Tuesday to discover that his record turntable had been mysteriously acquired some new companions, an amplifier and a set of speakers.

A burglar had broken into the room and stolen the turntable. Later, however, the robber felt remorse and returned the turntable, donating an amplifier and two speakers to complete the set.

"You can have the equipment," the note ended. "It's not hot. And have a merry Christmas."

Church of New Song Behind San Quentin Prison Strike

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — A non-sanctioned, prison-based religion which an associate warden thinks is aimed at "making prisons nice places to be" is believed to be behind a work strike at San Quentin prison.

Associate Warden James Park said prisoners assumed to be leaders of the Church of the New Song, a branch of which was organized here about six months ago, are believed to have started a strike in which more than half the prison's 1,800 convicts refused to go to work Tuesday.

"They have an egalitarian creed and a lot of verbiage which makes them appear to have the same kind of structure as a legitimate religion," Park said in an interview. "The whole thrust is to improve prison conditions, but I think it goes beyond that to making prisons nice places to be."

"I don't think their motivation is purely spiritual," Park continued. "Their communion services specify using Harvey-Bristol Cream Sherry and porterhouse steak."

Park said the work strike passed without incident. He called Tuesday "a quiet day," although striking prisoners verbally abused those who went to work.

He said officials have put extra guards on duty and are feeding prisoners in small groups.

Phil Guthrie, information officer for the California department of corrections, said the department has refused to sanction the Church of the New Song as a legitimate religion, despite demands by members at Folsom and San Quentin prisons.

One of the demands circulated among prisoners during the work strike asked official recognition for the Church of the New Song and establishment of prison space for its activities.

The strikers also demanded public telephones, an end to indeterminate sentencing, conjugal visits within prison, minimum wages for convict workers and permission to join labor unions.

The organization makes no estimate of its membership.

Park said the group has about 18 avowed members here.

War Funds May Be Cut Off As Congress Grows Impatient

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States Congress convenes today amid clear signs it is impatient for a quick end to U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Two important congressional groups have served President Nixon notice that time and money will be running out if a peace settlement is not reached soon.

The moves were made in meetings at the Senate and the House of Representatives as Nixon began the first of a series of discussions with Henry Kissinger in advance of resumed peace talks.

Kissinger returned from a west coast vacation Tuesday night and had talks with the president at the White House. He is due to meet Le Duc Tho, North Vietnamese politburo member, in Paris next Monday.

Controlled Congress's new session, House Democrats passed a resolution calling for the ending of Indochina operations immediately, subject only to the safe withdrawal of U.S. troops and return of U.S. prisoners of war. The vote was 154 to 75.

Meanwhile, the Senate foreign relations committee—focal point of congressional opposition to the war—decided to give the president until his Jan. 20 inauguration to negotiate a war settlement.

The chairman, Senator J. William Fulbright, told reporters that the consensus of the committee was that if the war is not ended by then, lawmakers will push for using congressional powers to end the war.

He was referring to legislation passed by the Senate last year to cut off war funds, subject only to release of prisoners.

Such anti-war measures have failed in the House by smaller and smaller margins, but now war critics feel the reaction against the large-scale bombing of North Vietnam, which took place during the adjournment of Congress, and the influx of 69 new members will alter the traditional House tendency to support the White House on foreign-policy matters.

House Speaker Carl Albert said publicly for the first time Tuesday that he considers the House is ready to turn against Nixon and join the Senate in voting to halt that war soon.

"If they don't end it at the White House . . . ," Albert told a group of prisoner-of-war families, "we'll end it on the first appropriation bill."

That would be the foreign-aid appropriations Congress is supposed to pass before the end of February when current stop-gap funding runs out.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield—who said when Nixon resumed full-scale bombing of North Vietnam three weeks ago that Congress should halt the war—met with the president Tuesday afternoon.

He said Nixon indicated he is aware of congressional opposition to his Vietnam policy and attempts to cut off funds.

Death Penalty Favored

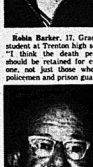
A survey of citizens' views in Trenton revealed there are more who favor return of the death penalty than there are against its continued suspension.

Those who want to see hanging reinstated point out that during the period of suspension there has been a significant increase in the number of murders — especially those associated with rape of women and children. "Doesn't this prove that the moratorium has been a failure?" "Asked one. "Should Canadians devise laws and penalties whereby an individual murdering a planeload of people might escape just punishment via a jail term that can be terminated by either mercy or parole?" another wanted to know.

On the other hand those in opposition contend "no man has the right to take another's life. If we agree that anybody we are potential killers," one sympathetic claimed. A third one source felt that the idea of revenge, as eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, is out of date in a civilized society.

One "abolitionist" supported his argument with reference to the California Supreme Court in Los Angeles ruling that the death penalty is unconstitutional; that it degrades and dehumanizes all who participate in its process, that it's incompatible with the dignity of man and the judicial process.

Robin Barker, 17, Grade 12 student at Trenton high school "I think the death penalty should be retained for everyone, not just those who kill policemen and prison guards."



Jim Wright, Trenton, instrument maker, "I want to see the death penalty restored for the simple reason that some people cry a lot over a butch of criminals instead of crying with the victim's family and friends."

Dick Sherwood, Trenton. A former RCAF officer retired "What's the difference between a prison guard and me? Murder is murder and once a person is found guilty of a crime I don't think the taxpayer should be compelled to bear the expense of a long prison term. In the case of skyjackers hanging in the public square is too good for them."

Bill Crawford, Bentinck St., Trenton, a former stationary engineer at the air base. "I realize hanging another man won't bring his victim back to life. Still I believe anyone guilty of premeditated murder should pay the supreme penalty. I'd vote in favor of restoration if it was up to me to decide."

Money Short for Town Projects

TRENTON — In brief ceremonies at the Trenton Community Gardens Tuesday, Town clerk G. W. Larry conducted inaugurations of both town council and public utilities commissioners.

Predicting a future of change for both local and provincial governments, Mayor Duncan McDonald said he welcomed the chance for local citizens to take part in reform in the municipal reorganization that was instigated throughout much of Ontario before the close of 1972.

Although he said there were many worthwhile projects in begin and continue in the New Year in Trenton, the mayor said that as in past years, funds are short.

"I have never seen it fail that some very worthwhile projects have to be deferred or abandoned because of a lack of funds," he said.

Among the projects mentioned were the rebuilding of North Murray Street to Reid Street, that first required Ontario Municipal Board approval for installation of the sanitary sewer before road reconstruction could begin, a need for more senior citizens' and recreational accommodations, and the conclusion of rebuilding of Dundas St. East.

But because of what he termed "our heavy capital commitments from 1972", referring to construction of the $361,000 municipal office-parking garage on which work has begun, "I have some apprehension about the availability of money for some of the projects."

Mayor McDonald said substantial cutbacks on grants to the town have been made by the province. As well he termed the annual budget available for council spending very small".

Quoting the 1972 budget of $3,383,440, the mayor said I'll venture to guess that not more than 15 per cent (about $500,000) of that was available for municipal improvements after we paid annual wages, annual debt charges, taxes and other fixed commitments.

"In other words about all council can do is rubber stamp payments for commitments that are built into municipal administration." This is not unique to Trenton. It is general throughout the province."

The special inaugural session was delayed by about a half hour due to the unavoidable delay of one of the participants.

Mr. Larry also swore in 10 councillors, George Greer, Dr. John Born, Dr. Robert Patrick, Edward Dodet, Peter Groot and Ronald Price, and utilities commissioners Charles Hilton and D. John MacDonald.

Skatathon Total Not Known Yet

Belleville Rotary may have received pledges totalling $38,000 on its two-day marathon skating session last weekend.

But, the actual amount when materialized in cash won't be known for some time, says Glynn Reynolds, Botarian chairman of the service club committee which organized the event.

The pledges are still being totalled, Mr. Reynolds said today. After that they must be collected by the skater - youngsters drawn from minor sports, scouting, guides and church groups.

The exact number of young participants is not known although Mr. Reynolds believes it was much lower than first hoped. It was estimated close to 3,000 youngsters might take part. But Mr. Reynolds said actual participation could go as low as 25 per cent of that figure.

However, it was the club's first endeavor in organizing such a mass event — staged simultaneously at the Belleville Memorial Arena and the Dick Ellis Rink, he noted.

The club should profit from experience gained in the initial venture for any such future events, he said.

Proceeds are divided between the club and participating organizations — 65 per cent to the skating groups, 35 per cent to Rotary, which also pays expenses.

The project's three top skaters and coaches will receive a club prize — a box trip and two tickets each for the Feb. 24 hockey game at Maple Leaf Gardens.

City to Get $51,873

The city of Belleville has been allocated $51,873 for this season's Provincial - Municipal Employment Incentive Program, city council has been informed.

Objective of the program is to create additional employment from December 1972 until May 31, 1973. The city must take up this allocation by January 15 or it will lapse and be reallocated to other municipalities.

But the city already has proposals lined up to take full advantage of the allocation.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds, in a letter to the inaugural session of council, said projects with an estimated cost of $53,863 had been submitted by department heads.

Major item in the city's proposal is an amount of $24,869 to cover the repair and painting of parks equipment.

City Council Committees Named

Appointments to city boards and commissions proposed at a caucus session late in December were approved Tuesday at the inaugural meeting of city council.

In other business, council passed its first of the year borrowing bylaw authorizing the municipality to borrow up to $6,462,000 to meet city expenses and also approved levying of an interim tax rate to provide working funds until taxes are collected.

The city's borrowing bylaw brought queries from two newly elected aldermen.

Alderman Stu Meeks asked whether all city banks were invited to bid on the city business. He was told by City Manager J. R. Reynolds that city policy did not call for inviting bids from the banks. The city had borrowed exclusively from the Bank of Montreal for decades, he said.

And Alderman Dr. John Stock wanted to know if the entire $6,462,000 was borrowed all at one time.

He was assured that this was not the case, as only sufficient money is meet the city's needs was borrowed at any one time.

Interim tax collections went to reduce the bank loan and total borrowing at any one time was usually less than $1 million.

Council gave third and final readings to bylaws authorizing the construction of an extension to University Ave. in the Hillcrest area, along with storm sewer, sanitary sewer and watermain.

The street extension will be approximately 1,200 feet east from the existing travelled roadway.

In her inaugural address, Mayor Jeffrey expressed satisfaction with the large number of people who had written in to city hall offering themselves or suggesting the names of others to serve on city boards and commissions.

Unfortunately not all these people could be named to board positions, but Mayor Jeffrey assured the list would be retained for consideration in possible later appointments.

Back to Work

So we are into another new year and into the work ethic once again, while reflecting also on the fact that many remain out of work. This is certainly one of the most demoralizing of life's dirty curves, having no job to do and with time hanging heavily on the hands.

The cry of others though is that while they are gainfully employed, the task is monotonous and this too has its troublesome and negative consequences typified by a general sense of unease and boredom. It is one of the more perplexing of the sociological elements that go into our modern society.

As the philosopher has noted, the problems of the world are the problems of the spirit.

And the feeling persists, despite, indeed more likely because of the holiday season which has included Christmas and the New Year. It is the Christmas blues syndrome discussed elsewhere on this page in an editorial from The Kingston Whig-Standard.

For those whose calling is the written word, the holiday respite is as welcome as it is to anyone else, but enough can be enough because the process of getting crashed up again or crammed, as it were, can be agonizing. In another month or two many of us will begin to feel the need of another break, but are well aware even now that no dispensation will be forthcoming until Easter and following that the Victoria Day weekend in May.

Resolutions? Well that is something else. Human nature being what it is, we distrust this tricky mental exercise, believing it to be as outmoded today — and unfortunately at that — as some of our traditions and social values. The pragmatic approach may be best; no promises, rather an acceptance of life as it comes and a desire at least to do better on all fronts.

Drinking Driver Menace

The statistics on accidents for the year 1971 make dismal reading: we are told that the abilities of 31 per cent of fatally injured drivers in Ontario during that year were impaired by alcohol, while another 15 per cent had been drinking.

Total collisions reported rose 12 per cent, to 193,931 and traffic deaths increased even more. There were 1,498 fatal collisions, both increases of 15 per cent over 1970.

These are staggering figures and we wonder what the statistics for 1972, when available, will reveal.

The most dangerous three-hour period of the week, according to the 1971 report (which had been delayed because of computer programming changes) is from midnight to 3 a.m. Saturday. Traffic fatalities at that time — for reasons that are obvious, given a knowledge of Canadian drinking habits — are well above other periods.

There are obvious conclusions to be drawn from these statistics, but how to correct the situation is another matter. There are too many drinking drivers and no answer is a large proportion of them removed by their own waywardness (not to mention innocent people whom they involve) each succeeding year (wings another batch).

We live in uneasy times and this is but one facet of the premise that man can be his own worst enemy in facing up to life's challenges.

Women in the News

Among the womenfolk who have distinguished themselves in Canada during the past year is Jeanne Sauvé, whom Prime Minister Trudeau named to his cabinet as Minister of Science and Technology.

With her in the Commons are two other Quebecers with bewitching names: Monique Begin and Albanie Morin, not to mention Grace MacInnis from British Columbia and Flora MacDonald of Kingston.

And speaking of Quebec women in the news, mention should be made also of golf professional Jocelyn Bourassa, who has been named sportswoman of the year in Canada and rookie of the year on the U.S. women's professional circuit.

Miss Bourassa, whose Gallic mannerisms and occasional flights of temper were prone to upset some folks at home, has reached new heights in her golf game and U.S. galleries find her expressive personality refreshing.

Nationalization Not A Threat Thus Far

Branch of Canadian Nickel Firm in Dominican Republic

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

World trouble spots often give little known nations a temporary spotlight in international affairs. As soon as events change the country is forgotten by the public, while press and television pundits cease to whet for their instant assessments.

The Dominican Republic, close neighbor of Cuba and Jamaica, sharing the island of Hispaniola with black Haiti; is one of these. In early 1965 during the catastrophic Dominican Revolution and massive landings by United States Marines, this small, mountainous, mainly Caribbean Spanish-speaking republic became world known.

Newsmen who had never been to the country, or had visited it briefly during the terror-ridden dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo, were hard-pressed to tell the world what kind of nation it was. The best, or the worst memories were surveillance by Trujillo, ruthless military intelligence during efforts to find out what was really taking place in that small republic.

The Dominican Republic still isn't back in the news. And given the kind her record history has generated, Dominicans appear not to care. For Canada, the Dominican republic has become a major branch plant of Canadian economic power in the Third World through the operations of the Hanrahan nickel mines of Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd, of Toronto.

Called Falconbridge Dominicana de Seanico SA $28 million facility producing about 40 million pounds of lateritic nickel annually is about to become the largest producer of foreign exchange in the Dominican economy.

This means it will soon outstrip sugar export, as the small country's major source of foreign exchange and also become its largest domestic tax payer.

The news in all this is that laterite nickel, almost close to the surface, and processed on the dark side of Nickel's increasingly more economical to produce than the nickel lifted out of hard rock in Canada. Falconbridge president of Falconbridge has said so, has even speculated about the day when it will become totally uneconomical to obtain nickel from ore bodies several thousand feet below the ground.

Falconbridge Dominicana flies in the face of what is happening these days to huge, locally-owned extractive industries in Latin America. The Chilean copper mines, once U.S.-owned, have long since been nationalized by Allende's Marxist president Salvador Allende. Similarly Nicaro nickel mine, even earlier.

In Peru, a string beats of military, socialist-thinking colonels hesitate to take over what's left of private, foreign interests only because of the horrendous costs facing any future owner for modernization and expansion. But Peru's foreign-owned oil fields were nationalized within a week of the colonels' takeover coup in October, 1968.

"It's the ghost of Christmas past — the bank manager about our overdraft!"

A Look Back at The 'Christmas Blues'

Kingston Whig - Standard

As with everyone else, it would seem that family analysts and psychiatrists are finding the Christmas season to be a little hectic.

According to a mental health expert, one of the newest epidemics to inflict our Western society is "Christmas neurosis".

In a recent interview, Dr. J. M. Stubblebine stated that: "The Christmas season is marked by greater emotional stress and more acts of violence than any other time of the year; ... Christmas results in intensification of conflicts, in a re-awakening of sibling rivalries and competition for parental favor ... It is time when emotions are loosed and memories come flooding back, a time of happiness, but for some, a time of sorrow."

This is true. Since the religious aspects of the Christmas celebration have taken second seat to commercial pressures, for most people the Christmas season has become a time of extreme fatigue, excessive indulgence and above all, a competitive tendency to become demoralized for the 'last-minute rat-race'. For some, being involved in the last social piece of Christmas is fun and exciting, but for the people who are the mental fatigue becomes overwhelming before the 'big day' has even arrived.

Perhaps the most unfortunate result of our Western, highly commercialized Christmas is the added feeling of isolation which is undoubtedly experienced by the millions of people who lack the money to cope with those "dream gifts" which are so abundant in the store windows at this time of the year. Even more pathetic are those people who, even if they did have the monetary resources, would not have anybody to whom to give their gifts. At a time when particular emphasis is on acts of gratitude towards friends and relatives, the lonely have only a few dear old acquaintances, it is hardly any wonder that "the Christmas season is marked by greater emotional stress" especially for those who have found themselves in a perpetual state of loneliness and isolation, and recognize now, more than ever, the contrast of their plight to the joy that others have around them. As Dr. Stubblebine stated "Christmas is a time of coming together and they can't do that."

Perhaps the most noticeable victims suffering from Christmas neurosis are the children. In an age where everything is supposed so 'cut-and-dried', an age where fantasy is being purposely dispelled by scientific fact, it is little wonder that the dreams of Christmas morning are disappearing. Their expectations now be with the generality of their parents' knowledge which more often than not, cannot be fulfilled. In these cases, Christmas can truly be a time of disappointment, embarrassment and resultant familial conflicts.

Nevertheless, there is a simple cure for all of the symptoms of Christmas neurosis. If everyone practiced a little more goodwill towards men throughout the year, and spread some cheer, kindness and understanding in his everyday life, then Christmas could be retained for its rather relaxed, as a time of gracious thanksgivings for whatever thanksgivings we have.

Hindsight and Question Of Educational Spending

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

It has not been without irony to see two of our prominent politicians in the past few days giving grave warnings to the universities that the gravy days are over, that from now on there will be continuing restraint.

And the irony is that if any two men built up the false hopes now being dashed down it would probably be them.

For Mr. Frost and Mr. Davis would be the king-pins in the fantastic growth in higher education in the province in the past decade.

Frost started it. During his regime the growth was fused, and he has kept a continuing connection as a member of the advisory body on university affairs.

Then Davis continued it and nourished it. For it was in his time as minister of education that there was the great explosion.

Looking back now it might be said that neither man was particularly wise.

With hindsight now we know that we, over-estimated and over-expanded in developmenta lof a postsecondary education planning and facilities.

For some years we were on an educational binge.

But in this we were not alone. It was, of course, a continent-wide thing.

There were a few wise men who gave warning that we were not being realistic.

But all we legitimately can ask now is whether we should have expected more restraint from our leaders.

And our leaders are in tune with it. The question is whether they will have more wisdom and foresight in administering under its climate.

U.S. Fights to Curb Inflation

By PETER BUCKLEY

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States government, with one of the most successful records of 1972 in the world-wide fight against inflation, faces a major test of its policies in the coming year as negotiators hammer out new labor contracts for a sizable portion of American industry.

Government studies indicate that about five million workers will be affected by the most important of the contracts up for renewal in 1973, almost twice as many as were covered in major negotiations this year.

The huge automotive industry, trucking, clothing and textile factures, rubber, food processing, electrical manufacturing all are scheduled to negotiate a new collective-bargaining agreements to replace former contracts, most of which were signed in 1970 when inflation had become an increasingly urgent problem in the U.S.

President Nixon's wage-and-price controls, in effect for the last 16 months, are due to expire in April, but he already has indicated he will ask Congress to extend the program.

Although the total inflationary rise in the U.S. this year is likely to be in the neighborhood of 3.2 per cent, and thus higher than the goal of "between two and three per cent" set by the government, the Nixon program has been noticeably more successful than in most almost every other Western country. Rates of inflation in much of Europe are twice the U.S. rate.

Two general factors are expected to influence union negotiators when they face management across the bargaining table.

—Corporate profits have generally begun a substantial recovery from the comparatively low levels of recent years and, in union eyes, management will have enough money available for generous increases.

—While inflation has been slowed it remains an especially acute problem in the food sector, among the most visible and constant of all a worker's pocketbook concerns.

Management spokesmen say privately that, at best, substantial wage increases will cut into profit margins which, they contend, are still slim as a percentage of total earnings. And they fear a new round of inflation and its effect on business.

Under current controls, wage increases are normally limited to 5.5 per cent a year, and the watchdog U.S. Pay Board has frequently bordered a rollback when negotiated increases have exceeded that mark.

But administration officials, including Treasury Secretary George Shultz, are reported to be confident that union demands will be reasonable in 1973 and that management is prepared to stand firm.

Shultz and others in economic policy are said to feel that the "inflationary psychosis" which caused past increases has been broken once and for all. If predictions are wrong, could be a year of almost non-stop industrial strife in the U.S.

Swedish Museums Example For All

Brockville Recorder and Times

A Swedish publication, "Now" carries a story in its most recent edition about the wonders of Stockholm's many museums. The city has 40 of them, making it, no doubt, one of the most interesting cities in the world for purists. There are other attractions in Sweden however, that make it a tourist mecca, but the story of the museums is interesting to anyone in Brockville interested in museums . . . here, at present, is a permanent, year - round museum.

In Sweden's many museums there may be some ideas for Brockville. Brockville's Brockville could go a long way towards matching the Swedish effort in communications if it could have a telephone museum to start with since telephone equipment is the staff of life of at leggs two local industries, one producing the equipment and the other the wire. It would be a good start, if only a proper building could be found. This brings to mind Victoria school, if indeed, it becomes available for purchase.

Victoria school could also be used as a community resource centre. Local historical and Frontenac county people are attempting to establish such a centre there but have run into difficulties.

The Ontario ministry of education has shown some interest in the Kingston project and will possibly help finance it if some valid local support is forthcoming from it. A committee has been created to investigate the feasibility of the project. Estimated cost of a pilot project is $30,000 including all copying equipment and a salary for the director. Already the committee is making local resource material available to Brockville volunteer help and school equipment. A series of basic topics include the Indians, the War of the Leyasiat arrival, the War of 1812, could be developed or adapted into teaching kits.

Until recently much of the best visual materials relating to Brockville's history was locked in old homes and attics. Miss Cale's book has brought much of it alive but there is much more. Possibly a committee could be established to see if it doesn't already exist, to investigate the interest and support for a museum centre. We're not suggesting, however, that we attempt to emulate Stockholm, which has a few more things going for it — like government financial aid. Shouldn't our governments also be offering more encouragement.

Election Unlikely Before Spring

OTTAWA (CP) — There will be no federal election before late spring, and perhaps not even then, if predictions of opposition party spokesmen prove right.

On the eve of the new Parliament opening Thursday they see as a more likely prospect the defeat of Prime Minister Trudeau's battle-scarred Liberal government and its replacement without an election by a Conservative regime with Robert Stanfield as prime minister.

These expectations are raised in recent comments by New Democratic, Progressive Conservative and Social Credit voices. Caucus meetings today by NDP and PC members of the Commons could confirm them.

NDP house leader Stanley Knowles, a member for all but four of the last 30 years, says both the weakened Liberals and the strengthened Conservatives should have a chance to see what they can do in governing the country before another election.

The indecisive Oct. 30 vote left the Liberals 24 seats short of a majority in the 264-seat Commons and the Conservatives 28 short. Present standing in the Commons is: Liberals 108, Conservatives 107, NDP 30, Social Credit 15, Independent two.

"I think the country does not want us to take it back into an election in February or March," Mr. Knowles said. "I think we have to make it work and that means finding a device to give both parties the chance."

He went on to say that 'if the party that's there does deliver the goods . . . they might last quite a while."

Real Caouette, Social Credit leader, said, he expects a lot of opposition members to be outside the House when crucial votes are taken in the session beginning this week. Their absence might enable the minority government to escape defeat.

But Mr. Knowles said he does not like members abstaining on important matters.

"I don't think we can sit on the floor of Parliament and not cast votes."

He suggested that the house leaders of the four parties should discuss a moratorium on votes of non-confidence in the Liberals "to see whether or not the Trudeau government is going to come through with any worthwhile legislation."

Gerald Baldwin, Conservative house leader, thinks an election is unlikely before June although the Trudeau government could be defeated early in the session by a combination of PC and NDP votes.

He sees Mr. Stanfield taking over as prime minister and perhaps calling an election in late spring or early summer to end the stalemate.

Although the Conservatives got only 35 per cent of the popular vote last October to 38.5 per cent for the Liberals, he feels the PCs have a mandate to "throw the government out."

He bases this on the fact that more than 61 per cent of the electors voted against Liberal candidates.

Prime Minister Trudeau forecasts a speech from the throne Thursday that will reflect what the government learned from the shattering election results. The speech, considered a statement of the government's current policies, is said to be longer than usual.

Most observers expect it to offer measures that opposition parties will find it hard to vote against.

NDP Leader David Lewis puts tax reform, measures to boost employment, increased social-security payments and control of foreign ownership among urgent demands.

Mr. Knowles said a substantial boost in old-age pensions would raise Liberal stock in NDP books.

Mr. Trudeau, noting these predictions, sees no way of telling how long his government will last. Even if the parties wanted to postpone an election for four months or longer, accidents could happen to upset the best-laid plans, he said this week.

Accidents included the absence on vital business of government ministers or members when a crucial vote comes up.

The chance of such "accidents" will keep MPs in a state of jitters for the next few days, weeks or months.

Himalayan Disaster Survivors Try Again

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Six survivors of a 1969 Himalayan mountain-climbing tragedy have formed an 18-member American team for their second attempt on the unconquered southeast face of Dhaulagiri I, the world's sixth-highest peak. Seven mountain climbers were killed April 28, 1969, by an ice avalanche as they started up the 26,800-foot Nepal mountain.

The new team, called the American Dhaulagiri Expedition 1973, says it will begin the climb by mid-March. But in a departure from most Himalayan expeditions, the team will use no oxygen and only a few native Sherpa guides.

"I decided while still on the mountain after the avalanche that I wanted to try again," said the expedition leader, Dr. James Mortimer of Stockton, Calif.

Among those in the 18-member expedition will be Louis Reichardt of Palo Alto, Calif., the lone survivor in the eighth-man advance party. He saved himself by diving into the snow before huge ice blocks swept down the mountain.

The expedition's second party, about 1,000 feet lower, climbed to the 17,000-foot level to help Reichardt search for their lost companions, but it soon was apparent the seven would be locked in their icy tombs.

Wives' Verdict

Latin Lovers Lousy

ROME (AP) — Italian housewives complain in a survey on their sex lives that their husbands are no great Latin lovers.

Says a 27-year-old Milan woman: "Or...he was a good lover, now he has no passion."

The housewives also lament that, in marriage Italian style, sex soon becomes a household chore—only for the convenience and pleasure of the husband.

In return, one-quarter of the young housewives interviewed admit that they have betrayed their husbands.

Half of those who are still faithful say they remain so only because they didn't have a chance to be otherwise.

The wives' complaints are outlined in a recent book by Lieta Harrison, a Sicilian-born writer who surveyed the sex habits of 1,656 married women. She interviewed equal numbers of mothers and their married daughters, posing the same questions to ascertain changes in attitudes.

"Within a generation," she concludes, "the Italian society has changed radically. The married daughters have discovered sex.

"They believe that sex is not shameful. They have also found out their right to orgasm'."

"Sex is a bestial thing," Miss Harrison quotes a 62-year-old woman as saying. "I am for platonic love."

Euromart Policies Advocated

HAMPTON COURT, England (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath urged the nine countries of the newly enlarged European Common Market Tuesday to forge common policies toward the United States and Eastern Europe.

In a speech marking British entry into the West European trading bloc, Heath stressed that the time had come to move from economic to political cooperation as well.

"Our aim in Europe must be to build up our own strength and our own community of purpose across the whole field of policy," he declared. "Our aim must be that Europe can emerge as a valid partner of the United States in strengthening the prospects for peace and prosperity across the world."

Cabinet Accepts Housing Changes

"I'm a very happy minister right now," he said in an interview.

The 39-year-old minister said cabinet has accepted widespread changes to legislation he proposed last June to amend the National Housing Act. The changes are being drafted for the new parliamentary session beginning Thursday.

Mr. Basford also hinted that the Throne speech opening Parliament will propose a new active federal role in urban rapid transit.

The government is also expected to reintroduce new mortgage financing legislation. A bill died with the last session of Parliament in August. And Mr. Basford said he intends to proceed with a new but encouraging relocation of railway lines from city centres to the outskirts.

He professes not to be worried about how his legislation will fare in the government's new minority situation.

The new housing legislation will be "vastly improved," he said, but would not reveal details.

Among the NHA amendments introduced last June was provision for an $80-million neighborhood improvement program.

"We will have a neighborhood improvement program again," he said. "But it is being changed and improved."

Another proposal last June was for a residential rehabilitation program designed to help homeowners clean up and improve their homes. The government said it would initially provide $4 million in loans and $2 million in grants.

The amount was criticized by the Canadian Council on Social Development. But Mr. Basford said the government had settled on the amount because it did not believe the program would be widely used in the first year.

The new bill would also include changes to deal with agreements made by provincial governments during discussions after the original legislation was introduced.

Mr. Basford has acceded to a provincial request for a federal-provincial housing conference which will discuss, among other things, the new housing legislation. It is scheduled for Ottawa this month.

The minister said he wants the conference as soon as possible so that the form of legislation may be quickly passed by Parliament. He does not intend to seek final approval for the bill until the provinces have been consulted.

Asked whether the provinces are demanding a larger federal share in the cost-sharing aspects of the bill, Mr. Basford said the provincial governments traditionally take this position on federal-aid programs.

He said he has "tried to take into account" the ability of provincial governments to use the housing provisions because of the cost-sharing requirements.

The minister said he has "proposed a somewhat different funding formula" in the new legislation but he would not elaborate.

On urban rapid transit, Mr. Basford said the federal government should take a more active role. It now carries out research on urban transit systems.

The federal government would be more involved in urban rapid transit as a result of the railway relocation proposal which would free rights-of-way into the cores of many Canadian cities for use by public transit systems.

The federal government had also undertaken to work with the Ontario government to examine rapid transit systems for the proposed new Toronto international airport in Pickering Township.

'Roster' System Abandoned

In the new Parliament, sources said, every minister who is in Ottawa will be expected in the Commons every day.

Opposition MPs had argued they often could not question a minister on current topics because it was his day off from question period.

Under the roster system, ministers were required to be in the House three days a week. The exception was the prime minister who, when possible, attended all question periods.

But cabinet now has decided, the sources said, that with a minority situation—the Liberals hold 109 seats to 107 for the Progressive Conservatives—all ministers should attend on a daily basis when possible. This had been the traditional practice before 1968.

3 WAYS TO GET RID OF FAT

Most doctors agree that to lose weight and not regain it, diet alone is not the answer. In the current issue of Reader's Digest, you'll read the diverse views of three doctors. A psychiatrist states the case for diet plus exercise programs. A heart specialist suggests that in many cases, exercise alone can conquer obesity. Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CORWELL

Do husbands prefer winter to summer?

THAT depends on their age. Younger husbands seem to like the whole business—it means skiing and blasting weekends with their wives. Then there is the chance to catch up on the many chores at home. Older husbands often prefer summer, with its golf dates, relaxing outdoors without the need to guard against the elements. Don't forget, too, that older husbands can enjoy summer at the beach when women are not so hurdled up.

Can any adult respond to a child?

THAT depends. Let a little boy or girl turn on the charm and even a hardened adult will soften. The trick for a grownup is to try to "get next to" the child who plays hard to get.Play with dreams, slip computer also Bliss someone to make a fuss over him. Just the adult has to work at it; he must find the key that will open the way to the child's mind and help him become more mature. Remember he could be once he has gained confidence and self-esteem.

Why is it hard to 'name that tune'?

AGH is the reason for some people; others just can't carry a tune, as it is hard for them to identify a song when they hear only the melody. Then again, an individual may have more complicated reasons—failure to learn a tune, or he can't get out of his head. Perhaps it might be a tune linked to an unpleasant experience in his past. Then there are those who suppress the words; but, unconsciously, guilt causes the melody to linger on.

Child Without Fear—Adult Without Problems

By DORIS CLARK

"To enjoy a fearless childhood is one of the most precious gifts that parents can give to a child. Because the fears we take into the tender thinking of childhood are liaele toc stick to us and scare us all our lives." — Heal Thyself (by an unsigned author).

Isn't it the truth! A grownup hides a der the covers in his bed when a thunderstorm rages — and the psychiatrist finds his mother sought him this false shelter because of her own paralyzing fright.

Don't give your youngster a bad start. Give him security. Let him know you are in charge I and that it is a good world to be in.

* * *

Dear Doris: My problem is not so much wrinkles as deep creepy circles under my eyesc and a general sagging of my inner cheeks, making the pores beside my nose appear larger and deeper. A hollowness on my cheek giving the appearance of a long face.

The advice in your column on women so secretly that I thought perhaps you could help me. I am wondering if my exercises for wrinkles would help. Or corrective surgery, or something?

I am 30 years old. I first noticed my face sagging about three years ago when I lost a few pounds with the flu. I re c my face.

I don't mind growing older, but I don't want to be ugly. I see women much older than I am that don't have this problem. — Withered.

Dear Withered: At 30 you should not be sagging. I question your nutrition your habits of rest and exercise. Circles under eyes may indicate such deficiencies. Then there are tensions which produce wrinkles — even sad faces!

The large pores are a separate problem, and I am sending you names of recommended medicated cosmetics to deal with them.

First on the program should be a complete physical check-up by your doctor. Then do what he tells you. I am sending a copy of Canada's Food Rules to help with the nutrition part.

S Dear Doris: Could you tell me if it would be illegal for a photographer to take pictures in public Simply for his own pleasure not exposure Ung anyone. — N.O.M.

Dear N.O.M.: Just as long as he is not deliberately masquerading to defraud or fool someone, a person may dress as he pleases. But if he carries the deception too far — such as a'owing a man to become engaged to him (thinking him a girl) then a lawyer might well be brought in on the case.

There are transvestites, you know, who get their kicks by dressing as women. Some of them are married and the letters from t h eir wives are pitifully disillusioned, to say the least.

Pat Nixon Excluded From Best Dressed List

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Richard Nixon was suggested for the international best-dressed list of men and women for 1972. But she was not. so elected.

The winners, 29 women and 30 men, were picked by some 2,000 fashion designers, social and theatrical personalities and the fashion press throughout the world.

Among five women added to the fashion hall of fame was Mrs. David Ervin, New York socialite.

"I think Pat Nixon's a lovely looking woman," she said. "She has a beautiful figure, lovely hair and skin. But her look is too contrived."

Students Do Help

BLOOMFIELD, Ont. (CP) — Edward Butler, Prince Edward County board of education trustee, asked director of education John McNeil if he had any plans for having students evaluate teachers. The students do help, said McNeil. "I watch the students in the classroom as well as the teachers — the atmosphere in the classroom — this is a major consideration of evaluation," he said.

Ann Landers
Oooooooppssss! Bed Bug Bites Again

Dear Ann Landers: I've read your column for years—rarely missed a day. Until now I never had the urge to write you, but today I must.

I want to say something to the teen-agers who signed themselves "The Investigators." They are right when they say they can get into plenty of trouble even on a bed, and not in it.

When I was 17 my boyfriend and I were dancing in my room. The record stopped and we fell across the bed. We laughed—and he gave me a tender kiss. The next thing I knew we were embracing and you can guess the rest. We had not planned on being intimate—it just happened. Nine months later I had a seven-pound baby boy.

Until last Sunday everyone talked about what great, wholesome kids we were. We had a top marriage changed all that. His folks just couldn't believe it.

So you can see, it can happen on a bed and not in it. If anyone accuses you of having a dirty mind, Ann, please ignore it and tell those kids out there what to expect when they start fooling around. — In Pasadena

Dear S.T.L.: The letter you refer to brought in some mighty weird mail. One young woman wrote that she got into trouble not in a bed or on it—but under it. -

Dear Ann Landers: I have to laugh when people accuse you of making up letters. Why so many schools lose an issue or society these days, who needs to make up anything? In fact, it's hard to believe the news stories, let alone the letters in Ann Landers' column. For example—

I just came across the item about a Michigan woman who went to the grocery store with a list 12 pages long. Filled up a shopping carts, transferred her groceries to 12 paper bags, then handed the checkout girl a $371.68, loaded the bags into the cars and yelled—"Goodbye, I'll see you next year!"

If you printed a letter from someone who said her neighbor did that, everyone would swear you made it up. But I have it in, Ann Landers—plain as life, in the news. I just thought I would share this little item with you because you must get pretty bored with people asking if all the letters you print are real. Sign me—A True Believer in Blue Island.

Dear True Blue: Thanks for the day-brightener and what I really like to know is how many people that lady feeds on $371.68 a year. Also, does she have a vegetable garden in the back of her home, an orchard, maybe, and a cow or two? If you find out, please let me know.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother died suddenly a few weeks ago. He was a fine man, honest, down-to-earth, appreciately devoted to his wife and family.

A few days ago his widow found, in his desk, a check that just gotten around to going through his personal belongings which had been put away. She found, tucked in a small compartment of his wallet, the picture of an attractive young woman. It had been clipped from a newspaper but the name had been cut off. The sister-in-law does not recognize the face. Is it possible that the widow of my brother was involved in some way he carrying that picture. Is there a skeleton in the closet? Please, Ann Landers, this is breaking my heart-broken.

Can you please come up with some explanation? My sister-in-law is grieving terribly—Ann Bewildered

Dear A.B.: A married man would have to be an idiot to carry his mistress' picture in his wallet. From your description, I don't think your brother was that stupid. Tell your sister-in-law to be sure to read Ann Landers this morning. She will feel better.

Name Change Can Cause Change in Your Destiny

VANCOUVER (CP) — What's in a name?

Each month, between 80 and 85 British Columbia residents officially change their names, says Beverly Thomas of the provincial vital statistics department.

Applicants aren't required to give reasons for wanting a switch, but Mrs. Thomas said the department "gets a large number of recent immigrants applying for name change."

Last March, citizenship requirements were dropped and now a person wanting to obtain a new name under the Change of Name Act only has to have lived in British Columbia for one year prior to the application.

About half of the applications are from women. But women must be single, divorced or widowed to qualify for a name change.

"We've had quite a number of calls recently from women wondering if they have to take their husband's surname: I guess it's to do with the women's lib stuff," said Mrs. Thomas, who has never felt the urge to change her own name.

There are a number of applications to alter the spellings of names, such as Shirley to Shurlee or Ryan to Ryon, "for numerological reasons."

And some people have been advised to change their names by the Kabalarian Philosophical Organization, which believes "your name controls your destiny" and a better name will result in a better life.

A pamphlet issued by the organization, founded in 1928 by Alfred J. Parker of Vancouver, promises that the Kabalarian philosophy "teaches how a name can be balanced to eliminate hereditary weakness and ensure a complete and happy life."

"The surname is the hereditary influence. When changed through marriage it can result in a change of fortune. The change of surname invariably changes a woman's nature—not always constructively—thus causing inconsistibilities, divorce and sometimes even death."

Mrs. Thomas said that under current regulations, if a husband changes his name to something his wife doesn't like "he has to go along with it since she's married to him." But parents can't change the name of any child over the age of 12 without the child's consent.

Any person 19 or over filling

Special gymnasium bars were added to Koko's cage when he arrived in the Wardhaugh household, two years ago. Since then, he has become a family pet. Wendy Wardhaugh, 8, has discovered that this woolly monkey can be easily pacified with a juicy grape.

Though 'Koko's' Quite 'Woolly' He's Become A Family Pet

When Koko was born, the Wardhaugh family fed him pablum and milk. Now, the two-year old woolly monkey eats fruits, vegetables and cereals. Daily vitamins are also necessary for this household pet.

Owned by a nine-member household: the Walt Wardhaugh's of Belleville, this monkey has his own cage with gym bars and heater provided by his master.

"My husband always liked pets and this monkey appealed to him," said Mrs. Walt Wardhaugh. "So we bought it at a pet shop two years ago."

At present, Koko weighs around five pounds, and it is expected to gain another five or even 10 pounds before he reaches his full size. Koko is expected to live to be 25 years old.

A weekly bath is a must for the Wardhaugh's family pet. Mrs. Wardhaugh admits sometimes this monkey can get into a bit of mischief. When left to run around the basement, usually the garbage pail is searched for banana peelings.

This house pet sometimes makes strange and when annoyed, Koko will emit a distinct chatter. Children, his favorite playmates usually entice Koko with grapes. Koko then peels this fruit himself. Any food, Koko doesn't like is thrown away by the beholder.

Koko is free to go in or out of his cage which is located in the basement. He returns to his cage and closes the door when he wants it peaceful and quiet.

"In the summer, Koko loves playing outside. We put him in our wagon and take him visiting friends," said Wendy Wardhaugh, age 8. Koko's good friend.

Questions And Answers

By The Ontario Motor League

QUESTION: While in Arizona this winter I plan to visit the Grand Canyon. Can you supply any information about it, and the best way of reaching it from Tucson?

ANSWER: The Grand Canyon of Arizona many times has been called the greatest of the seven wonders of the world.

This incredible and majestic chasm is the only "wonder" created entirely by natural forces. It is a combination of spectacular erosion which began millions of years ago; the result of rain, wind, time, a great river and the prying fingers of frost.

The gigantic Grand Canyon is 217 miles long and 4-18 miles in width. At the bottom of the mile-deep canyon walls, the mighty Colorado River rushes on toward the sea. Rising fro its depths are wh... mountain ranges, their tops only slightly below the rim of the gorge. Slashing a wilderness plateau, it is fed by scores of side canyons and ravines that are almost as splendid as the famous Canyon itself.

The Grand Canyon by day is the home of molten color; by moonlight it is a blue mystery. From above, it is an immeasurable abyss; from within, it dwarfs man and animal. Every day, every hour, is a new experience as light and shadow play into its depths, spreading a sea of ever-changing hues. Awe-inspiring, magnificent, its beauty is so great that words cannot express its wonders and all who have seen it know the futility of trying to describe it. Always, in whatever mood, it grips, humbles and uplifts — for it is the talisman in silent grandeur and beauty.

The Grand Canyon Rim Drive, a famous motor tour of the South Rim, is the one sightseeing trip every visitor should take. For nearly 70 miles the motor coaches follow scenic routes through the fragrant forests, emerging at short intervals upon startling Canyon views.

No able-bodied visitor with horseback riding experience should leave the Grand Canyon without going down one of the spectacular inner - canyon trails on muleback. To be fully enjoyed and appreciated, this immense gorge must be seen from top and bottom, from within and without. Experienced guides lead the parties on these thrilling trips over magnificent trails built by Government engineers . . . a memorable adventure.

Each morning, parties leave the Rim to wend their way over the historic Bright Angel Trail. Every turn opens new vistas; each more spectacular than the one before. About halfway down, a brief stop is made at Indian Gardens, a verdant oasis on the wide Tonto Plateau. Resuming the Inner Gorge from the precipitous drops sizing the rim. The trail then stretches out to Plateau Point, offering a magnificent view of the Colorado River. After luncheon and a rest, the return journey offers frequent stops at advantageous points of interest.

The two-day trip to Phantom Ranch, down in the recesses of the chasm, offers unusual opportunity for exploration and adventure. By following the Bright Angel Trail for descent and the Kaibab Trail for ascent, it provides many added thrills, including a crossing of the famous Suspension Bridge over the Colorado River, 80and trip 19 miles.

Trail trips are restricted to persons physically fit, weighing not more than 200 pounds fully clothed, persons not too advanced in years and to children 12 years of age and older. Previous riding experience is recommended and rental riding clothes are available.

As to what to wear, hiking boots are necessary for those persons who plan to hike extensively along the rim or go down into the Canyon. Riding clothes and sun hats are recommended for all trail trips. In summer, regular clothing and a wrap for cool evenings are all that are required unless the visitor plans to leave the rim. In winter, warm clothing is necessary.

An all-year round resort the South Rim of Grand Canyon National Park offers an ideal combination of high altitude and moderate climate. This combination provides pleasant, comfortable weather in the summer with warm days prevailing in the winter. On most days there is a abundance of Arizona sunshine. Occasional short showers actually refresh the atmosphere and rejuvenate the lush vegetation. Nights are delightfully cool, even in mid-summer.

Particularly recommended, are trips to the Park from November to March when it is uncrowded. Accommodations and sightseeing tours are readily available, the roads are open and the weather is mostly sunny and pleasant.

Lonely Deaths Disturb Britons

LONDON (CP) — Two lonely deaths and a third case of severe poverty in a period of record-breaking Christmas spending have aroused concern about Britain's forgotten old folk who somehow slip through the welfare net.

Mary McCoy, a 68-year-old widow, lay dead for two months before being discovered by relatives Christmas Eve in her Liverpool apartment. She had choked to death after eating cardboard. There was no food in the apartment.

Barbara Nappin, 52, and unmarried, also died alone in her Portsmouth home in the midst of a crowded municipal housing development. Her body was not found for more than two months, until police broke in Sat. Saturday.

Lucy Sperrow, 83-year-old widow, was found in time by a friend who called to see her Christmas Eve. She was eating a piece of lard for lunch and was in poor physical and mental condition. There was no other food in her dark, unobtrusive home, a municipal prefabricated cottage in filthy condition.

In the case of Mrs. McCoy, her relatives apparently thought she was staying with other members of the family and did not check with each other.

"We never realized she had been on her own so long," said her niece, Norma Medalon.

Miss Nappin and Mrs. Sperrow, with no close relatives and almost lost touch with the world, neighbors said later. Miss Nappin had a reputation for being unfriendly, but even the welfare department had not kept in touch with her. Its file on her ended in 1970. Social security official John Brodgen said: "Miss Nappin slipped through the welfare net—she just slipped through."

Both The Daily Mirror and The Guardian said the tragic cases showed the need for more good-neighborly behavior.

In a front-page article headed "Who Cares?" Mirror Women's editor Marjorie Proops said Britons were well known for "keeping ourselves to ourselves." "It's time we changed our withdrawn habits. . . . It's time we started being good neighbors."

The Guardian points out that the number of old folk is increasing. To enable them to face their last years in dignity, the newspaper says, local welfare departments should be backed by voluntary support from outsiders.

"It is the neighbor, not the social worker or even the family, who is the best and first line of defence against such tragedies . . ."

The North London borough of Camden already has a "good-neighbor" scheme in which the council pays a small sum to about 200 persons, mostly retired, to aid the welfare department by visiting old folk and helping them with shopping.

"The basic thing is that neighbors should care," said one official. "And it is all too often the case that people in towns don't want to know their neighbors."

Housing Company May Lose Licence

TOROSTO (CP) — A public hearing to determine whether a housing development company in Sudbury, Ont. should have its licence revoked will be held this month, John Clement, Ontario minister of consumer and commercial affairs, said Tuesday.

Mr. Clement said in an interview the hearing, to be held before the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal, will determine whether the licence of Cambrian Realty Corp. Ltd. should be lifted for violation of the province's Real Estate and Business Brokers Act.

He added that similar action may be taken against two other firms involved in housing development in the Sudbury area.

The action follows an investigation by the ministry, he said.

Mr. Clement said Tracco Realty Ltd. and Silhouette Developments Ltd. are "under intense investigation" and indicated he would probably move against the two companies.

Tracco Realty and Silhouette are largely the creation of Ross A. Shouldice, a Sudbury-area land developer and house builder. Mr. Clement said Mr. Shouldice is a former director of Cambrian Realty.

Floyd Laughren, New Democratic Party member of the legislature for Nickel Belt, said Tuesday that Mr. Shouldice was a Conservative party fund-raiser in the Sudbury area and he charged that "inaction" by the Conservative government in connection with complaints from area residents had benefited Mr. Shouldice.

Silhouette developed properties in the Wilson Gardens subdivision in Chelmsford, 15 miles northwest of Sudbury, and Tracco Realty "moved" the houses, Mr. Laughren said.

Several Wilson Gardens residents have claimed that the homes they thought they were buying with small down payments and mortgage installments apparently are not theirs. They found they were paying rent but have no equity.

Mr. Clement said his own scope of action against the companies would be limited to revocation of their licences if investigators come up with sufficient evidence.

If they found evidence of fraud or other criminal matters, the case would go to Attorney-General Dalton Bales.

Mr. Clement said investigation of development companies in the Sudbury area was "incredibly complex."

"You have very complex corporate setups," he said. "You can't tell the players without a program."

Mr. Laughren said the government knew a year ago that there were serious problems in real estate in the area and that four months ago Eric Winkler, then minister of consumer and commercial relations, had written him a private letter saying something would be done.

The NDP member quoted Mr. Winkler as saying in his letter that the government was hoping to force Sudbury-area companies to fix up their houses before any action against their licences.

Mr. Winkler Tuesday called Mr. Laughren's charge of government inaction "totally false."

"I don't know Shouldice," he said. "I didn't know of his association, if any, with the Conservative party."

Mr. Laughren said the government should move quickly to aid the residents in Whitson Gardens. A possible solution, he suggested, was for the Ontario Housing Corp. (OHC) to place the development under receivership and assume responsibility for sorting out the legal tangles.

The OHC could make arrangements with residents about purchasing or renting their homes, he said. Run-down units could be repaired and empty ones rented on a gear-to-income basis.

Borowski Renews Anti-abortion Fight

WINNIPEG (CP) — Thompson MLA Joe Borowski has renewed his agenda against abortion and plans to initiate legal action against the Manitoba government's abortion policies.

Mr. Borowski told reporters Tuesday that he and about half a dozen Winnipeg residents plan the suit as a test case on the province's medical-care legislation.

Abortion is under federal jurisdiction, but the provincial government pays for abortions approved by a panel of doctors through its health-care insurance program.

Mr. Borowski estimated the cost of court action at about $15,000 if the case goes all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada.

The outspoken former high-ways minister left the New Democratic Party cabinet in the fall of 1971 after a dispute with Premier Edward Schreyer over the government's attitude toward legalized abortions.

Mr. Borowski made public Tuesday a four-page letter to Prime Minister Trudeau asking the federal government to repeal its "barbaric" abortion laws. He also suggested a provincial referendum on abortion, censorship, drugs and capital punishment.

New Flu Bug Feared

TORONTO (CP) — A new version of the old flu bug is expected to show up with a vengeance soon this year.

Dr. Eugene Zalan, a provincial virus expert, said Tuesday the annual influenza outbreak has been light so far but warned a hazed new "British bug" may be on its way.

He said the new strain might show up in a few days after schools reopen from the Christmas break.

So far his laboratories have found no trace of the bug—officially known as A-England 42-72—which was first isolated in Britain.

Dr. Zal n said the new bug's effects are only slightly different from those of the Hong Kong flu.

Will Filed

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A will covering former president Harry Truman's estate of some $650,000 was admitted for probate Tuesday.

Probable value of Truman's estate was listed as $10,000 in real property and $600,000 in personal property. An inventory was expected to be filed in about 30 days.

Truman, 88, died a week ago Tuesday.

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld. (CP) — A Canadian Forces Labrador helicopter from CFB Summerside, P.E.I., was expected to leave here today in an effort to reach the West German factory ship Heidelberg about 80 miles north by northeast of St. John's, Nfld.

A crew member was injured aboard the ship Tuesday and must be airlifted to hospital in St. John's.

Garbage Dumping Is Opposed

HARRISTON, Ont. (CP) — Walter Miller, vice-president of the National Farmers' Union, said Tuesday night his union would oppose a proposal to dump 400,000 tons of Metropolitan Toronto garbage in this area annually.

Mr. Miller told a citizens' group he would bring the issue before a meeting of the union's executive committee next week in Saskatoon.

The Ontario government is considering a proposal to dump Toronto refuse on a landfill site located within a one to three-mile radius of this down of 1,800, 90 miles northwest of Toronto. Canadian Pacific Railway would transport the refuse.

"We must serve notice on the CPR and the Ontario government that unless the proposal is dropped, to expect a permanent program of harassment," said Mr. Miller.

He said legislation was necessary to force the government into compulsory recycling of garbage.

"It won't be done out of the goodness of someone's heart. As long as corporation rape of resources is practiced, there won't be recycling."

Sable Island Pipeline Study Said Commenced

HALIFAX (CP) — The Chronicle-Herald says engineering studies have started on a proposed $370-million gas pipeline that would run underwater from Sable Island to mainland Nova Scotia and from there to Montreal, a total distance of 1,050 miles.

East Coast Pipelines Ltd. of Montreal has filed notice of intent on the project with the National Energy Board and detailed engineering studies are expected within six months, the newspaper says.

Most of the 30-inch pipeline would run 120 miles underwater between Sable Island and the Nova Scotia mainland and 55 miles overland to Montreal following the Canadian National Railways route.

The pipeline is expected to have the potential to meet the gas needs of the Maritimes, Quebec and some of New England.

Paul Payette president and controlling shareholder of East Coast Pipelines, told the newspaper Tuesday that the project will need backing from the world money market to go ahead, but as much as possible would be made available to Canadian investors.

He said studies now are being done on the Nova Scotia leg of the pipeline. Beside the extension through New Brunswick to Montreal another line would talk in the New England market. The company also has plans for a pipeline to connect to the Ontario end of the Trans-Canada Pipeline and to Trois-Rivieres and Quebec City.

Mr. Payette said his company would sell gas to one firm in each of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec and these companies would be responsible for distribution in each province.

He said the consulting engineering of the project will be done by Techman Ltd., a subsidiary of Massiz Ltd. of Calgary, a Canadian firm.

Potter Accused of Putting Interests as Doctor First

TORONTO (CP) — A columnist in the Medical Post, a publication circulated to doctors and health administrators has accused Dr. Richard Potter of putting his interests as a doctor ahead of his job as Ontario health minister.

Jack Marmer, who writes a column on medical accounting and economics for the Maclean-Hunter Ltd. publication, was commenting on Dr. Potter's extension to the legislature the $50 million shortfall in the Ontario Health Insurance Plan and his public criticism of Dr. David Kinloch, former medical director of OHIP.

Mr. Marmer is a Toronto chartered accountant and management consultant. He also is a member of the advisory group reviewing medical care insurance for the Ontario Council of Health, which is the senior policy consultative body for the Ontario ministry of health.

"Perhaps Dr. Kinloch was in the wrong job because of his lack of diplomatic finesse and perhaps the Ontario Medical Association (OMA) and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario did say they could no longer work with him," said Mr. Marmer in his column.

He notes Dr. Potter's denial that the OMA executive exerted pressure on him to remove Dr. Kinloch, "but subsequent checks within the ministry of health leads me to believe the OMA did attempt to influence the decision made by Dr. Potter."

Mr. Marmer was critical of the health minister's public criticism of Dr. Kinloch, which he suggested will endanger Dr. Kinloch's career possibilities.

"Firing or demoting civil servants in public is a dangerous business. In Dr. Potter's case, the accusation that the OMA had exerted pressure on him, coupled with his gauche handling of Dr. Kinloch, suggests to the public he may be putting his interests as a physician first and his interests as minister of health second."

Retired Miners Get Long-delayed Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired mine workers and miners' widows will receive annual benefits of $52 million or more under terms of the settlement of a retirement fund suit announced in United States district court here Tuesday.

The settlement estimates between 9,000 retired miners and 20,000 widows will benefit. Some have been waiting since 1953 for pensions.

The ruling announced by Judge Gerhard Gesell came in two separate class action suits brought against the United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund on behalf of retired miners and widows.

The settlement provides eligibility requirements for retired miners who had not been previously considered qualified to receive pensions. They require 20 years' work in the mining industry and five years' work in union mines after 1946.

The annual pension will be a minimum of $1,000 for the retired miners and $1,000 for miners' widows. There will be retroactive benefits of one year for those who had applied unsuccessfully for pensions in the past.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1973

Deputy Unhappy

PICTON — Picton deputy reeve Hans Croskwright yesterday told county council he is "not at all pleased" with the selection of committees for 1973 and said he been le not fairly" represented.

Deputy reeve Croskwright said he was not elected to any of the main council committees but several of the small- er municipalities have repre- sentatives on at least two of them. He added he did not expect his protests would change the selections but stat- ted "I wanted to voice an opinion."

Later in the meeting, Well- ington reeve Robert Boyce, who served as chairman dur- ing the caucus session when committees were chosen, said the jurdiness of Picton reeve Jarnes Bird contributed to dif- ficulty in the elections.

He explained that had the reeve been punctual he and deputy reeve Croskwright would have considered before the meeting to review the procedure. Three requests were made for each committee and both the reeve and deputy reeve showed interest in the property and supply committee. Mr. Boyce said it seemed inadvisable to name both to it so only reeve Bird was chosen. The election was open, by a show of hands.

Mr. Croskwright insisted he had tried to gain a seat on two other committees but was not named.

Retiring Administrator Is Honored

Taylor Franklin, who retired before Christmas from his position as administrator of Albert College, was honored by the student body with the presentation of an engraved watch.

Student Council president JoAnne Willment, in making the presentation, spoke of the friendly relationship and the kindly counsel always provided by Mr. Franklin in his as- sociation with the students.

The teaching staff of the school presented Mr. Franklin with a certificate for a por- trait in oils to be hung in the college library.

Mr. Franklin, who was with the college for 42 years, will be further honored by the board of governors by the es- tablishment of the Taylor Franklin student bursary to be awarded annually to a de- serving student.

Quinte Winners

On Saturday evening a hap- py New Year was assured for three area residents, win- ners of the two local draws, Hart Mitchell, Trenton, re- ceived the top Belleville Yard- men Benefit Fund prize of $9,500 while Mrs. Helen Hen- derson, Belleville collecting the $5,000 second place mon- ey. G. Lynch, Belleville was the winner of the Belleville Branch 99 Royal Canadian Le- gion 50-50 draw to become $703 richer. The Yardmen third prize was won by Marie Simond, Quebec City.

Last Post?

Mrs. Sarah Jones, 84, won't be mailing her letters from the corner of Bridge and Ann Streets much longer. She and 20 other tenants of historic St. Agnes Manor must vacate the premises by the end of January to make room for a new high-rise apartment building. The Manor was built by lumber magnate Bill Flint in 1860.

Fire Under Investigation

The evening fire began in a second - floor closet, work- ing its way to the attic and roof before firemen were able to bring it under control. Damage confined to upstairs, has been estimated at $12,000.

Inspector Paul Stephenson of the Belleville Fire Department said this morning an investi- gation Tuesday by himself and Paul Mckerracher of the On- tario Fire Marshal's office failed to reveal the fire's ori- gins. Asked about the possi- bility of arson, he comment- ed: "We're leaning that way."

Following a thorough inspec- tion of the closet area, char- red wood, ashes and plaster were forwarded to the Foren- sic Science Laboratory in To- ronto where they will be put under the microscope for more detailed study. There was no visible evidence that a container or flammable li- quids were in the vicinity.

Last person to leave the building was owner Claudi Bonucchi. He told officials he locked the doors at 5:30 p.m., an hour and a half before the fire broke out.

The apartment in which the blaze took place has been va- cant for several months. Only an adjacent room, converted into an office for the 70 Dun- das St. East restaurant, was used on the upper floor.

On-job Training Applications Lag

Canada Manpower officials in Belleville are still urging local employers to take ad- vantage of federal on-the-job training projects.

To date, applications from industry are lagging behind last year's total — although a last-minute surge could pro- duce more applications, they say.

Last year there were 30 on- job training submissions from local employers creating 80 jobs.

This year, so far, there have been some 20 applications, in- volving 60 jobs — 12 of the submissions from Belleville, the Quinte district's biggest industrial centre.

The Belleville Manpower cen- tre administers an area inclu- ding the city, Hastings County and populous Ameliasburg townships in Prince Edward township.

Once more this year, the deadline for submissions has been stretched ere month to Jan. 31 and Manpower offi- cials processing the program in the Belleville area are hopeful the extension will pro- duce more applications for on- job training contracts.

Manpower officers are confident more federal funds would be available to under- write further contracts in the area.

Under the program, the fed- eral government pays up to 75 per cent of trainees' wages over a six to 40 week period. Maximum payable for each trainee is $118 a week.

In past months also a new dimension has been added the original training concept.

In Christmas week Man- power and Immigration Minis- ter Robert Andras announced a Manpower project involving workers with "unusual em- ployment barriers."

The program will seek out those not likely to be employed through normal labor-mar- ket routines — including old- er workers, rural and urban poor, immigrants and physi- cally and mentally handicap- ped who "only need job-en- try training to complete reha- bilitation".

Employers will be encourag- ed to provide specialized train- ing projects for such workers.

The encouragements include a wage reimbursement. For- mula divided in two separate periods. For the first month, it pays 100 per cent, 90 per cent of pay for the remain- der of the first period and 60 per cent for the second pe- iod. The program is ongoing and the wage formula is designed to recompense em- ployers for the trainee's initial period of low productivity.

First Woman Takes Seat

Prince Edward County council's first woman mem- ber was seated Tuesday at the inaugural meeting of 1973 held in Shire Hall. Deputy reeve of North Marysburgh, Avis Head was acclaimed last month. She is also the township's first deputy reeve since it became eligible for additional repre- sentation for the first time during 1972. North Marys- burgh reeve is Jack Wells, who replaced retiring reeve Harold Harrison.

Historic Building to Be Razed

By MAURICE SWITZER

Progress is high-rise apart- ment living.

It can also mean finding yourself without a home.

Friday, Mrs. Sarah Jones, like the other 21 tenants of St. Agnes Manor, received a let- ter informing her that she would have to vacate Apart- ment 7, her home of ten years, by the end of January.

The Manor, built by lumber baron Billa Flint in 1860, is the latest city landmark to fall beneath the wrecker's ham- mer to make way for new li- ving accommodation. Its re- placement, a 75 unit edifice scheduled for completion be- fore the end of 1973, will be the fourth city high-rise un- der the management of Ted Schwab, a principal in the pur- chasing Robin Enterprises team.

Mrs. Jones' eviction notice added blade and salt to her cur- rent occupants of the historic building at the corner of Bridge and Ann Streets, would be given priority as potential tenants of the new complex.

But for 84 year-old Sarah Jones, returning only to her $135-monthly Canada Pension, that prospect is unlikely. This $60 rent she has been paying would be a far cry from anything she would be asked to contribute as a member of Belleville's fast growing verti- cal communities.

She is not too fortunate as neighbor Trude Leggott, for instance, whose 33 years' resi- dence makes her the Manor's senior tenant.

For one thing, her decea- sed husband's civil service pen- sion and a lucky tip from a friend about an available apartment — all in one day, double her current rent — at least place Mrs. Leggott in the enviable position of knowing she will have a roof over her head February 1.

Sarah Jones has no idea where she will be on that date. "It's so awkward" to be put out in the winter?" her voice betrays the accent she didn't entirely leave behind when she and husband William emi- grated from Wales 40 years ago.

Mr. Jones, a supermarket employee, died about a year ago, and his lengthy illness de- pleted what little nest-egg now remains for his widow.

There are two step-children in Canada, but Mrs. Jones has no idea where.

Was she bitter on learning of the move imposed on her?

"No, but I was sick all night," she says.

Other tenants make little secret of their displeasure at literally being tossed out of their homes into the snow with a month's notice, the minimum required by law.

But for Ted Schwab and Robin Enterprises, it was merely a matter of time.

"It was a losing proposi- tion," said Mr. Schwab, whose son-in-law was a principle of the former owners, Basch In- vestments, who gave as one reason in their notice to the tenants that "it is not economi- cally feasible to try and make the necessary repairs and re- novations" to the 113-year old building.

As to the timing of the an- nouncement, Mr. Schwab was sympathetic but practical. "It's difficult at any time of year for someone who's been paying $35 a month rent to re- locate. That's an anachronism in this day and age. It would not matter whether some of those dear little old ladies had to leave in January or June, they're still going to have difficulty finding accom- modation at prices they've been used to.

"And," he hastened to add, "a month's notice is stand- ard procedure for tenants not under lease."

Mr. Schwab, who now has Regency Towers, Parkwood, and Hillview high-rises under his management representing some 200 city tenants, said he would do "everything I can" to help any St. Agnes Manor tenants relocate.

Not everyone will be dis- appointed to see the demise of the imposing old building, which was operated as a girl's school from 1903 to 1929, and whose corridors were once trod by pupil Beatrice Lillie who graduated to become one of the world's most illustrious stage personalities.

"It's a real landmark, but a real fire-trap, too," noted city Fire Chief Leo Culhane. "We've been lucky — I can only recall one real threat up there a couple of years back, and that could have been a lot worse than it was."

It was after that fire that Basch Investments injected about $30,000 into building im- provements. Mr. Schwab es- timates, to meet such fire safety requirements as more accessible exits.

The city building inspec- tor's not been too happy with the places either," the new owner added.

But whatever their parti- cular concern, no one could deny that when the walls of St. Agnes Manor topple, some fascinating city history will lie beneath the rubble.

Milk Price Up

Following the lead of price increases in the Niagara Pen- insula and Toronto areas, dairies at Belleville have also increased the price of milk by two cents a quart.

Brookside - Price's said to day their increased prices went into effect January 1, while Reid's Dairy said the price increase would be effec- tive at midnight Wednesday.

Over - the - counter price at the dairy for three quart jug milk now is 94 cents for homo and 91 cents for 2 per cent. Depending on the type and size of container, home deliv- ered milk now ranges from 23 cents to 39 cents a quart.

The increase in retail milk prices was prompted by the increase, of 35 cents a cwt, in the wholesale price paid to the producer which went into effect on January 1.

MPP Pledges His Support

PICTON — James Taylor, MPP- Prince Edward - Lenox, yesterday urged county councillors to communicate their views to him for a strong presentation at Queen's Park.

He stressed he did not wish to usurp the power of county council but is eager to co-op- erate with it by carrying its wishes to a higher level of government.

Mr. Taylor said council pas- sed a resolution last year call- ing for the introduction of con- tingency funding. "A most ap- propriate form of local gov- ernment reform for Prince Edward." The MPP said he assumes that this topic will be reviewed by the new coun- cil this year. He has already made representation on behalf of councillors to the minister of intergovernmental affairs and to Premier Davis.

Mr. Taylor complimented the council, is right in looking to the future and urged con- solidation and "a good strong front." He is interested in following the development of regional government in other parts of eastern Ontario, and said it has a role to play in highly urbanized areas where unification is needed.

He observed in his riding there are different set of circumstances for consid- eration.

Recount Request To Be Withdrawn

Belleville resident Clarence E. Young is expected to with- draw his application for a re- count of the December 4 Belleville municipal election, returns.

The recount application was before Lennox and Addington county Judge Gerald F. Smith in Belleville on December 6 at which time Mr. Young was given until January 4 to file any additional affidavits which he might deem neces- sary.

Mr. Miller said he had met with Mr. Young Tuesday morning to discuss his addi- tional material with the result Mr. Young said he would withdraw his application for the recount. The application for withdrawal will be before Judge Smith this Thursday at 2 p.m.

Council approved of two re- commendations by Mr. Mil- ler — that the application for withdrawal of the recount re- count be accepted and that Mr. Young be returned the $100 he was required to de- posit with his original appli- cation for the recount.

Councillors Club Guests

Belleville city council mem- bers will be luncheon guests of two local service clubs early next week.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey and council members will attend next Monday's noon luncheon of the Rotary Club and also have been invited to dine with Kiwanis Club members next Tuesday.

Normally the Rotary Club lunch with council members would have been this week but New Year falling on a Monday set the date back a week.

Belleville Man Cheers His Team On

Harry Fast of Belleville, former CN manager here and now on loan to Zambia Railways, watches from the stands as railway soccer team, the Kabwe Warriors, wins the league championship. The team distinguished itself in 1972 by winning four cup competitions and the league championship, a feat never achieved before. Since moving to Zambia to assist with its railway organization, Mr. Fast has taken a hand in organizing sports as well. Mrs. Fast has been supporting netball for girls and her team also topped the league in 1972.

It Might As Well Be Spring

It might well have been spring in recent days in one corner of the Quinte district. The spot is against the rear wall of Lawrence Hamilton's home on Thurlow township's fourth concession where, a sunny southern exposure, protection from the worst of winter weather, has prompted a phenomenon: Blooms in January. Examining pansies is 14-year-old Debbie Hamilton.

Esposito Dominates NHL Scoring Statistics

MONTREAL (CP) — Whit centre Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins continues to dominate the National Hockey League's individual scoring race today, a lesser-known name with a much weaker club has been making his own significant progress this season.

Esposito currently leads the race with 58 points and holds a six-point lead over his nearest rival—Jacques Lemaire of Montreal Canadiens—who leads in goals with 29.

Gilbert Perreault of Buffalo Sabres is third with 51 points—sharing the lead in assists with Esposito at 34 each. Perreault holds a one-point edge on teammate Rene Robert, Chicago's Stan Mikita and Bobby Clarke of Philadelphia Flyers.

None of the top guns were in action Tuesday night when Atlanta Flames visited New York Islanders and Pittsburgh Penguins travelled to St. Louis against the Blues.

But while the Expo-Lemaire duo continue their individual battle, right-winger Bobby Schmautz of Vancouver Canucks can contemplate the fact he has been become the first player in seven years to record two four-goal games in a season.

Schmautz fired four goals last Saturday as the Canucks defeated the visiting Islanders 5-2. His other four-goal game was Nov. 19, during a 9-5 win over Buffalo.

The last player to duplicate this feat was Bobby Hull while with Chicago in the 1965-66 season.

Schmautz also scored three goals in an 8-4 win over Los Angeles Kings, Nov. 17, thus making him one of only two players who have scored three or more goals three times this season. The other is Al McDonough of

PHIL ESPOSITO

Pittsburgh who has three. three-goal games.

With Vancouver in seventh place in the eight-team East Division, coach Vic Stasiuk takes much of Schmautz' success: "In all my time, I've never seen a player shoot so many pucks —both in practices and games. I don't know anyone who works at it like he does and for his size, there isn't a better shooter in the league."

Schmautz is relatively small for NHL competition. He stands five-feet, nine-inches, and weighs 155 pounds.

The Vancouver winger's performance last week—five goals and five assists—was good enough to elevate him to 20th position among the leading scorers from 39th spot one week ago. Schmautz now has almost doubled his best previous goal output which was 12 last season. He now has 22 goals and 19 assists for 41 points.

Ward Makes Switch

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Ward, a converted defenceman, has scored a goal in nine games for New York Raiders, but he still leads World Hockey Association scorers, statistics released Tuesday show.

The Raider centre has 28 goals and 35 assists for 63 points. However, he is being chased by Terry Caffery of New England who has 20 goals and 40 assists.

Tom Webster, Caffery's teammate with the Whalers and a former Detroit Red Wing and California Golden Seal, leads the league in goals with 32.

J. C. Tremblay, a former standout defenceman with Montreal Canadiens, has the most assists, 42.

Gerry Cheevers of Cleveland Crusaders has the most shutouts, 4. With Bob Whidden, Cleveland goalies have a goals against average of 2.61.

Cheevers, a standout last year with Boston Bruins, Stanley Cup champions, has earned 18 of Cleveland's 23 victories. His 18-0-0 record is the best in the WHA.

Flames Keep Applying Heat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Much has been said about Buffalo Sabres becoming a playoff team only their third season in the National Hockey League, but they could still be upstaged by Atlanta Flames.

The Flames, after only 40 games in their first NHL season, have already laid partial claim to the fourth playoff spot in the West Division.

The move came Tuesday night when the Flames defeated New York Islanders 6-1. That gave Atlanta 40 points, on 18 wins and six ties, and a tie with Philadelphia Flyers. Only eight points separate the Flames and a Flyers from first-place Chicago Black Hawks.

In tonight's games, Montreal Canadiens visit Toronto Maple Leafs, Los Angeles Kings face the Rangers in New York, the Islanders are at Buffalo, Vancouver Canucks visit California Golden Seals, Pittsburgh is at Chicago and the Flyers and Flames battle for sole possession of fourth spot in the West with a game at Atlanta.

Larry Romanchych and Keith McCreary each fired two goals to lead the Flames in handing the Islanders their 20th defeat in 37 games.

Arnie Brown got the New York goal before an Islanders home crowd of 16,042.

Ernie Hicke and Leon Rochefort got the other Atlanta goals as the Flames outshot the Islanders 36-23. It was Atlanta's fourth victory in as many games against their 1972-73 expansion partners.

At St. Louis, the Penguins threatened to keep pace with Atlanta and Philadelphia as they took the lead early and never fell behind until Phil Roberto's winning goal with 1:26 left in the game.

A first-period goal by Greg Polis gave Pittsburgh the early lead and scores by Jean Pronovost and Bryan Hextall made it 3-1 early in the second period.

But just 15 seconds after Al McDonough made it 4-2 for Pittsburgh, the Blues came back to tie the count with scores by Pierre Plante and Gary Sabourin before the second period ended to set up Robert's winning effort.

Kings Command

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Lumber Kings continued to hold their command spot in the Central Junior Hockey League Tuesday, beating Nepean Raiders 10-5, while Cornwall Falls Bears moved into a tie for fourth place with Brockville Braves.

The Lumber Kings, leaders for the entire season, doubled the third-place Raiders on the strength of two-goal performances by Randy Mohns, Mike Nixon, Dana Meuman and Debut Lemieux and single goals by Steve Croucher and Bill Sweeney.

Smiths Falls squeezed Brockville 5-4 to move into the tie on three goals by Terry Fournier and singles from Des Allen and Mike Defalco.

Steve Keech's two goals led a third period push by the Braves, but despite single goals by Dave Dixie and Kevin O'Donnell, the Bears goalie Kevin Popke smothered the drive.

BACK TO BLACK

SANTA ANA, Calif. (CP) — The World Hockey Association's colored puck experiment has been discontinued for the remainder of the season. The league started using the puck in pre-season games and switched to blue in the regular schedule, but manufacturer wasn't able to meet season standards, president Gary Davidson said Tuesday.

Russians Sweep World Cup

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Russia scored five first period goals against the United States and went on to a 13-3 victory Tuesday night, completing a three-game sweep of the second annual World Cup hockey tournament.

The U.S. collection of college players was no match for the precision-passing Russians, in the fourth meeting between the two countries in the tournament.

The Czechs, represented by their national champion Dukla Jihlava club team, finished second with a 2-1 mark, Canada wound up 1-2, beating the U.S. 6-5. The U.S. lost all three of its games.

Chuck Ness of the University of Minnesota-Duluth, Earl Anderson of North Dakota and Paul O'Neil of Boston University tallied for the U.S. goals.

Russian Style Can Be Painful

The Belleville Quinte's defenceman suffered a dislocated elbow while performing as a member of the Kingston Aces in their December 26th meeting with Moscow Dynamo, the team that the Quintes will face Friday.

A mainstay of the Belleville defence for seven years, Marchen was injured in a third period crash with blueline partner Bob Glass during the Aces' 8-6 loss to Moscow.

"I was taking out one of the Russian forwards when Glass blind-sided him and my arm was caught in between," said Marchen who was expected to be out six weeks with the injury which included bone chips to the elbow as well as a dislocation.

He will have the arm in a sling for three weeks and hopes to begin strengthening exercises shortly after that in hopes that he can return to the Belleville line-up within six weeks".

As the only member of the Quintes with previous experience against the Soviets, he is able to make some observations on the Russian style of play.

"They're well conditioned," Greg observed. "Of course I wasn't around at the end of the game, but they were playing as strongly then as they did in the opening period."

In fact he believes that conditioning is the one big factor that the Dynamos have in their favor over Senior A competition. "They're no stronger, other than the fact that they are in the peak of condition and I imagine that they play hockey most of the time. With senior players, you're trying to hold down a job as well as play hockey and you don't have a chance to get into that kind of shape. If Senior A players had the same kind of conditioning, we'd be stronger because we have more experience."

"They don't like to give up the puck — shoot it in the opposing zone and chase it — they play puck control and try to get you to commit yourself. If they have a three-on-two, for instance, they don't break right for the net. They try and drew you out of the play and then pass to the open man."

The 30-year-old Newmarket native will get his second look at the Dynamos from a Memorial Arena seat Friday night and stray pucks notwithstanding, it can't be as painful as the first.

GREG MARCHEN

Frederick Counts Four

Gary Frederick stood up and counted in the Tuesday's Quinte - St. Lawrence League 6-2 victory over Napanee McCutcheons as he tallied four goals in the win.

Stephen Pearce and Danny Jaques provided the two singles for Bolling peeves rangers while Danny Hinch and Peter Cormier earned Napanee's goals.

Sticking With It

Despite losing his stick, goalie Gord Vesterfelt of Constellation Carpets followed the puck as Jim's Pizzeria defenceman Doye Akey barges past Jim Thompson and into his crease in Gas House Hockey League play Tuesday. Some sharp goaltending by Vesterfelt wasn't quite enough to help his team to victory as they were edged 5-4 by the unbeaten league leaders.

Oldtimers Show Form

TRENTON (Special)—Duncan Armstrong led the Trenton 1969-70 juvenile team to a 13-6 victory over Quaker Oats with a four goal mark-up in an exhibition game Sunday.

The four tallies of Armstrong, a member of the Trenton team which went to the All - Ontario Championships, were followed by the goal getting of Sandy McDonald with three, Mike Walt (two), and Ken Danylchuk, Ted Brown, Terry Brown and Doug Watney each with singles.

Ted Brown earned five assists in the grounding of the Quaker Oats club while teammates Danylchuk and McDonald assisted on four and three respectively.

Jim's Still Unbeaten

Constellation had Jim's on the carpet but couldn't make it stick. Wilson Concrete forged ahead of Mead Johnson, but lost their grip. And Rollins Lumber climbed up the Hospital in Gas House Hockey action Tuesday.

Constellation Carpets twice led unbeaten Jim's Pizzeria before bowing 5-4 on Carl Boomhower's tally late in the third period. It was the second goal of the game for Boomhower, while Brian Smith also had a pair. Ralph Boomhower scored the winners' other marker.

"We've gotten slack," said Putnam, "we've got the legs but we're not using them. In scrimmaging and getting away from drilling. But from now on it's going to be drill, drill, drill. We're going to take that old winning story. and make it into a new chapter."

Wilsons held a 2-1 lead over Meads before finishing on the short end of a 4-3 count. Dave Fox's second goal of the game proved to be the winners with other Mead tallies going to Jack Lucas and Ray Summers. Lucas and Bob Mulvihill earned a pair of assists each.

Defenceman Bill Tufts' point drive gave Rollins a 2-1 victory over the Hospital in a rough encounter that saw seven penalties handed out. Scott Warren had the winning' after goal while George Jackin counted for the Hospital.

Kingston Could Help Rivals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gali Hawkeyes need a little help in the Ontario international hockey tournament, even after they defeated Kingston Aces 5-4 Thursday night.

And the team that could help the Hornets is the same Aces who play host Tuesday night to undefeated Prague Selects of Czechoslovakia.

The Gali win in Kingston before1,883 fans created a three-way tie for first place in the 15-game tournament involving three European clubs and three from the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A section.

Prague, Gali and Moscow Dynamos have six points apiece, four more than Kingston. Queen Scord Downtowners and Timmins Rockets are winless after three games.

In an exhibition game Tuesday, Brantford Foresters of the senior league edged Thorn 5-4 to extend the Swedes losing record to five games. The Swedes were dumped 8-4 by Orillia Terriers of the senior contest.

Because the Hornets and Dynamos have lost a tournament game apiece to Selects, they need two straight losses by the Czechs to win the championship. Czechoslovakia, however, has to beat Gali in tonight with a win over Sweden in a game at Kitchener. Each team plays five games in the tournament which ends Saturday.

Kingston Aces Steve Bush's goal at 15:12 of the third period broke a 4-4 tie and gave Gali the win. Vance Miller, Pete Brannan, Howie Diedrich and Steve DeGurse got the other goals for the Hornets, who hold first place in the senior league.

Gary Milroy, one of five pickups from Orillia, scored three goals and added an assist for his 1,119 hometown fans. Terry Caldwell, Cochrane and John Ball added the other Brantford goals and Karl-Gosta Eklund, Ake Soderberg, Lage Edin and Mikan Petterson clicked for Sweden.

Marlboros Regain Winning ... or 'A' Ways

Hamilton Red Wings also recovered their winning form, snapped two ... game losing streaks while Sudbury had its ... winless record stretched to five ... against Wolves.

Boomer Burns Critics

NEW YORK (CP) — The Boomer was down on a whimper, poking a bit of fun at his critics who figured by Christmas he would be utterly buried in the wreckage of an expansion Pups.

But Laryngitis could not dampen the enthusiasm of Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion who, at 41, has worked harder than any time in his life to help make the newly-minted Atlanta Flames a successful expansion club in the National Hockey League.

His ulcer, like the famous ners hard at coach but they have responded by proving they are no first-season doormats with a record approaching the .500 mark.

He keeps busy, too, selling the club on the banquet circuit, as busy in fact that he hasn't much time to worry about the ulcer that cost him his first NHL coaching job with New York Rangers.

"I guess the Boomer fooled a lot of them," Geoffrion who's peered in his colorful third-person pattern when the Flames arrived Monday for a game against New York Islanders.

His fractured French-English speeches seem to go well with the southern charm of Georgia and the fans in Atlanta have caught on to NHL hockey rapidly and in a big way, his critics are dwindling fast.

"I know all about them saying the Boomer would be gone before Christmas because he didn't have the temperament to coach a hockey team.

His Ulcer, like the famous slapshot, is a thing of the past. Geoffrion does not try to explain why his Flames are performing in a way his established Rangers could not three seasons ago.

In the 1928-29 season, when the Boomer coached the Rangers, every game produced a kind of trauma for him. He just plain suffered—win, lose or draw.

By mid-January, when general manager Emil Francis relieved him and took over the coaching chores, the Boomer's supposedly repaired ulcer was just about to bust wide open.

An intense competitor in his playing days with Montreal Canadiens and the Rangers, the Boomer apparently has learned to channel the stress coaching produces.

Last Saturday night, the Flames go a 1-1 tie with the Canadiens in Montreal, but the Boomer lost his voice.

Geoffrion had his first success as coach when he led Quebec Aces to two straight American Hockey League championships after he temporarily retired as a player in 1964.

An all-star right wing for the Canadiens for 14 seasons, he was inducted into the NHL Hall of Fame on Aug. 24, 1972. His sizzling slapshot earned him the nickname Boom Boom and accounted for many of his 393 NHL career goals. He became the second player to score 50 goals in one season, reaching the milestone in 1961, and he played on seven Stanley Cup winners.

Southern Cal Unanimous No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California's unbeaten Trojans capped a season-long step in first place today when they were named college football's national champions for the third time in 11 years. The vote was unanimous.

Southern Cal, only undefeated team in the country, capped a 12-0 season and rallied down The Associated Press Trophy and with it the 1972 national crown Monday with a 42-17 rout of Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

The Trojans received all 50 first-place votes and a perfect score of 1,000 points from a nation-wide panel of sports writers and broadcasters in The AP poll as they officially dethroned Nebraska's 1970-71 champs, who were seeking an unprecedented third consecutive title.

Southern Cal, eighth in the pre-season ratings, shot to the No. 1 spot following'an opening 31-30 rout of Arkansas while top-ranked Nebraska was losing to UCLA 20-17. They were never headed as Colorado, Oklahoma and Alabama all took turns as the main challenger.

Oklahoma, unanimous runner-up to Nebraska last season, again finished second. The Sooners, who blanked Penn State 14-0 in the Sugar Bowl, were the second choice of 43 voters and received 872 points.

Texas, a come-from-behind 17-12 winner over Alabama in the Cotton Bowl, finished third with 657 points, barely edging defending champion Nebraska. The Cornhuskers demolished Notre Dame 40-6 in the Orange Bowl and wound up fourth in the rankings with 655 points.

Knicks' Knack Downs Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Do New York Knicks have Milwaukee Bucks psyched?

No, insists Milwaukee coach Larry Costello, who watched his club drop its 18th straight National Basketball Association game at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night 102-92.

Yes, says Jerry Lucas of the Knicks, who helped Bill Bradley pace a fourth-quarter New York surge that proved the victory.

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, Cleveland beat Phoenix 101-86, Buffalo defeated Philadelphia 114-110, Chicago downed Atlanta 100-90, Boston whipped Houston 130-110, Golden State defeated Los Angeles 112-106 and Portland took Kansas City-Omaha 104-87.

There were five games scheduled in the American Basketball Association.

Milwaukee got 36 points from Kareem Abdul-Jabbar but still bowed to the Knicks in what is becoming a characteristic fourth-quarter foe.

The last time the two teams met in New York, the Knicks shut out the Bucks 19-0 over the final 5½ minutes to eke out an 86-85 victory. A few of the Knicks think they detect some scars in the Bucks, who have not won in New York since March 18, 1970.

"You can see it in their faces," said Lucas. "When it came down to the last period, they were playing a little scattered. They lost their poise and didn't play their normal game."

Lucas and Bradley scored eight points each in the fourth quarter New York rally. The score was tied 75-75 after three periods before the Knicks took control. But don't suggest to Costello that there's anything psychological about the Knicks and Bucks.

"I don't believe that and neither do my players," said Costello.

"We hit them on a hot night. I don't think the Knicks can play better. They don't beat themselves. We played good, but they played super."

Bradley led New York with 22 points and Walt Frazier had 19 while Lucas finished with 13. The victory was the Knicks' 13th straight at home and 22nd in 23 games at Madison Square Garden this season.

Clemente Week Proclaimed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mayor Peter Flaherty has declared this Roberto Clemente Week in Pittsburgh, and in Harrisburg, the state senate has moved to have the late Pirate great inducted immediately into baseball's Hall of Fame.

"This will provide us all with an opportunity to pause and reflect on the many contributions Roberto Clemente made to this community both as a great baseball player and humanitarian," the mayor said Tuesday.

He said Tuesday a portrait of the 38-year-old right fielder would be placed in the lobby of the City-County Building for the duration of the mourning period.

The senate acted on a broader scale.

"The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the people of Pennsylvania sorrowfully join the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the family of Roberto Clemente in mourning his tragic and untimely death," read a condolence resolution passed by a unanimous voice vote Tuesday.

"There be it resolved that the Senate, as a fitting gesture in remembrance of a great sportsman and a great human being, call upon the commissioner of baseball to bring about the immediate enshrinement of Roberto Clemente in baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y."

Clemente, a father of four, died New Year's Eve with four others when their plane en route to Nicaragua with relief supplies for earthquake survivors crashed in the Atlantic Ocean just off the coast of Puerto Rico.

A player is not usually eligible for election to the Hall of Fame until he has been inactive for five years.

CHAMP REBOUNDS

AND SO THEY BOUGHT A FARM — Dean Hughes

In 1945 Dean Hughes and his wife, Lyn, bought a farm 20 miles from down town Toronto. Until recently, he operated the farm as a dairy and beef project. Naturally, the incidents, events and happenings — humorous, whimsical, sad, frustrating — described in And So They Bought A Farm are the result of actual experiences. Names have been changed and the time element has been altered, but the facts remain.

HERM, OUR ISLAND HOME — Jenny Wood

This book is the story of all the things that befell the autiesess on her way to the achievement of a dream. It is the story of a wife and mother trying to bring up her six children in a ruined house on a derelict island, without proper drainage or a water supply and no electricity. Success and failure, moments of elation and moments of despair, are all ingredients of a story that gives a picture of what life is like on a little island.

BONNIE PRINCE CHARLIE — David Daiches

The Young Pretender is the prime example of the hero of a lost cause, a personality virtually created by a Scottish nostalgia for a kingdom vanished. Though he lived abroad except for a very short time in his career, he is indelibly a Scottish figure. In this biography, Charles emerges directly from eighteenth century Europe, with all its political and dynastic intrigue, which explains the irresistable appeal that he exerted so widely and for such a long time.

CARE OF THE HORSE AND PONY — M. I. Clarke

In this compact book the author has provided, in clear and practical terms, a complete answer to all the questions you are likely to ask about horse — where to keep him, what to feed him, how to groom him and care for him, how to prevent and cure his ailments. This is certainly a book for horse lovers of all ages.

MIKE — THE MEMOURS OF THE Rt. Hon. LESTER B. PEARSON Volume I

This is the first book of three volumes. In this first one, Mr. Pearson tells of his childhood in Methodist parsonages around Ontario at the turn of the century. He recalls with his own warm and engaging style which reminds us of Stephen Leacock, who was his favorite author. The book ends with his decision to enter politics in 1948.

LONELINESS AND LOVE — Clark E. Moustakas

Mr. Moustakas discusses such topics as encounter groups, the lonely child, and the difference between loneliness and solitude. He reveals how periods of loneliness can help a person move toward more honesty and more meaningful relationships with his fellow human beings. Being alone is a way back to others'; being lonely is a way back to oneself.

THE ILLUSTRATED BOOK OF WORLD WAR II

This book forms a small collection of photographs and material from a much larger collection built up by the staff of Illustrated, one of Britain's leading pictorial news magazines of the time, but now defunct. It is not the intention of this book to tell the complete story of the Second World War, but it does reflect the nature and atmosphere of those years by highlighting various aspects of the struggle.

Nutmeg and Mace Foul Hashish Test

HALIFAX (CP) — Two commonly-used kitchen spices are the only known products that will foul up a quick, simple test to identify marijuana and hashish—and scientists would like to know why, says Dr. R. A. Heacock.

Dr. Heacock, a chemist at the Halifax-based laboratories of the National Research Council, would like to know just what nutmeg and mace, which come from different parts of the same plant, might have in common with marijuana and hashish, which come from another plant.

Both nutmeg and mace form a unique red color on filter paper when they are dampened with a test solution, he said. Police officers use this test to determine quickly whether some material seized might be illegal marijuana or hashish, which also give the red color.

To find out about these similar reactions, he and his colleagues are doing some "curiosity-oriented research" into nutmeg and mace.

"It was hoped that this might give us some information, also about the chemical structures of the psychotoxic constituents found in nutmeg and mace," he told a meeting of science writers.

Nutmeg and mace have long been recognized as mind-bending drugs, he said. They will produce intoxicated and euphoric states in which hallucinations play a part. At least one research study has likened the effects to hashish.

Toxic, but not fatal, states have been produced from just one-half a nutmeg, which usually is taken ground in a glass of water, fruit juice or milk, he said. Symptoms of toxicity vary, but in general these include abdominal pains, headaches, dryness of the mouth, dizziness, nausea, constipation, fast heart beat, sleeplessness and fear of death.

Most people recover from these toxic symptoms, he said, but there has been one death reported—that of an eight-year-old boy.

Dr. Heacock now is trying to determine just what the chemical compounds are, concentating mainly on the ones that have been found to give the false reactions in the tests for marijuana.

But even working only with the ingredients known to give the positive result in the test, he has found at least 12 compounds, only one of which can be identified with complete certainty.

Scientists often are criticized for doing "curiosity-oriented research" because it doesn't seem to have any specific useful end result. Dr. Heacock came under such criticism from some science writers about whether this research on spices was really justified.

Who really cares just what minute chemical compounds in spices do and how they react?

Dr. Heacock replied that, although it may not seem to have any immediate result, it is a necessary part of the total science research that provides the background for the breakthrough discoveries.

Violence Grows In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm going to kill you tomorrow," the young voice warned the teacher. "I'm the leader of the Brims and you hurt my partner, so I'm going to kill you."

The threat might have been forgotten in years past—a student saying something over the phone he never intended to carry out. But few teachers in south-central Los Angeles would disregard the remark now.

Youth violence—much of it blamed on warfare between black youth gangs—has increased sharply in some areas, resulting in some 32 deaths in Los Angeles this year and leaving high school campuses tense.

Los Angeles police officials say gang-related deaths have tripled over figures for each of the last three years, and administrators and parents report that non-gang members are carrying weapons to school to protect themselves.

The gang war situation is a "very, very critical problem right now," says Sgt. Art Camarillo of Compton police.

The list of incidents have been many and have included beatings, shootings and robberies:

—Five students were wounded, one seriously, as they stood near a homecoming float at Jefferson high school.Police said the youths apparently were shot from a passing car.

—Students at Locke high school reported seeing several students, believed to be gang members, carrying shotguns on campus. A student with a shotgun later was arrested at a nearby hamburger stand after allegedly threatening to kill another youth.

—A guest at a bridal shower in suburban Long Beach was shot in the abdomen and killed. A 15-year-old youth from nearby Compton was taken into custody.

—A 15-year-old Compton youth was shot and killed in what was believed to be a fight between two rival street gangs. Two other youths were wounded and another was beaten unconscious.

—Another 15-year-old youth, Eric Anthony Gates, was shot and wounded at a Compton intersection. A 16-year-old youth was arrested near the scene of the shooting, police said.

New Poet Laureate Old Building Lover

LONDON (CP) — The appointment of Sir John Betjeman as Poet Laureate of England brings to his post a brilliant and learned defender of historical buildings.

Although Sir John is probably the most popular poet writing in England today, he may be better known for his interest in architecture and his defence of old and treasured buildings and environments against the speculator.

He has written several books on architecture, including a Guide to English Parish Churches and The English Town in the Last Hundred Years.

Architecture has also formed the subject of much of his verse, particularly his elegies for the passing of Edwardian England. The objects celebrated and lamented are often not the likely ones as gaslights, town halls and railway stations.

The laureateship is the single national and official position within the poetry world in Britain and while its duties are taken it focuses public attention on poetry.

The appointment is made by the prime minister and the Poet Laureate receives a stipend which has not changed for 200 years: £70 (about $168) a year plus a butt of sack—a large supply of white wine. The early laureates were required to compose odes and celebratory poems for state occasions and while the duty is no longer enforced most recent holders of the office have felt impelled to try their hands from time to time.

After Dryden the great period of the laureateship was the 19th century, when Wordsworth and Tennyson were successively appointed. Tennyson's Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington is probably the finest occasional poem written by any poet in his laureate capacity.

As much as architecture is out of keeping with literary fashion are the verse forms Betjeman habitually chooses to write in; apart from the long autobiographical poem Summoned by Bells the bulk of his poems is scrupulously set in the terse forms of the light versifier.

Some regard his work as purely light verse. This judgment fails to recognize the intensity of feeling that underlies the humor. The humor can be caustic, black or hilarious and is never far from the eternal preoccupations of love and death.

His sympathy can occasionally be of a rather patronizing kind as when he exhorts Camden Town business girls in their morning baths.

However, there are a considerable number of wholly serious poems by Betjeman, untempered even by irony. Most of these are religious and they express an orthodox Church of England belief with a directness found nowhere else in contemporary religious verse. They often find their settings in the neo-Gothic churches, rural or suburban, so beloved of their author and many reverberate with the tensions of approaching death.

May Resign

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Coquitlam Environmental Committee threatened to resign recently unless action was taken by municipal council to prevent erosion on the upper Coquitlam River. Len Brewly, a member of the environmental committee, said that erosion is a serious problem on the river.

Karras Changes Attack Method

In the last two years he has gone from defensive tackle for Detroit Lions to comic lecturer, talk show raconteur and actor.

Following in the well-trod path from playing field to show business, Karras has appeared in three movies this year.

"I think certain athletes have personalities people like," said Karras.

"When you think of the athletes who have gone into show business you think mostly of the personalities, such as (Joe) Namath and Rosey Grier. Besides, the jump isn't that big. Football is an entertainment medium."

Karras said it is tougher now for a player to develop into a personality because club owners try to enforce a conveyor belt team image of athletes who drink milk and eat Wheaties.

"If you're an individual, television can give you the exposure you need, but it also can hurt you. Management frowns on a lot of things."

Karras was known as something of a comic in pro football, except to the opposition quarterbacks he smeared across the turf. George Plimpton recorded some of his antics in the book Paper Lion and he appeared in the movie made from the book in 1968.

That was his first taste of show business and when the Lions dropped him two years ago he decided to give it a try.

Karras said because of his size—a square 250 pounds—he doesn't want to be typecast as either a heavy or a buffoon. He turned down a role as the dumb cop on the Sandy Duncan Show.

Last spring he was in an ABC movie, Hardcase, and also filmed Another Day at the Races, in which he plays one of a trio of loony freaks in a Marx Brothers-type farce.

After the Summer Olympics he went to Munich for The 300 Pound Jerk, in which he is a hillbilly weightlifter who falls in love with a Russian girl gymnast. It will be shown on CBS Jan. 2.

Chess Sales Climb After Summer Series

MONTREAL (CP) — The chess fever that spread from Iceland last summer is still running high here—with promoters doing their best to keep it so.

Bernard Ouimet, president of the Montreal Chess League, said the scale of new interest —particularly among French-speaking citizens—and commercial sponsorship is almost unbelievable for veterans of past amateur tournaments in cramped basements.

"The whole thing would have been unthinkable not so long ago," said the 29-year old insurance actuary. "What is new is that we are able to open doors that were closed before."

The world chess championships in Reykjavik, Iceland, signalled the public imagination in an unprecedented manner. The games between American Bobby Fischer, the victor, and Russian Boris Spassky, the defending champion, were won over the media like dam busters. Suddenly commercial sponsorship, hitherto invisible, became available for local chess.

Ouimet advocates alert public relations and promotion to ensure that the intellectually stimulating game of pawns, kings, queens and knights will have a good future in Canada.

He said an example of business potential has been provided by aptly-named Bryan M. Knight, 32, and Douglas R. Long, 38, who founded Chess Nut Enterprises (Les Noix du Echecs Entreprises) several months ago.

And Knight, interviewed on his return from a business trip to his native England, told a reporter:

Chess Nut is also the title of a 15-page catalogue distributed across Canada and featuring, like the boutique, such supplies as literature, chess clocks and score sheets as well as sets and boards.

The happy-warrior partners —old friends, university graduates and at one time chess freaks—enjoy exploiting offbeat and spinoff opportunities, their latest venture being Pawnography, a 72-page book of cartoons touted, at $1.25, as an ideal gift for broad-minded chess people.

"We dreamed up all the ideas for the cartoons on one long night," Long confided.

"We touch on some of the do's and don'ts of chess. For instance, spectators—especially beautiful spectators—leaning over a chess board can be terribly distracting, you know."

Janice Logan, the comely 26-year-old artist who did the sketches, confessed with a smile that initially she felt some of the cartoon ideas were a trifle risque "and so did my mother."

After we decided they were ok and, in fact, I was amazed that the ancient game of chess relates so well to anything topical—religion, sex, pawns in society and other things," said the native of Columbus, O., and graduate in fine arts from Ohio State University.

Knight and Long found a vacuum in some aspects of the chess industry and have been so busy they have little time to play the game.

"But some of the sets are irresistible," said Knight. "We hide them until we have a chance to try them out."

Of the over-all Montreal picture, Ouimet reported that for some time the league under his presidency had been trying to correct a traditional lack of good French-language literature and material. The interest stirred by the world tournament had been of immense help.

Some 225 contestants turned out for the opening of the Montreal chess championships, compared with roughly 80 in other years. Scores of spectators included citizens of 10 and 12 years of age.

Ouimet said a Canadian participation record may well have been set when 750 persons took part in Quebec championships, conducted by the French-language newspaper, La Presse.

Sorel Sinks Montreal

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Raynald Gill of Sorel Black Hawks and six goals of the Laval Nations are probably not the types who favor the underdogs if Tuesday night's action in the Quebec Major Junior A Hockey League is any indication.

Gill scored a goal after 1:27 of overtime to lead his team to a 14 win over Montreal Red, White and Blue while Gougeon's tally at 17:12 of the third period wiped out a two-goal Cornwall rally and enabled the Nationals to upset the Royals 7-6. In the other game played Tuesday Quebec Remparts dumped Sherbrooke Beavers 6-3.

Sorel lead 4-2 early in the third period when Montreal came alive on goals by Andre St. Laurent, Denis Daigle and Daniel St. Cyr to tie the contest. Jean-Pierre Gerentet also scored earlier for the visitors. Big Gill's overtime heroics iced the win for the Black Hawks who received other goals from Pierre Larouche, Pierre-Yves Giroux, Serge Gamelin and Michel Fevrier.

The Royals appeared ready to take Laval out of its own rink when Gary McGregor scored three times and Blair McDonald once before the game with 10 minutes old to give the visitors a 4-0 advantage.

But Laval hung on, scoring three goals before the period was over and adding three more in the second period to boast a 6-4 bulge starting the third. But goals by Terry Angell and Ivan Boss even evened the score and set up Gougeon's winner.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

THURSDAY, JAN. 4

Aries (March 21-April 19): Abrupt changes of status are normal. If you leave a spot, be glad you have the chance of developing a better one, and get moving.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Answers to long-standing mysteries come from unexpected quarters. Be alert and ready to move. Travels of any sort need extra time.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): The impulsive move you make today may influence your long-range future, your access to the material riches of the world.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You are in a special position to make choices people very happy. Less organized individuals seek your example if not guidance.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 23): The duty you encounter may seem beneath your dignity, but there is much to be gained by doing some part of it well.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Bring your notebook, wherever, as the ideas you provoke in your curiosity and personal relations are worthy of precise record.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Comes a time when when your convictions are shaken, reformulated in simpler terms, as long at last see things in larger perspective.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A search for a sideline turns into a major project. You may be able to find what you need close by your base of operations.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Leave no stone unturned in your survey of opportunity, as it is now a time for innovation, the use of unusual approaches.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Personal affairs thrive, although at an uneven pace. Listen very attentively to the ideas of your mate or partner.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your natural inclination is to retreat to your own familiar grounds and run another round of personal routine.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Once you have discovered several views about any situation of concern, you will find a solution nobody has suggested.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Snow Shoveling Not Only Hazard

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

(First of two columns)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After the last heavy snowstorm, I read that eight men died of heart attacks shoveling snow. Can you educate us guys in this area? Exactly what is it about shoveling that puts you on a heart attack? How does it hit you? Does one get a warning first? Why is it so different from other exercising?—H. W.

There are things other than shoveling snow that can cause heart attacks, but most of the other things don't get as much publicity. Too bad, too.

But when dealing with a heavy snowfall, a lot of people are doing something at the same time, and it's fairly easy to keep count of the number who fall down and doing it.

It's not so easy to keep count of the other activities that lead to heart attacks—although they happen. The middle-aged desk workers who have a playful go at touch football or decide to lug a bit more of body weight into the attic. Any number of things. Count your hat often as being drug out statistics is deer hunting in places where a lot of people are doing it. Again, that's an occupation that's easy to tabulate—let one person die doing it in a limited period.

So don't think snow shoveling is the only invitation to a heart attack. It is, at the moment, a real risk for suitable candidates.

Why? Usually the victims have some heart defects which they know about or don't know about. Like atherosclerosis—a thickened lining in the heart arteries, which reduces blood flow. With cardiac blood activity, there may be no symptoms. (An electrocardiogram would show it, though.)

Under sudden, heavy strain, the heart chambers can enlarge a bit, the heartbeat becomes slightly elongated—and a rare person can actually have a coronary thrombosis (blood clot) shuts off at one point or another.

Such an orgasm (weak, heavy, place) may exist in the arteries, and undergo sudden exertion. Or sometimes a diseased heart-valve is present. In any of this a disturbance of rhythm called fibrillation, and that can at times be fatal. Or a heart chamber can rupture.

Why when shovelling snow? Well, scraping off a light fall isn't very strenuous, and the snow can be quite heavy. One physicist estimated that a shovelful of snow to weigh between eight and 20 pounds. It depends on the size of the shovel, obviously, and the "wetness" of the snow. It takes a lot more power to lift a shovelful, repeatedly, than to push a pencil or golf club. Also there is a continuous strain, shovel after shovel.

Besides that, it's cold, and your heart works a bit faster when your body warms. The cold can also provoke the pain of angina pectoris (a forcing thing; why few folks will go out in bathing suits for a few minutes, then go in and rest, and go out for a few more minutes, and so on). Finish the job and then go in and relax."

Besides that, some reasons why shoveling is risky. Other heavy exercises, when you aren't used to it, can be risky, too, and many times more risky if you have developed any heart disease to start with. So apply the same rules to things other than snow.

But snow, affecting everybody at once, gets the publicity.

I left out half of today's letter, but will print the rest of it tomorrow, to answer some further questions.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2♥	Pass	3♥	Pass
4♥

Opening lead—four of spades.

Let's say you're South, defending against four hearts. Choosing the right opening lead is not an easy assignment, but let's assume you decide the contract cannot be stopped on high - card power alone, and that your best chance lies in leading the singleton spade — even though South had the suit.

This turns out to be a remarkably good shot, since partner shows up with four to the A-K. He wins with the king and easily recognizes the four as a singleton.

But if, in his exuberance, partner continues with the ace and another spade, he undoes all your good work. You would ruff, but that would spell ruin. Whatever you returned, declarer would win, draw trumps, and discard two diamonds from dummy on the Q-J of spades to easily make the contract.

But if East is firing on all cylinders, he returns the nine of spades at trick two, not the ace. By returning the nine East retains spade control at the same time as he gives you the ruff—and this in turn permits you to play a low diamond at trick three in force out the ace — and in that way establish the setting trick.

East's return of the nine of spades, rather than the deuce, is consistent with the suit-preference convention. By returning the highest card he can spare in a ruffing situation, East requests you to return the higher-ranking of the two side suits—and, in the present case, are diamonds and clubs.

It takes mighty good defense to put South down one. West must find the killing spade lead at trick one, East must give partner the spade ruff at trick two, and West must lead a diamond at trick three. With all, this occurring, East-West would have every right to congratulate themselves on an excellent partnership accomplishment.

Tomorrow: An unusual play.

U.S. Plans Low-key Auto Pact Approach

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States will adopt a "low-key" approach to negotiations with Canada on the auto pact between the two countries, is regarded by U.S. trade officials as being too much in Canada's favor.

The production of parts and assembly of cars in the two countries, senior U.S. government trade official said Tuesday.

Harold Malmgren, deputy special representative for trade negotiations said the U.S. will hold trade talks this year with several countries, including Canada.

He said in an interview that negotiations between Canada and the U.S. would have to be handled with care.

The "low-key" approach" by the U.S. would involve a series of technical committees which will try to resolve such issues as assembling of car parts which the U.S. says have helped give Canada a trade surplus over the U.S.

The auto pact, which controls Malmgren said trading partners of the U.S. should not display a "Pavlovian type reaction" of dismissing any proposal by the U.S. administration as simply another American ploy.

He said the administration, which wants to reduce its huge balance of payments deficit, has completed preliminary preparations for a comprehensive approach to trade legislation and senior U.S. officials will explain its position on trade and related matters.

U.S. Relaxes Controls On Foreign Investments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration ordered a relaxation Tuesday in the complicated system of government controls over investment of United States capital in foreign countries.

The commerce department's office of foreign direct investments viewed the changes as slight, but it could give no figure on the expected impact on the country's balance-of-payments deficit.

One change affects loans by U.S. investors to their foreign affiliated companies on the sale or lease of the U.S. goods and services made "on normal commercial terms."

The effect is to eliminate complex reporting requirements imposed on large U.S. corporations that have foreign affiliates.

It is expected to increase the dollar outflow, but the office said the amount probably would be small.

A second change set $6 million a year as the worldwide minimum allowable for direct investments by U.S. corporations.

Driver Charges Constable

He followed Oakville constable Edward Waller all the way to police headquarters and there charged him with doing 40 in a 30-mile zone.

In court Friday, Sterling declined doing $5 as charged but admitted doing 35. The constable denied the 40-mile accusation but admitted pulling away at 35 from the scene of the ticketing. Both pleaded not guilty.

Evicted Man Lives In Old Car

DUART, Ont. (CP) — When Bob Taylor and his mongrel dog were evicted from their farm house last August, they moved into a wreck of a car and have refused to move out.

Mr. Taylor, 68, who says "Henry Ford's comfort isn't the best," has refused help from welfare agents in Dutton, 20 miles west of here, and says he is "not going to budge" until he and Laddie are allowed to move back on to the 50-acre farmland he once owned.

The farm was purchased by a Ridgetown man three years ago at a tax sale and Mr. Taylor was told to leave Aug. 22.

Mr. Taylor sleeps in the front seat of the rusted, compact car which has a cheap kitchen clock on the dashboard and a small oil lantern hanging from the rearview mirror.

Laddie has the back seat amid the old clothes and boxes of food.

Mrs. James Anderson, who lives a mile away from the car, takes him food and clothing. "I can't sit by and see a man live like that," she said. "At nights when it gets bitter-cold I can't sleep thinking about poor old Bob.

"But the trouble is he's so stubborn."

School Equipped By Fraud

OTTAWA (CP) — A high school principal who admitted Tuesday that he defrauded the federal government of more than $60,000 and then spent most of it on sports equipment for the school was remanded to Feb. 2 for sentence.

Arthur R. Nielsen, principal of the Viscount Alexander school at Canadian Forces Base Rockcliffe, was allowed to go home after pleading guilty in provincial court to the charge.

Evidence was that Nielsen added fictitious teachers to his staff and kept their cheques. He also inflated school enrolment to justify their hiring. The offence took place between December, 1969, and October, 1972.

After taxes, the sum amounted to $80,840.

Of this amount, Nielsen spent $28,500 on minor hockey, $17,500 on minor baseball, $7,653 for school supplies and visual aids, $1,000 for summer help and about $7,300 on himself, the court was told.

About $8,000 still is not accounted for.

Abducted Policewoman Kills Captor

CHICAGO (AP) — "Inside, I panicked, but I tried to be calm on the phone," said a woman police cadet who shot and killed her abductor early New Year's Day.

Ann Leybourne, 25, a former social worker, said she was accosted by a man near her apartment and was forced at gunpoint to drive away.

She said she finally persuaded her abductor, later identified as Robert Ellis, 36, to put down his gun. When the pair stopped in a parking lot, Miss Leybourne said, she pulled her service revolver from her purse and fired four times, killing Ellis.

Police later said Ellis had been charged in the fall of 1970 with several rapes but was freed because his lawyer successfully argued Ellis' constitutional rights had been violated.

Wilson Concrete Merges With Stanley Works of Connecticut

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Wilson Concrete Products — one of Belleville's major industries — has merged with a multi-national United States' corporation.

News of the transaction came suddenly today — in a formal announcement revealing Wilson's merger with Stanley Works of Connecticut.

Charles Wilson, founder and president of Wilson Concrete, said the move does not affect the operation of the Belleville company, one of the earliest producers of prestressed concrete in Canada. However, the announcement indicated future expansionist activity.

Wilson Concrete, with a current workforce of more than 300, has been operating in Belleville since 1950.

Stanley — best known for hand tools and builder's hardware — is a 136-year-old corporation, now a multi-national corporation with subsidiaries in 12 other countries, including Canada.

Mr. Wilson said merger negotiations had been in transaction for the past six months and were completed Dec. 27 in Toronto.

Stanley's expanded into the concrete products industry in 1971, merging with Prestressed Concrete of Colorado. Inc. the oldest prestressed building plant in the U.S.

This operation and Wilson's, says today's formal announcement, "will associate to further Wilson's activity in precast and prestressed multi-family housing, and industrial and commercial construction".

Through this association, resources available to the Belleville operation "should permit significant opportunities for its growth in the near future".

The relationship will serve to "broaden the capability", of Wilson Concrete and "accelerate" activity in Eastern Ontario and New York State building markets, said the announcement.

Stanley has been established for more than 50 years in Ontario, operating the Stanley Works of Canada Ltd., Stanley Steel Company Ltd., and Stanley Taymouth Ltd.

Jittery Parliament Opens First Session

Throne Speech Key to Future

OTTAWA (CP) — A new and jittery Parliament meets today, its 264 members unsure where or how far the coming session will lead them.

They should have a better idea after Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener reads the speech from the throne in the Senate chambers shortly after 3 p.m. EST.

That carefully worded statement of the Liberal government's legislative plans may mean life or death for Prime Minister Trudeau and his minority administration.

Crucial for Mr. Trudeau is the reaction of the New Democratic party. Its 31 members hold the balance of power in the Commons between 109 Liberals and 107 Progressive Conservatives. If they like what they see, say NDP spokesmen, they may support the government, at least for the present.

NDP Leader David Lewis and his group are to meet after today's parliamentary session in Ottawa to tell they will do. Should they join the Conservatives to vote non-confidence in the government, Mr. Trudeau and his cabinet would have to resign.

The fourth group in the House, 15 Social Credit members, lacks the power to affect the outcome.

Mr. Lewis Wednesday said the NDP decision would be based solely on the contents of the throne speech. The NDP has been pressing for new measures to curb unemployment and inflation, a boost in pensions for the aged and tighter control over foreign ownership of Canadian business.

He said the NDP course will depend entirely on the government legislative program. The NDP was not concerned with what the Conservative party and its leader, Robert Stanfield, may do to bring down the government.

NDP House Leader Stanley Knowles has said the party will try to defeat the Trudeau government and see the Stanfield forces a try if the Liberals fail to act as the New Democrats wish.

One thing the NDP demanded Wednesday was a resolution by Parliament condemning United States bombing of North Vietnamese cities.

Former Ontario Premier, George Drew, Dies at 78

TORONTO (CP) — George Drew, former premier of Ontario and former national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, died today.

The announcement was made by Wellesley Hospital officials at 5:35 a.m.

Mr. Drew, 78, was national leader of the Progressive Conservative party between 1948 and 1956. As premier of Ontario before that, his victory in the provincial general election of 1943 began an unbroken 29 years of Conservative government in the province.

Mr. Drew had been in Wellesley Hospital since Nov. 19 following a heart attack complicated by pneumonia.

His death followed by only eight days that of former prime minister Lester B. Pearson, an old House of Commons opponent, on Dec. 27. Mr. Pearson was external affairs minister during Mr. Drew's tiga as leader of the Opposition.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Drew were not expected to be completed until late today or Friday.

In a long period of public life after service in the First World War, he had a varied career as an author, lawyer, civil servant and municipal official. He was mayor of his native city of Guelph, Ont., at the age of 31.

Mr. Drew became leader of the Ontario Conservative party in 1938 and five years later toppled the Liberal government of Mitchell Hepburn. The Conservatives have been in power ever since.

After five years as premier, he took over leadership of the party nationally following the resignation of John Bracken, former Liberal-Progressive premier of Manitoba. After unsuccessful election campaigns against the Liberals in 1949 and 1953, he resigned the leadership in 1956 following a series of illnesses.

He returned to the public eye in 1957 as Canadian high commissioner in London, where he spent a successful seven years in the key post.

Mr. Drew was married in 1936 to the former Florenz d'Arneiro Johnson, daughter of Edward Johnson, then manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and the late Viscountess d'Arneiro of Lisbon. They had two children, Edward of Toronto, and Sandra, wife of London, England, banker David Scholey.

Mrs. David S. Lloyd of Toronto is the only survivor of three sisters and a brother, of Mr. Drew.

Mrs. Drew, a constant companion and hostess in a lengthy political and diplomatic life, died March 9, 1965, after a long illness.

Despite his success in provincial politics, Mr. Drew failed twice in bids to become Canada's prime minister. His almost eight years as Opposition leader in the Commons, during which the Liberals won landslide victories at the polls in 1949 and 1953, were turbulent, as was his later diplomatic career.

He was 62 when, in 1956, he made the "heartbreaking decision" of resigning after a series of illnesses and rigorous parliamentary sessions left him ailing and exhausted.

The next year he was named high commissioner to the United Kingdom by John Diefenbaker, an old colleague and leadership rival who had broken the Liberal grip on office in 1957. He stayed in London until early 1964.

His career was replete with notable exploits, two of them bitter attacks on federal Liberal governments before and during the Second World War that led to royal commissions.

One of his magazine articles led to an investigation of a 1933 defence department contract for Bren guns, a new and mobile form of machine gun. The commission recommended that munitions orders be handled by a separate defence purchasing board.

A second royal commission under Sir Lyman P. Duff held secret hearings into Mr. Drew's accusation that unbraided men were included in the Canadian expedition to Hong Kong, which fell to the Japanese on Christmas Day, 1941.

The Duff report discredited his charges, but Mr. Drew reiterated them and was charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations. Three weeks later, the charges were withdrawn.

And in 1948 the report of Maj.-Gen. C. M. Mahony, commander of British troops at Hong Kong, said the Canadian troops had arrived inadequately trained for war."

1,318 Killed In Hanoi Raids

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam announced today that a preliminary survey showed 1,318 persons were killed and 1,251 wounded by United States bombing raids on Hanoi last month.

A communique of a special investigation committee said that, in 10 days of bombing between Dec. 18 and Dec. 29, U.S. planes made more than 1,000 sorties against the North Vietnamese capital. This included 200 B-52 attacks.

It said 40,000 tons of bombs were dropped, devastating densely-populated areas.

Democrats In Senate Assail War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a White House suggestion that congressional intervention might prolong the war, Senate Democrats are in general agreement that Congress should try to end United States involvement in Vietnam if President Nixon does not.

There is increasing sentiment that Congress should act unless a settlement is negotiated by Jan. 20, when Nixon begins his second term.

Democratic senators planned to consider today a proposal by Senator Edward M. Kennedy that would make it the policy of Congress to cut off all money for the Vietnam war immediately.

The only conditions on the cutoff, adopted by Democrats in the House of Representatives Tuesday, would be release of U.S. war prisoners and safe withdrawal of remaining U.S. forces.

Senate Republicans, meanwhile, with 17 of their number absent, voted 16 to 10 to support the efforts of President Nixon to end the tragic conflict in Indochina now through a negotiated settlement.

With the war the prime topic of conversation at the opening of the 93rd Congress, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters: "Members of Congress should ask themselves if they want to be responsible for raising pseudo U.S. doubts in mind about the United States position and therefore possibly prolonging the negotiations."

Paris Talks Resume

South Vietnam Renews Its Demand for Two Sovereign States

PARIS (AP) — The semi-public Vietnam peace talks resumed today with a sharp clash between the Communists and the South Vietnamese over the October draft peace agreement.

Hanoi called for the United States to sign the agreement "personally," but Saigon denounced the draft as a "disguised victory" for North Vietnam.

Saigon's representative renewed its demand that Hanoi recognize the existence of two sovereign states in Vietnam.

Dinh Ba Thi, the Viet Cong deputy chief delegate, said these demands would eliminate the Vietnamese people's fundamental national rights recognized in the 1954 Geneva agreements, namely independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity."

Saigon Ambassador Pham Dang Lamt told the 172nd session of the semi-public Paris peace talks: "Unless they admit that their design is to achieve the reunification of Vietnam their way and to place the whole of Vietnam under their domination, the Hanoi authorities cannot fail to acknowledge that there are two distinct states of Vietnam."

The four-party talks resumed today after a two-week suspension. Their renewal was a preliminary to the resumption Monday of peace negotiations between U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho of the North Vietnamese politburo.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter told the meeting the new year should mark "the concluding phase of this protracted conflict" in Vietnam but added he did not "underestimate the problems which exist and which will face us still for some time."

The talks were suspended for two weeks during the bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area, but North Vietnam and the Viet Cong agreed Wednesday to resume them. The Communists walked out of the Dec. 21 meeting to protest the bombing and proposed the talks resume Dec. 28, but the United States and South Vietnam refused.

Hanoi also said Wednesday that recognition of North and South Vietnam as one country is the key to peace agreement, and the point was expected to be brought up again today. Saigon rejects the one-nation idea and demands Hanoi recognize it as an independent state.

Hanoi's Vietnam news agency said: "It is a universally recognized fact that the Vietnamese nation is one and Vietnam is one."

The North Vietnamese delegation in Paris said the United States position had agreed to the draft prepared by Kissinger. President Nixon's national-security adviser. The, a member of North Vietnam's politburo, in October that it "respects the independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity of Vietnam, provided for by the 1954 Geneva agreements." It demanded that the United States adhere to this.

The so-called technical teams of U.S. and South Vietnamese diplomats met again Wednesday and are reported to have considered arrangements for supervision of a ceasefire. The session lasted six hours, 50 minutes and was the longest the experts have had.

The next Wednesday night in Peking, where he saw Premier Chou En-lai. He left today, presumably for an overnight stop in Moscow.

Russell Thompson Elected Warden

PICTON — Ameliasburgh reeve Russell Thompson celebrated his 57th birthday on Tuesday by becoming warden of Prince Edward County. The eight-year veteran of township and county councils succeeded retiring warden Ross Benway, former reeve of Hillier.

Warden Thompson was elected by acclamation and escorted to his chair by two past wardens from Ameliasburgh, Harold Bonter and Earl Onderdonk.

He spoke briefly of the responsibilities facing the new council in 1973 and mentioned a new welfare administrator, Arne Nielsen of Toronto has been hired. Also past warden Ross Benway has been hired as assistant road foreman.

Improvements of county roads is planned this year and council's industrial development committee will strive for further gains.

The official county plan has been completed and a waste management study soon will be completed for Prince Edward.

"My job as your leader is to forge the council of 1973 into a progressive working machine and to see what we can accomplish," said warden Thompson.

New Council Backs Plan For Post Office Site

TRENTON — Trenton's new council has backed up the 1970-72 council on its stand on the construction of new municipal offices and parking garage facilities on the former post office site.

In a "committee of the whole session" called last night, the new council consulted with town solicitor William Weston on the status of present contracts for construction of the new $381,000 building.

At its last session, held Dec. 27, the old council received a letter from proponents of the project, signed by former councillor and automobile dealer V. H. Large. In the letter, Mr. Large said feasibility of an appeal of Ontario Municipal Board approval for the project was being investigated.

The old council voted to table the letter, ask for legal advice and wait to see what further action might come as a result of any such investigation.

Newly sworn council members learned the extent of financial damages that could be the result of any legal actions should the town call a halt to construction, that began last week.

Contractors Canada, after considering the tenders, contracts and legal specifiers of both town and Miron-Wiggers Ltd., the Trenton construction firm hired for the job, said council voted to leave any decision on it such time as an appeal is launched.

Said one councillor, "we would lose money if we stopped building. Unless it turns out an appeal is validated . . . if they have the grounds, any action now would be premature.

"All we've received has been this letter."

The Large letter reminded council that an appeal could be registered within 30 days of the Dec. 20 approval.

The OMB issued a three-clause approval, authorizing construction issuance of 20 year debentures for $381,000, and releasing the town from any necessity of going to the voters for their sanction.

During the course of last night's meeting Ronald Price, a new councillor, put forth a motion to halt construction of the new building. His motion was not seconded.

City Building At All-time High

An all-time record in the value of residential building permits was established in Belleville during the past 12 months.

City Building Inspector Grant Sickle reported today that residential building permits issued during 1972 included 176 single-family residences and 40 apartment and row house units with a value of $7,030,900.

This figure topped the 1971 city residential construction total by more than half a million dollars and nearly doubled the figure for 1970 when residential permits totalled $3,889,000.

During the year permits issued at city hall totalled 483 for all categories, with a value of $9,793,597 with $20,837 in permit fees being collected.

Major commercial construction projects during the year were the McDonald's take-out service, the Porcelorosa Steakhouse — both on North Front Street alterations to the former Victoria Avenue Dominion store for new courthouse and judges' office accommodation and Cherrey's new retail store and warehouse on North Front Street.

Institutional construction, included alterations at Belleville General Hospital, the new William Kirk School on Palmer Road and the addition to the Corby Public Library.

Major industrial construction projects included Stad Electric and the new Simpsons-Sears warehouse on Bell Blvd. west of Sidney Street.

Grand Old Man Of Manor Dead

The Hastings County native, among the oldest living Canadians, alert and active almost to his life's end, died Wednesday at Belleville General Hospital.

He had been in good health until a few weeks ago at Hastings Manor, the county home for the elderly where Mr. Bedore had spent his latter years, reported home administrator Kenneth Yorke. He was admitted to hospital in recent days.

His active and personable presence made him a key personality among the home's residents — a fact noted by Mr. Yorke.

"I believe he was the oldest man in the county — certainly in the manor. We were all heart-broken about it," said Mr. Yorke. "He was the Grand Old Man of Hastings Manor."

Although he strayed little beyond the confines of Hastings and his Marmora home town during most of his years his life's recollections spanned an epic era in man's technical progress.

Born May 9, 1868 in Marmora township — still a pioneering settlement in central Hastings — the son of Mediard Bedore and Catherine Terrion was a year younger than Confederation itself.

The British Empire had still to reach its zenith; the West was awaiting settlement; the last spike on the Canadian Pacific was 17 years away.

As a centenarian he could recall the inventions that transformed man's lifestyle — aircraft, radio, the automobile, telephone, commercial electricity.

At 101 he watched the first man walk on the moon and called it "one of the most wonderful things that ever happened."

A sawyer by trade, Mr. Bedore worked many years in the lumber business in the Marmora area.

His wife was Lillian Jones, also along with a son, Wilbert predeceased him.

He is survived by seven daughters, 21 grandchildren and, it' is estimated, close to 100 great - and great - great - grandchildren.

His daughters are: Mrs. S. C. (Margaret) Boyd, Belleville; Mrs. J. Barradell, and Mrs. J. (Minnie) Gordon, both of Florida; Mrs. F. (Ellen) Fowey, Vancouver; Mrs. R. J. (Muriel) Brophy, Montreal; Mrs. J. (Mildred) Berg, Bermuda; Mrs. C. (Merrell) Watson, Stirling.

Funeral for Mr. Bedore will be held from St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, after resting at the Bowden Funeral Home in the village. Service will be conducted by Rev. J. Lambert with interment in Marmora.

Tweed Carnival Meetings Are Set

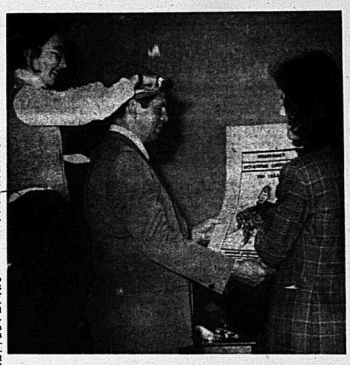
TWEED (Special) — Plans for Tweed's annual winter Carnival were begun at a recent meeting held in Hotel Tweedsmuir. Sports enthusiasts and Chamber of Commerce members were included in this gathering who drafted an initial program for the February 9, 10, and 11 event.

The meeting, directed by Chamber of Commerce president Guy B. Hughes, decided to hold a public meeting at the Hotel Tweedsmuir Jan. 3 and each succeeding Wednesday until Winter Carnival time.

All persons interested in the Winter Carnival are invited to attend this series of meetings. Volunteer workers are also needed, the meeting was told.

Program ideas were suggested, and these will be discussed during the coming week. It is hoped that a definite program will be arranged at the Jan. 3 meeting.

At the present, those present, decided there was a need for public support of the Winter Carnival, as well as a publicity campaign to advertise the event and to get snowmobile owners thinking about entering the races and other weekend activities.



Winter Carnival Time

The machine is running smoothly for this year's annual Winter Carnival. Schedules for Feb. 1, 2, 3 and 4, it will include all the features of past carnivals. Here, carnival chairman Ed McClure gets the wool pulled over his eyes by Margie Mainland while being shown a preliminary sketch of the program cover, designed and created by Gary McMurray. Toques are on sale for $2.

Downtown Association Asks City for Advance

The figure was made known by City Manager J. R. Reynolds as the board of management for the Downtown Improvement Area Association submitted its budget for 1973.

The budget proposed was for $29,000 of which $6,000 operating expenses. $10,000 for subsidization of downtown parking, $6,500 for general improvement and beautification, and $2,500 for general maintenance.

The proposal is that downtown merchants raise the $29,000 through a special levy against its members with the city acting as collector.

The Association is currently without funds, and an advance of $2,000 a month from the city is requested until the taxes were collected.

City Manager Reynolds questioned the legality of the requested $2,000 advance and also asked for council direction on continuance of hand shovelling of sidewalks in the downtown area.

He noted that council in December had directed the sidewalk shovelling at city expense until the end of the year and this had cost about $2,800.

With another three months of winter ahead, and including next December, the special snow cleaning operation could cost up to $12,000 to the end of 1973, he said.

At the request of Alderman Arthur Keegan the association's budget and request for an advance was tabled for further information.

Experimental Trapping Program Is Launched

An experimental coyote - snaring program is being launched in the Quinte-Kingston region.

As a result, an official caution is being issued dog owners in rural areas within the region.

But hunters using dogs or owners of dogs that run at large in country areas—should check locations of snares with the ministry's Napanee office.

The program, a provincial winter works project, is being carried out in areas known to be frequented by coyotes.

Designated zones are in a four - county radius of Napanee - Hastings, Prince Edward, Frontenac and Lennox and Addington counties.

Object of the experiment is to see if predators can be controlled in winter — a time when livestock is confined indoors. Wildlife officials are anxious to discover if such preventive trapping could reduce the predator threat before warm weather once more releases herds into the open where they may be more readily preyed on.

Reports of livestock predation in the region — including the Shannonville area — have increased in recent years and a number of coyotes trapped.

However, it is not certain whether the increased complaints are due to more coyotes or greater awareness by farmers that the ministry will initiate trapping programs if need is indicated.

Some $6,000 has been earmarked for the current experiment as a winter works program. Jim Stirling — area trapper, Ed Calden, forestry technician, Napanee, Fern Sandford Fleming community college, Peterborough, is working with a ministry official on the project.

Napanee Possible Riding Centre

TWEED (Special) — A proposed federal redistribution blueprint for Frontenac Lennox and Addington riding would include 15 new Hastings County townships while eliminating five Lanark Township.

The five western Lanark municipalities to be eliminated are Bathurst, North and South Sherbrooke, Dalhousie and Lavant.

In this widespread new riding Napanee, Marmora, Deloro and Madoc and Beachville will be included but Eganville, which was the riding centre in the last federal election is excluded. This would make way for Napanee to become the riding centre for another federal election.

The riding, represented by Conservative A. Douglas Alkenbrack, will take in townships of Bangor, Carlow, Cashel, Grimsthorpe, Herschel, Marmora and Lake, Limerick, Mayo, McClure, Monteagle, Tudor, Wicklow and Wollaston in Hastings County.

As well, it will include the villages of Deloro, Madoc, Bancroft, and Marmora in the county neighboring to the west.

The new plan for Ontario constituencies will be submitted to the Commons after hearings throughout the province by the boundary commission responsible for the new proposals.

Zeller's Closing

A downtown shuffle, now in progress, will mean the loss of one of Belleville's largest department stores and the inclusion of a major discount store, to be effective in the early spring.

Zeller's Department Store, a member of the downtown community for a number of years, papered its windows this past week and is closing down with apparently no plans for relocation in the city.

The manager of the store would not comment on the status of negotiations for a new Belleville outlet, saying any release would have to come from head office.

The present occupants of the building will have to be out by mid-February when the new owners, Top Discount Stores will take possession.

There is some speculation that Zeller's has plans of building in the west end of the city and others see a possible extension on the Quinte Mall.

The manager would make no comment on these alternatives.

Robert O'Brien, manager of the Top Discount Store located just north of Zeller's on Front Street, said once the store is taken over, many renovations will have to be made before they can open in.

He could not say what renovations would cost for the 6,000,000 square-foot area and explained all estimates were not in.

An almost definite addition for the new store will be a prescription pharmacy counter.

This is almost definite now we have the space," he said.

Depending on how well the store goes, there will be drastic increases in the number of staff required.

Mr. O'Brien did not say he would hire employees displaced from the Zeller's move, but said job applications would be considered.

ANAF News

By ART HOBBS

Well, that wine cost naps who first said temperance fught many centuries ago certainly knew of what he spoke for it sure does. For those who have reached the age and title of Senior Citizen will surely agree. It hardly seems much longer to wait from New Year's to Christmas than it used to seem between Christmas and New Year. Anyhow. It is hoped that you all have pleasant memories of 1972 and that you continue to be happy and enjoy good health all through 1973, as to all a Happy New Year that's bigger and better than ever.

This is the swan song of old Propaganda Pete, who hopes that over the years the ANAF news has been informative, amusing and kept you up to date in matters pertaining to the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201. When next you peruse the news it will introduce you to the incoming publicity chairman and old Pete hopes he will get the same consideration and co-operation from The Intelligencer and CJBQ Radio Station that has been extended to this correspondent and for which he is very appreciative and thankful.

It has been a busy weekend and it is hoped a jolly one with the New Year's Eve Ball a huge success with over 100 guests and members on hand for the festivities. For those who wished to attend, levees were held at the Sgts. Mess, HPER, the C.P.R Messes at Trenton, The Holland Room at the Legion and in the Tartan Lounge of Unit 201. Although a bit slippery and snowy, the weatherman was kind enough to keep the temperatures fairly comfortable with no bitter winds which helped to make it quite pleasant for traveling around. Just one more year until the next one, hope to see you.

The President is hoping for a good turnout for the first general meeting to be held Thursday, Jan. 11. Three chairmanships are being contested, Cde A. H. Burns vs Cde H. Darwin for Beverage Room, Cde W. Storms vs Cde R. Featherstone for House and Cde G. Woodhouse vs Cde K. MacLeod for Sports. Other new members on the executive are Entertainment chairman G. Denike and Publicity chairman H. Kokesh, both of whom were acclaimed. It is understood that the installation ceremony will be held on Friday Jan. 12 at 8.30 p.m., and it is hoped that Provincial President Lou Murphy will be present to conduct the installation ceremonies. All members are invited to attend and meet the 1973 executive and wish them luck. Remember, it doesn't matter who you vote for but do turn out and vote the member of your choice for these important positions and support them all for the betterment of the club.

This year has started with a small sick list and it is hoped it can be kept to a minimum all year. The two comrades in the Belleville General Hospital are J. Carr, room 511 and J. B. Boyle, room 314.

Cde J. D. Scotty Wilson has received a Christmas card from Peter Pan, the Pride of Oslo, Norway, one of the air cadets who visited here last summer. Petter thanks Scotty for the gold maple leaf pin he gave him. He says they are a popular souvenir in Norway, so Scotty has sent him 30 more.

I would like to close now with sincere thanks to all the comrades who have helped make the publicity work most enjoyable with a special mention of the hardest worker of all, my wife, Edna Hobbs, who has been responsible for decorating the display windows that have received much commendation for the years. She really has been my eyes in setting them up. Also, many thanks and real appreciation to all the splendid comrades it has been my pleasure to work on your executive in working to build up the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201 into a real club, one that is thought of most highly throughout, not only Canada, but many other countries as well, for their fine record in community work, the Youth Development plan as well as all programs pertaining to the veterans and their dependents. I finish this with a feeling that, in some small way, I have assisted in helping uphold the aims and objects of the ANAVIC and, in particular, the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201, Belleville, Ontario.

Forward Into 1973

Mayor Robin Jeffrey's plans for Belleville's continuing progress have been revealed. Taken together they should produce increased citizen involvement in the city's affairs, as well as such practical measures as a long-range program of road construction and provision of more serviced land for industry. Other objectives include further development of the Moira River environment, in conjunction with the Conservation Authority, and of the waterfront parks system.

These are all estimable ideas and we look forward to their implementation, although it must be realized that most of the proposals, if not all, are plants of slow growth.

Mayor Jeffrey said little of the long-delayed official plan or of the configuration of the new Belleville for which we are all supposedly concerned. Nothing for instance of the planning errors of the past that led for instance to establishment of high-rise apartment complexes in areas where they conflict with existing architecture.

But all that is, in fact, in the past and we are confident that Mayor Jeffrey and council will see to it that future planning concerns itself with the total environment and the existing character of the city.

Belleville, happily, is a much more lively and cosmopolitan place than it was five years ago. It still prides itself also in being one of the most law-abiding communities of its size in the province. That is not to say it is entirely free of misdemeanors, but at least it manages to steer clear of the really serious crime that plagues larger centres. It will take increasing vigilance though in the period ahead to maintain this relatively favorable atmosphere.

The "twinning" of the city with the Canadian Forces base in West Germany, was a highlight of the year past. We are wondering though if this concept might be extended to links with some city of comparable size in say New York state. We are so close to and yet so far from our neighbors across the lake. They in turn know little about us, other than those yachtsmen who come over from Rochester and make use of our somewhat limited harbor facilities here (this, incidentally, is another sphere of potential development for the city). When Hastings MP Jack Ellis was Mayor back in the mid-sixties he sent some of our city snow-clearing equipment to Oswego after it had been battered by one of the perennial "snow belt" storms of that region. Are we remembered at all down there . . . we are sure the answer is yes, but we need to renew and perpetuate such links.

Then again, there was the successful Belleville Week of a few years ago, with as guests the Mayors of cities bearing the same name as our own in two of three neighboring American states.

• • •

We think the time is ripe for another such celebration. Our bands and majorette groups deserve an additional opportunity to do their thing in weather more agreeable than what we experience in December for the Santa Claus parade. Such an occasion would offer an opportunity to invite parade groups from border communities in the United States. No one enjoys a parade more than our neighbors in the U.S., as witness the big shakeis in Pasadena, Miami and Dallas over the New Year. We need to look after our own affairs . . . but at the same time we want to reach out to others and to other communities. There has been lively evidence that we have done so in the past, as suggested, but the future beckons and we must be on the look out for more ways and means of boosting our city and being hospitable hosts.

An 'Open Winter'

Thus far it has been what old-timers call an open, winter and we imagine that, like last year, when Christmas Day dawned sunny and bright, the snow all gone from the land, the worst is yet to come. Yet we recall also a January a few years back when the temperature climbed into the low fifties. We shall see.

Ottawa No Longer Unheeding of Public

Minority Situation Has Brought Government to Heel

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — There is nothing in the whole wide free political world like a standoff election and a minority Parliament to change the previously immobile, including the Prime Minister's mind and government policy.

Just think of what has been changing in the last few weeks and what further changes are sure to be made.

The biggest and most basic change has been in the government's attitude from a take-it-and - like - it, swaggering sense of infallibility to a sorry - we-never - really - meant - it cringing feeling of inadequacy.

For months, in some cases years before the election the government in its self-assured wisdom ignored, and the Prime Minister in his unchallenged supremacy shrugged off opposition and public criticism.

Their shared attitude, the Prime Minister individually and the government collectively was all so enragingly casual.

There was the Gillingallium issue with even Liberal parliamentarians in open defiance of telling them they were going too far too fast.

Now Treasury Board President Charles M. Drury has a cooled it off and slowed it down.

There was the welfare ripoff of former Manpower Minister Bryce Mackasey's generous why - work - when - you - can-loaf-on-benefits unemployment insurance scheme which cabinet colleagues warned him was upsetting business, industry, and worse, thousands of angry taxpayers.

There was Mr. Mackasey's wildly loop - holed immigration regulations through which thousands of illegal immigrants, many of them highly undesirable, have been given. Civil service staff walked off the job in protest and former Liberal MP's said him would cost dearly in votes.

Bryce Mackasey was soon sacked, he has said in a tearful scene recorded electronically on the eve of his requested departure from the cabinet — with the brakes clamped hard on both his immigration and unemployment insurance programs.

(The tape of the former minister's farewell to power — and glory remains under lock and key in the vaults of the Manpower Department. But it will take only a question in the Commons or a motion on the House Order Paper when Parliament opens to spring it. The transcription should make entertaining reading.)

Then there was former Solicitor General Jean - Pierre Goyer's prison "reform," as it was called, emasculated by riots, slowdowns and hunger strikes, and his almost - gratuitously - soft-parole-or-holiday - leave - for - the asking system of clearing the jails.

Mr. Goyer, completely unembarrassed by paroled convicts committing new crimes, including murder and prisoners-on-leave holidaying in Spain, took his philosophy a step further with the frequent public declaration that the redemption of his prison charges was more important than protection of the lives and property of the taxpayers.

Police and the public howled in protest and worried Liberals kept telling him he had it all wrong.

But had not the Prime Minister said each member of the cabinet was responsible for his own department? And who was to tell Goyer, Mackasey and Pelletier they exceeded their cost the government the election?

Next change that has had to be Finance Minister John Turner.

Look for a hint of it in the Speech from the Throne opening the new Parliament . . . a confession that taxes are so high as to be getting out of sight . . . with cuts to come in his early - in - the - session budget.

Before the election Mr. Turner and the government, blandly uncaring, did not even bother to mention that personal income taxes are going up three per-cent in the new year.

Let the taxpayers discover it, themselves was the attitude, for what can they do about it, anyway?

Now it is going to turn out to be all a dreadful mistake. Mr. Turner will announce it at all. It was not that the government did not know about it, or was sure of itself that it could say, as did C. D. Howe, the "Minister of Everything" once did, "Who's to stop us?"

It is just that John Turner forgot about that three percent.

The changes of government heart and mind and attitude . . . they are staggering.

Vietnam Talks Resume Against Background of Unease

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

While the world hails the return of the Vietnam negotiators to the Paris peace table, there still is a nagging feeling in many parts of the globe that not all the facts have been disclosed. This has led to uneasiness whether the new talks will finally lead to an end to the unwanted war.

The White House announcement, halting bombing north of the 20th parallel, seemed to carry the hint that military hammer blows may have forced important political concessions which Hanoi previously had refused to yield.

Indeed, the fact that North Vietnam agreed to return to the conference table while publicly declaring it will carry a grudge against the United States for 1,000 years conveys a form of concession amid scenes of devastation left by the great fleets of B-52 bombers.

Undoubtedly the bombing had hurt. The destruction may have been greater than anything the North Vietnamese had previously experienced. But it appeared unlikely that this battle-hardened country is ready to yield to great political changes after one series of aerial attack.

The U.S. also suffered. The losses of these expensive bombers appeared to be far greater in this current offensive than in any previous invasion. Both sides argue over the actual numbers of planes shot down but there seems to be little doubt that the Pentagon had become worried about the mounting costs.

Probably more effective in terms of American decision-making was the growing outcry against the attacks and continuation of the war. The political situation had worsened. It was not just a case of a bitter struggle between President Nixon and such outspoken critics as Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme. Nixon faced heavy political criticism at home, particularly in a Congress dominated by the Democrats.

When his decision to suspend the bombing did not end the threat that when the new Congress convened, many barriers may be erected against the Republican administration mainly because of the deep split over Vietnam policy.

Nixon, however, has shown great determination not to go down in history as the one who surrendered in Vietnam. He has demonstrated in the past that he will not bow to political pressures though the impression left all through the presidential election fight was that the Paris peace talks were making progress.

The various reports suggest that the resumption of the Paris talks were preceded by some form of concession on both sides, a sort of minor compromise and perhaps even a hint of readiness to discuss the issues which had been rejected.

While the mystery continues, that hint of compromise remains as perhaps the most hopeful before either side decides to withdraw from Paris bargaining.

Disability Program Earns Grant

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The cost of education and Local Initiative Programs are topics guaranteed to raise the blood pressure according to where one stands in relation to them.

Education costs are, in common with other essential services subject to ever-increasing scrutiny. Unemployment is the most pressing of the problems of the day and any program aimed at its alleviation is well worth a try.

The Local Initiative Program is in the latter category. In the past some very imaginative and commendable projects have been financed under this scheme; so too, have some very questionable projects.

Obviously if unemployed people can be put to work for the benefit of the community as a whole under the LIP everyone benefits. Those employed receive the satisfaction of earning their pay, those fortunate enough to be holding down steady jobs have less provocation to point fingers at the unemployed as being some sort of community disease.

Locally one would have to agree that all the programs given the go ahead are needed and hopefully will be successful. The one area that concerns me centres around the $28,000 awarded to the excellent and humanitarian Project Help submitted by Lyle and Mary Sutherland to assist young Bellevillians with learning disabilities.

I must make it clear that I am not criticizing the program in any way but I am curious. The Hastings County Board of Education has in operation one of the most complete systems in Ontario, so they tell us.

There is evidence that our schools are equipped with the most modern educational paraphernalia that money can buy and all this has been reinforced by a program of educational specialists.

I say firmly under the impression that provision has, and is being made in our schools for ensuring that those pupils with learning disabilities receive the special attention they need. If this is so I question the present LIP; if it is not, it is not as all encompassing as it should be perhaps rather than should be taken at our educational leisure.

The introduction of the suggested program presupposes arrangements for inclusion in the present school program with all the necessary time tabling and scheduling that would be required to fit it into the normal day to day school routine.

As a layman I cannot see that this would be a full - time day ongoing program would do justice to the children for whom our situation. I have to believe that when such knowledgeable people as Mr. Sutherland and his wife, both professionals, say there is a "need countrywide for this sort of thing" that they know what they are talking about.

If the Sutherlands were able to persuade the federal government that there was a pressing need for this type of program in Hastings county it is reasonable to assume they did so because they were able to substantiate their claims when making their submission.

In the light of the foregoing it is not unreasonable then to believe of the Hastings County board of education if we have been misled as to provisions made for the education of pupils with learning disabilities. How many youngsters in this system today need this type of special attention and how much of our educational budget is being directed toward this problem.

It seems to me that if the need is as great as the Sutherlands seem to feel it is, their LIP grant is a drop in the bucket and that maybe many of our educational dollars need to be earmarked for the young sisters with learning disabilities.

Mr. Auld's Moves On The Control Of Litter

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

Environment minister James Auld has taken the first firm step towards eventual control of litter.

The minister has announced the appointment of a study group on "litter."

Because of its rather ambiguous title there has been some misconception that this body will mainly be concerned with municipal garbage and its disposal.

But mainly it will be occupied with cans, bottles, plastic and paper cartons and the other elements which comprise what today we commonly call "litter."

This group could be a body of some consequence in the future.

For though it has been appointed for only a nine-month period and has been asked to produce a report in nine months, there is little question that it will set up a permanent advisory body to the government.

And as such it can have a considerable impact.

For example there has been talk for some time of a provincial non-returnable bottles in the province.

Apparently most interests would favor this, except for supermarkets and the manufacturers of the bottles.

The government itself would like to see the end of there, or at least full use of returnable held in the court house, and in the absence of the president, R. D. Tomms, the chair was occupied by the vice - president, W. M. Mikel, KC. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hon. President, William Carrive, KC; president, R. D. Tomms vice-president, W. C. Mikel, KC; treasurer, Malcolm Wright; secretary, Charles Cameron; curator, H. Collins; trustees, Judge Deroche, Judge Frankel, Judge Wills, Lieut. Col. S. S. Lazier, E. Gus Porter, KC, Lieut. Col. W. D. Porter, KC, Stewart Masson, KC, E. J. Butler, Q. C. Thrasher and H. J. Smith; auditors, R. C. Donahue and F. G. Cushing; purchasing KC, Malcolm Wright and Charles A. Payne.

"So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God." Romans 14:12

This is a good thing to remember when we are looking for faults in others in an endeavor to excuse ourselves from personal responsibility to God. In the final accounting it's what we do with Christ and what we let Him do through us that counts.

Canada Sends 'Several' Protests To U.S. About Vietnam Raids

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday he expects a resolution opposing U.S. bombing in Vietnam will be introduced in the Commons.

He also disclosed for the first time that the government has sent "several messages" in recent weeks to the U.S. government deploring the heavy aerial bombardment of North Vietnam.

Mr. Sharp's statement to reporters seemed to reflect a change in government thinking on the bombing issue since Dec. 22, when Prime Minister Trudeau rejected a New Democrat proposal for a Commons resolution.

"Peace still seems possible and I think it would be wrong for us to sort of put our nose into it and to try and make the negotiations any more difficult," Mr. Trudeau said then.

Mr. Trudeau also reiterated the government's opposition to the bombing and said quiet action "is the only way to bring peace there."

Mr. Sharp said Wednesday he expects "that this question will come up in Parliament. I expect there will be a resolution.

But he added that he does not know how soon after Parliament's Thursday opening the resolution will be introduced whether he will introduce it himself or what its contents will be.

Asked whether the government had "condemned" the bombing in its notes to Washington, Mr. Sharp replied:

"There have been several messages about this. . . . I think the word we used is a very strong word. I think de-plore is the word."

The minister said there has been no response to the messages, which had been answered to the U.S. government at all levels".

"What we want to see by we reply is the successful conclusion of the negotiations."

The Washington-Hanoi negotiations on a ceasefire in Vietnam broke off in early December and were followed by weeks of the war's heavie bombing in North Vietnam.

Last weekend Washington announced that negotiations are to start again Jan. 8, and the bombing has been reduced.

Mr. Sharp spoke to reporters after meeting a six-member delegation representing members of the Ad Hoc Committee of Concerned Canadians on Bombing in Vietnam who came to Ottawa to submit a brief to Commons leaders.

Rev. Clarence Bauman of Toronto, spokesman for the group, said they asked Mr. Sharp to urge President Nixon to stop the bombing and sign a ceasefire agreement with terms published in October.

They also asked the minister to "indicate the moral revulsion we feel in Canada about the death and destruction" of the Vietnam war.

The minister said he "made it clear that there was no difference in view between the delegation and the Canadian government about the bombing."

"As soon as the bombing began I expressed my opposition. The prime minister has done so."

"We have been in communication with the United States government at all levels expressing our views."

But Mr. Sharp turned down the group's call for an end to exports of material that could be used in the war by the United States. Much of these exports are said under the Canada-U.S. defence production sharing arrangements of 1959.

"We look upon this as an essential part of our alliance with the United States, for the defence of North America and in the NATO alliance, and we have no intention of changing that."

Canada has accumulated a trade surplus of about $500 million under the arrangements since they took effect.

The delegation also met a group of Conservative MPs led by Claude Wagner, the party's external affairs critic. The group is to submit the issue to the Conservative caucus for decision.

Mr. MacDonald said New Democrat Leader David Lewis and Andrew Brewin, NDP external affairs critic, fully endorsed the group's call for government action.

Mr. MacDonald, whose group sponsored a petition of 125 names appearing recently in Toronto newspapers, told reporters he favors circulation of a national petition calling for a bombing halt, but that none is underway.

Many happy returns

Now, if you rent a house, rent an apartment or even a single room, instead of going to your landlord, you apply for your property tax credit when you file your 1972 Income Tax return.
And the credit works for homeowners too.

Four years ago we introduced Ontario residents to a plan that eases the property tax burden by giving a rebate.

This year we've come up with an even better idea.

It's called the Ontario Property Tax Credit Plan. And not only does it provide an increased tax credit for many people, it makes more people eligible to collect it.

Now for the first time, roomers, boarders, most university students, and the elderly will obtain benefits.

And your landlord is no longer responsible for giving you the rebate. You simply apply for your credit when you file your annual Income Tax Return.

We'll include a special form just for that purpose in your 1972 Income Tax Kit. Plus a full explanation of the plan.

If you don't receive yours in the mail by the end of January you can pick it up at any Post Office.

If you have any problems, your federal District Taxation Office will be glad to answer questions.

The Ontario Property Tax Credit Plan. We thought of it. But we'd like you to get all the credit.

Glamor of Computer Gone Now It Must Yield Results

TORONTO (CP) — Businessmen are "no longer enchanted with computers" and there become more interested in results, says Ken Dunmore, president of the Harrow Group Ltd.

The 31-year-old computer specialist said expectations of computers 10 years ago far surpassed their actual potential at that time and industry "is just beginning to put the uses of computers into perspective."

Despite these negative statements however, Mr. Dunmore feels computers have progressed as well as might reasonably be expected.

They have helped eliminate some of the more tedious jobs in society and in time may fulfil some of the "computer dreams" of the past, he said.

The Harrow Group, a subsidiary of Consumers' Gas Co., offers such services as feasibility studies, systems analysis, custom programming, computer equipment evaluation and, primarily, computer processing.

Another Consumers' Gas subsidiary, Consumers' Computer Ltd., of which Mr. Dunmore is vice-president of marketing, works with the Harrow Group in offering these services.

Clients pay for use of a central computer located in the Toronto office of Consumers' Gas and some large companies have terminals installed in their own office to feed information directly into the computer.

The cost of such services has been "drastically reduced" during the last five years as computers have become more widely used, Mr. Dunmore said. At present, his company handles accounts ranging from $200 to $80,000 monthly.

Although commercial ventures by Consumers' Gas have remained in the shadows, Mr. Dunmore said combined revenue from such companies will add significantly to that of Consumers' Gas sales in the next 10 years.

The Harrow Group has no plans for going public at this time, Mr. Dunmore said one of the reasons was because "there aren't any buyers for computer stocks like there were several years ago when all you had to do was float a computer on Bay Street and the buyers came running."

Companies involved in computer sales have "benefited greatly from the use of computers, he said.

Systems have been devised to break down a company's income in as quickly and accurately what products are selling best and which ones are lagging behind.

And because of this time-saving, Mr. Dunmore said, "a certain amount of human inefficiency in other areas can be allowed."

Twenty-four-hour cash dispensers at banks and cash registers hooked into a computer which automatically keeps track of stock inventory and sales are other current uses of computer technology.

Beef Prices Jump After Turkey Feast

There were few Boxing Day sales at most counters in Canadian retail stores, and none of them applied to beef.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press showed that beef prices, already rising slowly over preceding months, jumped sharply in the second half of the week between Christmas and New Year's—just in time for appetites jaded by the holiday turkey.

Blame for the increases is placed on a number of factors, depending on the source of the explanation.

Retailers say higher prices are due to increased bills from packing houses. Packers, in turn, blame higher live cattle prices, due to shortages on the market.

Cattlemen point to higher feed costs, making beef production more expensive.

Hamburger, a staple meat dish for many Canadians, this week ranged in price from 29 cents a pound in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to 82 cents in Northern Ontario.

In British Columbia, beef prices increased by as much as 11 per cent as the retail level in recent weeks, with butchers reporting that they still have not passed on all the increases they have had to pay.

Many retail bikes went into effect just in time to meet the shopping rush in the second half of the week between Christmas and New Year's.

Super-Valu Stores Ltd., with 85 stores throughout British Columbia, reported that their prices rose from two to 11 cents a pound while another major food retailer increased prices from four to 10 cents.

Super-Valu meat increases were: hamburger, to 82 cents from as low as 78 cents a pound; stew beef, to 1.09 from 98 cents; sirloin steak, to $1.89 from $1.79; chuck roast, to $1.05 from 99 cents; prime rib, to $1.39 from $1.29; and sirloin tip, to $1.69 from $1.59.

Sirloin steak registered the largest increase in Winnipeg, to $1.69 a pound this week from $1.39 at Canada Safeway. Winnipeg also reported comparison shopping prices, showing steers rising in price to $40 from $35, Heifers to $38 from $34.50 and cows to $28 from $27.

In Ontario, Dominion Stores Ltd. reported an increase of from one to two cents a week for the last four weeks and forecast a 1.5-cent increase next week.

The average beef prices for southern Ontario are hamburger, 88 cents, sirloin steak, $1.88, sirloin, $1.58, prime rib, $1.18, and chuck roast, 98 cents.

In Northern Ontario, based on prices reported from Sault Ste. Marie, beef sells per pound for the following: hamburger, 92 cents; sirloin steak, $1.58; sirloin tip, $1.58; prime rib, $1.22; and chuck roast, 89 cents.

Progress Reported In Teachers' Strike

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Progress in contract negotiations was reported early today in Windsor and Timmins, where secondary schools failed to open after the Christmas holidays Wednesday. But indications were that elementary schools under a third board, Essex County, would be closed for the remainder of the week.

Essex, which is a separate county, originally scheduled to reopen Wednesday morning following the Christmas vacation, remained closed because of teacher-actual board disputes.

In a statement late Wednesday, Ontario Education Minister Thomas Wells said contract talks between teachers and trustees would resume today, adding: "I am hopeful that sufficient good faith will be exhibited by all parties to achieve settlement quickly in the three centres."

The education minister said that even if secondary schools in Timmins and Windsor opened today, because of present difficulties, full programs obviously cannot be offered at the moment.

The minister said he reached his decision for the county because younger children are involved and the board has indicated that there is no way it can operate its schools under the present circumstances."

"I do not believe," said Mr. Wells, "that it would be responsible to ask that these children be in school without their class teachers in attendance."

Some 10,200 elementary pupils in rural and suburban schools are affected by the Essex County dispute. Resignations were submitted by 225 of the board's 429 teachers late in November, and became effective by the end of the year.

In Windsor, the secondary school board broke an apparent stalemate Wednesday by offering a new contract package to its teachers. The teachers responded with a counter-proposal, which the board plans to consider today.

'Creeping Protectionism' Alarms Farm Economist

REGINA (CP) — Creeping protectionism in international trade of agricultural commodities must be halted, Dr. T. G. Wardle, agricultural economist from Guelph, Ont., said Wednesday.

"If international economic problems are not resolved, political chaos could be created by economic division." Dr. Wardle told delegates to the Saskatchewan Federation of Agriculture annual meeting.

Canadians have an immense stake in the successful outcome of negotiations concerning the international monetary system, he said.

"The competitiveness of our exports in foreign markets, and of our competitors in the Canadian market, depend on the value of the Canadian dollar. Economic ease and political support for trade liberalization will not exist without equitable exchange rates."

He said that without a reformed international monetary system, the United States will ask Japan's deeper protectionism in its trade policies. Recent actions by the United States government to limit penetration of the America market were one example of ascending protectionism.

Regionalism in Europe also is increasing on an unanticipated scale and is essentially discriminatory, he said.

Babysitting Facilities Offered By Day Care Co-ordinator

By BONNIE KING
Staff Reporter

With the aid of a Local Initiative Grant, Mrs. Annie Pearson of Belleville has formed a day care nursery with babysitting services supplied.

Through her day care supervising job this past summer, Mrs. Pearson, when applying for her present day care centre grant, acknowledged the babysitting service as an urgent necessity for the Belleville area.

Miss Lee McDavitt began a Canada Safety Council Babysitting Program this past summer and Annie assisted by answering all babysitter requests by phone.

That summer program has dissolved and now, Annie will continue.

"I receive daily phone calls from concerned parents needing babysitters for pre-school errr especially. Many parents work shifts from 3 p.m. to 12 p.m., or need reliable weekend, evening or two-week babysitters.

Presently, there are 13 qualified Canada Safety Council Babysitter Certified sitters on Annie's list. But these are high schoolers and many of the babysitter requests are not fulfilled. Mrs. Pearson has also included on her list, students from Loyalist College taking the Early Childhood Program and Mental Retardation Course.

Miss Pearson also said the Canada Safety Council Babysitting course is the best one available for those interested in caring for the child. This thorough course is short and includes: meal preparation, caring for the convalescent, infant care, housekeeping, warming and testing the baby bottle.

The babysitter's rates are entirely up to themselves and their parents.

"From the amount of phone calls received, infant care is the most wanted babysitter request."

Mrs. Pearson has also learned from parents that babysitters can be too negligent. Babysitter priorities are: experience with certain age groups and their location in the city.

Annie keeps a map handy when taking sitting job requests by phone and gives a general proximity for the parent.

When she has chosen a sitter who fills the request, she supplies name and number. The rest is between the sitter and the parent.

It is usually easier for the babysitter to come to the home. Annie would also like to see male babysitters on her list.

Using the sample of an 11-year-old boy charge, a male sitter would be better qualified than a 13-year-old girl. For the 11-year-old male, boy sitters usually have more control.

The phone number where those interested in jobs or sitters is 968-6002 temporarily until Mrs. Pearson moves her nursery to a bigger location.

Feelings and Songs Make Musician's 'Happiness Tree'

By JOANNE MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

Brian Austin might agree with Bob Dylan that a poem is a naked person.

Brian Austin feels that "music is what I really want."

Having recently appeared at the Green Door, Quinte Hotel, Belleville, Brian Austin 22, will continue working "on the road" to pay bills and remind himself of what it's really like.

As he puts it, "it's all exposure and experience" From his experiences he composes many of his own songs, his inspirations ranging from locations, to people, to his girl friend.

Is there a secret to public exposure of sensitivities?

Part of it, Brian says, is the urge to give people "all you can,—your soul-and heart and your feelings."

Originally a classically-oriented musician, and band member through high school Brian Austin is now a solo musician, who uses no electrical equipment for the natural sound. Song words are important also and he mentions Eric Andersen and Tim Hardin among his favorites.

The difficulty with bar work is often that an audience is unappreciative of words, feelings and sensitivities. This can result in complete introversion on stage, catering to the audience, or then, finding the few individuals who "can really get into the music." Brian also said that if only one person enjoys and feels the music, it's worth it.

"Being oneself on stage is of prime importance and the ability to express that self is equally important."

Brian Austin explains that he is striving to get ahead in whatever way he can as a musician.

Does he fear anything? — "only losing my voice — and my sensitivity."

What are the dreams of a musician who wishes to express himself and "live his work," without compromising Brian Austin wants to establish himself in a "strong" coffee house with "two or three people backing me up." (He appears regularly in a Tuesday coffee house.) Concert work and recording are other ambitions.

"I'd like to sing all my own songs to a sensitive audience, to people who understand sensitivities." That might be one of the branches of the Happiness Tree Brian Austin mentions in one of his original songs.

Song-writing Due Create Together, But Apart

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Modern-day song writing, at least for Montreal composer Marty Butler, is not the keypecking, note writing process that had frequently been depicted in the movies.

Nor is today's song-writing partnership as exemplified by Butler and his lyricist partner Bob Bilyk two men glaring at each other over a scattering of papers filled with musical scribblings.

Butler hums or sings nonsense words to his melodies onto a cassette tape and mails it, along with suggestions of a possible rhyme-scheme for the lyrics, to Bilyk who lives in Toronto.

Sometimes, Butler may write the complete song, music and lyrics, and put both their names on it, or a song credited to both might be entirely composed by Bilyk.

Both also retain a freedom to write entirely for themselves and take all the credit individually.

It's an easy-going, friendly partnership that has resulted in their being tagged the Burt Bacharach Hal David songwriting team of Canada.

Butler, who recently stopped over in Kitchener on a promotional tour, recalled that initially when Bilyk had suggested a partnership in which each included the other's name on their songs, whether or not they combined in writing them, "I thought he was trying to con me into something."

That was close to a decade ago when both were students at Montreal's Sir George Williams University. Since that time the partnership has produced a couple hundred songs, probably the best-known being Fly, Little White Dove, Fly, the international hit recorded by The Bells.

Butler has more recently scored a personal success with a song called Can't You Hear the Music, which was chosen as the best song of a Canada-wide songwriting competition that drew more than 3,000 entries. Butler received $10,000 in prize money, sang the song himself on a national television special and has a single recording of it currently getting a fair amount of airplay.

Hearing one's own compositions sung by others "is quite a proud feeling," Butler said.

"Also, there's quite a bit of satisfaction coming out of recording my own material."

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONWELL

Can sick people do without sympathy?

YES; sympathy runs about neck and neck with their ailment as the most expendable factor as far as most patients are concerned. If a sick person could have any wish he wanted—other than good health—he would probably ask for understanding from his family and anyone else concerned about him. If people understood him, the pallest feels, they would care about how his illness affects him —and how it has changed their lives.

Are teenagers too cynical?

NO, but no one can blame the adolescents if they seem turned off about their ultimate future. Full of hope, teenagers eagerly look forward with idealistic fervor until they "catch it" from all sides. The realization then dawns on them that even with their enthusiasm, they face an impossible task. As if that weren't enough to make them cynical, teenagers are beset with the self-doubt that is an integral part of growing up.

Should a husband accept nagging?

YES, if he has become so third-skinned that he doesn't even realize his wife is nagging. Yet she can be deriving benefit from persistently keeping after her husband to do something. Perhaps such a wife regards nagging as her own particular way of asserting herself; and if her husband is good-natured about being nagged, well, maybe even he would think that his wife isn't interested in staying married if she doesn't nag.

Ann Landers
Parents Concerned Over Daughter's Wanderings

Dear Ann Landers: I just had a terrific argument with our daughter. Here's the situation. Linda is 19, a junior in college. She works part-time, owns her own car, and is usually good about letting us know her whereabouts. Yesterday she had a day off from school, left the house at 8 a.m. to "do some things."

By 10 p.m. my husband and I became worried and I commiserated the unpardonable sin. I called two of her friends to ask if they knew where Linda was. At midnight she came in all smiles—couldn't understand our concern. She said she had driven to another state to visit her boyfriend and she didn't tell us in advance because she was afraid we might not approve.

We feel it would have been no more than a gesture of consideration to have telephoned us at some time during the 16-hour interval. Up until this time we have always asked our children to list their plans on a slip of paper and leave it at the telephone.

Are we old-fashioned parents? Are we overly protective? Are we off base? What are your views?—J.S.

Dear J.S.: A 19-year-old college girl who works part-time and owns her own car should not have to worry about parental consent to drive to another state to visit her boyfriend. She should be sufficiently mature and independent to tell her parents of her plans in advance—long she should be thoughtful and considerate enough to phone them from the road and say, "I'm OK and on my way home."

Dear Ann Landers: When my friend's friend showed me some lovely china she had inherited from her mother and grandmother, I admired one platter in particular, and said, jokingly, "You can give this to me on my wedding anniversary."

Well, Ann, on our anniversary that platter arrived, beautifully wrapped—and I thought, "How generous of her!"

The next day, to my complete astonishment, the woman phoned me and asked if I'd mind returning the platter. It seems her children were unhappy that she had given it away. She told me to take my time and think it over.

We've been friends a long time, Ann, and I don't know what to make of it. I'm sure no matter which way I decide, our friendship will never be the same. I'd appreciate your advice.—L.B.

Dear L.B.: Obviously your friend did not give you the platter with a full heart. If she had, the children's comments would not have mattered. Certainly you would not enjoy the platter after you had been asked to return it. So, do so at once, with good comment.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to say a word to "Mother In Distress."—the woman who was upset because a Gypsy palm reader told her daughter she had a short lifeline and not to put off doing the things she wanted to do because she didn't have much time left.

I, too, have a short lifeline and was told by a palm reader that I would not live longer than one-third the natural life span. I was also told that the two criss-cross lines below the second joint of my index finger on my right hand foretold two marriages.

I am nearly 84 years old and my husband and I celebrated our 60th wedding anniversary last month. What do you think of that, Ahn Landers?—Daily Reader

Dear Dr: I think palmistry is a lot of horsefeathers and I appreciate your testimony. As I said before, if those Gypsies could predict the future, they would not be sitting in drafty tents reading palms for $2 a pop. They would be on Wall Street cleaning up.

Women Who Smoke Increase Heart Hazards

By DORIS CLARK

Many claims are made about cigarette smoking, mostly depending on the person making them. Some, in spite of evidence to the contrary, make the excuse that smoking is in some way good for them.

The latest reports indicate that women are catching up with men in the incidence of death from heart attack, an increase that seems to be related primarily to a higher rate of cigarette smoking, according to a New York researcher.

His study also showed that women who smoked heavily died younger. Among nonsmokers who died unexpectedly of heart disease, the average age was 67, while it was 63 for heavy smokers — those who smoked more than 20 cigarettes a day.

Dear Doris: My husband's widowed mother expects him to run to her aid whenever they want him. And he does just that. As a result he works very hard and we do not even have a Sunday off. He seems put out if he has to take the children to Scouts or me to the dentist.

The mother and daughter are trying to run their farm by themselves, but can't get off and could retire; but all they think of is work and make money.

Now we have had a row. I packed my bags but the children were so hurt; they said all they wanted was for Mum and Dad to be together. He says I can go but the children stay. He has clearly shown he will stick by his mother against me but admits they could not bring the children up or do as well as I do with them.

I could not support them alone. I need outside help. — Frantic.

Dear Frantic: Outside help is right. You cannot see the forest for the trees.

These farm women feel they have a mortgage on the sun and the weather around. And he is used to their domination and hard luck appeals to this as they have too.

They are reacting harshly to life — so much so that they cannot have a happy relationship with any interloper — namely you! So the children get the brunt of it all.

For moral courage to either claim your husband or to act up separately for the sake of your children, consult your caseworking agency.

Dear Doris: The philosophy of the poem If You Think You Can is extremely good. I read it years ago and had forgotten about it until you mentioned it. I would like to share it with my children. — Mother Molly

Dear Mother: The longer I live the more I think it's true that "If you think you are beaten, you are" and — "You've got to think big to rise — and so on.

Poetry has a way of pointing up some of the things we are apt to forget. I used to have a friend who said "Thoughts are things". In essence, she had a whole world of philosophy there.

Japanese Bonuses Big

TOKYO (AP) — It's bonus time again, and Japanese employees are receiving a windfall that totals about $15 billion.

Most workers receive bonuses at mid-year and the year-end.

It is not quite clear how all this started, but these periods are traditional for gift-giving in a nation which makes the custom an essential part of life and manners.

From small amounts, the bonuses have grown to staggering proportions. Most employees calculate the bonus-giving potential of a company when considering a job.

In December the government than paid its employees 720 billion yen, 20 billion more than a year ago. It takes about 300 yen to equal a dollar.

Counting government and private enterprise, the national total comes to 6¼ trillion yen or $15 billion.

The bonus system goes all the way up and down the line, from government leaders and company presidents to the lowest messenger boy.

Among laggards are the industries with pollution woes, which face serious financing problems to control their wastes, and iron and steel companies, currently earning less

Minds Changed

Korean Veterans Will Keep Medals

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — A group of about 80 Canadian Korean War veterans who volunteered to go to North Vietnam to rebuild schools, hospitals and homes destroyed by war will likely disband later this month, says Gerald McKinney.

Mr. McKinney, chairman of the Canadian Committee of Korean War Veterans, said in an interview Wednesday members may join the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, a United States group.

Earlier, the Canadian veterans said they would return Korean war medals to Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener to protest U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. However, Mr. Mckinney said, the group has changed its mind.

"We were on the verge of doing this . . . but didn't think it through completely, medals are a very personal thing earned on the field of battle," Mr. McKinney said the group, founded only last week, sent a letter to U.S. Senator Edward Kennedy asking for support as well as letters to the Russian and Chinese embassies in Ottawa, seeking help in getting into North Vietnam.

Practical considerations of going to Vietnam changed the minds of most of those who volunteered, he said, but they still support the cause.

"We didn't count on all the publicity that happened," he said.

Insurance Firms Told To Publicize Payments

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario department of insurance has warned automobile insurance companies to advise policy holders they are entitled to refault medical payments if injured in car accidents.

G. E. Grundy, superintendent of insurance, advised all insurance companies in the province that the Ontario Insurance Act can be invoked against companies which fail to notify policy-holders of the benefits.

Under the standard policy sold in Ontario, injured policy-holders are entitled to receive promptly limited accident benefit payments from their own insurance company, regardless of who was at fault in the accident.

Payments range from a minimum of $3,000 death benefit to loss-of-wages benefits of $70 weekly.

Mr. Grundy said there have been several complaints that companies are not providing claimants with necessary information to make a claim.

The act requires insurance companies to furnish the necessary forms to a person to whom insurance money is payable.

Made-to-order Licences Popular With Motorists

TORONTO (CP) — Made-to-order licence plates appear easily are the first fad of the new year.

Officials of the Ontario ministry of transportation and communications said Wednesday that 13,000 persons to date have paid an additional $25 to have their new car licence plates made with the letter and number combinations of their choice.

The plates that year are made up of three letters followed by three numbers and it's the first time made-to-order plates have been available.

Government Will Seek To Limit Death Penalty

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has decided to seek an extension of the five-year partial ban on capital punishment, but has yet to make up its mind on whether to apply hanging as a penalty for some additional types of murder.

Solicitor-General Warren Allmand said Wednesday the government will ask Parliament for an extension of the ban, but it would not necessarily be identical to the one that ended Dec. 29.

Under that law, approved by Parliament for a five-year trial period in 1967, only the murders of police officers and prison guards faced hanging.

Mr. Allmand, who himself is opposed to capital punishment, did not say when the matter will come before the Parliament that opens today, nor how long the government will seek to extend the ban.

"The legislation still has to be worked out, so we're considering many alternatives," he said.

He said the minority Liberal government's request for an extension may provide "variations" to the original one.

Non-collection of Tax 'Purely Administrative'

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau described as "purely administrative" Wednesday a decision not to collect immediately from a three-per-cent personal income tax increase which came into effect Jan. 1.

The increase results automatically from the expiration Dec. 31, 1972, of a three-per-cent personal income tax reduction granted in 1971 when Edgar Benson was finance minister.

Employers have been told to continue with income tax deduction granted in 1971 when Edgar 1972.

Interviewed after a meeting of the Liberal caucus, Mr. Trudeau said the decision not to collect the tax was made to facilitate the filing out of personal income tax forms and to reduce complications which might arise in administrative procedures.

Details on what the government will eventually do about the increase will be contained when a new budget is presented to Parliament, he added.

Permitting the reduction to expire has been opposed by both the Conservative and New Democratic parties.

Welland Blast Kills Man

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — One man was killed and five injured Wednesday in an explosion at a steel products plant here.

Jacques Grenier, 50, of Welland, an employee of Atlas Steels Ltd., was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

Norman Murphy, 28, was in critical condition with burns to 80 per cent of his body. Mr. Murphy is an employee of an outside contracting firm.

Ray McMahon, 31, and Ronald Freema, 22, both of Welland and employees of Atlas Steels Ltd., are in satisfactory condition in hospital. Two other men were slightly injured and treated at the company's first aid centre.

Officials of the company, a subsidiary of Rio Algom Ltd. of Canada, refused to speculate about the cause of the explosion.

Bata, Union Talk Again

Conciliation talks between management and union spokesmen for workers at Bata Shoe resumed in Belleville today in what a labor representative indicated was a more relaxed mood.

Negotiations appeared taking a turn for the worse two weeks ago when organizers for the Boot and Shoe Workers Union — bargaining agent for 700 of Bata's 1,250 — charged the company with bad faith. Strike action was indicated as a possibility.

Since that time, however, there has been "another small meeting" between company and labor bargainers and "we are talking again," said Ian Reilly, union international representative.

"There has been a slight improvement in the climate," admitted Mr. Reilly as he led a union delegation into a new conciliation session at Belleville's Four Seasons Hotel today.

Both sides in the negotiations were scheduled to meet with provincial labor ministry conciliator G. L. Greenaway in closed talks — latest meeting in a series since the last work contract expired last October.

Major contract clause — which caused the pre-Christmas rancor among union officials — involves incorporation of work incentives based on various formulas into one system.

Telling It Like It Was

Hennegan Rush, 82-year-old Stoco-area native, recalls times and events from a community's past for Pat LeSage. The Tweed schoolteacher has organized a project aimed at publishing recollections of area's senior citizens which has drawn a federal Local Initiative Program grant.

'People History' to Be Recalled

TWEED — "I remember," says Hennegan Rush. "I was five years old when Laurier came in as prime minister. From then on everybody smiled.

"From 1890 until then — my father used to tell us — times were very tough."

A sprightly 82, Mr. Rush is recording his own impressions of what nostalgically has come to be called Canada's happy time — an era of boom and expansion yet tranquil life styles, coinciding with the arrival of the Laurier government and the 20th century.

His memories are personally - tinted, coined in his own phrases, reflecting the local environment in which he was raised hereabouts — times not far removed from the last days of settlement.

As such, his narratives are ideal for inclusion in a unique undertaking by a young school teacher here which has won federal government support.

Tales of the Past is the working title Pat LeSage gives her project — an attempt to set on record memories of local elders, to be published later this year in booklet form.

Its framework will be fairly free, to include not only personal memories but the narratives once recounted to today's senior citizens by their elders. From the combination of reflection and recollection what likely will emerge is something of a local history tinged with fledgling folklore.

"It's going to be a history, but with a personal viewpoint of events that have taken place," explains Pat LeSage. "We're really interested in the attitudes and views of the people involved, to point up different outlooks in the times."

The project had its genesis last year when Pat — an elementary separate school teacher who has worked 10 years in various parts of Canada — says she decided to take a break from her profession and seek a new venture. Returned home here she roughed out the idea for the folk history in her mind.

The federal government by then had renewed its Local Initiatives Program and was requesting submissions. Pat took her ideas to the Canada Manpower Belleville centre which processes LIP applications. She received encouragement, she says, from Manpower counsellor Susan Broll in shaping the project for a grant application.

Recently, approval of a $9,100 LIP grant came through.

The project provides work for two others. Assisting Pat on the project will be Baden Vance, 24, a local university student and housewife Margaret Rashotte. All three will be responsible for taping interviews with local senior residents, transcribing and editing the recordings into publication. This must be in booklet form since they must work with an early-summer deadline. LIP grants expire May 31.

"We don't have the time or funds for a big book — even though it might merit it," she says.

Pat's personal community ties provide a working basis for the project. Her great-grandfather first came to this area when it was being opened up by lumbering. Tales of times gone by have intrigued her since childhood when recounted by her father, says Pat.

Talks with Hennegan Rush — whose grandfather immigrated from Ireland in 1838 to finally settle in neighboring Hungerford township — k also fostered her interest in a historic record.

Mr. Rush, whose flowing conversation and puckish wit bares his Irish ancestry, vividly evokes the spirit of times past with anecdotes.

Lively times: "I remember when there'd be a political victory. They'd light a bonfire and pass liquor in a 10-quart pail with a tin dipper. No small glasses then. And the fun of it was nobody got drunk or quarrelled."

Hard times: "As a small child I remember the butcher coming to our place and loading up fat hogs at three cents a pound . . ."

"There are a lot of people in Tweed and around here like that," says Pat, "whose people have been here a long, long time, who can tell stories of the days past."

She believes up to 30 people may be interviewed before the project team is satisfied it has sufficient material for selection.

A final title for the booklet may emerge as the quotes are assembled. Publication may be some time in early June.

"I'm really convinced it's serving a worthwhile purpose, that something good will come out of it," says Pat. "These are things that never would have been recorded unless somebody had the time to do it."

Fire Contained

TRENTON — Children and matches are believed to be the cause of a small fire at the 11 Gould St. residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ketcheson.

At 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, firemen were called by Mrs. Ketcheson. They found flames to be contained in a bathroom.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis today said the origin of the fire appeared to be a small waste basket.

The nine firemen extinguished the fire, mainly centred in in the bathroom, and set up smoke ejectors to clear the rest of the house. Total damage was estimated at $1,000.

UIC Department Moving to Metro

The public-relations department of the Unemployment Insurance Commission is leaving Belleville and the Regional Office located here.

In an announcement this morning by regional public relations director Noel Stockton, he said the office is being transferred to Toronto where the UIC feels the "bulk of the activity is."

The staff of two will be moving Jan. 15 to augment a standing staff who until now have handled "inquiries and some public relations for the metro area." Mr. Stockton will continue handling the public relations of the Ontario Region from a 180 Wellington Street office.

From senior management staff, Mr. Stockton was told the reason for the move was based on the ready access to all major news media in Toronto.

While there are no immediate plans, a spokesman for the UIC indicated it was possible that other departments could follow suit in the move.

The same spokesman said there were other departments that could move but there were "no immediate plans for any such move."

The same reasons for moving the public relations department to Toronto could apply to the other departments, agreed the spokesman.

A lease on the building would make it impractical for a mass move at this time. Though no-one could comment regarding the stipulations of the lease, it was intimated that it would be effective at least another 10 to 15 years.

One Charged, One Sought

A warrant has been issued for the man's younger brother, also wanted for break and enter with intent to steal.

Simon Pierre Martell, 18, of Bayview Trailer Court was arrested at his home early this morning. Police are searching for his brother, Michel Robert Martell, 16.

Driver Charged After Collision

A Belleville man was charged with careless driving following a three-car chain collision on North Front St. Wednesday night.

One passenger, Debby Ward of 10 Eastwood Cr., was treated and released at Belleville General Hospital after she complained of pain from the impact.

Charged was Joseph Deshane, 21, of 23 Brassey St., whose car smacked into the rear of the vehicle in which Miss Ward was driving. A third car, in front of Miss Ward's and driven by Dale Washburn of 15 Pepper Ave., was also struck as it attempted to turn left onto Valleyview Cr.

Interest Increasing In Mohawk Language

TYENDINAGA RESERVE— Language is a key element in cultural identity.

David is now in the midst of his opening term as the first full-time teacher of Mohawk to public school youngsters on this reserve where he was born and raised.

It was a task he hastened back from Ottawa to assume after the project was launched last fall by the reserve council.

The course is the latest product of revitalized interest in their culture which has been gathering momentum among the Mohawks in recent years. It's a process that has included increased emphasis on language, native arts and crafts and other aspects of Mohawk culture.

Although many still know Mohawk, English for years has been the first language on the reserve — an evolution attributed to various causes. Among them was the fact the early school system introduced by the white man discouraged the native tongue.

The young teacher says the people themselves also contributed to the decline, since they were the ones who stopped speaking the language and encouraging its use among children. Inter-marriage also was a weakening influence, he believes.

But, he says frankly, while he has his own theories as to why its usage dwindled, he "could not care less as to why the language stopped.

"There are still people able to speak it . . . My aim is to get these people to use it again and to teach the children to use it."

David's own interest in his native tongue was kindled while a young teenager, before he became involved with what he describes as the "process of cultural pride".

Neighbors included an elderly couple who spoke only Mohawk and "I was intrigued with the language".

He became a self-learner — a course that's still in progress. Even now, he estimates it may be another two or three years before he considers himself fluent.

He was still a high school student — at Moira Secondary — when he got his first teaching job. In 1970 he was pressed into service as an instructor when the reserve council instituted night school courses in Mohawk — part of the move to cultural restoration.

By that time, he also had become immersed in the broader aspects of his native culture — something he assumes as a natural heritage to enjoy, not merely boast about.

He explains his attitude this way: "I don't like to tell people I'm proud I'm Indian. If I have to tell them that then I'm a hypocrite, because there must be something wrong with me if I have to put up a facade.

"I enjoy being Mohawk. I am Mohawk by birth. That's my nationality and my heritage. I'm Canadian because I live in this country."

After high school graduation in 1971, David went to work for the Indian affairs ministry, on the staff of its newspaper, Indian News.

As a student, he discovered in Mohawk "a beautiful language" in many instances "more descriptive" than English, more closely allied to thought patterns. (For instance: To say in English something is interesting, does not automatically mean it possesses something of interest.)

As a teacher he finds his students response to Mohawk "very, very good".

The youngsters now learning will be able to speak the language "in years to come. Whether or not it becomes the first language on the reserve it's hard to say," the young teacher submits.

As a parallel development he also would like to see Mohawk used more frequently in reserve social activities. At one time even, he recalls, church services were in the native language.

But there could be other beneficial side affects for school students of the current course: It will prompt greater appreciation of other languages, David believes.

"I feel that the children in public school now learning their own language will find in high school it is easier to learn another language, like French for instance," he says.

Highrise Protest Follows Story on St. Agnes Manor

Not the loss of a historic building but the promise of a highrise development united East Hill residents in protest Wednesday night.

St. Agnes Manor, built by lumber king Billa Flint in 1860, located on the corner of Ann and Bridge Streets is being torn down by owner Ted Schwabb of Robin Enterprises, making way for a 79-unit apartment high rise.

The Manor, in recent years has been turned into an apartment building, housing 21 tenants. Its senior tenant has lived there for 33 years. All have received notice to be out of the building in 30 days.

East Hill residents, centred in the Bridge Street area, after reading a report of the proposed development in Wednesday's Intelligencer, took up arms to fight the development.

Under the leadership of Dr. David Lintern, a new practitioner to Belleville, the hastily - formed citizens group is not so concerned with the historical aspect or the need of present tenants, but the dread of a highrise building in what they consider "the most beautiful part of Belleville".

"We are not for the retention of the manor, but in favor of some development more in keeping with the general atmosphere of the neighborhood," said the doctor, speaking for what he termed "a good number of people".

"We have been in touch with the mayor and several aldermen and intend taking a petition to formally oppose the move," he said.

The doctor said he didn't know whether the document would be presented to the owners of the property.

In a telephone interview, Mayor Robin Jeffrey said she would be contacting principals of the development firm and asking that they come down town to fully explain proposals.

"I'll want to know whether the building is going to blend in with the surroundings, which architects have been compissioned and whether approvals have been obtained for construction," the mayor said.

"When the neighborhood is upset, they (developers) should be concerned," said Mayor Jeffrey. "I want to know more about it and I am sure other councillors feel the same way."

He Rescued The Mails

Barry Brownlee, 18, receives $25 cheque from Belleville postmaster Roy Wainwright yesterday. The reward followed his discovery of stolen mail in a ditch near his Corbyville-area home last year.

Saved Mail, Rewarded

Yesterday, the 18-year-old Corbyville-area high school student was better off by $25 — a token of appreciation from postal headquarters in Ottawa.

What happened was this:

Dec. 3, 1971, five bags of first class mail fell from an insecurely-locked postal truck out of Toronto as the vehicle headed along Moira St. West to Belleville post office. Eyewitnesses told police two men had pounced on the bags, thrown them into an old car and hastened off.

Investigations failed to turn up any trace of the missing mail bags — until Dec. 16.

That's when Barry was walking home along the River Road a quarter-mile north of Corbyville. He paused, as usual, to scan a spot in the ditch in which he usually looked for muskrats. His eye caught a patch of cloth and, clambering down, he hauled out four mail bags.

April 3 this year — nearly four months after he had turned over the mail bags to police and post office authorities — he was walking by the same spot and pointed out the scene of his discovery to friends.

Then, 30-40 yards away the group noticed something strange in the ditch — the fifth mail bag.

All the bags had been opened, but no mail was missing as far as postal authorities could determine, Belleville postmaster Roy Wainwright said yesterday, as he officially handed the $25 cheque to Barry.

Nonetheless, discovery of the mail bags had prevented complications for the post office.

If the bags had lain undiscovered for any length of time after the spring runoff, deterioration would have set in. Ink on the letters would have washed off, and identities obliterated, making the mail impossible to trace, said the postmaster.

"It was just a sharp eye that saved that mail," he said.

"Barry, in his final year as an electronics and electricity student at Quinte Secondary School, said he has just started saving for higher tuition. The $25 would be earmarked to help pay for studies in electronic technology at a Toronto technical college.

Quinte Girls Work For Success

Seven year old Elizabeth Marley, who is going into her fifth year of skating, will be going through compulsory figures and free style skating in the pre-juvenile competition at the Canadian Figure Skating Association's Eastern Ontario Sectionals January 5.

Elizabeth is joined by eight-year-old Karen Shaw in the pre-juvenile section in which "there are easily 14 or 15 clubs represented" according to Adrienne Ciesiewski, director of the Kingston Skating Club and chairman of the competition.

There were over 150 competitors will see the Quinte club's 13 year-old Marta-Lee Foxall enter the juvenile and the dance competition. The Marta - Lee and Jed English skating couple follow in the footsteps of Patsy Jean Allore and Michael Fitzgibbon's who went to the CFSA Canadians Championships two years ago. "The juvenile and pre-juvenile categories are to give the youngsters experience in the competitions," said Ciesiewski.

The young ladies entering the Kingston Sectionals can move no higher in the competition as only novice, junior and senior skaters are eligible to go on to the Canadian finals held in Vancouver this year.

The Belleville club may produce other able skaters as Al Reid, president of the Quinte Figure Skating Club, commented that "this has developed into more of a work-out club, as opposed to simply a pleasure skating club. The club's membership has stayed around 200 for the past three years and so one of the kids attend summer schools. So they end up skating nearly three quarters of the year. Gordon Cressland, one of our five instructors, runs such a school in Oshawa."

The highlight of the three-day trials will be the exhibition solo of Lynn Nightingale, a member of the Ottawa's Minto Figure Skating Club. The 16 year-old skater won the junior Canadian championship last year, but will be competing in the Canadians as a senior this year, according to Ciesiewski.

Western Tire Hopes for Tourney Title

By AL ZABAS
Staff Sportswriter

Western Tire juvenile centre Peter Smrke has played organized hockey for 10 of his 17 years and still does not tire of it. At one point in this year's season Smrke played "approximately 18 games in 14 days" between the juveniles and the Metro Junior "B" Bobcats.

"It's up to me," said Smrke of the grueling pace, "I don't have to play if I don't want to, but I like hockey so why not play as much as you can?"

Smrke will get ample opportunity to see further ice time Sunday as Western Tire will host their annual Juvenile Invitational Tournament in a double knockout A and B series eight team competition.

Oshawa, Belleville's first-round competitor, has a "good team" according to the coach scoring centre, "but if we play the way we can, concentrate on position, forecheck and backcheck well, we can beat them.

"Our biggest problem is positional play in our own end," observed Smrke, "we've been scoring enough to win games otherwise. The responsibility rests equally with the forwards and the defense. We've got to play as one as being at fault."

The team had another problem earlier in the season according to Smrke, when his then centred Paul Ackerman and Kevin Joudrey.

"Our line was scoring all the goals and we needed more ballance on the other lines. Kevin was switched over to centre Wayne Joudrey and Greg Duffy. Since the line change, our line's goal production might have been cut down, but I feel it has helped the scoring become more even."

Though the tiremen's lines have been more evenly balanced "the past six or seven games" according to Smrke, the first year juvenile still leads the team in scoring statistics with 22 goals and 21 assists.

Accounting for his own high goaltending pace Smrke said that "for the past 18 games I've been more successful because I'm concentrating on finding the holes. Some guys go in and shoot blank and hope to get a clean shot and a goal. My big problem before was that I wasn't concentrating on the goalie when I got the chance."

Smrke's attributes part of his scoring success to his wingers Gorgan and Ackerman who "set up some of the goals I got." The occasional Belleville Bobcats call-up has scored 14 goals over the past seven Western Tire outings, five of which were marked up against Montreal's Dollard Des O'meaux juveniles at the Kingston tourney last week.

Czechs Cinch Tourney

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Personal pride will be all that's at stake tonight when Prague Selects of Czechoslovakia play Kingston Aces.

The Selects clinched the title Wednesday night in the six-team Ontario international hockey tournament with a 6-1 victory over Tisura of Sweden.

The victory, before 2,138 fans in Kitchener, was the fourth in a row for the Czechs. Tonight's game against Kingston of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series will be the final one in the tournament for the Czechs.

A loss for Prague would at worst leave it tied for top with Galt Hornets and Moscow Dynamos. However, the Czechs still would be declared tournament winner since they have beaten both Galt and Moscow in the series.

In Wednesday night's only other action, Moscow scored the first six goals and then coasted to an 8-5 w nover Orillia Terriers in an exhibition game which did not count in tournament standings.

The Prague-at-Kingston game is the only one scheduled tonight. Friday, Sweden is at Owen Sound against the Orillia Terriers and, in an exhibition game, Moscow plays Belleville at Belleville.

Scoring for Prague Wednesday were Vladimir Martinec, Richard Farda, Vaclav Nedonansky, Julius Haas, Bob Stastny and George Novak. Ake Soderberg scored for the Swedes.

Picking up two goals each for Moscow were Mikhail Alexeyev, Vyacheslav Solodukhin and Yuri Chichorin. Mikhail Titov and Evgeni Kotlov had one each.

Russians Prefer To Play All-Stars

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Soviet Union hockey team, dominating the World Cup tournament for a second straight year, wants to take on the National Hockey League All-Stars.

Vsevolod Bobrov, the Soviet coach, indicated after the Russians smashed a group of U.S. college players 13-2 Tuesday night he would rather play an all-star group from the NHL than separate teams.

The Soviet Union, 3-0 in the round robin Word Cup, gave the NHL all-stars a tough battle last summer in an eight-game series, winning three and tying one.

"We put together an all-star team for the series so we would prefer to play an NHL all-star team rather than face teams like Montreal, Boston or the New York Rangers," said Bobrov. "The only change we would like to make in another series is to keep the fights down to a minimum.

"We were confident our ability . . . We might have had an edge in condition that helped in the series."

In the Canada-Russia series, the Russians won two games in Canada, tied one and lost one.

The series - winning goal was scored by Paul Henderson in the last minute of the last game, won 6-5 by Canada.

"The rest of the team says I gotta quit if you guys come close to scoring in the first period!"

Standings Stay Tight In Eastern Division

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Only the losers stood apart after Wednesday's National Hockey League action saw both divisional races grow tighter.

In the East, Montreal Canadiens reclaimed a share of the lead with the idle Boston Bruins by whipping Toronto Maple Leafs 8-4.

New York Rangers stayed four points behind the Canadiens and Bruins with a 3-0 shutout against Los Angeles Kings, and Buffalo Sabres stayed within two points of Rangers with a 4-1 victory over New York Islanders.

That left the Hawks on top with 48 points, followed by Minnesota North Stars with 42, the Kings and Flyers tied with 40 and the Flames and Penguins tied with 38.

Californias Golden Seals remained in eighth place although their suffering was partly relieved by an 11-3 romp over Vancouver Canucks.

At Toronto, the Canadiens had a few bad moments when the Leafs charged in front with Darryl Sittler's two goals, but Jacques Lemaire's 30th goal of the season started a Montreal comeback which saw the Canadiens leading 5-2 by the end of the second period.

Yvan Cournoyer scored his second goal of the night early in the second period after skating around the Toronto defence and Lemaire and Jacques Laraine got in front of position.

Plante, weakened by a flu attack, started at that point and rookie Ron Low took over to allow another four - Montreal goals. Leaf coach John McLellan said after the game that Low was also suffering from a flu attack and would be bed-ridden today.

At Cleveland, Pappin gave the Hawks an early lead, but Pittsburgh got set a Ranger team record with his 41st career goal. It was also his second shutout in his last three games.

Two-goal efforts by Ab DeMarco in the first period and Vi ctlaffaro in the third moved the Kings' four-game winning streak, and Glen Sather added an empty-net goal.

The Flyers and Flames went scoreless in a game at Atlanta tied for fourth spot and Bill Sutherdown produced some rough play resulting in a total of 56 minutes in penalties — 27 to Philadelphia and 17 to Atlanta.

Lemaire Cuts Scoring Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With National Hockey League scoring leader Phil Esposito of the Boston Bruins idle last night, it was a chance for the others to cut into his six-point lead.

Jacques Lemaire of Montreal Canadiens scored his 30th goal in the Habs' 8-4 defeat of Toronto to move one point closer with 33 points. But if' was Buffalo's Rene Robert who had the big night as he and linemate Gilbert Perreault moved up in the scoring to tie Lemaire for second place.

Robert scored one goal (his 26th) and added two assists while Perreault had two assists in the Sabres' 4-1 win over New York Islanders in Buffalo.

Yankees Sold For 10 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's tradition-rich New York Yankees were sold Wednesday with CBS receiving $3.2 million less than it paid for the American League team in 1964.

"It's the best buy in sports today," said Cleveland shipbuilder George Steinbrenner, part of a 12-man syndicate which paid the network $10 million cash for the Yankees.

"The Yankees belong in Yankee Stadium. And, they should always be winners. We don't plan to move anywhere except upward in the standings."

Michael Burke, a former CBS vice president assigned to operate the Yankees, negotiated the purchase with his former boss, William Paley, president of the network.

Burke, who remains as Yankee president, said CBS "broke even" over the decade despite the reduced selling price. He said some years were financially profitable.

"CBS was a good owner, one that showed great patience and strength during some difficult years," he said.

Burke, no longer associated with CBS, admitted the network was embarrassed at times to have a team that had become a loser after dominating major league baseball for over 40 years.

New York's pinstripers were artistic failures compared to the old days. The Yanks had won 29 pennants—and 14 of the last 16—when the network took control. In the eight seasons since, New York finished no higher than third under the CBS eye.

Attendance slumped to 966,328 in 1970, the first year the Yankees failed to crack a million since 1963. Meanwhile, the Mets were packing in 2,134,185 across town.

Ralph Houk signed a three-year extension to his contract as Yankee manager late last summer. Houk, as the rest of the organization, "will remain intact," said Burke.

Steinbrenner, 43, has dabbled in sports ownership before. He once had Cleveland Pipers of Abe Saperstein's ill-fated American Basketball League. He recently owns a chunk of Chicago Bulls in the National Basketball Association.

"We plan absentee ownership as far as running the Yankees is concerned," said the president of the American Shipbuilding Co. of Cleveland. "We're not going to pretend we're something we aren't. I'll stick to building ships."

The announcement of the sale capped in a private club at Yankee Stadium. Retired uniforms of Yank greats decked the walls: No. 3 of Babe Ruth, the 4 of Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio's 5 and Mickey Mantle's 7.

Oaks All Free Agents

TORONTO (CP) — The 19 players of Oakville Oaks hockey club, which withdrew from the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series last month because of financial difficulties, became free agents Wednesday.

However, the OHA, in granting the releases, said no other club in the league could sign more than two of the Oaks.

"This takes care of 14 players and if any club is interested in the other five, the players will have to obtain permission from the OHA to play with the club," said Cliff Philips, OHA first vice-president.

The Oaks withdrew from the league when poor attendance resulted in a deficit of about $13,000.

ABC Signs Contract For Montreal Olympics

MONTREAL (CP) — The first big financial contract for the 1976 Summer Olympics was signed Wednesday and then announced at a 90-minute news conference.

Roger Rousseau, commissioner-general of the Montreal Games, announced the agreement awarding United States television rights to the American Broadcasting Co. for $25 million.

Also on hand for the occasion were Boone Arledge, president of ABC sports, other network officials, and Marvin Josephson of New York, president of International Famous Agency, who negotiated the deal with the network on behalf of the Montreal organizing committee.

The deal, which involves only the U.S. television rights and leaves rights for coverage in the rest of the world still open, was described by Rousseau as the biggest in the history of the Olympics.

ABC paid Munich only $13.5 million for the television rights to last summer's Games in West Germany and Arledge said it had cost the network $22 million, including production expenses.

He said he expects the Montreal event will cost ,BC in excess of $40 million to produce.

The basic information provided at the news conference — including the $25 million figure — already had been published here in the last two weeks.

Reporters wanted to know Wednesday whether the other $15 million big U.S. network Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.—had been given a chance to bid for the Games.

Earlier reports stated that the deal with ABC already was completed, excluding NBC and CBS from competitive bidding. One report said "money had already changed hands" between the committee and the network.

Both Arledge and Rousseau denied these charges and insisted the final contract had been signed Wednesday after eight weeks of tension.

NBC earlier had complained in a cable to Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, that it had been unfairly excluded from television rights had been awarded to ABC.

The IOC finance committee must give final approval to any contracts negotiated by the local organizing committee.

Rousseau said the Montreal committee had recruited no official bids from either NBC or CBS, despite the fact both networks had been invited, along with ABC, to submit them at the time of the Munich Games.

The commissioner-general said negotiations with Ottawa are going on ever since Munich with ABC and that he held a representative of one of the other networks last Dec. 14 that ABC "had the inside track" because of its continued pursuit of the rights.

Eagleson Wants Investigation

TORONTO (CP) — Alan Eagleson, must court sport, said Wednesday he intends "if possible" to have the matter of the sale of United States television rights for the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal raised in the House of Commons.

The rights were sold Wednesday to the ABC television network for $23 million and a New York agent who engineered the deal will be paid $325,000.

Should the agent, Marvin Josephson of New York who is president of International Famous Agency, sell the world rights for another $25 million he will get an additional $375,000.

Eagleson said:

"We had offered to buy these rights through Bobby Orr Enterprises. . . . The transaction with the American Broadcasting Company seems a little bit suspect, to say the least.

"It was obviously a private arrangement, and if that wasn't bad enough, the Montreal committee has compounded the mistake by paying a percentage commission to an American promoter."

The Games rights would have been sold without a promoter, Eagleson said, who is secretary of Bobby Orr Enterprises, except for the action of the National Hockey League Players' Association, a lawyer, and a representative of numerous leading players.

He said that since Canadian taxpayers will have to bear the cost of staging the Olympics "a million to $40,000 gives away so easily and so needlessly to an American promoter."

How Will You Know You're Buying The Right Set?

The set will have the Works in a drawer. (It's the only one with the works in a drawer).

Griese To Start For Miami

MIAMI (AP) — Miami coach Don Shula announced Wednesday that Griese will start at quarterback in the Super Bowl because "the best situation for the Dolphins is to have a healthy Bob Griese playing at No. 1."

The Dolphins go against Washington Redskins for the professional football champion ship Jan. 14 in Los Angeles.

Griese was sidelined in the Dolphins' fifth season opener when he broke his leg. No. 2 quarterback Earl Morrall, a 38 year-old veteran of 17 pro seasons, stepped into the breach to lead the Dolphins to a 21-17 victory over Pittsburgh Steelers and a Super Bowl slot.

Shula also announced that cornerback Tim Foley, who underwent surgery Monday for a shoulder separation, will not play in the Super Bowl.

Marv Fleming, a tight end with 10 years in the pros, is nursing a sore back but was scheduled to play in the championship game. Fleming worked out for about an hour Wednesday.

Don't Blame Dog

Eating Living Deer Just Natural Habit

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Conservation officer Alex Millar took two shots at a beagle dog Wednesday because he was angry.

"When I reached the buck fawn on the ice of the lake, he was still in one of the beagle's mouth," its hindquarters."

Mr. Millar, who works with the Ontario department of environment at Lindsay, was called to Pigeon Lake near Bobcaygeon by a resident who had spotted the beagle, a small English hound, chasing the deer.

He said the ice was not safe to reach the animals when he first arrived but with his binoculars, he could see the deer down and the dog tearing away at the flesh.

He had to bypass this ice near a river entrance by walking to the middle of the lake first and when he reached the dead deer, he shot the deer "because it was finished anyway."

"I took two shots at the dog in anger and frustration," he added in an interview. "I missed and then whistled. He knew to me and I tied him up with my boot laces."

Mr. Millar said he has seen too much of a problem which hits his area every year but usually, a little later in winter.

He said the size of the dog does not matter. it's simply a case of the dog chasing the deer until it falls from exhaustion.

The problem this year has been that rain has created a tough crust of about 18 inches of snow and dogs are able to run on top while deer, with their sharp, piercing hoofs, go through. It usually happens in spring after a thaw and cold spell.

"I'm sure the dog in question, like all the others we have had to deal with in cases like this, is a household pet.

"He's one of those dogs that people keep telling us 'would never do a thing like that'."

"Things like that" means the common winter pastime dogs of all breeds have of running deer to exhaustion.

"Wolves will kill quick and feed but dogs torment the animal on the chase and seldom eat more than a few chunks out of the hindquarters," said Mr. Millar.

He said the beagle in question probably was one of many dogs which are tied up for 26 weeks of the year to only trained for two weeks so they can help someone on the hunt.

"You really can't blame the dog," he said. "The laws for owners have to be stiffened and we had better start tying our dogs up."

In Huntsville, a ministry spokesman said four charges have been laid in the last three days against owners of dogs who have chased deer.

One deer had to be killed because it was severely injured.

East Germany Faces Reparations Demands

BERLIN (Reuter) — For 25 years, West Germany has shouldered the burden of compensating Western states for Nazi war crimes.

As East Germany now moves for normalization of relations with West Germany to diplomatic negotiations with other Western countries, the question of reparations is expected to play a large part in discussions.

The Potsdam Agreement of 1945 specifically exempted East Germany of liability for war damage claims by Western countries, stipulating that it was responsible only for reparations to the Soviet Union.

But a number of Western countries have indicated they expect the East Germans to pay compensation for assets in their territory confiscated by the Nazis from their Western owners.

Most countries involved are expected to take a realistic attitude, recognizing that it would be impossible for East Germany to refund such debts because of a shortage of hard currency.

Finland, which has maintained a policy of neutrality toward the two German states, wants East Germany to pay its share of compensation for the destruction of two Finnish cities by the retreating German army at the end of the war.

Highly-placed East German sources said recently there were two successor states to the old German reich, and this has caused observers to speculate that East Germany now might be prepared to negotiate the compensation claims issue.

Hitherto, East Germany always took the line that because West Germany had boycotted it was the true and sole successor to the reich, Bonn alone was liable to provide compensation to Western countries.

Another knotty problem concerns the particular claims of Jews. Austrian Nazi-hunter Simon Wiesenthal said recently that East Germany should pay compensation to Austrian Jews persecuted on its territory during the second World War and that Vienna's Foreign Minister Rudolf Kirchschlaeger had promised this point would be raised after mutual diplomatic recognition comes into effect late in December.

Wiesenthal said West Germany had dealt with more than two-thirds of the compensation paid to Austrian Jews up to now and it was now up to East Germany to bear the rest.

Somoza Gains Strength From Managua Earthquake

MANAGUA (Reuter) — Gen. Anastacio Somoza, heir of a dynasty that has ruled Nicaragua for 36 years, emerges stronger than before after the earthquake that devastated Managua.

The 47-year-old general, once a cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., personally handled relief efforts, barely sleeping for days on end.

His white-walled villa in an old hacienda overlooking the city became headquarters both for the relief operations and for the 4,000-man national guard which he commands.

The earthquake shattered the facade of Nicaragua's ruling triumvirate and showed who really runs the country of two million people.

Somoza, elected president in 1967, stepped down last May in favor of a three-man junta chosen by the constituent assembly but has retained control of the national guard, which is Nicaragua's combined police and army.

Under martial law, declared immediately after the earthquake, Somoza assumed emergency powers and his voice can be heard daily on the radio, exhorting the people to maintain order and be patient.

This will not be easily forgotten when the presidential election is held next September.

Quake Forecasts Possible

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — Earthquake forecasts as reliable and precise as hurricane warnings will be feasible in 10 years or earlier, a United States Geological Survey research chief predicts.

"We are on the threshold of spectacular t o s unthroughs," Jerry T. Eaton said Wednesday in an interview. "We anticipate success."

Eaton is chief of the survey's office of earthquake research and crustal studies.

"All the elements of our work are coming together now," he said. "This means that we can judge the site, the time and magnitude."

Japanese and Russian research efforts also are progressing on a major scale, Eaton said, and those countries are pooling their information with that developed by U.S. scientists.

Eaton said that, while there has been notable progress in earthquake-prediction ability in the last eight years, "we can't venture a scientifically-based prediction yet."

"I will make an out-on-a-limb guess that there will be no catastrophic quake (in the San Francisco area) of the 1906 San Francisco scale for at least the next 20 to 30 years."

The Dec. 23 Managua, Nicaragua, earthquake with its huge toll in human lives and destruction underscores the worth of a reliable quake-predicting system, Eaton said.

"It's simple to say what causes a major earthquake," Eaton said. "It is the release of stored elastic energy jammed up in the rock faces locked together in plates of the earth's crust moving in opposite directions."

Laser and computer instrumenta mveiled developed since the great Alaska earthquake of Good Friday, 1964, m a k e i possible to record minute fault creeping and to detect symptoms of fault failure, Eaton said.

"With laboratory simulation of rock-fault endurance, plus other clues, we can construct computer models of when there must' be a failure in a faultlocking system," he said.

He said California's 700-mile San Andreas Fault system is nature's contribution to the study.

"It will give us a number of five - Richter - magnitude quakes—just below destructive scale—and we will be able to prove and test out all we have found out," he said.

CANNERA (Reuter) — Australia has barred a member of the Rolling Stones group, Keith Richard, from entering the country for two live performances next month, the Immigration department revealed Wednesday.

The spokesman did not name the performer or give a reason why he would not be allowed into the country. A musician accompanying the group also had been barred, he said.

The tour organizer, Ron Blackmore, said after learning of the decision that the Stones would cancel their Australian tour if any member of the group was barred.

Blackmore said he already had protested to Prime Minister Gough Whitlam, and Immigration Minister Albert Grimley. He described the ban as "ridiculous."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rufus (Speckled Red) Perryman, a self-taught Negro pianist and songwriter, died at a hospital here Tuesday of cancer at the age of 80.

Perryman couldn't read music, but once said: "I got a good ear."

He cut his first record in Memphis in 1929. His most famous recording was "The Right String but the Wrong Yo, Goin' Down Slow and High-way 61 Blues."

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuter) — Lithuanian-born artist Vaclovas Ratas, whose works hang in galleries in Chicago, Washington and Munich as well as Australia, died in a hospital here Wednesday night at 63.

Reluctant Actress to Return

HOLLYWOOD (Reuter) — More than 40 years after a kid in the rear by Noel Coward launched Binnie Barnes on an acting career, the 64-year-old matinee night club singer is returning to the screen.

Coward picked her in 1931 to sing Twentieth Century Blues in the stage version of Cavalcade. She repeated the role in the film version and stayed in the business 10 years before making her ing film producer Mike Frankovich and retired happily to raise a family in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Now, under severe pressure from her husband's associates, who insist she is perfect for the part, Binnie has taken on the part of a middle-aged housewife who falls in love with a young man in Percy Carsan, a Frankovich production.

"I didn't want to do it at all," she says in an accent which is markedly Cockney. "For one thing, I don't fancy getting up at 5:30 in the morning."

The 13th and youngest child of a London policeman, she was doing a singing, dancing and rope-spinning act under the wing of Texas Guinan Barnes when Coward spotted her in a Piccadilly night club and brought her to the Drury Lane Theatre to open in Cavalcade. She was terrified.

"I said 'I can't go on, I can't do it' And Coward said, 'Yes you can, girlie, you're going on.' And he gave me the biggest kick in the bottom I have ever had and I went out there."

Her first major role was Catherine of Aragon opposite Charles Laughton in the British film The Private Lives of Henry VIII. In Hollywood she often played the role of a sleek vamp.

She says she was never keen on acting.

"Frankly, I've never been mad about it. It just happened to me the way I could make a living."

She has no intention of abandoning her home life to resume full-time acting career. "For one thing. That home life brings her into contact with zany and interesting people.

"Groucho Marx comes up to my house every now and again, knocks on my door and says: 'Is the deer are eating all my roses. What are they doing to you?' Then he sticks his cigar in his mouth and goes off again."

One-man Behan Show Reaps Critics' Praise

NEW YORK (CP) — A one-man show, Shay Duffin as the Brendan Behan, opened Tuesday night at the off-Broadway Abbey Theatre and it's an Irish treat to all fine English-listening ears.

All three New York newspapers praised the performance of Shay Duffin, a Dublin-born actor.

Behan enthralled listeners when he was alive, spinning a tall tale in a bar or giving a lecture. And Duffin does both the same.

Dressed and groomed in Behan's style—an undefined sack for a suit; loosely-knotted tie and collar askew—he holds up a photograph of Behan shortly before his death at 41.

Al Ellenberg of The Post says Duffin has cruelty and passionately drawn on Irish experience and dramatic guile to present a portrait of Behan as a vulnerable self-dramatizer.

You discover that he's a marvellous raconteur who captivates you with tales about his father, his days as a pimp in Paris, as an explosives runner for the Irish Republican Army and so on, all interspersed with songs growing out of the occasion.

But then there's the dark side, the stories edge toward self-pity: accounts of jail brutality, intimations of a boone-battered liver, a ruining of both generals and politicians and the IRbomb, and finally a burst of tears.

Duffin picks his way through the Behan testament—Borstal Boy, The Square Fellow and The Hostage among other sources—and fashions a sustained monologue that tells us more about Behan than probably Behan intended us to know.

But the stories and the language are enthralling—and the mimicry of Irish proletarians, English officials and American boors is worth the price of admission. Elsewhere it's not.

Duffin's Behan is a complex, curiously worthy and credible person. There isn't much more an actor can do with Behan.

Tom McMorrow of The Daily News says it is the "most portrayal of its kind" since Alec Guinness and Hume Cronyn on Broad way a decade ago as the troubled Irish genius, Dylan Thomas.

Duffin, who comes from the same area as Dublin that produced Behan, says the show is "Behan giving the last hurrah six months before he died."

McMorrow says the beauty of the show is that it is a hurried Behan could not have delivered himself, being by then too far gone on "the gargle," wracked by diabetes and liver trouble. Duffin enables us to see the man inside the lunatic, clownish figure projected by so tragically many newspaper accounts of shouting abuse at actors in his own plays, walking on stage in the middle of scenes, cursing and punching a great number of persons. . . .

"Poet-pugilist one of the champion alcoholics of the century, The Behan image has the temporary round of doing a broad drunk. He is always Behan when he has had maybe two.

"He has you laughing constantly—and catching yourself repeatedly realizing the story is not a bit funny. . . .

"The evening never falters in its interest and most of it is funny," says Mary Campbell of The Associated Press.

A total of 48 persons will make up the travelling company.

The first overseas stop will be in the Danish capital of Copenhagen, where Denmark's Queen Margrethe II will attend the Jan. 24 opening performance of Shrew.

The company will remain there through to Jan. 27, then go to Utrecht for performances Jan. 29 and 31.

The company will give a single performance of King Lar at The Hague on Feb. 3 followed by a Feb. 7-10 engagement in Warsaw and performance Feb. 13 and 14 at Krakow.

From Poland, the company goes on to Russia where it will appear in Moscow Feb. 20 to 25 and Leningrad March 1-5.

Miss Welds, who recently returned from an advance visit to the Netherlands and Denmark, said the theatres in those countries had shown "an enormous amount of interest" in the forthcoming tour.

It will be the company's third overseas tour, but on the previous occasions it performed only in Britain. The current tour is being made under the auspic es of the federal external affairs department.

William Hutt plays the title role in Lear, while Lear's three daughters are being portrayed by Pat Galloway, Candis Shelley and Elizabeth Shepherd.

Miss Galloway also has been cast as the Shrew Katharina and Miss Shelley will appear as Bianca.

Two Buses Are Ditched

No one was hurt when two buses transporting students to school slid off icy roads into the ditch this morning.

Both buses were quickly hauled out and the students sent on their way. The mishaps occurred on Rathbridge-Loyalist Road at Sidney Township's Rural Consolidated, and on a sideroad off County Road 2 two miles east of Springbrook.

3 WAYS TO GET RID OF FAT

Most doctors agree that to lose weight and not regain it, diet alone is not the answer. In the January issue of Reader's Digest, you'll read the divergent views of three doctors. A pediatrician states the case for diet plus exercise programs. A heart specialist suggests that in many cases, exercise alone can conquer obesity. And a psychiatrist describes an effective new method called behavioral therapy. To decide on the approach that will work best for you, read THREE WAYS TO GET RID OF FAT — one of 36 articles and features in the January Reader's Digest. Studies Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Wednesday he has been studying and would seek to copy the ways in which former prime minister Lester Pearson operated within a minority government situation.

The prime minister was speaking after a meeting of the Liberal caucus said Mr. Pearson believed in the "law of survival."

Castro Unveils Five Soviet Pacts

MIAMI (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, starting the 15th year of his socialist revolution outlined Wednesday five new agreements signed with the Soviet Union and said they were "an unprecedented contribution" to the island's economy.

"Who knows how much suffering this assistance has prevented," Castro said in a radio-television address monitored in Miami. "This will go down in history."

Castro said the five new pacts, worth $350 million, would:

—Ease Cuba's huge foreign debt by extending the terms of Soviet loans more than 20 years.

—Extend credits to equalize Cuba's trade deficit.

—Provide for new commercial credits.

—Extend new loans for development of the island's agricultural and industrial production.

—Guarantee high prices—higher than those in the world market—for Cuban export products such as sugar and nickel.

Newfoundland Fishery Catches Were Spotty

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The year 1972 has been a confusing one for many Newfoundland fishermen.

Hundreds, who fished only during the cod-trap season, made more money than ever before. Others who worked the entire season have been seeking welfare assistance from the provincial government.

Most of the trouble has been among inshore fishermen using small boats. Inshore fishermen in the Bonavista area, for instance, reported the best season in several years while at Catalina, a few miles south, crews couldn't catch enough fish to cover their expenses.

In the Torbay area, near St. John's, cod traps installed during the July trapping season that many had to dump their catches when processing plants could not handle all the raw material.

Along the south coast, most cod-trap crews took a third or more than a normal catch while a few miles east in Placentia Bay, catches were excellent.

The spotty fishery affected over-all production. For the first 10 months of 1972, the latest figures available, frozen groundfish production was down to 118.1 million pounds, the federal fisheries service reported.

In the same period of 1971, groundfish production was about 136.6 million pounds.

All commercial fish landings for the 10-month period last year amounted to 378.7 million pounds with a value of $32.8 million. In the same period of 1971, 389.2 million pounds of fish were landed with a slightly higher value, $32 million.

Fisheries service figures showed production of salted codfish in the province at the end of September, 1972, was 91,778 quintals compared to 141,039 quintals at the end of September, 1971. A quintal is 112 pounds.

In the most productive period, the salt cod fishery produced more than one million quintals in an average year and just five years ago, produced 1,400,000 quintals.

Aiden Maloney, president of the Canadian Fish Co., said scientists believe the spotty and declining cod catches are due to 'pressure on fish stocks from foreign fleets of fishing vessels operating on offshore fishing grounds.

"While production is down, prices for salted cod have increased considerably since the Saltfish Corp. came into existence three years ago, and this offsets somewhat the declining catches," Mr. Maloney said.

Meanwhile, inshore fishermen on the south coast and in Fortune Bay are preparing for the annual herring fishery.

The 1971 herring catch in the south coast region was about 20,000 tons. Almost all was processed as food herring. That fishery, too, has had declining catches. In 1960 the catch was 250,000 tons in the same area with the entire harvest reduced to oil and fishmeal.

The herring seiners that operate in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and off Nova Scotia in the summer and fall months move to Newfoundland waters for the winter.

They'll sell their catches to Newfoundland plants during the four-month fishery and return to their home harbours in late April or early May.

City Postmen Join Plea to Delay Vote

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of over 6,000 letter carriers have asked their national negotiating committee to stop scheduled voting on a national contract.

Representatives of 20 locals met in Toronto Wednesday and sent a telegram to Ottawa requesting the vote on conciliation board recommendations be halted.

The meeting, called by the Montreal Local of the Letter Carriers' Union of Canada, was attended by delegates from across the country.

Among those present were three Belleville men, Jim Campbell, president of Local 45, vice-president Bernier Williams and secretary-treasurer George Johnson, Jr.

Voting on the conciliation board recommendations began Wednesday in Windsor and Toronto,, but most centres will vote on the contract Jan. 7. The proposed contract is for a 65-cent-an-hour pay increase, plus $400 in retroactive pay over a 33-month contract.

Guy Morrissette, president of Montreal Local 10, said the meeting was called because of a massive confusion across the country.

Mr. Morrissette said the telegram asked the national negotiators to vote by noon Friday.

The group also agreed, that if the vote could not be stopped, they would go on the record as urging rejection of the conciliation report, said Mr. Morrissette.

The proposed contract is for Canada's 30,000 post office employees.

Bill MacDonald, representative of Local 31 in Edmonton, said the letter carriers were opposed to the vote because the bargaining itself is not indicated any approval of the conciliation report.

"We want to be able to vote on a concrete offer," said Mr. MacDonald.

Both Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Morrissette said the wording of the ballot also was confusing. They said it is worded so that a 'yes' vote means acceptance of the negotiators rejection and "no" means acceptance of the board's report.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, JAN. 5

Aries (March 21-April 19): Use your tact in control and make use of today's tendency to scatter energies, get into all types of unplanned experimentation.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Wind up your work week in as neat and tidy a package as you can, with a strict line between what's past and what is yet to come.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Indulge that urge to explore theories, philosophic explanations for things you aren't sure about. Travel is favored this weekend.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Busy yourself along traditional lines, doing the pleasant things that are known to work. Your approach attracts responses.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Big ideas are at hand, in profusion, but somehow none of them quite lends itself to your immediate use. Stick to what you do well.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Seek original ways of handling situations problems at hand, on a temporary test basis before general reorganization.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Give some thought to your home and its improvement. More is involved in the changes suggested by mate than either of you realize.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22): Family and associates turn out to have conservative or back-ward-looking views and your projects dismay them.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): You are a step closer to getting into practice some well-directed scheme—have you thought one up lately?

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Being conservative in personal behavior does not work against making unusual journeys or important contacts.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your medications and careful studies are still much needed as you prepare for the ventures of the coming weekend.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): There is enough going on to take all your attention without getting into any extravagance or additional chores.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X N

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

No Way to Shovel To Protect Heart

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

(Second of two columns)

Remainder of yesterday's letter:

Is there a right way and a wrong way to shovel snow? I remember someone expounding at length about the right way of piling—more use of the legs to raise the back and arms. Will that help?

I got a nine-to-5 desk worker, 60-ish, and like to do all my household chores myself, painting, lawns, garden, leaves, and snow. I enjoy it and would like to continue, but not if it kills me.—H.W.

Right way to shovel? In any kind of lifting, the more you use your legs, the less strain is on the back—but it doesn't change the total amount of energy you have to use, so there would be no significant effect so far as a heart attack would be concerned.

To answer a part of yesterday's questions, there may or may not be any warning of an oncoming heart attack. You can't just go and add another with the expectation of stopping if or when an attack is imminent.

But on the other hand there are several precautions that can add much to your safety.

The angina pectoris patient, who has dull chest pain when he exceeds the exertion level that he can tolerate, has plenty of warning, of course. But not many angina patients are going to be shoveling snow or indulging in other heavy exertion anyway.

Generally speaking, the man over 50 who customarily does only fairly light work (sits at a desk all day, does a little walking, tends his garden or cuts the grass on weekends) shouldn't try the same shape as a man who does hard physical labor all day. He's the fellow who should avoid digging out after a heavy snowstorm—"get in training" for it.

If he insists on taking the risk anyway, he must—at least—not should quit as soon as he starts to feel pain and puff and notices any chest discomfort. That can't always save him from trouble, but it may.

Finally, as I've mentioned before, these heart attacks rarely afflict the man with a thoroughly healthy heart. But how do you know if you have one?

That's where your doctor comes in. An EKG (electrocardiogram) from time to time can't necessarily detect everything, but it will give clear evidence of artery or heart muscle deficiency in a big majority of cases.

Finally, how is your blood pressure? If it is on the high side, that's another warning to be careful.

Many argue that you "feel all right," but as you drift into middle age and past, it PAYS dividends to know whether EKG tests and your blood pressure are giving you advance warning that you shouldn't take on the heavy work of a stevedore two or three times a year. And that's not shoveling snow is—very, very hard work.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 19 and plan to be married soon. We don't want children for a while and I would like to take the pill. How soon should I wait? Should I take it at all before we get married?—M. A. C.

It's safest to start one or two months before being married, to be sure it will be fully effective by the time you marry.

Opening lead — ace of clubs.

Here is a type of play easy to miss. The hand occurred in the Intercollegiate Bridge championship.

West lead the ace of clubs against four spades, hoping to be able to cash at least one later to obtain a club ruff. He then switched to a low diamond, won in dummy with the ace as East signaled with the seven.

From this point on, the spotlight was on declarer. Most declarers, conscious of the danger of a club ruff, led a trump and rejected the finesse. They went up with the ace and returned the ten.

Alert defense now defeated the contract. West won with the king and led a second diamond. East took the king, returned a club, and West ruffed to score the setting trick for the defense.

Some of the declarers made the contract in a perfectly legitimate way. They realized that only a club ruff could stop four spades, and they took affirmative action to forestall the ruff.

At trick three they led the king of hearts from dummy and discarded the jack of diamonds on it after East had followed low. In effect, they traded a sure diamond loser for a nonexistent heart loser.

This exchange produced the desired effect. West took the king with the ace, but found his line of communication with East severed. There was now no way of stopping South from taking ten tricks.

The unusual play used by the successful declarers is commonly known as the "coup without a name." It is an entry - destroying play.

But, with or without a name, the play can be highly effective in a given situation. It is not really a difficult play to execute. All you have to do is think of it!

Tomorrow: Bidding quiz.

Arabs Make Gains In Black Africa

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A growing Arab political campaign in black Africa has resulted in the closing of Israeli embassies in three countries in just over a month.

Jerusalem's ambassadors to Chad, the Congo Republic and Niger—former French colonies—have had to abandon their posts.

Chad expelled the Israelis, despite a long and close relationship, Nov. 28. The Marxist-oriented Congo followed Dec. 31.

A formal break seems imminent in Niger, which issued a pro-Arab declaration Tuesday and said its ties with Israel were "inopportune." Israel, apparently foreseeing a rupture, had downgraded its diplomatic standing 10 days earlier to that of a non-resident ambassadorship.

The recent series of setbacks follow an earlier retreat by the Israelis in Uganda, from which they were ejected last April by Gen. Idi Amin, the country's ruler.

While Israeli diplomats say their recent troubles are "not a disaster," western political observers in Lagos view the developments as a significant blow to Israel's standing in the continent.

The Arabs, say Western political analysts, are trying to "buy friends and win influence" south of the Sahara Desert. The offensive came into sharp focus last June when the Organization of African Unity took a strongly pro-Arab stand on the Middle East conflict. Israel has accused Libya and Saudi Arabia of using their oil wealth to influence black governments to break with Israel.

Riot Police Ring Egypt's Colleges

CAIRO (Reuter) — Riot police ringed Egypt's universities today to implement a government decision suspending studies following violence clashes here as 3,000 students took to the streets in anti-government demonstrations.

The government acted swiftly to forestall any further violence after the clashes Wednesday, in which riot police tear-gassed and charged the demonstrating students.

It closed the country's five universities and about 20 institutes of higher education, affecting about 150,000 undergraduates. The five universities—Cairo, Ein Shams, Alexandria, Assiut and Al Azhar—will actually be closed for the next nine days, for students are due to begin two weeks of mid-year holidays Jan. 12.

There was no government announcement of casualties in the clashes which came after a week of student protests over the arrest and investigation of a number of their colleagues following the distribution of anti-state leaflets.

The students, however, have been on the verge of protest for months and the arrests appear to have provided the catalyst for their eruption into the streets for the first violent disturbances involving students and police since January of last year.

CP News Roundup

Developers Help Asked

TORONTO (CP) — David Crombie, Toronto's new mayor, invited developers Wednesday to join with the city to find ways of providing more public housing.

Mayor Crombie, who was elected on a "preserve the neighborhoods" ticket in opposition to the high-rise trend, said in his inaugural speech to city council that he wants it to "preserve what's great in this city."

He repeated a campaign promise that the city "won't be widening streets, straightening out crescents or chopping down trees to make way for more cars."

A better way to deal with rush-hour traffic would be to stagger working hours, provide better public transit and get the unnecessary cars out of the way of the necessary ones."

Queen Booed

LONDON (AP) — A booing and chanting crowd greeted the Queen and other guests Wednesday night at the Covent Garden Opera House when they arrived for the gala launching of Fanfare for Europe.

The festival was held to mark Britain's entry into the Common Market.

Dies in Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — Wing Cmdr. John Franklin Easton, 53, first commander of the famed Royal Canadian Air Force Golden Hawks acrobatic team, died in a fire in his home Wednesday. Wing Cmdr. Easton, who retired from the armed forces seven years ago after 29 years' service, was found by firemen in a bedroom of his home after fire broke out in an adjoining sitting room. He was reported dead of smoke inhalation.

8 Die in Bus

SANTIAGO, Chile (Reuter) — Eight persons were burned to death and 11 others received serious burns when a crowded bus caught fire at the seaside resort of Constitution in southern Chile Tuesday night. It was the second bus fire disaster in Chile this week. On Sunday, 21 persons were killed when a bus carrying a soccer team and its supporters crashed through the parapet of a bridge.

Papers Plead

WASHINGTON (CP) — United States publishers appealed to Congress Wednesday to protect journalists against compulsory disclosure of news sources while a jailed reporter urged the Supreme Court to grant him temporary freedom.

Proposed legislation which would guard reporters against the threat of court action was submitted to Congress Wednesday by the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA).

Oil Bad

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — A University of Guelph nutritionist said Wednesday many snack foods are cooked in cocoanut oil which has been shown in experiments to increase cholesterol in animals.

"It's one of the worst offenders of all," S. J. Slinger told a seminar.

Layoffs Coming

TORONTO (CP) — More than 350 Toronto workers employed by one of five elevator manufacturers involved in the 16-week strike by the International Union of Elevator Constructors will be laid off Friday.

"We've been operating too close to capacity up to now," an official of Turnbull Elevators said Wednesday night.

"But the field men have been on strike for some four months and we have reached a point where we simply have to stop making elevators and building inventory."

Parties United On Bombing Ban

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp was all-party approval Friday for a motion deploring recent heavy bombing by the United States in North Vietnam and opposing any resumption of the aerial bombardment.

No dissenters were heard as the motion was passed on a voice vote after a brief debate.

During the debate Mr. Sharp also softened one of the conditions the government has set for Canadian participation in a post-ceasefire observer group in Vietnam.

He said the government no longer insists that a "continuing political authority" is established before the observer group is formed, as long as other Canadian conditions are met.

Charity Chosen

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society announced Friday that it has been selected as the "principal charity project" of the Ontario State Council of the Knights of Columbus for 1972. The society will be the principal beneficiary of the Knights' annual charity draw, which raised more than $50,000 last year.

Special Duty Hits Nova Scotia Tires

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States treasury department oversteps objections from Canada Friday and slapped a special duty on Michelin tires manufactured in Nova Scotia plants that had been built with government assistance as part of Ottawa's regional development program.

Assistant Secretary Eugene Rossides told a news conference that because the plant's production was aimed largely at the U.S. market, we are afraid then that with this kind of subsidy, which seriously impinges on U.S. jobs and U.S. trade, we're taking action."

He said the U.S. believes the whole question of government assistance which affects world trade 'needs to be handled in an international forum" and he hopes it will be discussed later this year at scheduled multi-lateral trade negotiations.

A treasury announcement said the special countervailing duty to be applied to Michelin X-radial steel-belted tires is estimated at 6.6 per cent of the f.o.b. factory price for 1973. The rate is based on the relative value of government aid compared with the over-all value of production and is subject to adjustment.

The duty goes into effect Feb. 10.

Michelin's exports to the U.S. from its new plants in Bridgewater and Granton, N.S., totalled about 35 million in 1972, the treasury said. There was no indication what percentage of total production that represented but Michelin originally said it intended to export up to 85 per cent of its output to the U.S.

The other conditions, he said, still stand—an invitation from Saigon, Hanoi, Washington and the Viet Cong; a mandate for the commission that would be workable;" and freedom of movement for the group within South Vietnam and the demilitarized zone separating North and South.

The resolution, passed three days before top-level talks between Hanoi and Washington are to resume in Paris Monday, echoed language Mr. Sharp said Wednesday was contained in messages to the U.S. government deploring the bombing that took place in the last two weeks of December.

The U.S. state department refused comment on the Canadian messages, and there was no immediate reaction to the Commons motion, which Mr. Sharp said would be transmitted through the Canadian embassy in Washington.

The motion also welcomed the resumption of the Hanoi-Washington ceasefire negotiations and asked all parties in the war to refrain from warlike acts that could endanger the talks.

Mr. Sharp said outside the House that "this was not a resolution directed against the United States," and against all violations of the peace in Vietnam.

"The bombing, terrible as it is, is only part of a larger situation which deeply troubles the Canadian people, and which equally concerns the government," he told the Commons.

New Democratic Andrew Brewin (Toronto Greenwood) said his party would have preferred tougher wording to reflect the horror and revulsion felt by the world toward the bombing.

Claude Wagner (PC—St. Hyacinthe), supporting the motion, said the Conservatives were taking the side of humanity, not any party in the war.

Gerard Laprise (SC—Abitibi) said the Social Credit would have favored a plea to North Vietnam to stop guerrilla incursions and a call for Soviet and Chinese withdrawal from the war.

All three opposition parties supported the motion.

Earlier Friday, former Conservative prime minister John Diefenbaker opposed the idea of a resolution, saying it would mark the first time Parliament had criticized "our great neighbor to the South."

Mr. Sharp told reporters there was at least one precedent, when the Commons endorsed a motion Oct. 13, 1971, opposing all nuclear tests and particularly the U.S. blast on Alaska's Amchitka Island.

Mr. Sharp told reporters Friday the motion was unanimously approved by the cabinet last week.

"This door? It's called Peace!"

House Pays Truman Tribute

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons paid tribute Friday to Harry Truman, at the same time as a memorial service was being held in Washington for the former United States president.

Prime Minister Trudeau said that while some of the decisions made by Mr. Truman will be debated for years, others will go down in history as the most enlightened of the century. He referred specifically to the establishment of the Marshall plan to help reconstruct war-ravaged Europe.

Mr. Truman, he said, was a friend of Canada.

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield referred to Mr. Truman as a "most courageous man," who talked frankly and acted energetically.

New Democratic Leader David Lewis said Mr. Truman's decision to use atomic bombs to end the Second World War will be argued in the future but, like Mr. Trudeau, he paid tribute to the Marshall plan.

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette said Mr. Truman led his country to the summit in both peace and war.

Death Renalty Backed

HAMILTON (CP) — A Hamilton minister in the 6,800-member Associated Gospel Churches of Canada has written to federal Solicitor-General Warren Allmand asking for the retention of the death penalty. Rev. Grower Crosby, chairman of the church's social action committee, said Friday that 3,110 members responding to a survey 2,700 were in favor of capital punishment and 220 against it.

Waiters in the Buff

HONOLULU (AP) — A Honolulu night club owner, concerned over sagging interest in topless and bottomless waitresses, is offering a new twist — nude waiters. "It's really giving business a shot in the arm," said Jack Cope. He says his Diners night club is the first establishment in the United States to feature waiters in the buff.

Quints Born Month Early

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Quintuplets, three girls and two boys, were born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. James Baer of nearby Northbrook — the couple's first children. Hospital attendants said the infants were in fair condition. They were born one month prematurely; two weighed a little more than three pounds and three weighed less than three pounds. Mrs. Baer is 26.

Firm Offers Compensation

LONDON (AP) — The parents of Britain's crippled thalidomide children warily welcomed today an offer of about $47 million in compensation from the giant British drug and liquor company that marketed the tranquilizer that brought agony.

The Distillers Co. proposed Friday night to pay about $4.7 million a year for the next 25 years into a "charitable fund" for the deformed children.

That was exactly the amount the parents had demanded. But one nagging doubt remained: How will the money be shared out?

London art dealer David Mason, leader of the parents' pressure group who flew to the United States mobilizing support for a planned boycott there of Distillers products, said:

"It's a much more realistic offer, but I'm worried about accepting any deal that involves a charitable trust. It is not acceptable if it involved a means test."

A "means test" would involve assessing the parents's finances to determine how much should be awarded to their children.

Parents insisted when they rejected Distillers' two previous offers that their children should be given money on the basis of their deformities rather than the size of their parents' bank accounts.

Flu Fatal to 473

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Influenza or similar respiratory diseases have been reported in 17 states, including a number of urban areas, the National Center for Disease Control said Friday.

Dr. Robert J. Rubin, an epidemiologist at the national centre here, said outbreaks of influenza have been noted in Boston, New York, the Baltimore-Washington area, San Francisco Bay area and Memphis, Tenn.

Georgia and North Carolina were added to the list of states where influenza has been reported. Previously named were New York, Maryland, California, Hawaii, Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Texas, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Tennessee, Illinois, Washington and New Jersey.

LONDON (AP) — Influenza deaths soared to 473 in Britain last week, four times as many in the first week of December, the registrar-general's office reported Friday.

PCs Cut Meeting Fees

TORONTO (CP) — The executive of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association has decided to offer scaled-down registration fees for its annual meeting because of what President R. Alan Eagleson termed unreasonable criticism.

Mr. Eagleson told a news conference Friday delegates to the Feb. 11-12 convention in Toronto will have a choice of three price packages scaled from $40 to $25.

Earlier, John Smith, the Conservative member for Simcoe Mountain, said the original $40 fee was too steep and suggested in a letter to riding associations that they withhold registration fees to protest the price.

Mr. Eagleson said 466 delegates already had registered and only four letters had objected to the $40 package fee.

He said the Smith criticism was not justified and said if any "irresponsible act or threat" prevents to withhold registration."

Mr. Eagleson said the $40 price was offered because research showed that delegates preferred this system. In the past, he said, delegates paid their registration fee and then had to buy extra tickets for special social events or luncheons.

However, because Mr. Smith "started a discussion" in the press the executive decided to offer different price packages.

Instead of the $40 package, price delegates can pay a $25 registration fee now with the option of paying $15 more later for the package deal or buy separate tickets for separate events.

Under the Conservative party price plan it would cost $7.50 to hear Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield at luncheon and $13 to hear Ontario Premier William Davis at a banquet.

Assassins Defy UDA Warning

BELFAST (AP) — The assassins of Northern Ireland killed a young Protestant Friday in defiance of a warning reportedly defined a warning from a Protestant vigilante organization that it will eliminate them unless the slaughter stops.

And just to ram home their defiant message, gunmen stormed into a Protestant stronghold on Belfast's outskirts and murdered a member of the Ulster Defence Association (UDA), self-appointed — in many that Friday issued the ultimatum.

The UDA man was shot in the arm from a speeding auto outside the UDA base at Greenisland.

The protestant who died was an 18-year-old youth gunned down by two young men as he inflated his car tires at a gasoline station.

He was the 681rd person to die violently in three years of bloodshed and the 122rd victim of the assassins—Protestant and Roman Catholic—who have terrorized the province with a savage vendetta that has fuelled the flames of sectarian hatred in Northern Ireland.

Shadowy assailants later lobbed a hand grenade into the home of a Roman Catholic priest in the predominantly-Protestant industrial town of Portadown, 30 miles south of Belfast.

The priest, Rev. John McAnaff, was taken to hospital suffering from shock and his woman housekeeper was hit by shrapnel.

Hellyer Asks UIC Answer

OTTAWA (CP) — Paul Hellyer (PC—Toronto Trinity) demanded an explanation in the Commons Friday as to why there are often more people drawing unemployment, insurance benefits than there are people listed as being out of work.

Mr. Hellyer related his question to last month's figures, but Labor Minister John Munro said these figures are not yet available.

Outside the House, Mr. Hellyer said there has been a "ridiculous discrepancy" for months, as far more people draw benefits than the total number of unemployed listed by Statistics Canada.

"Something is desperately wrong," he told reporters.

In the first six months of last year, he said, there was only one month when the number of unemployed exceeded the number of persons drawing benefits. Sometimes the difference in numbers reached 140,000.

Some time ago former manpower minister Bryce Mackasey explained there were several reasons for this, including the fact that after individuals find jobs they remain officially listed as eligible for benefits for some time.

Among other reasons was that persons reaching retirement age draw benefits for a time although they are not listed as unemployed.

Mr. Hellyer said that the time-lag explanation is not good enough because there are also many unemployed people who wait months for their benefits to begin.

"We need a much better explanation for this whole thing," he said.

Ferguson Foiled

Left winger Ken Knapton of the Belleville Quintes raises his stick in what he thought was a scoring play by teammate Al Ferguson in Friday's exhibition hockey game against the Moscow Dynamos. While Soviet goalie Vladimir Plupanov managed to thwart this attempt with the assistance of defenceman Vitali Davidov, the Quintes still managed to score a stunning 2-1 upset of the visiting Russian team. It was the first loss by the Dynamos to a Canadian club. For story, see Page 11.

Dr. Scott Learns Fate Next Week

— Former mayor, Dr. Russell Scott will know a week from now if he will continue as founding president of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario.

— The AMO executive is scheduled to meet in Toronto next Saturday to iron out an organizational dilemma caused by election defeat or retirement from local government of a group of its top officers.

Dr. Scott is a key figure in the impasse. His December election defeat left the AMO — the collective voice of Ontario local governments — without a president in its crucial first year.

— The executive was elected to head the organization when it was created last year by merger of the Ontario Municipal Association and Association of Mayors and Reeves of Ontario.

— One solution to the problem has been proposed by Sudbury mayor Joe Fabbro, acting AMO president: Dr. Scott be made an honorary member of the association, thus qualifying to continue in office.

— Although he did not say he personally desired to continue in the post as AMO president, Dr. Scott yesterday indicated willingness to re-assume the position.

— "I was committed for the job and I will do anything I can to help in any way," he said. "This is a very active year for the group."

— He noted the pending AMO had lost about five other executive members at the year's end, including former Kingston mayor Valerie Swain, who was a vice-president.

Brief Relaxation Before Flight

Three young militiamen relax over coffee before leaving for Lahr, Germany, Friday night, to take part in a NATO exercise. Corporal Richard Cunningham, centre, is the only local soldier taking part. A 21-year member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, he lives at RR 1, Consecon in Ameliasburgh. Here, he shares a few moments with Corporal Wayne Clarke, left, of the Ottawa Service Battalion, while Corporal Ray Ledden of the King's Own Calgary Regiment, catches up on his reading.

Day-care Centre Gets Grant

Mrs. Annie Pearson has more than $17,000 in federal government funds to operate a day-care centre for 30 Belleville youngsters, but she can't find a building large enough to accommodate her charges. In the meantime, she carries on with seven children in her own home. Playing, with Mrs. Pearson are Jacqueline Hollen, Stephen Roddick and Mary Alice Wilson...

Nursery Seeks Own House

Thirty children and their six teachers are in search of a home on the east hill.

The federal government, through an LIP grant of about $17,000, has given them the money to pay for it, but accommodation in a residential - commercial zone permitting a nursery school has eluded them.

The day-care nursery school looking for a home belongs to Mrs. Annie Pearson. She now operates her nursery in her apartment on Bleecker Ave., with just seven youngsters.

But there is a waiting list that would bring the enrolment up to 30 if a building big enough to house them could be found. And unless she finds it soon, the project the federal government has sealed with its approval and backed with its money will fall through.

Mrs. Pearson, a Loyalist College graduate in early childhood education, ran a nursery school last summer in St. Andrew's Church with a similar government grant. Since then she has carried on with a reduced enrolment. Her application for an LIP grant came through Jan. 3, when she was promised $17,000 to rent accommodation and employ another five teachers to care for the children.

But city real estate agents have failed so far to come up with suitable space for the nursery school. Because of enrolment patterns, says Mrs. Pearson, it must be in the east hill, in an area zoned to permit day care centres.

Youngsters enrolled at the day care centre are aged 2½ to 5½. Their parents pay a fee of $2 a day for half-day attendance and $4 for a full day.

Anyone with accommodation to offer can reach Mrs. Pearson by telephoning 968-6902.

Militia Flies To NATO Exercise

By IAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Shortly after 7 p.m. Friday, a special military Boeing 707 left CFB Trenton carrying 121 militiamen from across Canada, en route for a NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) exercise in Germany.

Military sources could not reveal when the U.S. organized exercise would begin, but did say it would conclude sometime within the next six weeks.

The militia members being flown to Lahr, Germany, will be taking part in the actual ground exercise, called Operation Reforager, to be held somewhere in southeast Germany. In all, a total of 2,000 to 4,000 Canadian regular and militia troops will be involved. The total of U.S. and German participation was not known.

Another group of 40 militia; men from the provinces of Quebec and 13 signal corps men will be leaving CFB Trenton Tuesday, Jan. 11.

Flying in of the militia, to augment Canada forces in Germany, will provide a test of the speed with which the shift of troops can be done, as well as their adaptation into the regular force, in this case the Canadian Mechanized Combat Group. All equipment to be used by the 300-odd militia is stockpiled at Lahr.

Military spokesmen said the use of militia during these exercises began in 1967.

The group men, aged between 18 and 19, are from such towns and cities as Sault Ste. Marie, Windsor, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Toronto, Oshawa, Ottawa, Brockville, Montreal, Pembroke, North Bay, Sudbury, Calgary, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge.

On their local militiamen on this exercise is Corporal Richard Cunningham of RR 1, Consecon in Ameliasburgh. A 21-year member of the Hastings - Prince Edward Regiment, this is his first militia exercise overseas and he says he's looking forward to it.

Major Larry McInnis, who escorted the militia to Lahr, said the young men would be given some chance to visit local sites before they leave during their posting.

Israel Builds Boomtown In Captured Sinai Sand

SHARM EL SHEIKH, Occupied Sinai (AP) — Egyptian cannons which once threatened Israel's Red Sea lifeline now stand rusty and impotent over the fastest-growing boomtown in the Middle East.

Israel is building a resort city at Sharm El Sheikh, and skin-divers already are flying from Europe to a new Shangri-La in the disputed desert wilderness where the 1967 Mideast war began.

Construction machines are shoving up apartment buildings and warehouses in the sands captured from Egypt. Architects are planning factories and villas. Tourist planes and buses disgorge visitors by the hundreds.

The growth of Sharm El Sheikh, at the tip of the Sinai Peninsula, packs political importance. It spotlights one issue in any eventual peace agreement between Israel and the Arabs.

Egypt demands that the desert bastion be given back before peace can be reached. The new bloomtown clearly underlines Premier Golda Meir's determination that Israel will keep the strategic enclave at all costs.

Even the Arabic name Sharm El Sheikh has vanished from Israeli maps. Israel has quietly re-named the place in Hebrew, calling it "Ofira" from the Ophir of the Bible, where King Solomon sent his ships in search of gold.

So far, Ofira barely exists, but its beaches and coral reefs are becoming a world centre for underwater exploration. The unpolluted Red Sea contained countless species of spectacular-looking fish, or stones identical to bronze that they don't swim away. Some can almost be fed by hand.

"The place is fantastic, a paradise," said Georges Delaforce of Brussels, who flew 2,500 miles with a band of 12 Belgian skindivers to explore the depths.

Tory Oudemans, an electronics salesman from Antwerp, and his blonde and bikini-ed wife Flora, have organized the "Euro Diving Safari Club" to bring underwater swimmers on winter package tours to Sharm El Sheikh with their own boats, motors, compressors and air tanks.

A Swiss diving club has also been set up, and other marine explorers come from France.

The resort is a year-round operation, but more comfortable when the temperature drops below its summer level of 120 degrees.

To protect the coral reefs and underwater life, Israel has declared the zone a nature preserve and outlawed fishing or even taking seashells to shore.

Archeologists Ask Sites Be Guarded

TORONTO (CP) — Man has occupied Ontario for at least 10,000 years but the history of his past in the province may be erased through the daily destruction of archeological sites, says the Ontario Archeological Society (OAS).

It blames the destruction on flood waters, earth moving machinery and looting by pot-hunting citizens.

The OAS, a group of amateur and professional archeologists, has presented a brief to the provincial government calling for immediate legislation to protect such resources.

The OAS brief cites destruction by pot-hunters of sites from the Toronto area to Rainy River in northwest Ontario. It reported "heavy looting" of Shegiandah on Manitoulin Island, the site of the earliest known occupation by man in Ontario.

Dr. James V. Wright, chief archeologist for the National Museum of Man, has said that only in a few cases did archeological surveys "precede the flood waters" caused by Ontario's hydroelectric development.

But John Holland, a University of Toronto graduate student researching Canadian archeological legislation, said the real culprits are laws that provide no basis for a program of public education.

"People are more aware of the European background of Canada because they can see ruins of old forts," he said. "They cannot see Indian sites under the ground. They are more concerned by what they can see than what they can't."

Many companies become sympathetic to archeological research—when they are made aware of it...In one instance Ontario Hydro lowered the water level of the Montreal River near its dams at Cobalt so a student could survey sites along the shoreline. It also permitted excavation of two sites on its properties near Toronto.

Ontario archeologists are urging the appointment of a provincial archeologist who would co-ordinate data so that the location of sites would be immediately available to developers and to establish a public educational program.

"The OAS also wants changes in laws which at present allow Ontario Provincial Police to protect a site from pot-hunters and specify developers only if the site is already designated as an archeological or historic site.

"Even then the OPP have no record of the sites which have been designated," Mr. Holland said.

Don MacLeod, archeologist for the ministry of natural resources and an OAS member, said that it takes miles of legislative red tape to have one site designated.

The OAS says artifacts must be thought of as a non-renewable resource belonging, not to the individual property owner whose land may contain the site, but to all the people of Ontario.

Provincial archivist Donald McOuat said: "There are some very reasonable suggestions in the OAS brief but the scheme could involve a lot of money. The government will have to look at how much it's going to cost."

The brief has been passed along to Jack McNee, minister of colleges and universities.

Meanwhile, the Archeological Survey of Canada, a branch of the National Museums of Canada, and the Ontario ministry of natural resources are trying to compile a list of known sites across Canada and it may be computerized by 1977.

The $100,000 Ontario study, directed by Mr. MacLeod and involving 20 archeologists, found more than 100 sites in provincial parks last summer.

Most Roads Now Lead From Rome

ROME (AP) — Roads are beginning to lead away from Rome.

Unable to cope with bumper-to-bumper frustration in its historic centre, the city began an experiment that makes it easier to leave town and more difficult to get in.

Those who drive in will find themselves trapped in one of seven sections in the city's centre, hard to move in another section. Roads will lead them away from Rome before they can get to another part in the centre.

"Traffic commissioner Luigi Pallottini, who instituted the plan, calls it a rationing of the historic centre, where even chariots had difficulty in centuries past.

"We don't have room," he said, "so we are rationing Rome." The idea is to give less room to private cars, providing more space for buses and cabs.

The plan, even if it doesn't work, is ingenious because it may ease traffic congestion by making life difficult for motorists. Shopkeepers, restaurant owners and movie houses fear they will lose customers.

This follows the failure of Operation Gratis.

During last Christmas and for two months during the summer Rome offered free buses to peak commuting hours to see if Romans would part with their cars.

The bus line reported that riders increased 10 per cent, but nobody could show that traffic decreased correspondingly. Many pedestrians became bus riders. And if the husband took the free bus to work, nothing prevented mama from doing her errands with the car.

Doorman's Lot Changes

TORONTO (CP) — With hotels gaining fewer among travellers, the uniformed hotel doorman—the traditional greeting guy for strangers—is fast disappearing from the city scene.

You may still find him at the bigger hotels, to take your suitcase and exchange pleasantries, but the doorman is not the landmark of former years.

However, his breed is reappearing in different settings—at posh apartment houses and nightclubs, mainly for security at the former and to keep peptrons in line at the latter.

Frank Daly, senior doorman at the Royal York Hotel here, has been in the business a long time and has accommodated celebrities galore. But he said it isn't the job it used to be.

He remembers the late 1960s with mixed feelings now, when he would received $15 to $25 a day in tips from Bay Street wheeler-dealers to supplement his $19-a-week wages.

At Christmas, he would receive gifts from long-time hotel customers.

The clientele is different for nightclub doormen and the tips vary accordingly.

However, the hotel doorman's job has its compensations for those who like people, said Gordon Pauvey, doorman at the King Edward-Sheraton Hotel since 1954. His father was also a doorman at the same place.

"It's as easy to be pleasant as miserable," said the younger Pauvey.

Bed Sores Are Cured By Sugar

CHICAGO (CP) — Doctors have found that some substances used in healing may come right off the supermarket shelf. One of these is sugar.

Dr. James W. Barnes Jr., staff physician of the hospital in Glen Dale, Md., has reported an 80-per-cent cure rate over a five-year period in treating decubitus ulcers—better known as bed sores. Such ulcers can extend to the bone of a cripple, or even kill, bedridden patients.

Not only was there a high healing rate but there was improvement in ulcers which did not heal completely, Dr. Barnes told a clinical convention of the American Medical Association.

"I tried the sugar treatment out of sheer frustration, after other methods proved unsatisfactory," Dr. Barnes said. "The use of sugar is not new, but the way we apply it is: We pack the ulcer very full and use air-tight dressings."

Sugar heals, apparently, because of several things, Dr. Barnes said:

The irritating effect of the granules causes "local injury" and initiates wound-repair processes of the body; the acidity of the sugar solution tends to increase blood flow to the ulcer area, and the acid solution also kills bacteria.

The sugar treatment is applied daily and filling of a deep ulcer takes three to four months.

Decubitis ulcers, a serious problem now, will become more of a challenge in the next decade, Dr. Barnes said, because of medicine's ability to keep more and more chronically-ill patients alive.

The cost of healing a serious bed sore can run as high as $10,000, he said, and one study by the United States Veterans Administration showed that five per cent of the paraplegics with decubitus ulcers died because of those ulcers.

Rhodesia Has Many Canadians
SALISBURY, Rhodesia (CP) — "You'll meet no Canadians in Rhodesia," said a foreign office spokesman in London. "None."
That seemed reasonable enough in view of the white-ruled country's international isolation.
It even seemed credible after a glass of good Canadian whisky here and a dinner of fresh Canadian salmon—"less than 24 hours out of the water," the menu said.
But when the main live entertainment turned out to be a rock band from Vancouver, named Cannon, playing in front of a wall-sized Canadian flag, doubts crept in.
They were confirmed when the official magazine of the British South Africa Police carried a front-page photo of an RCMP officer from Hay River, N.W.T., getting married in a Salisbury church.

Passing Into History

While we are loathe to see any historic establishment go, the proposed demolition of St. Agnes Manor on Bridge Street is understandable for reasons advanced the other day.

The one-time private school for girls — actress-comedienne Beatrice Lillie was one of its students — and for many years now an apartment building, has been a Belleville landmark for well over a century. But it had a fire a couple of years ago and because of its age and condition the threat of a major outbreak cannot be discounted. Unique as it is, the structure, in short, has seen better days.

Beatrice Lillie — Lady Peel as she became on her marriage — devotes a page or two to the edifice, and to her education here, in her autobiography, Every Other Inch a Lady. Her upbringing in Toronto, the early flowering of her musical and comic talents, together with her sister and encouraged by their mother, also make fascinating reading. She came to St. Agnes Manor from Cobourg where her mother taught music.

As for the high-rise complex that is proposed, concern has already been expressed locally about its impact on the neighborhood. This is understandable, given past experience, and we note that Mayor Jeffrey is in touch with the developers to discuss citizens' interests in this matter. We should think though that a high-rise would not be all that out of place in this instance, since it is already a multi-dwelling site and there would be ample space for parking for the higher-density accommodation that is being provided.

Here then is another move in Belleville's rapid progress — one that will evoke nostalgia as well as an awareness of the growing practical needs of the community. We do not believe every building of this nature should be torn down — unless it is expedient and realistic to do so. This is one such instance. For the tenants, especially those of many years' standing, it will be a difficult parting and we trust that other accommodation will become speedily available.

And in Picton...

In a move reminiscent of Larry McMurtry's novel (subsequently made into an award-winning movie), The Last Picture Show, the proprietor of the Regent Theatre in Picton, Miss Louise Doyle, has announced the closing of the establishment.

As The Picton Gazette points out in its caption under a picture of the 50 year-old edifice, "Forced by lack of patronage the closing creates a large gap in the town's cultural heritage and available entertainment facilities."

It is too bad indeed, but television, plus the varied other interests of citizens today have militated against the cinemas, and particularly those in smaller centres like Picton.

We never did get to see a movie at The Regent, although we would note what was showing while passing through — and wasn't it only recently that there was a showing of a group of old classics including, as we recall, Little Women?

Ironically, beside The Gazette's picture of the theatre is a report of the monthly meeting of the Picton Fire Council. A number of Christmas-theme films were shown, along with other documentary-style presentations — from helicopter guidance of traffic in Montreal to ballet. And, perhaps an indication of the prevailing situation in small-town entertainment (or it could have been a bad night), it was noted that "only a small crowd attended. . ."

We take so much for granted, in both family and community life — and when there is a breakdown . . . an end to the affair . . . or the game is ended or whatever — we are at first puzzled, then a little annoyed as if we had suffered some deprivation, forgetting that when love — or patronage — dies so too can a person . . . or a business or a building.

Job Insecurity

Some in Government Ranks Anxious About the Future

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — "Hey you guys, I'm still the Prime Minister!" protested Pierre Trudeau in obvious indignation not long after the election, when the press, mostly itinerant American television and radio types, was showing him around as they never would dare treat their pet president.

And so he is, still Prime Minister, acting every inch and minute Number One as the government's moment of truth with Parliament's opening strikes today on the Peace Tower clock.

Let this be said for him too: when he barked at those Americans muscling and shouting at him as if he were some sort of — well, perhaps performing circus animal — they backed off.

The man has presence and an aura of quiet command when he wants to use it.

He and his minority Liberals are only two seats in the lead of the power hungry Conservatives.

He cannot count on the New Democrats who have been hearing from their constituents that they did not send them to Ottawa to prop up the extremely obviously unpopular Liberals.

And they cannot look to Real Caouette and his Social Crediters with anything like uncertainty.

There are no allies.

Not even friends for possible alliances.

Nowhere reassurance.

Everywhere there are signs — and talk in the aisles and corridors of Parliament — that he and his government as a party have only days, at best weeks, or in wildest flights of fancy till early Spring to survive.

Even his troops are quietly deferential.

Not openly deserting — not yet.

But some of the ministerial aides are quietly shopping around for job prospects should the political roof fall in.

Those — and there are plenty of them — who have not been serving as cabinet janizaries for the required minimum three years to get into the Civil Service, will be out in the cold, cruel competitive world again, on the slack employment market if the government gets a quick karate chop in the Commons.

Some are being driven to the desperate expedient of the letter end, after 'no good' life on the inside of the charmed power circle — of asking how chances are of returning to the news media, publishing, or replacing, to join the ranks of the chosen.

Those who have done the necessary three years of ministerial spear-carrying are faced with the dismal prospect, as one puts it, of vanishing into some obscure Civil Service niche, financially secure, but bored to tears.

They never think — and who would? — when the living is easy that their world can end.

But it has in the past. And it can again.

Though to watch Trudeau and Company you would never dream that they are all supposed to be living on borrowed time.

It is that old paradox. He carries it so well it rubs off on most of his cabinet lieutenants.

They go about their cabinet and departmental business like it is still glorious 1968 and all is right with their wonderful, best of all possible worlds, Canada.

The Prime Minister, still signing autographs for the patiently waiting kids and twinkling, as he does, at them; hops into the state limousine and is whisked off by the uniformed chauffeur with RCMP cars fore and aft.

The statements will come from his office as tablets brought down from the Mount.

"The Prime Minister says" . . . "The Prime Minister believes" . . . "The Prime Minister . . ."

And so do members of his cabinet. Even the cautious, newly appointed, rather new deputy ministers, let alone their responsibilities.

Out pour the press releases, the special reports, the statements of intent, the pronouncements and the silences.

Nothing has changed. Outwardly . . .

And the weird thing is that C - Conservatives, New Democrats and Social Credit seem to regard it as only the way things should be.

Perhaps it is strategy. Maybe bluff.

But it feels very much like the calm before the hurricane.

"We've decided not to remove the cast but this will help you get around."

Robarts—and Now Davis: A Study in Contrasts

By DON O'HEARN

From The Intelligencer's Queen's Park Bureau

Two men.

There's quite a difference in style between Premier William Davis and John Robarts; and as a dull moment exercise it's interesting to watch the contrasts as they come out.

As I recall, it already has been mentioned here that, Mr. Davis seems to love the hustings and the hand-shaking while finding the legislature and his obligations there a chore.

Robarts on the other hand had no love at all for the politicking but he found it hard work, while he genuinely liked the parliamentary end.

He thoroughly enjoyed a good debate—and rose to heights in some of them that Davis probably will never reach.

Two other contrasts have been coming to light as we see more of the new premier in office.

Evolution and Ideology

Editor,

The Intelligencer.

Like most Canadians I sympathize with the Vietnamese people, with North and South alike.

I feel however that the invasion of the South is not motivated entirely by political or economical consideration. It is largely in support of a system based on dialectical materialism. Communist expansion means the usual repression of freedom in new places. Religion is the main target. To get rid of God and the scriptures, the theory of evolution is used as a tool and Darwin is set on high as a prophet of scientific materialism.

Unfortunately this kind of atheism is not a patent of the Communist states. Much of the Western world have been propagating it for years.

The theory of evolution says that we are a product of a chance, a play of the nature. We have evolved from a dead mass, to which we shall return after life here has ceased to exist. In essence it says: There is no life beyond; therefore no destiny, no right and no wrong, no final triumph of truth and justice. No wonder so many young people have turned to drugs "to get a few kicks out of life before it is all over." In Russia it is mainly alcoholism.

In most schools the theory of evolution is presented as proven fact. Legitimate arguments or scientific evidence against it the books do not even mention.

Many college-educated men and women have been taught to accept evolution as fact of science but they are not of the great mass of evidence against the ill-very or the fact that many top-ranking geologists, physicists, biologists, botanists, geneticists and others do not believe in the theory of evolution but do believe in the Biblical account of the creation and have formed a Creation Research Society.

The Bible Science Association with a membership of over 2,000 scientists, has published recently a manifesto presenting 15 facts to disprove evolution. On top of the list is the argument concerning the second law of thermodynamics which contradicts evolution.

Considering new evidence against evolution and taking into account the historical accuracy of the Bible, as confirmed by archaeological discoveries, and by hundreds of fulfilled prophecies of the Old Testament (including many prophecies about Christ fulfilled in all details) it is not surprising that so many scientists have rejected evolution and have turned to the Bible.

Keeping this in mind young people may find a new direction for life and new ideals to live for.

World In Confusion

Editor,

The Intelligencer.

We should take off our rose-colored glasses and see the world as it really is, the spirit at Christmas time is very shortlived. Very often it is put away with the decorations.

It is a beautiful message: "peace on earth, goodwill toward men," but man has never been able to make it come true. No matter where you may look in today's world, or in fact in what society, there is precious little eternal peace.

"Do ii unto thy neighbor first before he pulls it on you" is many nations' motto. Kindness, hospitality, concern for another — even a smile — are considered normal, seem strange and odd.

There is much confusion today. There is confusion in our politics. Many of these men, looked up to as biblical "apostolists" say publicly that they aren't sure there is a God, that most of the Bible is a fairy tale, and the second coming of Jesus Christ is not fashionable to talk about at this time. It is little wonder that the average man is confused about the Bible. With so much confusion and turmoil in the world we should not come as a great shock to find peace of mind also rare. Peace will never come unless there is peace with God first.

The answer to all this is to let us look into the Bible, the Book of Life, and come to it for ourselves. Let us read the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20). God's law is the only way to peace of mind, and "peace on earth, goodwill toward men".

Brazil and India Cling to Capitalism and Democracy

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Not all the world's developing nations are taking the Marxist or leftist route of Russia, China and their allies. Brazil, one of the world's largest countries, is trying out old-fashioned, laissez-faire capitalism and is almost unique among the so-called LDCs (less-developed countries) in doing so.

India another vast nation, is sub-continent in its own right, is clinging to the democratic experience, in spite of the horrendous pressures which her uncontrolled birth rate and wide social differences put on elected governments.

India's first quarter century as a democracy has just finished with the unsolved problems of Indian nationhood perhaps outweighing the achievements of the 1947-1972 years.

The sharp differences between these countries mark so many less-developed countries are proportionately greater in India. Because they are greater, they make the peculiar frailty of long-term democracy more difficult.

The huge country's unbridled population growth, in spite of numerous birth control campaigns, is probably India's basic unresolved problem. In 1947 at independence, India (minus the Moslem provinces in East and West Pakistan) had a population of 350 millions. In 1973 that figure has jumped to about 540 millions. By 1990, at present rates, India will have one billion, mainly hungry and largely illiterate citizens.

About 400 millions of them at present are illiterate though India has a world-wide reputation for scholarly public officials and fine working nuclear power plants, (more than rich, underpopulated Canada).

The addition of millions of new babies each year has virtually wiped out the gains from production increases, augmented by three costly wars against Pakistan and one against China in the last decade.

Added to this has been the very large cost of feeding and transporting millions of East Pakistani refugees before and after the recent India-Pakistan War. And yet India can spend funds on building her own warships, aircraft and guns—is even considering the manufacture of basic nuclear weapons to secure her a place in that macabre club of great powers—the more who build and can use nuclear armaments.

India's frailties stem from social discriminations, chiefly the ones which isolate about 80 million so-called untouchables from the rest of the population; still defy solutions. Even when all the seats are electrified during mass government campaigns to modernize the countryside, the lives of the Untouchables are purposely ignored.

This intentional isolation of a major portion of the population, represents about four times the population of Canada.

Economically, India is becoming more and more like Eastern European satellites of the USSR with whom Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi has excellent relations. A new round of government decrees has ordered private industries to reduce profit levels.

The state's direct involvement in existing or new industry has become greater in the last decade. High-cost and totally uneconomical local manufacture of many consumer goods is growing has simply made them even more expensive for most Indians.

There have been some massive achievements, such as self-sufficiency in food which has been reached but when the refugee influx last year from present-Bangladesh.

Mrs. Gandhi was re-elected last year in a high popular mandate from a multi-party system election. Her result then in 1971 is the most fortunate for India to date.

Commandments Written Into Human Nature First

By REV. G. C. SMITH

Rules are indispensable. What is true of sports is true of general behavior. But most everything is under attack nowadays. This is the case with anything connected with "the Establishment". This is the case with anything associated with tradition.

If one is asked, what is to replace the "old fashioned" Ten Commandments, the answer inevitably will be a jumble. Proposals might include, "You shall consume it all" or "You shall not bother to wear clothes and wear lucky charms." Or, "Thou shalt do what thy individual conduct is conditioned by your glands. Covet your neighbor's wife, car, television set, everything that is his."

These principles represent a retreat rather than an advance. They are instead of ascent of humanity. The rules of conduct of the wrong were organized out of evolving mankind. Finding them there, Moses articulated them for the welfare of society. If revelation were not the other side of the coin of experience, who could recognize it? The Ten Command ments were written into human nature before they were written on tablets of stone.

At the same time, to be a significant person means to think and act positively. To maintain standard of virtue inspires a continuing quality of virtue. Negative laws may keep people stable; they offer little incentive for growth. Jesus Christ always accentuated the creative. This made him appealing. He explains his distinctiveness. He

God's fatherly role in the Parable of the Prodigal Son. He was the good Samaritan. No wonder he stayed his disciples. "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another, as I have loved you, that you also love one another."

This was to be a test of discipleship. Time and circumstances caused the disciple band to swell in numbers and to spread in various directions under the Roman Empire. They had unity in diversity. They were not so much driven together by external pressure as drawn together by love's compulsion.

While we see too many signs of man's inhumanity to man, it would be blindness not to see ways accentuated the creative. This made him appealing. He

Jesuit, Anglican, Presbyterian Join in Teaching Children

TORONTO (CP) — A Jesuit priest, an Anglican student and a Presbyterian Christian education worker are among the teachers of religion at the Catacomb Community.

Their pupils are a mixed lot of children in Grades 4, 5 and 6. They use music, film, games, the children's comments and questions, and own teaching skills and their own faith to teach the basic ground of and belief in Christianity.

The Catacomb project began with the concern of Ruth Herridge and Mary Elgour that Sunday schools were not well attended and not used well enough.

Mrs. Herridge said: "Children today in public schools have so much in the way of instruction. They're taken on field trips, get good first-hand experience from good teachers.

"Teaching has been done by churches in an uninteresting way in comparison with other learning situations."

They presented a brief to their own United Church and in time an ecumenical planning committee was formed. The project has encouragement and backing from local churches, from national church organizations, theological schools and some individuals.

Its first classes were held in the fall of 1971. It has about 40 grade-school pupils who meet for two hours once a week, after school in a building owned by one of the churches. A smaller intermediate group meets in evening sessions in someone's home.

Teachers are, for the most part, students and post-graduate students who have been evolving a flexible curriculum.

Mrs. Herridge said there have been no inter-denominational problems among the teachers.

"They wouldn't get involved in this unless their vision of Christianity is broad. They know what we're about, and they don't come unless they're interested.

"They work it out together. They don't hesitate to talk about differences, but because they're in this setting, they dove, a peace sign, a cross, a flag, the Star of David.

The small groups discussed symbolic actions and the general and particular meaning of symbols, from the miracles to act kneeling, laughing, hands, water as symbols.

The whole group tallied the findings of the small groups and discussed the small groups of their being together.

Mrs. Herridge said the group sizes are governed partly by facilities but also by the fact that small groups work best.

"It's almost a one to one kind of teaching. Not everybody is at the same stage of awareness and spiritual growth."

Mrs. Herridge said at least one other similar group is being organized in Toronto, and they have had requests from across the country for copies of their report on their first year, Sowing New Seed.

Church Council Headed By Catholic Lawyer

HALIFAX (CP) — When the election was over and the chaos made Halifax lawyer John F. Godwin emerged as the first Roman Catholic president of the Halifax-Dartmouth Council of Churches.

He was the choice of the members who represent nine denominations on the council. Mr. Ecumenism is what he has labelled over the years.

The 60-year-old Mr. Godwin says he at first was hesitant about becoming president because of his active role in the Roman Catholic Church.

"I feel very strongly about ecumenism and will try to put more emphasis on closer co-operation and closer ties between the different denominations."

In an interview he said: "Council should show leadership and guidance in expressing views on social problems such as strikes, unemployment and problems of youth, in a positive way."

With that comment, however, went the statement that he felt "in a positive way" should be expressed in a moral point of view rather than in a political manner.

"We are essentially a religious group," he said. The council "should distinguish right from wrong.

"We should not take sides in matters of politics, business, legislation and suchlike. But cause in these things we are not experts.

"Where right and wrong are in matters of politics, business, legislation . . . any pronouncements from us should be confined to pointing out one from the other but we should go no farther."

He has been a president of the Halifax-Dartmouth United Appeal, Children's Aid Society of Halifax and the Canadian Mental Health Association of Nova Scotia.

Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CORNELL

Do parents like to boss children?

NO, despite the many millions and fathers who buy the low dams to their children since frequently think they know best. Usually, discomfort arises as a result of parental being saddened with themselves after really trying to induce children to behave properly. When mothers and fathers believe they are being ignored, for instance, they react strongly by suppressing their anger in attempts to control it.

Can bad manners wreck a marriage?

NO, although repressed dreams about the course of a marriage can be disturbing. A wife, for instance, who secretly dreams that her marriage is breaking up may suffer if she unconsciously wants that to happen. Once she consults her doctor, she might find that her secret dream of freedom is a natural reaction that built up into a child-reaction from some harmless dream that sent her on her bad-mannered way.

Is everyone aiming for the top spot?

YES; or at least that is what everybody tries to tell himself. A person may keep his ambitions a secret, but in his heart he knows if there is a top spot, he'd like to be sitting on it. What he doesn't seem to tell always take the No. 1 position if all he has to do was push someone else aside. Everyone wants a bit bidden fear that he might not be able to fill the shoes of the one he would replace.

Ann Landers

Problem of Battered Child Everyone's Concern

Dear Ann Landers: You did more good than you will ever know when you printed a certain letter from years ago. That letter, I am sure, saved many little lives. I enclose the column which I have been carrying with me ever since. It is barely legible. Please, Ann, print it again. The problem of battered children is getting worse. Thanks, and God bless you.—California Reader

Dear Reader: Thank you for asking. Here it is:

Dear Ann Landers: Do you know how many little lives you might save if you informed your millions of readers that they need not stand by helpless while neighbors and relatives beat and neglect and abuse their children. Many cities and states have ordinances and laws to protect children against cruelty which is, of course, the result of sick minds. For God's sake, help those kids.

Here are the proper steps:

1. Take the child immediately to an impartial doctor or to a hospital for examination. Do not select your family doctor or a doctor who is a relative or personal friend.

2. If, after examination, the doctor says the child has been abused or criminally neglected, call a police officer and have the courage to sign a complaint. If you are asked to do so.

3. If the child is of school age, take Ann Landers' advice. A teacher can be an excellent witness. Teachers are those children day after day and they will know if the youngster has frequent bruises, cuts, or black-and eyes.

These days so many people are afraid to become involved. They say it is dangerous to poke your nose into other people's business. Please, Ann, tell them it helpless child is everybody's business.—L.A.

Dear L.A.: Bless you for your letter. Often people need encouragement to follow their better instincts. You have given it and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother and I are 14 and 12 years old. Mom died three months ago and it was a terrible shock to everybody. She was sick only a couple of weeks and we were sure she would be ok.

Everyone has been awfully nice to us and we are getting along pretty good. The problem is that Dad loses his temper, yells a lot and gets mad for no reason. He never used ho be that way. What can we do? — Ed and J.

Dear E. and J.: Nobody gets mad for no reason. In your dad's case he is probably unhappy, lonely, frustrated and missing your mother. The best thing you can do is try to understand. Time is a great healer.

Dear Ann Landers: Why do you think everyone who lives in New Haven goes to Yale? Don't you know that New Haven is a city of families, working people, old and young, rich and poor, professionals and non-professionals? You don't assume that every letter with a Boston postmark was composed by a Harvard student trying to put you on, do you? Why then do you immediately become suspicious of your New Haven correspondents?

You write a fine column and I have faith in your advice. If I had a problem I would not hesitate to write to you, but I'd drive to Hartford and mail the letter from there.—Connecticut Yankee

Dear Yank: I receive many letters from New Haven that are on the level. No fun and games. No faking out. But the best phones—the real beauts—do indeed come from New Haven—and they have a Yale flavor that is unmistakable. But thanks for the noble defence.

WARSOP, England (CP) — Called out hurriedly to an emergency blaze, one fireman in this Nottinghamshire force suddenly found himself unsuitably attired for the task ahead. In his rush to get out of bed and off to the fire station, he had slipped on his wife's nightie instead of his shirt.

Humanitarian Inspires World With Love

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Thank you so much for all you say. I was interested to read your article about non-violence and the quote from my book about what love is.

I pray that you may continue to be present to those who need you in your social work in your newspaper column.

As you will see by our newsletter, our communities are growing. May the Spirit of God guide you in all. — Jean Vanier, L'Arche, Trosly-Breuil, France.

Dear Jean Vanier: You do a tremendous job with the mentally ill children at L'Arche. I just hope the whole world gains inspiration from your work. Great.

Your brilliant story about the little child who sustained your father, our beloved late governor - general: "In Whom Shall I Trust" — and have brought an uplift to uncounted thousands.

• • •

Dear Doris: I think the poem "How Will It Be" would strike a chord deep in my heart, thinking of a past soldier lover, even with a kind enough husband & country.

I keep wondering if I should not have taken the first to ask. Do you suppose if I had I would be thinking of the one I have been married to for years now? If I am blue or lonesome my first love comes up for thinking.

I'm glad to know there are others thinking of someone they can't have; just a little wondering helps a person feel better. — Swamy.

Dear Swamy: I suppose in every life there are times and individuals which leave them in a state of indecision.

Sometimes it is because the girl is too young and too afraid to make a decision that marriage sometimes blows are off and non-professionals? You don't assume that every letter with a Boston postmark was composed by a Harvard student trying to put you on, do you? Why then do you immediately become suspicious of your New Haven correspondents?

You write a fine column and I have faith in your advice. If I had a problem I would not hesitate to write to you, but I'd drive to Hartford and mail the letter from there.—Connecticut Yankee

Dear Yank: I receive many letters from New Haven that are on the level. No fun and games. No faking out. But the best phones—the real beauts—do indeed come from New Haven—and they have a Yale flavor that is unmistakable. But thanks for the noble defence.

When one thinks back on such possibilities, one is thinking of the ideal. We tend to forget that day-to-day contact will reveal to us not only the virtues but the faults of those we love. We must learn to adjust our lives to. Marriage is something which is largely learned by failure. Love lasting on just how much understanding and maturity we are willing to put into it.

Many times I have wondered there is nothing quite so sweet and quite so magic as the first love. Perhaps the thing for you to do now is count your blessings, appreciate the companionship of your present partner and move away in the sweetness of that first dream. It did not materialize, so it is still just a dream.

Dear Doris: (1) What procedure does a husband take to obtain a legal separation from his wife? (2) On what grounds does a husband obtain a divorce? (3) How long does it take and approximately how much does it cost — Divorce Information.

Dear Divorce: You surely sound ready to chuck the whole thing! (1) See a lawyer. He draws up papers setting out the grounds for and terms of the separation. (2) Grounds for divorce include adultery, homosexuality bigamy, cruelty, mental illness, and marriage breakdown. (3) Costs vary. There is the do-it-yourself type which may come to around $100. With a complicated, contested case handled by a lawyer and involving custody of children and support, or other disputes, it could cost $500 or more. After the case is heard and decree nisi granted, there is a three - month waiting period before the decree becomes a fact.

THE REMARKABLE FIRST DAY

"And the evening and the morning were the first day." — Old Testament.

• • •

May we wish you a Most Prosperous and Happy New Year, Everyone!

"There's something awesome, exciting, about a first day; be it of a birth, an achievement or event. And somehow New Year's Day heads the list. It affects us all, as we stand on the threshold of a New Year. A first day is an open door, an usher, an instigator, a spur into the unknown, filled with promise, risk, ruled by Chance, by Fate," an elderly relative declares, adding:

"True, some first days are more important than others, often observed annually as anniversaries. Then there are first days that are obscure, almost unheard of, unsung. Yet truly important."

As we gather up the Christmas cards, lovingly displayed, our quiry, "Such as?" is at once answered by our informant, who continues:

"Well — take those cards for example. Have you ever thought we owe their safe arrival by an innovation given him, the advent of the postage stamp — namely, the penny post? That it's first day was recently discovered in a 19th century scrap-book, which contains an exchange of letters between a father and his daughter, in London, Eng land!"

"Interesting. But in what way?"

"Well, the first letter from this father to his daughter from his office at Tokerington Yard his daughter in Upper Norton Street, was sent on Dec. 5, 1839. It bears an octagonal date stamp, December 5, 1839 marked "2 A" showing it arrived at 2 o'clock in the afternoon."

The father in his letter asked his daughter to answer immediately, for he noted that it was "First Day of London Penny Post.

His daughter complied, and her letter also dated Dec. 5, 1839, bears an octagonal stamp date timed, "6E" for 6 o'clock that evening. The distance covered approximately three miles.

Such was a First Day back in 1839 of London Penny Post when postage rates were many as 6 to 10 a day and 4 to 5 parcel

Women Move In

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C. (CP) — In the last three years, five Prince George women have moved into jobs normally held by men in the pulp and paper industry. One woman, Gerry Muirhead, 19, who grew up in her father's logging camps and later worked in his machine shop, dons hard hat, coveralls, hard-toed boots and carries a gas mask to her job as mechanical draftsman at the pulp mill. "I like the work, but you sure have to have a good sense of humor," she said.

Opens Doors To Girls

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — Brentwood College school for boys opened its doors to girls this year. David MacKenzie, headmaster at the Vancouver Island school dna president of the Independent Schools Association of British Columbia, said: "I can hardly believe that the best preparation for university is monastic seclusion in the cloisters of a residential school in the country. I've heard it said one hundred thousand times, girls come out of private schools shy and boys are either shy or they go mad in the new-found freedom at university."

Climbing Controls

LONDON (CP) — No matter how experienced a climbing teacher, he should undergo character checks before being allowed to lead school mountaineering expeditions, a government report said. Traits of impulsiveness and disregard for safety can lead to tragic accidents which have been witnessed on British mountains in recent years, the report said. It also called for a complete ban on school expeditions during winter months unless led by qualified experts.

Short Hair Is In!

NEW YORK — These are examples of what to expect in the future in hair styles presented Wednesday at the Intercoiffure America showing in New York. It's the shortest look we've ever fled in the history of hair dressing," said Julius Caruso, fashion director of Intercoiffure America. (AP Wirephoto)

Woman Senator Directs Senate Without Fuss

OTTAWA (CP) — On the eve of Parliament's opening, when Senator Muriel Ferguson would become the first woman to sit in the Speaker's chair, she leaned over her polished desk her eyes twinkling in anticipation and the question was irresistible.

"Do you think Parliament should be abolished?"

The pause lasted just a second or two. "What a question!"

"No, of course not," she added, her face breaking into that warm smile which will serve her well when she begins presiding over the 102-seat upper chamber.

"I think the Senate serves a very important role and we now have more younger people who are going to draw a lot more interest from the public."

The friendly, down-to-earth New Brunswick Senator, a popular figure since her appointment to the red-trimmed chamber in 1953, doesn't understand why there should be any fuss over the fact a woman has been given the job of Speaker—"I am just a person"—but now that she's there, she intends to exert all her energies.

And despite her 72 years many would agree that her energies can reach monumental proportions.

Last year, while she no doubt was reading stories commenting on the soft life of senators, she was serving on committees dealing with the law, the constitution, poverty, health, welfare and science and the aged. She was in China in the spring, in Africa in the fall and the pictures she took, alone with her comments, entertained various organizations from coast to coast.

"Perhaps what I like most about this new position is that I am going to get an opportunity to meet a lot more people, particularly diplomats, and I am going to enjoy that. I have travelled a lot and I like to meet people from other countries."

There likely will be more entertaining in the huge, beautifully-finished Speaker's chambers.

Looking at the medieval magnificence of the beamed ceilings, the ornate oak bookcases and the expansive reception rooms, the new Speaker said matter-of-factly: "I don't see why we should have these expensive rooms if they are not going to be used."

And one thing she would like to use them for is entertaining small groups of Senators and MPs together. "I think this could contribute to a greater understanding between us.

"Anyway, I enjoy entertaining."

Being Speaker in the Senate doesn't require the same reference to tactics as in the more boisterous Commons—there is a tendency for disputes to settle themselves—but Senator Ferguson is busy honing up on the rules.

"I don't want to sound to self-confident, but I really don't see any problems in this respect.

"I am very fortunate that I am very friendly with both sides of the House."

Her desk was still piled with messages and letters of congratulations she received from most Senators—and hundreds of outsiders. "These," she said, "are very warm and encouraging."

Should the sprightly Fredericton lawyer run into any rules snags, it seems a certainty her gentle sense of humor will pull her out of difficulties. Others have managed without this gift.

Sitting in the high, velvet-covered office chair, she talked of changes in the Senate since she came to Ottawa 19 years ago.

The Senate is more vital now than it used to be, and it has been taking on a lot of studies, such as the one on the mass media, which, it didn't use to do.

"But it is more political, in a partisan sense, than it used to be, and I would prefer to see less of this.

"I think the Senate could do many jobs now going to royal commissions because when the studies are through we would still be around to continue to make recommendations. Royal commissions disappear."

Hats Accent Spring Styles

NEW YORK (AP) — Hat designers say the hat is bound to be an important accent as fashions reflect a more serious and conservative style for spring.

"The designers wanted a definite statement in hats because the clothes were so understated," said Frank Olive, hat designer who worked with designers such as Geoffrey Beene, John Anthony to co-ordinate his hats.

It's the return of the Great Gatsby era for the coming season, said Olive, echoing an already-popular theme for spring.

"Our life style is similar to the Gatsby era—in the classic wide-brimmed hats, the turban, the small-fitting cloches; there are baggier pants, both chunky and sensitive heels, crepe dachrines, and the tennis visor," said Olive, who showed his hats at the Millinery Institute of America's presentation Thursday.

Last year's funky colors, such as dark raisin and puce, have turned soft, and light-spirited. A pale lime green hat with roll brim was offered by Albrizio. Mr. Martin showed a "Straw berries-in-the-snow" version of the floppy gingham sport look.

The felt hat is bigger this year, as it is a good year-round hat. Try a small "peach melba" felt hat with a cornervatile hat, which is strong this spring. Or wear it with a matching peach dress.

Olive suggested a large-brimmed hat with pallazzo pants or with a pleated skirt and cardigan. Jack McConnell offered a dramatic double-brimmed black-and-white straw hat in this style.

The turban may be the most versatile of all, as it's good for evening the slinky sweater look or suits, said Olive, whose hats are priced from $9 to $40.

He showed: a white organza turban, set with a bunch of gar flenses in back.

Banana Batter Changes Into Three Quick Breads

Have you been baking lately?

Too much trouple? Too busy?

Banana 3-Way Batter makes a delectable banana tea bread, a batch of fabulous banana muffins, and a fancy-looking banana coffee cake that is no "big production" to do. Far from being demanding in time and technique breads are, this recipe is as easy as mixing cake.

The recipe has a built-in variety factor because you can make quick changes in flavor and texture by using raisins, dates, dried apricots, coconut, nuts, chocolate pieces or cranberries. That gives you plenty of room to be creative during your own thing.

Bananas are a good source of vitamins, minerals, and quick energy. They will add nourishment to your baking. They also help home baked breads to keep fresh longer with their natural moisture.

BANANA 3-WAY BATTER

½ cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1½ cups mashed ripe bananas (4 medium)
1 tbsp. lemon or lime juice
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp baking soda
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. grated lemon or lime rind
½ cup chopped nuts

In large mixing bowl, cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in bananas and lemon juice. Mix together flour, soda, salt, cinnamon and lemon rind; blend into creamed mixture. Stir in nuts. Make one of the following:

Coffee Cake: Turn into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in 350 degree F. oven 40 minutes, until cake tester inserted in centre comes out clean. Slice 2 bananas over top and Sprinkle with a topping of ½ cup packed brown sugar mixed with 2 tbsps butter.

Muffins: Spoon into 24 greased 2½-inch muffin pans. Bake in 350 degree F. oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Choreographers' Classes Needed

EDMONTON (CP) — The number of Canadian choreographers must increase if Canadian ballet is to develop, says former ballerina Lois Smith.

In Edmonton recently to work with the Alberta Ballet Company, Miss Smith said only a handful of Canadian choreographers exists at present.

"What's needed is a workshop type of group so that advanced choreography students could work out their ideas, and experiment and see what it looks like."

The Alberta Ballet Company, for its 1972 Christmas concerts, performed the Second act of Swan Lake, with choreography by Miss Smith.

"The company is very spirited," she said. "They're a very young and more eminent ballet companies. His most large companies maintain their own training Company as something of a groups, and competition is training ground for the larger troupe.

Waste Paper Pick-up Delayed

Extra garbage, a staff shortage and the loss of a working day placed Quinte Sanitation collectors behind schedule in their waste paper pickup this week.

The men, who make collections for the Belleville, Wednesday-Thursday and Friday of every week, were unable to re-ch East-Hill streets Friday due to the heavy load. They carried out this morning completing the work.

Garry Rock, the man who organized the paper recycling drive, said the first week of January is the busiest time of the year for sanitation workers. Huge garbage piles, coupled with the holiday Monday and two men off-duty sick, forced Quinte Sanitation owner John Graham to take one of the trucks normally used for paper and re-assign it to garbage duties.

January's haul is expected to total about 25 tons, matching the performance of the first three months of paper pick-ups.

Mr. Rock says 50 tons is needed if the operation is to break even financially.

"We're gathering maybe 10 per cent of the paper that's around," he said. "At that, we're still getting more per capita than Toronto and most other centres."

He said a meeting will be held next week with Mr. Graham to discuss future plans. Quinte Sanitation is committed to the end of the drives.

Mr. Graham really wants to make this thing go," commented Mr. Rock. "You couldn't ask for better co-operation."

Main problem has been unloading the paper at Belleville Metal and Waste each month. The job must be done by hand, a lengthy and expensive task since 25 tons of paper would more than fill a large house.

Despite the difficulties encountered so far, Mr. Rock remains optimistic about recycling's chances for success in Belleville. His main concern is with alerting people to the program and its aims. "We just don't know what the answer is," he said. "How do you reach people?"

Western Municipalities Not Hastings-oriented

Reluctance has been voiced by at least two local government leaders over prospects their municipalities would be ...ed into Hastings County by regionalization in the Oshawa-Cobourg area.

The comments came late this week during a special session of the Northumberland-Durham United Counties council, discussing the Dec. 18 provincial proposal to create a regional government area reaching east from Metro Toronto almost to Colborne.

As a result, nine Northumberland townships and urban centres would be amputated from their traditional county alignment and become part of Hastings.

The implication is the bloc would become part of a future regional government, likely centred on Belleville.

Reeve Delbert McLaughlin, whose municipality of Colborne would be one of the new Hastings urban communities, said he was disappointed the town was not included in the Oshawa-Cobourg region.

Colborne is oriented toward Cobourg and cannot be part of a Belleville region, he said. It cannot become part of a Belleville - centred municipal sector.

The only alternative for Colborne, if the provincial government plan is approved intact as proposed, would be to align the town with a regional government based on Peterborough to the north, said Reeve McLaughlin.

"The Hastings County council doesn't want any part of having more municipalities," he claimed. It is rather a grim outlook when our municipality will be forced on Hastings and they don't want it."

Last month, when the new region was proposed, Carl Bateman, Hastings administrator, said inclusion of nine new municipalities from Northumberland would create "turmoil" in Hastings county administration.

The move would mean two administrative reorganizations within a relatively brief period. The first if the nine were joined to Hastings. The second, when regional government arrives for the Bay of Quinte area, a proposal expected within the next two or three years.

Meantime, Derek Little, municipal planning consultant, told the special session of the United Counties council that, if another government bloc was centred on Belleville, its westerly boundaries would be more equitably located" between Cobourg and Belleville.

The Oshawa-centres proposal also drew strong criticism from the Toronto consultant.

The United Counties council meeting produced a request for a one-year extension of the Feb. 28 deadline given by the provincial government for consideration of its Oshawa-Cobourg regional plan.

The council also voted to try to remain intact as a governing group — presumably as some form of regional government in Northumberland - Durham.

It's A Wrap-up

A 20-ton hovercraft is on its way to the Northwest Territories from CFB Trenton . . . in pieces. Five Hercules aircraft from 435 Squadron, CFB Edmonton, are making the delivery of the dismantled machine. York Trading Closes Warehouse

York Trading Ltd.'s 24 employees were given notice yesterday that the Belleville warehouse will be shut down within a month.

"This is black Friday," said York Trading's manager James Mansbip in making the announcement.

"I'm out too," he said, adding that there is "absolutely no guarantee" of future employment with other companies for the employees laid off.

The need for complete modernization of York Trading's building at 133 Station St., was given by Mr. Mansbip as the reason for closing the Belleville branch.

To get on a competitive basis would require modernization of the entire operation and there is no way the old building could be used; it would require a new building altogether and that would cost too much money." he said.

Mr. Mansbip said he had no idea what would happen to the premises after his firm closes, but he surmised it would be sold.

York Trading, with headquarters in Brantford, is also closing its Peterborough and Owen Sound branches. It will retain three warehouses — those at Bramalea, Kitchener and Orillia.

The official announcement said the "food stores and other accounts of York Trading in this area will be serviced by the local branch of National Grocers.

Both National Grocers and York Trading are subsidiaries of Loblaws.

Mr. Mansbip said he hoped the retail outlets now buying from York Trading will keep on for their trade to National Grocers "to keep the trade local."

National's manager, W. G. Slade, said that it was too early to say yet whether or not his company would pick up York Trading's business.

"We're already selling to their customers; we're not soliciting the trade between us, he said.

National, with 28 employees, will become one of two Belleville wholesale grocery distributors. The other is Belleville Foods Wholesale Ltd., run by Peter Zegouras.

Mr. Slade said that Mr. Zegouras said he expected his business to be unaffected by the phasing out of York Trading. Belleville Foods deals exclusively in frozen foods, fresh fruits and vegetables.

York Trading began operating on Coleman St. in Belleville 40 years ago and moved to its present Station St. location in 1935. One of the 24 employees given notice yesterday was with the company on Coleman St., now retired, in 1935 and another has worked for it since 1938.

"It is bleak to look to the open labor market to find something," said Mr. Mansbip, who has been with the local branch since leaving the army 13 years ago.

York Trading will give severance pay to all employees with over five years' service with the company. There has never been a pension plan for employees here.

Mr. Mansbip said he would contact local businesses in try to find jobs for York Trading people. He said National Grocers will give consideration to some of the staff if its business increases as a result of York Trading's closure.

Province to Rule On QPB Defectors

An announcement is expected from the provincial government in the next few weeks which will spell out the future of Brighton Village and Township and Trenton Township in the Quinte Planning Board.

While the Quinte Planning Board met last night, a simultaneous meeting was being held in Belleville between the three municipalities and the provincial government.

Eleven months ago, these three municipalities were getting no benefit from their membership on the QPB and walked out of a meeting.

Ed Corsiex, representing the Ministry of Social, Economic and Intergovernmental Affairs at last night's closed meeting said this morning he was there to appreciate the position of the three municipalities in their dealings with the planning board.

He would make no comment on the status of the talks but said his minister, Charles MacNaughton, was the would relay information to, would make an announcement "hopefully in the next two weeks regarding the trio's re-entry into the planning group.

Rapido Derailed

COBOURG — A Belleville railroad crew, along with a Toronto man, miraculously escaped injury when the CN's crack Montreal - Toronto express left the rails near here last night.

Today clearance and repair equipment from Belleville and Belleville were at the scene manoeuvering the train back onto the rails.

Minor cuts and bruises were the only reported injuries as the swift 11-car train left the tracks — but remained upright while it was travelling at what passengers estimated was more than 70 miles an hour.

Passengers told of hylterius, flying ashtrays, luggage, breaking glass and people being flung against walls and floors of coaches.

A^CN spokesman at Port Hope said it is believed the derailed gear was the leading half-mile of track was torn up by the derailed engine a few minutes after it left Belleville for Toronto and stopped to change crews.

The passengers, who remained in the derailed cars, were later transferred to the slower Bonaventure, which stops at local stations — including Belleville — on the Belleville - Toronto route, said a CN official.

Although the first major derailment of its kind in years in the CN's Belleville-centred Rideau area last night, it created no service tieups, James Gilmore, chief despatcher at Belleville, said last night.

There are four main lines in the area and this made rerouting of other trains easy said Mr. Gilmore.

Provincial police at Cobourg said the incident created no road traffic problems since the derailment occurred on a section of track unbroken by level crossings.

The Rapido left Belleville with its new crew — including engineer Robert Desmarais, RR 1, Belleville — about 8.15 p.m. The derailment occurred about 8.53 p.m.

George Van De Water, CN Rideau manager, and other railroad officials from Belleville went to the derailment scene to make an on-the-spot investigation.

Hoisting cranes and clearance crews were immediately rushed from Toronto and equipment to repair damaged rails despatched from Belleville.

Making It Rough

Public works crew roughens up icy sidewalks with sand on Belleville's William Street yesterday to provide better traction for pedestrians. Crews were taken off discarded Christmas-tree collections to man day-long drive to cut wintry hazard on city streets.

City Mounts Blitz on Ice

Belleville public works department yesterday set sandy Christmas trees for sidewalk safety.

A day-long drive saw works crews ordered to concentrate on city-wide sanding of pedestrian walkways, glazed in recent days by a hazardous ice coating.

To man what was termed an "all-out blitz" on the problem, crews were switched from discarded Christmas tree pickups onto sanding of operations.

Postal authorities earlier this week noted that icy conditions were creating treacherous working conditions for city mailmen.

But a works official said yesterday's sanding was "not particularly prompted by any complaints.

"Just the general conditions called for it," he said.

The conditions were caused by temperature changes causing thaws and freeze-ups which changed the weather into an ice-making machine.

It was hoped the sanding operation would cover the city's street network in a day, said the official.

Crews would return to Christmas-tree pickups next week.

Computer Coming

Computer - assisted instruction came to Hastings county for the first time yesterday, with the installation of a computer terminal in Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc. The terminal will be hooked up to a computer in Toronto and will be programmed for assistance in regular school courses, concentrated on maths and science at the beginning.

The unit is being borne by a research grant from the provincial government, which will be studying its use in the school.

Moira Secondary in Belleville is expected to be the next school to get a computer. It will be a standalone operation, designed to allow students to program the computer themselves and gain "hands on" experience.

Loyalist College is already using a computer terminal for student instruction in the math department, but Centre Hastings' installation will be the first in a county secondary school.

Monster Hovercraft Off for Northern Trials

By IAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Airlifting of the world's only large manned freight - carrying hovercraft began late Friday morning from the Armed Forces base here to Tuktoyaktuk in the Northwest Territories.

The 20-ton prototype hovercraft was built by Bell Aerospace System of Grand Bend, Ontario, a division of Textron Industries of Buffalo, N e w York.

Purchased by the Ministry of Transport, for close to $1.5 million, the air cushion-riding vehicle has been undergoing extensive tests to prove its adaptability for use by the Department of National Defence, Department of Indian Affairs, Canadian Coast Guard, the Environment as well as the transport ministry.

A series of tests to be conducted over the next three months along the Mackenzie River, from Tuktoyaktuk to Great Slave Lake, will conclude the trials, begun shortly after purchase in August of 1972.

Roger H. Poitras, project manager for the transport ministry, said Friday the possibilities of this Voyageur hovercraft are limitless, especially for the opening up of northern Canada.

"The north is opening up to development and transportation is vital. It's transportation that held the country together," he said.

This particular hovercraft is particularly suited to travel in the Canadian north. Its 20-ton size and more than 25-ton carrying capacity does not come under the heading of a heavy load, but Mr. Poitras explained it operates on a cushion of air amounting to only half a pound per square inch.

Because of the nature of soil, or more properly, tundra, conventional vehicles leave tracks over the northern terrain that do not even heal and can still be seen 20 years later. "This summer we hope to put a little life in the grass with the Voyageur," he said.

He also said there will be some commercial trials made during the nine - month eral oil -drilling operations in the area will be made, to test the vehicle's use in that field.

From the mouth of the Mackenzie River to Great Slave Lake, the hovercraft will be put through its paces . . . oil ice, water and frozen ground.

Shipping along the Mackenzie is extremely hazardous because of the shifting beds and shoals that prove a daily challenge to ships, but it is hoped little challenge to the hovercraft.

Both Mr. Poitras and Charles Chadola — a ministry employee on loan to Northern Transportation Company, Ltd., a corporation that is conducting the tests, outlined the history of the hovercraft project.

Under the auspices of the ministry's Transportation Development Agency, Bell Aerospace built Voyageur 002.

Operating out of Port Hope, Northern Transportation began tests. The Canadian Coast Guard provided two seamen and an officer for each of the operations to a great extent conducted on Lake Ontario.

The Voyageur is designed to operate in shallow conditions, and at high speed. It can operate as a ferry; transport buses and other vehicles, including ambulances; would be invaluable for search and rescue operations where conditions would keep most search planes or helicopters from flying; can be used to transport supplies to remote areas by land, or to ships at sea; can be used to install buoys by way of an attachable crane; and is adaptable for the measuring and charting of northern depths.

During the course of its tests, the hovercraft was brought to CFB Trenton, in November of 1972. There the twin rotary - engine air-cushioned vehicle was examined for smoothness during transportation of ambulances.

Carrying a two - man crew, it can reach speeds in excess of 40 knots, and can travel 320 miles without refuelling.

While in Port Hope, Voyageur 002 took part in a dramatic rescue of three men who had dived death in Lake Ontario on September 15. The pair had been retrieving a balloon for Ontario Hydro, when their boat sank. No rescue vehicles were available on such short notice. Port Hope's police chief asked for Mr. Chadola's help and he responded by calling the hovercraft into action.

"It was a first - hand example of its rescue potential," Mr. Chadola said.

For the final phase, the hovercraft had to be dismantled and transported to Tuktoyaktuk, just north of Inuvik in the NWT.

Transporting a 20-ton hovercraft thousands of miles into Canada's downhill belt is simply a matter of dismantling the monster and packing it into the rear of a cargo plane.

In fact, it is taking no less than five military Hercules aircraft from 435 Squadron CFB Edmonton, to transport it from CFB Trenton.

The first of these flights, to continue until the first of next week, left here at 11 a.m. Friday. Loading was handled by AMU (Air Movements Unit) personnel at the base.

Both ministry employees claim Canada has reached a milestone in the history of the world race to develop bigger and better hovercrafts. While many countries either have developed hovercrafts or are in the process of design or perfecting prototypes, the Voyageur class is the only mass - weight - carrying vehicle of its kind.

Therefore, say Poitras and Chadola, all eyes, government and private, are being focussed on this final trial stage.

Owners Seek Settlement

QUEBEC (CP) — The new World Hockey Association plays its first All-Star game today and probably owners of clubs in the 12-team, two-division league would like to settle their common problems as easily as the players can.

The game, featuring the best players from the east division against the west all-stars, was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. EST and will be carried nationally in English by the CBC television network and in French throughout Quebec, by the privately-owned TVA network.

Regular league action resumes Sunday afternoon when Winnipeg Jets visit Minnesota Fighting Saints in St. Paul in that city's new 16,500-seat arena opened Jan. 1.

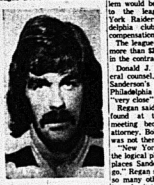
That game will be televised nationally in the United States by the Columbia Broadcasting System beginning at 1:30 p.m. eastern standard time.

Off-ice activities of the league are likely to continue in committee rooms and through numerous telephone conversations for the next two weeks.

The 12 team owners concluded day-long meetings Friday without a definite decision on three major topics.

They had not decided on a future home for the attendance-starved Ottawa Nationals or new owners for the league-operated New York Raiders.

Also still hanging was the future of centre Derek Sanderson, who left the National Hockey League Boston Bruins in favor of the WHA Philadelphia Blazers.



DEREK SANDERSON

Sanderson, injured for most of the season, has not played many games for the Blazers. It was reported Friday night that the club and player were ready to disengage if a suitable settlement could be arranged.

Opinion differed here on how the Sanderson situation will eventually be settled.

It had been reported a likely solution to the Sanderson problem would be for him to move to the league-operated New York Raiders with the Philadelphia club getting $500,000 in compensation.

The league would pick up the more than $2 million remaining in the contract.

Donald J. Regan, WHA general counsel, said Friday night Sanderson's problems with the Philadelphia Blazers could be "very close" to a solution.

Regan said a solution was not found at the general WHA meeting because the player's attorney, Bob Woolf, of Boston was not there.

"New York would be one of the logical places and one of the places Sanderson would like to go," Regan said. "But there are so many other things we must have for it to fall into place."

But Bill Hunter, a WHA trustee and vice-president and general manager of Alberta Oilers labelled reports of such settlement as untrue.

"The report is not true", Hunter said. "The league will not pick up any part of Sanderson's contract."

Hank Heads OHA Scorers

TORONTO (CP) — Henry (Hank) Monteith is without a team.

But the way the former National Hockey League player was performing in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series before his team, Oakville Oaks, disbanded last week, he won't be unemployed for long.

The 27-year-old native of Stratford, Ont., rang up 17 goals and 26 assists for a league-leading 43 points in the OHA Senior scoring race before Oakville pulled out.

Monteith, who played 43 games with Detroit Red Wings two years ago, became a free agent this week along with 18 other Oakville players.

Galt Hornets, Orillia Terriers and Barrie Flyers, in their perennial struggle for league honors, are said to be among the clubs attempting to land Monteith.

Kurtenbach Resting

VANCOUVER (CP) — Team captain Orland Kurtenbac of Vancouver Canucks is in satisfactory condition and "resting comfortably" in hospital after surgeon removed an infected gall bladder Friday.

However, team-mates, in Pittsburgh for a game Saturday night, should not be resting as comfortably after the first day of two-a-day practices president Tom Scallen and members following the National Hockey League team's 11-3 pasting Wednesday in Oakland.

The new routine includes morning and afternoon workouts and chalk-talks in the evening.

Coach Vic Stasiuk says he believes the new practice sessions will be good for the team.

But apparently not for every member of the club. Stasiuk announced Friday he had indefinitely suspended Bobby Lalonde because the right winger repeatedly failed to execute a skating drill to the coach's satisfaction.

Stasiuk called Lalonde's action "defiance."

Ranger Wrecks Still Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Emile Francis has kept his New York Rangers within shouting distance of first place in the National Hockey League East despite a season-long run of injuries that would fill a good sized hospital ward.

"Maybe we have turned the corner," the Ranger coach says. At the halfway mark in the season, Francis installed the current list to injuries and figures they add up to 16 players.

Brad Park is ready to take his turn at defence after missing all games, but Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield both were hurt playing against St. Louis Wednesday night. Gilbert's right hand was so puffed up after being jammed by Blues' Fran Huck that he could hardly hold a stick in Friday practice.

Hadfield has been troubled for weeks with a tender left knee and the injury was aggravated when he slammed into the boards Wednesday night.

Francis was beaming after Park worked out with his right knee in a brace.

"We're going to spot Brad on the odd shift, work him on the powerplay and have him do a little penalty killing," he said Friday.

'Brad had a real good scrimmage Thursday and the knee didn't bother him. You know what that means for the powerplay, having Brad out there.

"I've always said power plays win your games and penalty killers save them."

During the run of injuries to defencemen, the forwards had to carry a good part of the defensive load, Francis said. They used to play a wide-open, checking game.

That's why we've been able to stay only four points back of Montreal and Boston despite the injuries."

Meanwhile, the cast is off Fred Irvine's left ankle and he's walking.

Warnings are being sounded that New York Islanders may be in for trouble at the gate because once-loyal fans are getting fed up over the poor showing of the expansion club. What one writer called the Islanders' consistently inept performances," are beginning to turn the public off.

The Islanders, who play in the new Nassau Coliseum, have won only four games in 38.

Red Foley, writing in the New York Daily News, says: "Indicating Phil Goyette for the style of play, isn't the answer. The coach can't make an omelet without an egg."

Quintes Top Russians In Stunning 2-1 Victory

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

The puck slid. It slithered. It snuck past mesmerized Moscow goalie Vladimir Polupanov for the goal that gave the Belleville Quintes a 2-1 win over the visiting Russian Dynamos in their Friday night exhibition hockey game.

The defeat proved to be a bitter bucket of borscht for the Soviets in more ways than one as they concluded the Quintes 43-19 but still absorbed their first defeat by a Canadian team in tournament or exhibition play.

"Our whole team played poorly," informed glum Dynamos coach Arkadi Dennistow through an interpreter. "The second goal was a mistake by our goaltender, but he played well in the first period, whereas, who was not a gold mine of catchy quotes in any language, praised the work of the Quintes by saying, "The Belleville team played very well."

"The mistake" he was referring to came in the last of Thurlby's winning tally at 15.48 of the final period. The playing - coach of the Kingston Aces, on loan to Belleville for the game, picked up a pass from Lorne O'Donnell and slid a seemingly harmless shot towards Polupanov. His chip shot brought the crowd of 1,700 to their feet, however, when it eluded the Dynamos netminder for the final and deciding goal.

"It didn't hit anyone and it didn't bounce," admitted a dejected Polupanov. The Russian goalie had no reason to make excuses, because despite the visitors wide margin in shots on goal, it had been the Quintes who had the majority of clear cut scoring chances 'til then.

The Dynamos had shown flashes of their famous pattern passing play which allowed them to work into the clear for good scoring chances, but nullified those on numerous occasions with atrocious shooting.

When the Soviet team was on target, Belleville goalies Ron Jury and Karl Bagnell proved all but unbeatable. Jury turned in a strong effort for the first 28 minutes, while Bagnell played superbly for the remainder of the contest as the Dynamos dominated play in the final stages. Bagnell was beaten on only one of 26 shots in the third period, while Thurlby's winning goal was one of only five scoring chances by the Quintes in that space of time.

"I wasn't impressed with their shooting. They weren't picking the corners. Our defence played really well," said Bagnell after the game. The only time that he was bothered by the Soviets' passing plays came on a third period penalty, "I was getting dizzy watching them throw the puck around," he admitted.

Jury felt much the same way about the Moscow attack. "They get their shots away really fast, but they're not that hard." He was impressed with the opposition's passing plays, however. "I worked up a sweat just watching them warm up," he deadpanned.

The Quintes missed yet another opportunity when Nazarpassed.

Karl Grills gave Belleville a 1-0 lead at 9.41 of the opening period, banging a rebound between Polupanov's pads. Ken Knapton had provided the spadework on the play by digging the puck out of the corner.

Minutes later Al Ferguson blew a great scoring chance when he missed the right hand corner after picking up a loose puck in the slot and walking in unmolested. The Dynamos had some good chances of their own in the first period but were foiled when Jury gloved a hard drive from defenceman Valery Nazarov and again when Bob Edmunds flattened Igor Samochernov before the Soviet player could convert a rebound.

The second period was a scoreless with the Quintes having two good scoring chances despite being outshot 11-8. Polupanov foiled Ferguson on a one in alone early in the period and defenceman Tom Creighton who couldn't raise the puck over the fallen Moscow goalie on a similar play.

The home team had another chance to put their lead in the opening minutes of the third period when Ferguson sent George Godwin in alone only to have the Russian goalie deflect his shot enough to hit the post.

Moscow tied the score at 5.33 of the final frame when Viacheslav Solokhin picked up a free puck on the left wing boards and passed to Victor Shilov in the slot. Shilov's quick wrist shot caught the lower right hand corner for a 1-1 tie.

The Quintes missed yet another opportunity when Nazarov blocked the puck to John McConnell in front of the Dynamos' net only to have Polupanov deflect the Belleville centres' backhand attempt over the net.

The rest of the period belonged to Bagnell who made two difficult saves to maintain the tie before Thurlby's winning goal and outstanding stops on Shilov and Anatoli Motorilov after the go ahead goal.

"I knew we could check like this . . . if we ever started checking," said winning coach Wayne "Wiener" Brown. The Quintes' forwards indeed made things easier than expected for the defence and goalies by continually coming back with the Russian wingers.

Russians Short-Shirted ?

Never look a gift horse in the mouth. But what about a gift shirt?

That was the question officials of the Belleville Quintes and Moscow Dynamos were asking prior to last night's hockey game.

The Quintes were willing to skip the entire matter. They, in co-operation with Deacon Brothers and the city, had purchased 25 shirts — valued at $27 each — to present to Dynamo players at a pregame ceremony. But when 28 Russians showed up, somebody had to go barehead.

An official with the Moscow club wasn't so happy about making the sacrifice, however.

"This great bear of a man was really mad," said Quintie executive Gary Rock afterwards. "They really like their gifts."

With only minutes left until game time, Gary jumped into his car and sped back to Deacon Brothers where he retrieved another shirt. Pacified, the official expressed thanks before disappearing behind the Moscow bench.

Paul Grills Scores First For Quintes

Eating Words Can Be Fun

by

Eric Emerson

Sports Editor

If you think the Intell sports column makes for dry reading cheer up. At least you don't have to eat the damn thing.

In my infinite sports wisdom I promised that if the Belleville Quintes could come within four goals of the Moscow Dynamos I'd eat my doubting words. They did. In fact they did a little better than come close. The Quintes became the first Canadian team to defeat the Dynamos, taking a 2-1 verdict Friday night.

Well I tried fellas. Honest. Two quarts of vodka, five pounds of caviar and a pickled Russian herring just weren't enough to force it down. The only thing that kept me from strangling on my fractured syntax was the fact that all over Belleville people were doing the same thing — eating their words.

Did anyone really believe that the Quintes were going to beat one of the top hockey teams in the Soviet Union? Only 1700 people in the city thought the game would be close enough to warrant the three dollar admission price.

It should also be noted, in presenting a case for my sorry pre-game prediction, that three of the top Soviet players, including national team members Alexander Maltsev and Valery Vasiliev were airlifted out of Toronto to play in the World Cup tournament in Colorado rather than the Ontario competition.

The fact that some top Russian stars were missing certainly doesn't take anything away from the Quintes' win. It would be a little like saying they "only" beat the Buffalo Sabres because Gilbert and Rick Martin weren't in the lineup.

* * *

For all of the talk about their tremendous skating ability, few if any of the Russians appeared to outclass speedsters like George Godwin or Ken Knapton in that department. Dynamos' passing was impressive. Very impressive at times. But as Lionel Botty put it after the game, "I really thought their passing would be better than it was. I thought they'd never miss."

While Soviet coach Arkady Chernushov wouldn't admit it in so many words, his team appeared to take the exhibition encounter a little too lightly. At one point in the game their top player, Valery Nazarov, leaned an elbow against the end boards and stickhandled with one hand while waiting for a play to develop. It was a hot dog manoeuvre that would have turned Dave Sanderson green with envy, but was hardly in line with the scientific Russian approach to the game.

* * *

If the Russians didn't realize that they suffered a tremendous blow to their esteem at this game, after all, many of the 1700 fans in the arena have seen the Quintes at home.

And in case the Quintes didn't realize it, they presented themselves with a pretty tough act to follow. If you can say tough, hitting, backchecking hockey against what is supposed to be one of the top teams in the world, how can anyone excuse another 14-1 loss to the Barrie Flyers?

And finally, in case Belleville fans didn't realize it, we're still a bunch of homers". It must have given the players a boost to hear the "Go Quintes Go", chant that seemed headed for extinction. However, the cheer reached its loudest peak AFTER the Quintes scored their second goal. At that time they hardly needed a boost, but some vocal support might have proved helpful when the Russians had tied the game 1-1 in the final period.

Lose 3-2 To Waxers

Late Lapse Kills Bobcats

Belleville Bobcats came within 42 seconds of earning a Metro Junior B post Friday night. Unfortunately for the Cats, that was as close as they came.

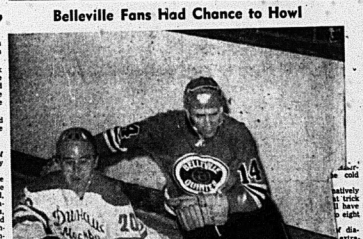
Markham Waxers scored at 19.18 of the third period to earn a 3-2 win over the visiting Belleville Juniors. The winning tally came from Paul Crowley who scored on a rebound after Bobcats' goalie Bob Moore had stopped linemate Brian Dillon on a breakaway.

The losers had opened the scoring at 18.34 of the first period with Jim Richardson collecting assists from Brian Cousens and Rick Meeks in order to give Belleville a 1-0 lead. The Waxers replied less than a minute later with Bill Bishop getting the tally.

The Bobcats again assumed the lead at 2.02 of the second on a goal by Mark Costes, but Marty Prentice's unassisted marker tied the game at 2-2.

Joe Pileggi faced 32 shots in the Markham nets, while Bob Moore was tested 25 times for Belleville.

The Bobcats drew 14 of the game's 28 penalties which included a game misconduct to Tom Yoke in the second period and third period fighting majors to Rick Meagher of Belleville and Markham's Steve Davies.



Belleville Fans Had Chance to Howl

Gamble Has Heart for Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — Bruce Gamble has enjoyed playing hockey for several reasons but he always gets back into the game.

Always a journeyman and sometimes a regular, the 33-year-old native of Thunder Bay, Ont., now serves for Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League.

Gamble doesn't really want it that way but his life and career were set back in February in a game with the Canucks in Vancouver.

Gamble had a hot streak going with Philadelphia but in the third period he fell down and couldn't get up. He had had a heart attack.

He recalled the incident in a recent interview, saying he asked his defenceman Barry Ashbee who hit him and was told it was nobody.

"We liked it in Philadelphia a lot, and I was finally making money," said Gamble, the father of three boys. "I figured for the next four, five years I'd be making $40,000 easy, maybe $50,000. That'd do things for my pension."

The pension fall he had signed for $38,000 for the season.

Gamble quit Providence Reds of the American Hockey League eight years ago because he couldn't get along with coach Eddie Shore. Instead of playing, he worked in the grain elevators in Thunder Bay.

When demoted to Rochester of the American League from the Toronto Maple Leafs in the late 60s, he quit again.

But he always came back and was known around the league as a man who could be counted on to be one of the last to wear a face mask.

"I had 14 pretty good years," he says. "I miss the guys, though, the playing."

Soon after, he adds:

"I enjoy the fellowship of the scouting. They're a pretty good bunch. It'll be okay."

Gamble, a man who once played out of places like Providence, Portland, Springfield and all the National Hockey League rinks, now lives in Toronto and scouts such places as Kitchener, Peterborough and Oshawa.

"There's a lot of time on your hands," says the man who has become a professional at packing suitcases. "I see maybe three, four games a week but there's not much to do all day.

"I wouldn't mind trying coaching. I think I could coach if something like that turned up."

When he played in Toronto, he usually played in away games and Toronto Maple Leaf owner Conn Smythe once labelled Gamble as one of the "hewers of wood and carriers of water."

"I never saw a guy with more guts or more desire. He'd never put another guy on the spot. He'd go when he had the flu, too, when he should have been in bed. Boy, he had the desire."

Draper Leads Terriers To Win Over Brantford

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — Mike Draper scored two goals and assisted on two others Friday night to lead Orillia Terriers to a 6-4 victory over Brantford Foresters in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game.

The four points give Draper the lead in individual scoring with 31 points, two more than Hank Monteith of the defunct Oakville Oks, who previously had held the lead.

The victory moved Orilla into first place with 36 points, one more than the idle Galt Hornets.

Gerri Vaughan also scored two goals for Orillia while single goals were made by Keith Wright and Clare Alexander.

Orillia outshot Brantford 45-22.

It was the only game of the night in the league. Action resumes Sunday with Orillia at Belleville.

It Figures

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Kim Kay and Cathy Davidson of Kingston were the only winners declared in the first day of the three-day annual eastern Ontario figure skating championships here Friday.

The pairs were decided as the best in the junior women's dance category.

Winners will be declared today and Sunday in compulsory figures. Four events were held Friday.

Leafs Copy Russians

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

While few National Hockey League teams have publicly endorsed the Soviet Union's brand of hockey, there is evidence that some individual players have taken lessons from the September Team Canada-Soviet series.

Such evidence is displayed by the line of Darryl Sittler, Rick Kehoe and Darryl Sittler of Toronto Maple Leafs, none of whom earned much attention until they were united by coach John McLellan this season.

The line now leads the team with a total of 29 goals, centred by McLellan with one ray of hope in an otherwise gloomy season which has been marked so far by 20 game losses and numerous injuries.

According to Sittler, the line centred by Sittler owes some of its success this year to following the Soviet style of constantly circling the puck by passing.

"We were kind of brought up on 'chase' hockey—fire the puck in and go after it," Dupont explained.

"But the Russians really showed us the virtue of passing, as long as they're safe passes. Shoot it in and you've given your team is to regain possession. So why not hang on to it?

"I guess what the Russians proved to us was the virtue of keeping the puck in motion and passing it around."

The Leafs have two home games this weekend, with Los Angeles Kings, the visitor tonight and California Golden Seals Sunday night.

In other games tonight, the Seals visit Montreal Canadiens, Buffalo Sabres meet the Rangers in New York, Vancouver Canucks face the Penguins in Pittsburgh, Atlanta Flames play the Blues in St. Louis and Detroit Red Wings visit New York Islanders.

Other Sunday contests see the Islanders at Detroit, Boston Bruins at Chicago, Philadelphia Flyers at Buffalo, Vancouver at Atlanta and Pittsburgh facing the Rangers at New York.

Throne Speech Omits Mention of Olympics

MONTREAL (CP) — Memorial Governor-General Roland Michener.

The organizers of the 1976 Summer Olympics will be happier had it been possible for the governor-general to mention the project when you delivered the Throne Speech Thursday.

They feel such mention would have proved to the whole country that the Montreal Games are high in federal government priorities.

A reporter taking soundings Friday received the distinct impression that the Throne Speech silence on the Olympics cantrip like a thunderclap to 350 Place Viquelle, the venerable old building that is the centre of Montreal's court house and now is Olympic headquarters.

"Not that the Russians really proved to us was the virtue of keeping the puck in motion and passing it around."

"I guess what the Russians proved to us was the virtue of keeping the puck in motion and passing it around."

The Leafs have two home games this weekend, with Los Angeles Kings, the visitor tonight and California Golden Seals Sunday night.

In other games tonight, the tracts as on the Olympic budget—said to be in the $300 million to $400 million range—submitted by the committee to the federal government in late November.

Federal approval is required for lotteries and sale of commemorative coins and stamps envisaged in the budget. Organizers also say they will need federal blessing before an IOC meeting scheduled for Feb. 2 in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Kilkenny Trades Fastball For Fast Standardbreds

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — The sleek bay stood in his stall pawing the straw with his rear hoof as a tall, black-haired trainer entered with a bottle of antiseptic mouthwash in his hand.

"He's got a fungus on that leg," said Mike Kilkenny. "Believe it or not, mouthwash is the best thing to rub over it. Clears it right up."

Kilkenny, better known as a baseball pitcher with Cleveland Indians, spent the hours between the fields of the American League.

He says he has invested his life's savings in a modest string of harness race horses; it was here for which he had virtually no experience or background.

Kilkenny's father was an undertaker in his hometown of Brantford, Ont., just west of Toronto.

"But he didn't like that, so he quit and started a successful appliance business," Kilkenny, 27, said with an easy grin. "I said I used to know had a pony, that's about the extent of it."

Kilkenny admits he's hooked on the ponies and wants a farm.

"I'm looking for a farm pretty close right now. It costs too much to stable your horses in somebody else's barn all year."

Kilkenny's entry into racing was a lark.

"He came to Windsor Raceway with a friend New Year's Eve to usher in 1971," said Kilkenny. "He owns a horse and I told him I could get a horse just as good for his as he'd beat him.

Three days later Kilkenny purchased Royal Pick, a horse of little repute.

Today,gathe southpaw owns five horses and the stables, harnesses and gear that go with them. He also employs a driver who doubles as trainer when Kilkenny resumes playing baseball.

"I'm in this right up to my neck and its costing me plenty," said Kilkenny. "I spent every cent I had, almost. But I don't owe any money. Bought cash for everything."

In addition to two horses in Windsor, he has three in the stables at Fairmount Park in St. Louis. He figures each horse must earn at least $6,000 per year to break even.

Expenses like that can put a damper on the budget of a relief pitcher who was traded four times last season. Kilkenny was shuffled from Detroit to Oakland to San Diego to Cleveland.

But he compiled a creditable 4-1 record after his merry-go-round and finished with the Braves of Lake Erie.

Kilkenny found it tough getting an off-season job in the winter.

"Nobody will even talk to me around here, now that I'm with Cleveland," he said. "I couldn't even get passes. All they want is Tigers and I'm not a Tiger anymore."

Kilkenny talks little about baseball now. He's around his horses. And when he does talk about the game, he quickly gets back to horses.

But, just like a horse, you have to run, jump, swim and be ready when the team needs you. It's a lot like life itself, isn't it?"

Stockton Grabs Lead In Campbell Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm back on my game," chortled Dave Stockton.

It's playing horrible but putting fantastic.

That's the way I played a couple of years ago when I was winning tournaments. Last year I hit it from the middle and couldn't make a putt. This is the answer but I get to see a lot more on the golf course."

Stockton, a 31-year-old former PGA champion and a long-time noted scrambler, made only one bogey despite three trips to the trees, erratic play in general and a couple of lucky bounces as he took sole control of the lead Friday in the second round of the $135,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles open golf tournament.

Stockton needed only 28 strokes on the near-perfect greens at the 7,028 yard Riviera Country Club course to tie a 36-hole record of 69 that gave him a 36 hole total of 136, six under par.

That was one stroke better than "old folks" Julius Boros, a 52-year-old former U.S. Open title-holder who plodded placidly home with a 70—137.

At 138 were Australian David Graham, Vietnam war hero Bobby Allen and four regular Don Bies. Allin had a 67, Bies and Graham 68s.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1972 Player of the year and pre-tournament favorite, finished in a threatening position at 139, three looking for a farm piece less than a second round 70. He shot 69 and 71 with partner Jim Devlin and host pro Mac Hunter.

Arnold Palmer managed a 71 for 146, but both British Open Champion Lee Trevino and England's Tony Jacklin failed to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

It took a score of 147 or better and Trevino could do no better than 77—148. Jacklin also was at 148.

Brockville Feasts Against Festivals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Both Smiths Falls Bears and Brockville Braves jumped into third place in the Central Junior Hockey League Friday ahead of the Nepean Raiders.

Brockville dumped the visiting Hull Festivals 13-6 and Smiths Falls defeated Ottawa Rangers 5-2.

The wins give the two teams 32 points. Pembroke Lumber Kings, idle Friday, are first in the six-team league with 50 points and Ottawa second with 31.

Nepean has 31 points and the lowly Festivals 14.

In Smiths Falls, George Thompson, Terry Fournier, Jim Allen, Dave Beverage and Dave McQuarrie scored for the Bears.

Terry Fendal and Mark Aubrey scored for Ottawa.

Scoring for Brockville were Gary Keech, with four, Steve McCishan, with three and Doug McLean with two. Single goals were scored by Peter dwards Dave Wilson, Dave Dixie and Bob Mulcahy.

Smiths Falls travels to Pembroke Sunday and the Raiders take on the Festivals in Hull.

Helsinki Sinks Sweden

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — IFK of Helsinki defeated Leksand of Sweden 3-2 in an Ahearne Cup hockey game Friday night before 2,800 fans.

No other games were scheduled in the Ahearne Cup or Stal Cup Friday.

The Canadian entries, unsuccessful British Columbia Totems, play three-time Ahearne Cup winners Spartak of Moscow, while Barrie, Ont., Flyers meet Vasteraas of Sweden in the Star Cup today.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

SUNDAY, JAN. 7

Aries (March 21-April 19): Greet your friends as you take your regular share in the community's expression of faith and unity. Find time for some quiet thought.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Emphasis this morning is on how well you carry yourself, how clearly you speak up for what you believe. Be affirmative.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): This Sunday is as much a kaleidoscope as it is with yourself people and new circumstances pushing towards changes in direction.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Doing your fair share without spoiling the chances of others for full self-expression gets to be a difficult and satisfying art.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Be alert for special opportunity affairs. An introduction can be a key to constructive results.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take a good long break from the labors of your creative projects. Divert the energy into social action.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Amidst the routine going and comings of this peacefully busy Sunday are likely little surprises, including romance.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22): At your own situation control and share your hopes and plans with loved ones and others who have a part in what you see coming up.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Ask for whatever should be yours. Once having got these sorts straight, put your resources to work in order.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Now is the time to offer suggestions, particularly anything relating to romance and family plans. Rest a bit.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): All attention comes to focus on you and your recent achievements. Poise covers inner fluster; don't fret over how y o look.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Enjoy to the fullest the benefits of a serene Sunday. Letting minor details go is a permissible laxity, except with health.

MONDAY, JAN. 8

Aries (March 21-April 19): New schemes contain surprises, factors unfamiliar to you. Pay no attention to reversed, as those opposed will be unfavorable.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Dealing with one thing at a time is very helpful. Keep in mind that many people you don't like don't agree with each other.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Most other things are all in their grooves and running smoothly; there's a bump and a jump. Be calm as well as agile.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Your friends' errors stir excitement. Staying out of the middle is a fine art in the morning and a cinch in the evening.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Make no pretenses, get to work bright and early to further your own best interests. Messages are incomplete or misdirected.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Younger people and your dealing with them become important. What you say is taken seriously despite all appearances to the contrary.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your attention is drawn to the resources of others and perhaps to some special responsibility in this direction. Be a good steward.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22): Older associates and competitors will see that you don't get away with anything today, so play it straight to avoid questions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Get away from your regular haunts. You may improve matters to an old habit or opinion after today's indigestion.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Just when you can control matters to suit your taste, you are inclined to take on more than you will be able to manage.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Finishing what is started is preferable to plunging into activities unfamiliar. Leave experimentation to others.

Pills Can't Cure Diet Problems

By G.C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read about a new diet plan where you take one pill before each breakfast food and then eat fattening foods like bacon and more fattening foods you eat, the faster the weight drops off.

Have you heard of this plan? Do you think it would be safe to take? The guarantee states that you must keep the weight you lost off or your money will be refunded.—A.R.

I can't track down every nutty diet plan that comes down the pike, but I will say about this one that it has to mean never going to lose weight by eating "fattening foods" no matter how many pills you take.

The only sensible way to lose weight is through a sensible diet that is well balanced and where the only guarantee is that you will be able to keep on being healthy at the same time. The weight loss has to mean (with her) concept of food and avoid compulsive eating. A reduction as an important part of diet can be balanced yet low in calories. This is what you have to learn.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son's fiancee's father is a pediatrician. It had a hernia so they had to take it to another doctor. I would like to know if what is a pediatrician? To me it seems one qualified like a registered nurse.

Can he prescribe? Can they diagnose? Are they medical doctors or do they just specialize? Can nurses and give shots although nurses can do that? Can they call themselves MD? I think it is a waste of money to go to them.—Mrs. R.N.

Oh, no! You've got it all wrong. A pediatrician is a specialist in care of infants and children.

A pediatrician must first become a full-fledged MD. Then he spends two years or more working with and under certified specialists, usually in a pediatric unit in a hospital with a strong pediatric section. Then comes a rigid examination before he becomes a board-certified specialist.

Some become specialists in pediatric surgery, which can require longer training. Becoming a pediatrician requires rigorous training beyond that needed to become an MD.

♣ Q 10 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 NT	Pass	3 NT

Opening lead—eight of hearts.

The success of the game is such that sensational plays come few and far between, but, when the occasion does arise the should of course try to meet the challenge.

Consider the hand where West led a heart. South won the trick with the king, played a club to the ace and returned a diamond. West won with the king. He then played a club to the king. East discarding a spade, and returned a diamond — which he won with the queen.

When South now played a low diamond, East took the ace but was in a helpless position, whatever he returned. Eventually declarer finished with ten tricks.

But East could have stopped the contract by discarding the ace of diamonds at the point when declarer entered dummy for a second time with a club.

This sensational play would have paid an end to South's chances. Declarer would have found himself unable to make more than two diamond tricks without putting West on lead, and a heart return by West in such case would have rendered the contract stone cold dead.

Declarer could alternatively take a spade finesse at trick five, but he would still have found himself limited to eight tricks.

Discarding the ace of diamonds is certainly an extraordinary play for anyone to make, but it is far from impossible under the circumstances.

South's notrump overcall had indicated 16 to 18 points, and virtually every missing card was therefore marked to be in declarer's hand. East's only real hope was to credit West with the Jack of diamonds — and, in fact, that card had to be with West or the contract was unstoppable.

Discarding the ace of diamonds was therefore the right thing for East had to do was think of it.

Dinner Setting For Gift to Party

TORONTO (CP) — A dinner June 7, 1971, at the Albany Club produced the setting when P. J. Saunderson, president of Fidelman (Ontario) Ltd., pledged cash to secure $50,000 of the one half of his firm to the Ontario Progressive Conservative party.

The dinner meeting, attended by chief Tory fund-raisers Wilson Kelly and Norman Morris, was described in a police investigation report made public Friday.

Police found no impropriety in the donation made prior to the Oct. 21 provincial election at a time when Fidlmen had arranged a lucrative contract with the Workmen's Compensation Board involving a $13-million government loan.

But the chapter in the 48-page report giving the background to the donation provides an insight into the way party election funds are obtained.

The report said that Mr. Saunderson attended several meetings at the Albany Club and at private residence in the spring of 1971, sponsored by the Conservatives.

"The purpose of these meetings was to put before the guests the philosophy of the Progressive Conservative party of Ontario and to seek both active and financial support for the party in the anticipated election."

About 30 persons attended those meetings where "on occasion, Mr. Kelly spoke about the financial needs of . . . the party.

Mr. Saunderson and three other guests, not identified, were invited by P. J. Welsher to attend a dinner of the Albany June 7. At this meeting, Mr. Kelly and Mr. Morris made "the presentation on behalf of the Conservative party."

The report said that after the dinner, Mr. Saunderson made a "verbal commitment" of $50,000 to Tory officials.

The report noted that his reasons for making this commitment were that Fidlman and the clients it represents have a vital interest in stable government due to major investments in real property in Ontario."

Mr. Saunderson, the report said, had no discussions with either Mr. Kelly or Mr. Morris about the donation prior to July 12 when the cheque was issued.

Mr. Saunderson gave the cheque to Mr. Kelly personally, the report said, which was deposited to Mr. Kelly's trust account July 13, 1971.

The cheque was drawn on a trust account of Fidlmin, but charged to a client involved in the WCB project.

Commenting on the Albany Club dinner, Vernon Singer, deputy Liberal leader, said there was no explanation as to why Mr. Morris happened to choose to invite Mr. Saunderson and three other unnamed guests to dinner on June 7, which happened to be only 22 days before the cabinet approved the recommendation of the WCB. "These coincidences stretch my credulity."

Most Hospital Jobs Safe

TORONTO (CP) — Budget restraints announced last November by Health Minister Richard Potter may result in some hospital employees losing their jobs.

A survey of hospitals by the Ontario Hospital Association, however, showed that most jobs will be saved by normal attrition.

Dr. Potter's announcement ordered a cut of about 1,500 beds. Opposition members of the Ontario legislature claimed an equivalent number of employees will lose their jobs.

An OHA spokesman said, however, that most hospitals seem to be counting on normal retirements and quittings to take care of the staff ratio but added that the association has not received enough questionnaires back to get a meaningful picture.

"But there is no doubt that you can't save without saving (reducing) staff," he said.

An estimated 70 per cent of hospital operating costs go for salaries.

Guns Verboten

Kingston Oil Price Rising

TORONTO (CP) — The price of Shell Canada Ltd.'s domestic fuel oil will increase Monday in the Kingston area by 1.5 cents a gallon, but company officials would neither confirm nor deny that the increase would be effective across Ontario.

"We do not have any statement at this time" a Shell spokesman said Friday when asked about increases.

Harold Richardson, a Shell supplier in Kingston area, said Friday the price will go to $25 from $23.50 for 100 gallons in Kingston Monday.

Esso and Gulf spokesmen said Friday their companies would not raise prices Monday, but Gulf indicated it is considering a change "in the light of recent crude increases."

Prices vary slightly throughout the province depending on local competition.

Posties' Vote to Proceed

OTTAWA (CP) — Voting by about 28,000 postal workers on the contract recommendations submitted in December by a conciliation board will go ahead as planned for Sunday and Monday, the Council of Postal Workers (CPU) said Friday.

Members of some locals across Canada had requested a delay in voting claiming they were confused about the wording of the ballot.

James McCall, president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, one of two unions in the CPU, said the vote will proceed and 300 locals across Canada will be sent telegrams clarifying the recommendations of the executive to union members.

The CPU national negotiating team voted 6 to 4 in December to urge postal workers to reject the conciliation board proposals that would have provided pay increases of about 6% over two years in a contract ending Dec. 31, 1974. The board also recommended retroactive pay of $400.

Mr. McCall said Friday that ballots already sent by union members on the issue in Toronto, Windsor and Vancouver would stand.

The CPU has been in a legal strike position since Dec. 21.

Regional Meetings Promised

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — A provincial government official s Friday meetings between government and municipalities will be held later this m th to discuss all aspects of a regional government plan for parts o Durham, Northumberland and Durham counties.

Civil Servants Cautious In Welcoming Announcement

OTTAWA (CP) — Cautious optimism has been the general reaction of union leaders in the federal public service to the announcement in Thursday's throne speech that laws governing civil servants would be changed.

Parliament was told that amendments would be made to the Public Service Employment Act and the Public Service Staff Relations Act.

A spokesman said later the changes likely would cover the area of collective bargaining in the public service.

Another source said Friday that the government would not likely take firm, drastic action without first feeling out employees' views. Proposed changes would be advanced for discussion, he said.

Public service union leaders have said that they would like to discuss proposed changes to laws during hearings of a parliamentary committee.

They seek new laws permitting negotiation of pensions, job classifications, job security and layoff, transfers, promotions and demotions.

At present only wages, hours, leave entitlement and discipline are negotiable.

Second Son For Sophia

GENEVA (Reuter) — Italian film actress Sophia Loren gave birth to a boy today, informed sources reported.

They could give no details about the baby's weight, but said both he and the mother are doing well.

Their first child, Carlo Junior, was born by caesarean operation here in December, 1968, after Miss Loren had suffered a series of miscarriages.

Today's birth was also by caesarean section, the sources said.

Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan, must import 2.5 million tons of grain this year, Waldheim said, "primarily as a result of the disastrous shortfall in the harvest following the failure of the monsoon rains."

Cold Kills 115

December Weather Colder, Wetter

TORONTO (CP) — There were starling drops in mean temperatures for December in parts of Ontario and 1972 was one of the coldest years in the province's history, the weather office said Friday.

Most December temperatures at Moosonee on James Bay and Trout Lake in the northwest dropped 11 degrees below normal. In Northern Ontario from Kapuskasing west, mean temperatures were six to eight degrees below normal.

Record annual mean temperature lows were recorded at Toronto, Peterborough, London, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Ottawa and Mount Forest, 40 miles south of Owen Sound.

"wet year" in the eastern counties. Ottawa and Kingston received their highest total precipitation on record at 41.85 and 44.95 inches respectively.

December temperatures showed a mixed pattern with mean temperatures near normal in southwestern Ontario, slightly below normal in eastern Ontario and three to five degrees below normal around North Bay and Sudbury.

Seven Dead, 16 Injured

New Orleans Snipers Holding Out in Hotel

NEW ORLEANS (CP) — Hundreds of police ringed a downtown hotel today, waiting for renewed action by two heavily-armed gunmen who killed seven persons and injured at least 16 in a bloody seige that lasted more than 24 hours. A third sniper was slain by police.

The dead included three policemen, one of them the city's second-highest police official. Among the injured were three policemen wounded as the shooting continued early today.

The battle began after three men, identified by police as blacks, stormed into the Downtown Howard Johnson Hotel Sunday morning. They began setting fires to curtains in the hotel rooms, officers said, and then aimed a stream of bullets on firemen and police who appeared on the scene.

One of the gunmen was killed late Sunday by sharpshooters in a police helicopter hovering over the hotel.

By mid-morning today, the helicopter was still circling the 18-storey hotel, searching for the two remaining snipers. Police said, one of the snipers may have been forced down into a stairwell from a concrete structure atop the roof when the three had first holed up.

As hundreds of spectators rushed to the scene, streets around the hotel were blocked as police moved cautiously in an attempt to prevent further slaughter. The hotel is across the street from the city hall and about six blocks from the famed French quarter.

Police contemplated an assault today but later appeared content to play a waiting game and wear down the gunmen with sharpshooting.

"Time is our ally," said Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso. "They're at our will now. We're going to win."

Motive for the bloodbath remained a puzzle though some reports identified the gunmen as black militants. One hotel employee, a black, was quoted as saying the snipers were firing only at whites.

Some city officials suggested the gunmen were maintaining a pattern of violence against city police that began Dec. 1 when a policeman was killed near his headquarters. Since then, several other officers have been wounded.

At one point early today, one of the surviving snipers was reported to have crawled to the other end of the hotel roof. Police sharpshooters in surrounding buildings opened fire, but Giarrusso ordered all firing stopped except for marksmen. 600 yards away in the federal building.

His order came after police on the 17th floor of the hotel said they were coming under fire, apparently by their own men.

The toll of dead included the three policemen, two hotel guests believed to have died in the fires set by the snipers, a front-desk clerk mowed down when the gunmen burst into the hotel and an unidentified man found in the hotel.

One officer slain was Supt. Louis Sirgo, the second-ranking New Orleans policeman, hit as he led the first assault on the hotel Sunday.

As Sirgo moved down a corridor, a door suddenly opened from a room behind him, a gunman stepped out and shot him in the back, police said. The gunmen escaped up a stairway to the roof.

Unable to flush the snipers, police ordered a military helicopter to swoop over the roof Sunday night. Police sharpshooters began peppering the concrete structure atop the roof with a steady stream of fire and finally cut a hole about the size of a football. Automatic rifle fire was aimed into the hole with police hoping to kill or wound the snipers with ricocheting bullet.

One of the snipers suddenly emerged out of the stairway as the helicopter passed over, and, running a zig-zag pattern across the roof, opened fire on the chopper.

The gunners on the helicopter, assisted by flashlights, opened fire on the sniper and cut him down.

"He darted out and aimed that big rifle and the guys in the chopper mowed him up," said John Fields, a police sharpshooter watching from the nearby city hall.

Several guests reported seeing the gunmen after they burst into the hotel about 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Carolyn Capel said she heard the firing and went out into a terrace outside her room to see a man standing by a swimming pool one floor below her, holding a rifle.

"He spotted me and I turned and ran back into the room," she said. She pulled the drapes tight, locked the windows and ran into the hall but found it filled with smoke.

"I grabbed a wet towel and put it over my face and began looking for the stairwell," she said. She later raced down eight flights of stairs to the ground floor.

Kissinger Begins 'One More Effort'

PARIS (AP) — Henry Kissinger begins today what he has called "one more major effort" to reach a Vietnam peace settlement with Le Duc Tho.

President Nixon's national security adviser and the North Vietnamese politburo member were to meet for the first time in almost four weeks at a house owned by the French Communist party in Gif sur Yvette, a suburb 15 miles southwest of Paris.

It has been more than 18 weeks since Kissinger told a Washington news conference that "peace is at hand". Arriving from Washington Sunday night in a more subdued mood, he said: the president has sent me back to Paris to make one more major effort to conclude the negotiations.

"I expect that the talks this time will be serious and worthy of the yearning of people all over the world for an early end of the war," Kissinger said. "As far as the United States is concerned, we shall dedicate ourselves to this effort with patience, good will and hope."

But Tho—on his arrival Saturday from Hanoi, Peking and Moscow—gave no indication he was ready to concede anything. He said the decisive moment had come for the United States to sign the draft agreement he and Kissinger worked out in October "or continue the war."

Princess Is In Love Says Soldier's Friend

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne and cavalry Lieut. Mark Phillips are in love, but royal protocol has forced them to remain silent, a close friend of Phillips said today.

The unidentified source is quoted in the mass-circulation Sun newspaper as saying the couple can say nothing until the Royal Family decides a statement should be made.

"It takes a very strong love to survive in such a situation under these pressures," the friend said.

Phillips, 24, has persistently denied rumors that have buzzed around Britain for weeks that he and the 22-year-old princess will become engaged.

But the couple have been seen regularly together. Phillips has entertained the blonde princess at his wealthy family's 16th - century Wiltshire farm several times and has twice been a weekend guest at the Royal Family's 20,000-acre Sandringham estate.

They rode together at Sandringham during the weekend. Phillips leaves for West Germany today with his regiment, the Queen's Dragoon Guards, to begin a two-year tour of duty.

Although Phillips is expected to make periodic trips to Britain, the princess has a full schedule ahead, including an official tour to North Africa.

Postmen Voting On Offer

OTTAWA (CP) — The possibility of strike action that would interrupt mail service hung on a vote being conducted Sunday and today among post office employees across the country.

About 30,000 members of the Council of Postal Unions were voting on a pay-and-conditions settlement proposed last month by a conciliation board. Results were expected Tuesday.

Postal workers, negotiating with the federal government for a new work contract since before the previous one expired last March, have been legally entitled to strike since Dec. 21.

Leaders of the council, including letter carriers, postal clerks and mail handlers, have been divided in their recommendations on whether to approve or reject the proposed settlement.

Flu Kills 1,000

LONDON (AP) — Britain's influenza epidemic has killed nearly 1,000 persons this winter and shows signs of worsening in many parts of the country, the health ministry reported Saturday.

Marines Provide Gunship for Police

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Time after time throughout the night, the big helicopter hovered over the roof of the hotel, acting as a gunship for police sharpshooters doing battle with snipers holed up on the roof.

Over and over, Lt.-Col. C. H. Pitman turned on the chopper's powerful landing lights, illuminating the roof of the 18-storey Downtown Howard Johnson Hotel, and the police gunners aboard let the lead fly.

It was bad weather for it. Misting rain. Poor visibility. The sky came down to the 20th floor, and the tops of the buildings near the hotel disappeared into the cloud ceiling.

The marine crew of four didn't get into the shooting, restricting their role to providing police with a gun platform.

Thousands of bullets were fired at the target—a one-room concrete structure above the hotel's emergency stairwell at one end of the rectangular roof. It was like a fortress bunker.

Until the marine chopper was pressed into emergency service as a makeshift gunship, the snipers were in a nearly-impregnable position.

But three police gunners aboard the chopper concentrated their fire and finally opened a hole in the windowless wall of the bunker.

Then, on every pass, they aimed their automatic rifles into the hole so that bullets ricocheted inside.

On each pass, the helicopter hovered about two minutes while they emptied clip after clip of 5.56-millimetre bullets—1,000 rounds per minute—mixed with bright red streaks of tracers.

"I just don't see how they can survive those ricochets," said Frank Bonura, one of the gunners.

They did it, it developed, by ducking part-way down the stairs when the chopper passed.

Talk Was Cheap in Bath

LONDON (AP) — Police are on the trail of the phantom who, for the British city's telephone exchange so that 2,000 others could make calls all over the world for free.

Government investigators traced the secret wiring in the southwestern England city of Bath last month.

But they fear the phantom has already wired up other cities for free calls that are costing the post office, which operates Britain's telephone system, a fortune in lost revenue.

And worse, they believe there may be more than one phantom.

"This is a serious national problem," a post office spokesman said. "We are making investigations in other towns all over the country to get to the bottom of this fraud."

The Bath affair was the first fatal a diddle" broad investigators had cracked.

They found that the Kingshead exchange in the historic city had been illegally wired and that at least 2,800 students at the university there knew about it.

Investigators installed a monitor that enabled them to trace the illegal lines to trap nine students. Each was fined a nominal £5 ($4.79) last week for "dishonestly obtaining electricity from the post office."

But the university's students and many townspeople knew the special dialing code that activated the hookup to obtain an open line to anywhere in being registered. Police said the secret circuit was "extensively used."

Laird Says South Vietnam Now Able to Protect Itself

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Melvin R. Laird, the first cabinet official to face Congress since last month's heavy bombing of North Vietnam, said today South Vietnamization has made possible the last withdrawals of United States forces once prisoners of war are released.

"The South Vietnamese people today, in my view, are fully capable of providing for their own in-country security against the North Vietnamese," Laird said in a final report to Congress prepared for the House of Representatives armed services committee.

He said the Saigon government's ability to defend itself makes possible a settlement in which U.S. war prisoners could be returned and the South Vietnamese would have a chance to survive as an independent nation.

Laird's 104-page report made no reference to the recent heavy bombing of North Vietnam.

But as the first high-level administration official to go before Congress since the bombing was broadened on Dec. 16 and then restricted to below the 20th Parallel Dec. 20, Laird was certain to be questioned closely on the matter.

The defence secretary said the equipment and training provided Saigon in the Vietnamization program, of which he has been an architect, "has significantly enhanced the prospect for successful negotiation, but should negotiations fail, Vietnamization makes possible the complete termination of American involvement in the war."

This, he added, is contingent on the safe return of American POWs and an accounting of the missing in action.

Laird leaves office Jan. 20.

Jack Ellis, newly - elected MP Hastings, says if legislation connected to supporting demands, the government won't face a threat of immediate overthrow.

But both Progressive Conservative politicians said they were returning to Ottawa to do with the next session a less secondary consideration — as parliament gets down to the business in a session that will be one of the greatest — watchdog in Confederation history.

And both agreed that historically, minority government often has produced some of the best legislation.

"My prime concern, personally," Mr. Hamilton said, "is in getting rid of Trudeau. My own personal feeling remains proper legislation passed quickly is needed for many, many months."

His one fear is that the MPs may spend too much time in expressed concerns, it may be difficult to get things done in immediate and specific needs — like taxes, unemployment insurance abuses.

Mr. Hamilton needs—a "grab-bag of a little bit for everybody" — would take three or four years to do.

And the prime minister has announced a three-week time worrying about staying in power "before bringing in a proper legislation."

Nonetheless, if Mr. Trudeau early ushers in programs opposition parties have sought, the MPs say, they will find he'll get thrown out of office right at once.

Minority governments — under close scrutiny and amenable to opposition amendments — often produce the best laws, Mr. Hamilton and Ellis said.

"It should be a very busy, productive session. It should reflect to a much greater degree the opinions of all sectors of the country than in the past," Mr. Ellis said. "One thing: Minority governments can produce excellent legislation — although I have a terrible feeling that there is more thought been given to how the Liberals can stay in power right now," said the Hastings MP.

Mr. Altenbrock recalled that previous minority governments during his time in the Commons — under aggressive prime ministers Diefenbaker and Pearson — had brought in "some pretty fair legislation.

"But this is the shakiest minority we've ever had, claimed the Kingston Conservative.

Mr. Trudeau government would last only as long as it had New Democratic Party support and in that time its key priorities should include inflation and unemployment. If necessary, some form of price control should be imposed to slow the inflationary spiral.

The governs,ent will now have representation, opposition and counter proposals instead of "ignoring them."

Mr. Altenbrock said government and opposition would adopt more "realistic attitudes.

"We will have to regard things more realistically and vote on them more realistically — rather than being against measures just because they are the government or just because we are the opposition," said Mr. Altenbrock.

This meant putting legislative business before the politics of defeating the government.

He said: "I know this government can't last very long. I don't think it can last a year," he claimed Mr. Altenbrock. "So we must at all times be ready for the inevitable eventuality — which is another election."

He said he would be happy to see an election within a year "because Liberalism has proved to be in decline. This is due to the policies of Mr. Trudeau which are not in the Canadian tradition," said Mr. Altenbrock.

The local suppliers of Esso furnace oil had the same story.

"We haven't heard anything about it so far," was the reply.

The price of domestic furnace oil in Belleville is 23.5 cents per gallon.

OMB Ruling Will Not Be Appealed

TRENTON — The supposed last snag that threatened the construction of Trenton's new sewage treatment facility plan a rage on the old post office site has been removed.

In a statement today, former Trenton town councillor and ex-MP leadership aspirant Vagn Lange, said he will not proceed with the appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board decision which would have the town proceed with construction, issuing of $3M in debentures and a ruling that citizens would not have to vote on the matter as they had, done in the past.

On Dec. 28, Mr. Lange notified council he would appeal the OMB decision. The retiring council tabled the letter working in that capacity for six sons on the proposed appeal to which Trenton's new council, in a 3-1 vote at a special council meeting Jan. 3, turned down a bid by Councillor Ronald Price to halt construction. Contracts have been Wiggers Construction Company and Cives Corp. of Ottawa.

More Cold Forecast

The warm-loving southern outlook for the Quinte district is not even for the birds — most of which are in the sunny south anyway.

For people it means more of the same — the same kind of weather that has brought on the coldest spell of the winter to date, reports the CFB Trenton weather office forecaster.

Plummeting weekend temperatures reached the low point in Belleville at 8 a.m. today when the mercury touched nine below.

Coldest spot in the Quinte district was Bancroft, with an overnight low of 20 below. At Tweed, it was 20 below.

That's the way it may continue for much of the week, after screening today's five-day forecast.

The weather will remain fair and cold, with lows in the Belleville-Trenton area 5-10 degrees below and highs 5-10 degrees above.

Ice Fishing's Hard Work

Ice fishing season at Trenton started this weekend . . . one week later than usual. Here, Andy Andrews of Middleton Park, chops one of the holes followed by saw before bringing in the fish shanty to cover the holes. Each fisherman is allowed to take out six fish a day. Most fish caught in the harbor area are pickerel.

Fishing Huts Out

TRENTON — Freezing temperatures this past weekend not only saw warmer clothes in evidence, but one or two of Trentons ice fishermen began setting up on the frozen surface at the mouth of the Trent River.

Only two fishing shanties were set up on Saturday. The fishermen chopped holes in the four-inch ice and then settled their small huts over them. Both were hauled to the fishing sites on detachable sleds.

Little ice fishing is done at Trenton, but the season lasts most of the winter.

A local enthusiast says each fisherman is allowed six fish per day. Unlike warmer weather, they can use two lines, either hand - held or dangled on a stick or a tip-up. The tip-up fits over a hole in the ice with a small flag attached. When the fish strikes, the flag bounces up.

Pickerel is the main fish brought up here, most often with minnows as bait.

While temperatures dip outside the hut, especially taking into consideration the wind chill factor across the frozen bay, the fishermen keep warm by their stoves.

Historic Church for Sale

LONG POINT — A "church in the wildwood" one of many in rural Prince Edward, has been listed for sale by Eileen Hudson a county realtor interested in local history.

The Union (Wesleyan) United Church erected in 1878 was closed in Centennial year due to amalgamation of churches in the Point Traverse area. It has been sold by Mrs. Hudson on two previous occasions and is now being offered for sale a third time by owners Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Orgill of Collingwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Orgill and their family enjoyed the church as a summer home when they were residents of Toronto. After a move to Collingwood it became impractical to commute to their Prince Edward summer home for holiday weekends.

Mrs. Hudson observed each time the church is sold a change in hand must receive its prospective buyers' plans for its use. This condition is a stipulation of the deed.

The property now is offered for sale with a 236 foot water frontage opposite it across the road.

Through research Mrs. Hudson, employed with Keith Realty, learned the church's foundation was built in 1877 but the building was not erected until 1878. When the cornerstone was laid in 1877 the pastor was Rev. J. Young.

Brick for the church was supplied by Andrew Minaker who owned a brick yard at Black Creek. Captain Albert Palmatier and his brother Captain Nelson Palmatier both of Cherry Valley ferried the lumber from Deseronto. Stone for the foundation was White. This ship was owned by McAuley and Shannon of Black Creek.

Notes for the lumber were given to the Rathbun Company, Deseronto, by John Y. Palmatier and John Dustin. Rafters and timber for the church were supplied by Alva Dainard. Window frames and casings were crafted by Charles Bowler of Picton and masonry was done by William Smith, Picton. The church was built mainly by free labor with the exception of money paid to masons and carpenters.

In 1907 the church was closed and in 1909 sold for the first time to Marigona Holdings for $900. It was one of several historic country churches in the county sheets including the White Chapel, Milford United Church, and the Carmen Methodist E. Church.

The White Chapel is still maintained as a place of worship and once a year an anniversary service is held. Milford United Church was sold to South Marysburgh township for $1 and is part of a community centre while the Carmen Methodist E. Church was demolished in 1941.

U.S. Power Shortage

The nightmare that many scientists predict: this continent and the world at large running out of material resources — is it already revealing its presence? We refer to the reported energy crisis in the United States. Some observers say it is exaggerated — that the energy companies are using scare tactics to justify cost increases. The companies relort that these are necessary to development of new sources of power.

However that may be, the fact is that thousands of Americans are enduring power cuts. In Colorado schools have been closed, in the mid-west crops are rotting in the ground (no power for heating equipment) and in the California people are being asked to use power sparingly.

Once again we are reminded of the resources that we take so much for granted. In Canada we are better off because of the foresight of those who have developed our resources and because our population is only a fraction of that of the U.S. We know too that Washington covets these resources and would like to have us share them. There is some sharing now, on a commercial basis but first we have to look after our own while the U.S., for its part, must take whatever steps are necessary to develop its remaining resources further, in order to meet the current power shortage involving both gas and electricity.

Against Odds

An issue of Ulster Commentary just received illustrates once again how terrorism has occupied such a disproportionate amount of world headlines compared with news of more creative and orderly events there.

Here are some examples of advancement in a region which, despite high unemployment, was always in the forefront of business and technological activities: a £25 million order for Belfast shipyards to build three bulk carriers for a Norwegian company; a £900,000 order for machinery for an Indonesian mill; a £1½ million order for six Skyvan aircraft for the Government of Singapore.

There was word also of a Yorkshire textile cutting machinery firm, attracted by Government inducements, moving to Ulster, as well as a Norwegian manufacturer of mechanical and electronic business equipment moving its entire operation from Bergen to Londonderry. The latter firm's move was dictated by the need of lower production costs and access to a larger home market.

According to Parliamentary Undersecretary David Howell, the rise in industrial production in Northern Ireland last year was greater, at over 6 per cent, than in any other industrially-developed country in the world — and this despite terrorist activities reaching new heights.

Ulster Commentary also notes unemployment was down 5,000 in October compared with the previous month. Meanwhile, the visiting editor of a British trade magazine, who had believed the country at the end of its tether, went to see for himself. He spoke of "clean factories" and "a pride in what is over there" and recommended it to industrialists as a place for further expansion. Ulster's industrial training programs, incidentally, has attracted attention as far afield as Czechoslovakia, Israel and Australia.

All in all it is an image of Northern Ireland that few appreciate.

Dogs At Large

Brockville is not the only city where dogs wander at will. We have our problems in this regard here too, but it is of particular concern to residents there since attacks on two children in the space of a month. The latest incident involved an attack on an eight-year-old girl. Attacked without warning, the youngster suffered a laceration from the bridge of her nose to her cheekbone and two teeth puncture marks on her shoulder. Fortunately, the animal concerned, said to be a cross between a Labrador and a Samoyed or Husky, was found not to have rabies and the girl has since been released from hospital. However, this kind of near-tragedy could be prevented if owners had their dogs under proper control and/or cared sufficiently for their charges that they would not resort to this kind of behavior.

Commons Tightrope

Individuality And Discipline At Odds In New Session

By FARMER TISSINGTON
From The Intelligencer's
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Will the "seals" of the new parliament be well trained?

"Trained seals" is a familiar term in the Commons used by the Opposition to describe backbench members of the government party. With the new 2-parliament operating on a knife-edge, vote by vote basis, MPs of all parties will be acting like their party's line religiously.

Opportunities for free expression by the Conquered' mavericks will be rigidly controlled. A single vote could defeat the government and precipitate another election. . . Jumping through the hoop on pre-determined signals will be standard practice.

Party discipline is not new in the parliamentary system. Gilbert and Sullivan referred to it in one of their comic operettas with the oft-quoted line describing a British politician: "he always voted at his party's call and never thought of thinking for himself at all."

The minority situation will once again raise the question of how a member of parliament makes a decision and whether his votes should reflect the wishes of his party, his constituents or himself.

Are the parliamentary rank and file merely robots, instructed by their leader how to vote? Are they, in fact, nothing more than trained political seals?

In a more normal majority breaking ranks on a recorded vote is not uncommon. In recent years, it has happened with increasing frequency as members disregard the lash of, respect for, or deference to their party brass and are willing to risk the wrath of colleagues to stand on personal principles.

If the 29th parliament loses some of this refreshing individuality it doesn't necessarily mean members are being herded like sheep without a chance to bleat. MPs can and do express personal views, often with considerable force.

The most obvious opportunity comes in the weekly caucus, when party positions are argued under what is supposed to be top secret circumstances. The fact the caucus sometimes springs a leak leads to public knowledge that there are strongly divergent views among members of the same party on issues of the day.

In addition, members can make their views known in informal talks with cabinet ministers, party leaders or by lobbying other MPs on both the government and opposition side.

And finally, an MP can make his views heard in Commons' debate. It has been noted on occasion that an MP will make an impassioned speech setting forth views contrary to his own party line. Yet hours or days later he will either refrain from voting or will support his party on the issue. This seeming incongruity is based on the theory that once having stated his personal view an MP still has a responsibility to the democratic parliamentary system, which is so firmly based on the party.

The famous Statesman Edmund Burke once told his constituents he intended to vote in their interest but not according to their wishes, suggesting that he probably knew what was best for them.

The capital punishment issue is likely to come to a boil again in the Commons and it will offer an opportunity for many members to take the same position as Burke.

Despite a number of opinion surveys and letters from voters indicating that a majority would like to see capital punishment re-instated for certain types of crime, many MPs will use the privilege of a free vote to express their personal view in favor of abolition.

Many have been sincerely and earnestly searching for some reliable means of obtaining the view of their constituents on the questions of the day. Some have held seminars. Others maintain riding offices and answering services. A few, of which there can establish more rapid and direct contact with their elected representative.

Still others have adopted the arduous and time-consuming questionnaire. The latest to do so is Ontario New Democrat Max Saltsman who distributed a three questionnaire a year to the people of his Waterloo riding. There are about 40,000 households in that riding so he sends out 82,000 questionnaires, two to each household. The double coverage is the result of learning that households per se, don't necessarily share a singular view. In many instances both husband and wife are eager to tell their MP how he should be thinking and voting.

Among some of Mr. Saltsman's constituents his questionnaires have become so popular they had led to the holding of "questionnaire parties" among friends or groups of people in the same business or profession. Over a friendly glass the participants will argue the pros and cons of each issue contained before marking their personal yes or no choices.

The response to the Saltsman questionnaires has given steadily and he expects about 5,000 or more replies to the most recent one. But even this comparatively good response is pretty much a minority one. A majority either do not have opinions on the questions presented or don't work up sufficient enthusiasm to respond.

Efforts to get opinions from constituents are undoubtedly worthwhile, despite obvious shortcomings in the methods. A strong expression of views on a certain legislation or course of action must have some bearing on the thinking of a conscientious MP. It can even influence the way he votes.

But, in the finality, every MP must be his own man. In most cases a good MP will know what actions by government will help or hurt his constituents. The member cannot pass on the ultimate responsibility that accompanies his election to his party, his colleagues or his constituents.

In the coming parliament of minorities the members are going to look suspiciously like trained seals. It comes down to the inescapable fact that the party system is built on our political system.

After all, history teaches that establishment of the one-party state is a favorite ploy of tyrants.

Confrontation The Theme of All Wars Down the Years

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Re letter in your paper, Dec. 23, 1972:

I heartily agree on the views pointed out by W. C. Hockley — all wars should end immediately. However if takes two to make a war and it seems that Mr. Hockley speaks of the league of Moscow and Peking.

Has Mr. Hockley ever considered for the people of Finland, whose homes were and still are robbed by Moscow? Or does he remember the fate of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, whose people were brutally crushed by the Red Army and four million men, women and children were murdered or sent to labor camps in Siberia? Neither does he mention Poland, whose eastern part was "liberated" by the Soviets. Nor does he write about Romania, where three million people were driven from their homes and territory annexed by Russia. How about the Berlin wall? Its shadow was all over the free world when Russian tanks crushed the hatred in 1952. Did you write about Budapest in 1956 where the same pattern was repeated itself, as never before? How about millions of men and women in Russia itself, who never dare to write a letter to an editor,and where tyranny is total?

Have Mr. Hockley and his kind ever protested about arms in Egypt, Sudan or Korea, Ireland, Cuba or Viet Nam? To name only a few places.

It is a pity that peace talks failed. It is a pity that we never can repay the sacrifices American people are making on our behalf so Hockleys all over the world can remain free and live in security of liberty.

LOVE AND LIBERTY

Bombs as "Persuaders" In Vietnam

Ottawa Journal

The North Vienamese say that their negotiator Le Duc Tho, is on his way back to Paris to resume his peace talks with Henry Kissinger because the Americans have halted the bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area. The Americans in fact have stopped the bombing because they believe enough has been done its work — brought Hanoi back to the bargaining table — just as they believe that U.S. air strikes persuaded the North to start serious peace negotiations last fall.

This is hardly matters which side is right. Face-saving at this point is irrelevant. What is important is that the bombing — by impressive accounts now is the worst of the bombing has stopped and that the peace talks will resume once more.

Much is being made of Christmas bombing. Of course, his failure to give any political or military reason for unleashing the B-52s. The New York Times, which vehemently opposed the war years ago on the Communist side, describes it as "a calamitous error".

Mr. Nixon has not talked because he has had nothing to say. The reasons for the bombings, for his strategy, are horrifyingly simple. No explanations are necessary to the justification of the death and destruction is possible.

The President is counting on the results which he hopes the peace talks to speak for themselves. Let us pray that they will. Then the agony of Vietnam will end.

George Drew's Place in Canadian History

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

It was somehow fitting that George Drew would die on the day of the opening of parliament.

If he had been in good health Mr. Drew would have been there, as invariably he attended the openings of the Legislature here except when he was out of the country.

Traditions were very important to him and there is no question that he enjoyed the pomp and circumstance surrounding it.

He also was devoted to parliament, of course, and was one of the outstanding Canadian parliamentarians of recent times.

This love of tradition, however, proud as it was, could accidentally have been a misfortune.

For it was so pronounced it became the strong public image of the man and tended to put in shadow his many other qualities.

Our traditions being British they tend to reflect on anyone devoted to them as Drew was as a pro-British attitude which is not palatable to a good many Canadians.

There is no question he had a strong affection for the United Kingdom and the British tie. But above all he was a Canadian.

Belief in Canada combined with a strong vision was, in fact, probably his most significant quality.

It was on display most pronouncedly in his first years as premier of the province starting in 1943.

When he first took over office the war was still at mid-point. And there were many doubts about the post-war future, if, as and when we won it.

Some of our major political figures were looking towards retrenchment and belt-tightening. They were thinking in terms of social assistance and of a country that, would have a trying time getting on sound economic footing.

Drew had no time at all for such thinking.

His vision was of a thriving country, a nation that would be expanding and an economy that would be under strain to find the workers and the capital that would be demanded of it.

His planning for this post-war was all focused on preparing for such expansion.

Of course he was right. And Ontario was one jurisdiction which was at least somewhat prepared for the post-war boom and which took good advantage of it.

So well prepared, in fact, that it has never looked back and has been a fantastic success.

At the time of the Drew takeover the provincial budget was about $100 million. Now it is about $5 billion.

This is one indication of the growth. Perhaps no other jurisdiction in the world can match it.

And George Drew started it.

Hospital Expansion

Ulster Commentary

In 1971 work started on the first stage of a new contract for a hospital building in Northern Ireland. The first stage in the re-construction of Belfast City Hospital. The scheme will involve the build of a 20-storey block. Work is expected to be completed in 1976 at an estimated cost of 10.7 million.

The hospital — to be known as the Central Hospital — will provide ultra-modern facilities for general medicine, surgery, urology and gynaecology and for the training of paramedics.

When completed the hospital will be one of Belfast's most easily distinguished landmarks. It features a tower of 240 feet and a base block of 150 feet.

The lower section of the hospital will be in the form of a block measuring 545 feet by 353 feet. It will be built for two three levels and part on two.

The special feature of the external walls of the hospital's tower will be the use of curtain shapes to minimize the effect of the sun's rays and thus aid the air-conditioning system.

To make way for the hospital some of the old workhouse buildings constructed under the Poor Law Act of 1838 to accommodate the destitute poor, had to be demolished.

The over-all plan for Belfast City Hospital provides for further stages of development at a later date. These include the provision of new laboratory facilities, the building of a new maternity unit and the extension of additional car parking facilities.

With a total complement of more than 1,100 the City Hospital is the largest general hospital in the United Kingdom and one of the major teaching hospitals in Northern Ireland.

Which Way?

Motorists travelling between Trenton and Belleville this weekend, did double takes when they spotted this sign. Detached from one of its bolts, the sign rests upside down.

Pigeons Pose Problem

TRENTON — Better wear your hats when walking down the streets of downtown Trenton these days. The fallout's getting pretty thick.

In fact, the onslaught of pigeons who nestle in the alcoves of Trenton's century-old store fronts next to the Gilbert Hotel, has caused such worry, the merchants have engaged the services of Lansing Associates, a local architectural and engineering company, to get rid of the pests.

Pigeons have always been in evidence downtown. Mostly they contented themselves with perching in the old post office tower, fighting or gossiping, or whatever pigeons do, and keeping post office janitors gainfully employed.

Occasionally one or two would fly off to other buildings, but the post office and federal building remained their favorite spots. And then the building was torn down early in 1973.

The pigeons had to find a new roost.

They chose the small alcoves in brickwork above the stores.

New and decorative colors on the streets and canopies below gave rise to indignation from not only the merchants but the customers as well.

To date Lansing Associates hasn't come up with any solution to the pigeon problem. The most likely is to cover up the alcoves, thereby leaving the flying litterers with no place to roost . . . at least above those particular stores.

Centenarian Laid to Rest

MARMORA — Julius Bedore was laid to rest here Saturday — returned to the Hastings countryside from which he emerged to become one of the longest - lived Canadians of the century.

A simple burial service marked the tranquil end of the 104 years lived by Mr. Bedore — a life span that reached back to the days when this now - prospering community was still in the uncertain throes of settlement.

Until it closed last Wednesday in a Belleville hospital room, his lifetime was a living contact with that era and the evolution of modern times.

It was inevitable that time — and its passing — would be one of the themes expressed at his memorial during the Anglican service in St. Paul's church here. The edifice whose stones today appear venerably timeworn, was built until 1874 — six years after Mr. Bedore was born in the year after Confederation.

"To have 104 years of life is a gift . . . something that is exceptional," Rev. John Lessard, rector of St. Paul's told the 60 family members and friends gathered in the church.

"I don't know how you explain it," admitted the rector. "I found it impossible to comprehend that Mr. Bedore was born as he was — the year after Confederation."

A person of such great years, said Rev. Lessard, it is "someone very, very special to all of us. It is a privilege to know one . . . It is so unusual, so remarkable. . . ."

The brief service — ended with the gracefully - timeless Abide With Me, after which the casket was placed in the vault at the nearby Marmora Protestant cemetery. It will be in this small knoll of ground — which now is flanked by the modern bustle of the Toronto - Ottawa Highway 7 traffic route — that Mr. Bedore will be buried in spring.

From the line of descendants he left — estimated to include close to 100 great- and great - great - grandchildren — eight grandsons escorted the centenarian to his final resting place as pall bearers.

They were Barry Watson, kenneth Corver, Charles Brophy, Don Brophy, Robert Brophy, Fred Ballegied, Eric Bedore, Cliff Anstead.

School Trustees To Be Oriented

Hastings county board of education will hold a three-day trustees' orientation program in January for its 17 board members. The dates of the meetings will be decided at the inaugural session Wednesday night.

The first day of the program will be devoted to an outline of the board organization by director of education Eric Runacres and a review of the various trustee organizations in the province. Time will also be devoted to "do's and dont's" for trustees.

During the second day trustees will meet with the academic council comprised of senior officials of the board and with members of the business administration department.

On the third day trustees will visit the board office on College St. to discuss the activities of the purchasing and transportation department, will survey the plant department on Avondale Rd. and visit the instructional media centre in Trenton. They will also learn something of the community school program from co-ordinator David Smith and of the outdoor education program from co-ordinator Wayne Brooks.

Council Meetings Switched to FM

Starting tonight, CJBQ will discontinue broadcasting municipal council meetings on AM radio. Instead, the meetings will be aired on FM.

Station manager Frank Murray said ratings have shown that the programs are of little interest only to persons in the immediate area. CJBQ broadcasts Belleville and Trenton council on alternate Mondays.

Mr. Murray said that since the station acquired its new transmitter last year, its FM coverage area has increased enormously, adding many listeners in north Hastings and Prince Edward County.

He said the AM band was used primarily for mass audience broadcasts, whereas FM concentrates on more specialized programs such as the council meetings.

The meeting tonight, on FM, will originate in Trenton.

Two Join Force

Two new officers were sworn into the Belleville Police Department last week. Kenneth Gatsakle and David Lacey, both of Belleville, join the force as probationary constables.

Car Found, Man Charged

A car stolen Friday morning from a Frankford parking lot was recovered Saturday night near Barcovan Beach.

Placed in custody is Timothy Forbes, 19, of 166 King Street, Trenton, charged with car theft. He was due to appear in provincial court this morning.

Constable Brian Skinner of Belleville detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police said the car, a 1965 Volkswagen, was stolen from the parking lot of Bata Shoes where its owner, Donald Howard of Frankford, works. Mr. Howard neglected to remove the keys.

In the following afternoon Constable Skinner arrested Forbes at his home.

Final Tribute to Patriarch

Funeral cortege of Julius Bedore, Grand Old Man of Hastings County, who died last week at 104, leaves St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, Saturday. A native of Marmora area, he was laid to rest in community where he was born the year after Confederation.

Of course, we'll pay you while you're in hospital, but that isn't the point at all. Many times people are laid up due to an accident or sickness and never even go to the hospital. Others may be hospitalized for a week or two and then be laid up at home for a month, six months, or a year. We'll pay you because you're disabled — whether you're in hospital or at home. And we'll pay you in addition to your provincial health insurance or any other hospital insurance you may already have.

Cash paid directly to you

Benefit cheques are paid directly to you. Remember, you can use this tax-free money any way you please. Benefits may be prorated only if you change to a more hazardous occupation, or in the event of over-insurance — that is, if your disability benefits from all sources were to exceed your normal income.

No salesmen means you save — Rates never go up because your age does Commercial Travelers, a pioneer in health insurance since 1883, has always maintained a no frills, low-overhead operation. We're a non-profit, mutual company. We have no salesmen to call on you at home. You get more protection for your insurance dollars.

Keep in mind, too, that rates do not increase as you grow older. Your cost cannot be changed unless there is a general adjustment up or down affecting all policies of this type in your province. You'll never pay more because of a change in your health or because of frequent claims or the amount of money you collect.

Send no money — you're protected for ten days while you decide

Even without a cent from you, we start your protection just as soon as your application is accepted. We'll mail you your policy and give you 10 days to decide whether you want to continue the extra security of Commercial Travelers protection. And we'll protect you all the time you're thinking about it.

Your choice of two plans — accident or combined accident and sickness coverage

The accident plan covers all accidents except those caused by attempted suicide, war or military service in wartime, and riot participation. Nor do we cover suicide, or accidents when you are a passenger in military aircraft, or a pilot or paid crew member of any aircraft.

With the combined accident and sickness plan you get all the protection of the accident plan plus coverage for sickness too. You're protected for all sickness, and mental illness, that begins 15 days or later after your coverage starts (or 6 months in the case of heart trouble, cancer, tuberculosis and hernia).

Pre-existing conditions are not covered for the first 24 months.

An unexpected accident or sickness could strike without warning. If you're 18 to 59, please fill out the coupon now. It's too important to put off.

In three minutes, you'll know what kind of copying and duplicating equipment you need.

Do you need lots of high quality copies in a hurry?

Our best Quick Copies System shoots out printed copies at a rate of 150 a minute. Yet it's efficient for making as few as seven copies from an original.

You have a choice of two offset duplicators. The automated table top model 2258 is easy to operate because one level controls all the duplicating functions. The 369 automated offset is better if your copying volume is very high, because it can be programmed to run the desired number of copies.

Add a sorter and your copies will be ready as soon as they're printed.

Is economy your main concern?

A Spirit System is the most economical copying system there is. It'll make copies for as little as 1¢ each. And you can make masters directly from an original with the 204 master/transparency maker. This system is ideal for small offices, or operations that need a lot of inexpensive copies for internal use.

Do you need a few copies in a hurry?

Then you need the convenience of a copier. If a lot of people make a lot of copies, consider the 680. It makes the first copy in four seconds. So people won't waste their time waiting for copies.

Our 622 copier is an economical solution for small volume needs. Yet it has many features found in more expensive copiers. Like the flatbed design to keep your original safe, outside the copier.

Do you want the best combination of quality and economy?

If you need lots of copies, but don't need offset quality, a Mimeograph System is the answer. It requires a smaller investment than offset. You can make stencils directly from your original using a 580 stencil burner which lets you reproduce drawings and photos. And the 580 mimeograph can run copies in several colors.

Everything A Blushing Bride Needs And More -- at Four Seasons

MacKENZIE

KING

Staff Reporters

A "Wedding Fashion Show" hosted by Four Seasons Hotel, provided Belleville and Trenton area residents first: a complete wedding preparatory display from start to finish.

Bridal gowns and gifts, hairstyles, tuxedos, bridal reception buffets, floral arrangements, a cake display, photographer's showings dish and silver ware and furniture displays were among the exhibits featured. Information on travel tours, music, jewelry and limousine service was also available.

"As a hotel and as part of this community, we try to take an active part in aiding the public," said Mr. Mike Broadhurst, Four Seasons Hotel manager.

Four Seasons Hotel serves bridal receptions, and from past experience, it was realized that a wedding display is essential for both the bridal couple and wedding specialists.

Assisting Mr. Broadhurst were: Mr. Lino Ferreira, Mr. Doug Read and Mr. Meiny Hedagat.

The newest bridal gown from the Fashion Shoppe, Trenton was a layered Gibson creation designed in lace over crystalline which is a light weight, crush resistant acetate and nylon. This new shimmery material also appeared in the pastel empire waisted bridal party gowns.

Headdresses are disappearing as shown at the Four Seasons Hotel display. Floor length veils are once again fully gathered at the crown which complete the bridal ensemble.

Four Seasons' chef, Ryan Mills and his assistants provided an array of their carefully and artistically prepared banquet foods. This included stuffed boar's head and potato salad filled turkey; in fact everything from appetizers to the final course of dessert necessary for a bridal reception.

Flowers add the extra touch for any bridal ensemble and according to current bridal trends approximately 90 per cent of the bridal bouquets feature cascades of red roses and ivy. Nosegays are a popular bouquet for attendants.

Furniture for the couple's new house or apartment depends on price and personal preferences. The trend in bedroom suites is towards the massive Mediterranean or Spanish style of furniture. Coordination remains a key word when choosing furure furniture pieces and accent items.

When time is of utmost importance to the bridal couple, their requirements can all be met under one roof, as proven by the displays at the Four Seasons Hotel.

Pork Ideas Suggested; In Quick, Easy Recipes

The following ideas for pork were prepared by Marjorie Elwood, a home economist for the Ontario Pork Institute. They're suggested for quick, easy, and tasty home recipes.

HAM SLICES — these cured and smoked ham steaks may be baked, broiled or pan-broiled.

BAKED — insert several cloves in side of steak. Place a 1-inch slice on a rack in a foil-lined open, shallow pan. Spread with glaze. Bake in a 225 degree oven for 40 minutes for a fully cooked ham slice and 60 minutes for a cook - before - eating slice.

BROILED — place ham steak on rack of oil-lined broiler pan. Broil a 1-inch steak three inches from heat, for about 10 minutes each side for a cook - before - eating slice and five minutes per side for a fully cooked slice — brush with glaze after turning once.

PAN-BROILED — brown over high heat about one minute per side then cover and cook slowly over moderate heat — ½ inch steak requires about eight minutes each side. If desired, brush with one to two tbsps maple syrup after turning once.

HAM GLAZES

1. Brown Sugar Glaze — combine 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tsp dry mustard and enough fruit juice to moisten (maraschuna cherry juice is delicious for this).
2. Hokey Glaze — combine 1 cup honey with ½ cup orange marmalade.
3. Jelly Glaze — combine 1 cup apple or currant jelly with ¼ cup horseradish.
4. Cranberry Glaze — combine 1 can of whole or jellied cranberry sauce (crushed with a fork) and ½ cup light corn syrup or use cranberry sauce alone.
5. Crabapple Glaze — combine 1 cup brown sugar and ½ cup syrup from spiced crabapples.

Ann Landers
Football Gripes Invalid By Television Viewers

Dear Ann Landers: Please, oh please, Ann, be fair. Tell every woman who gripes because her husband watches so much football on TV, to button her lip. It so happens the games are played on weekends and holidays and that's when husbands are home.

How many of those housewives who complain are glued to their sets during the week watching the doctor shows? When I was sick with the flu I couldn't get my wife to bring me a glass of orange juice. She was too busy with General Hospital, Search For Tomorrow, Surgeon, The Doctors, Medical Centre and so on.

I say, "Let her who is without sin cast the first tone." What do you say, Ann Landers? — A Husband Who Watches Football And Could Be Out Doing Something Worse

Dear Husband: I say you've conveyed two major messages — one in your letter and another in your signature.

The women are going to hate me but I agree with you. If the worst thing a wife can say here about her husband is that he watches too much football on TV, she has a better marriage than most.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you can come up with an answer. I am beside myself. My married son has two children. One was born on Dec. 8, the other was born on Dec. 18. My son's birthday happens to be Dec. 3.

My son's wife decided that the birthdays are too close together, also they are too close to Christmas. She claims it is a lot of work to put on three birthday parties within two weeks, plus the fact the kids get cheated out of their birthday presents because relatives ignore the birthdays and send only Christmas gifts and Happy Birthday and Merry Xmas!"

My daughter-in-law wants to celebrate the older boy's birthday in October and the younger boy's in November. She says it is only for the purpose of space — the parties and she doesn't plan to mess around with the birth certificates. I am opposed to this idiotic plan because I believe birthdays should be celebrated on the day of one's birth. If this plan goes through I will never be able to remember my grandchildren's birthdays. Please tell me what you think. — Mixed Up Grandma

Dear Grandma: I think she should leave the kids' birthdays alone. But I won't be changing them. And when she does, remember, you have been told of the solution. Next year, don't send any Christmas gifts.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a successful financial man. We are both past 50. Our children are grown and are on their own in health. So what's my problem? My husband has no interest in anything but making money. I am ashamed to tell people we have been out of the United States. Not even to Canada. He's been promising me a trip to Europe for four years. I buy the tickets, make the plans and at the last minute he has a big deal and can't leave town. Will you please tell me what to do? — Married But Alone

Dear M. But S.: Buy the tickets, make your plans and tell Mr. Gotrocks if he can't leave town you will invite a friend, cousin, niece or aunt, someone who couldn't afford the trip otherwise. Then do it — and send me a postcard.

Wants Discussion

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A Swedish government-sponsored women's lib exhibition, with pictures of nudes and slogans against discrimination by sex, has been set up near the interior ministry. "We want a discussion among government officials," said Kristina Leglin, organizer of the exhibition and a secretary to Premier Olof Palme.

Control Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial governments and provincial medical groups should get busy and develop some basic licensing regulations over acupuncture, says Dr. J. D. Wallace, secretary general of the Canadian Medical Association.

In an issue of the association's journal released this week, Dr. Wallace said controls and licensing should cover both doctors and non-doctors and should be determined "before we get into serious trouble."

The official medical view at present is that the use of any body more and one strip joint are store, Toronto's main street.

Canadian Models Differ — Others Use 'Older Look'

TORONTO (CP) — If you want to be a model, you should be launched by the time you are about 18. Prime time will occur during your mid-20s, so you should be accumulating experience and sophistication.

June Cassie says there are jobs for women over 30 and older, but the most productive years are under 30 by the time a model is 25 to 28.

"A girl without training should be a good height. Five foot six inches is all right, though really we like them to be 5-foot-7 to 5-foot-8. The odd girl who is 5-foot-4 or 5 can make it, but she must be exceptional otherwise. If they're going to have a long career, they should be 5-foot-8.

"To work in Canada, they should be essentially good looking. In Europe or New York, they might use an older look or a strange look like the old Vogue look.

"In Canada catalogue photography is the bread and butter of the business. If she's going to do that she has to have good teeth, she has to appeal to people in middle Canada, she can't be freaky.

"I think a model has to be keen, she can't just sit there, she has to have a certain aggressiveness. The girls with glowing personalities get the farthest. At least they're noticed, they don't have to work as hard to be remembered.

"Some people think photographers' models are dumb, but I think a girl has to be fairly intelligent to fulfil any potential.

"And a girl doesn't have to be quite as skinny as she once did."

Miss Cassie recommends shopping around among schools to find out what they offer, or talking to someone already in the business on whose advice you rely.

Some schools select students and will help them find work. Some courses are about two months long, some nine or 10 months. Cost ranges from $200 to about $500. Some teach modelling only, others include courses on etiquette and social graces. Some schools offer a refresher course for about $50.

Straight modelling courses probably include makeup for print through television photography, runway work, posing for a photographer, dressing generally.

Miss Cassie said there is modelling work to be done in almost every city in Canada, though Montreal is the main one for showrooms and wholesale work and Toronto the centre for catalogue work.

Fashion photographers use models for fashions or makeup for magazines and magazine pictures.

Wanted: More Encores! For Modern Harmonies

The house lights dim:
The artist takes his place
To dazzle with his virtuosity.
Thunder and lightning —
Overpowering sound.
And those discordant modern harmonies
Demanding techniques of a dedicated mind.
I am not thrilled.
Awed is a better word.
When rumble of applause has died away
And encores flow —
Endearing melodies.
Why not sometimes, for lowbrows such as me,
A concert of just encores, please?

V. A.

Dear Doris: I am on medication for 18 years. I have cancer. I've got a daughter, married, and she has two little girls. I don't think I can go on much longer. Next month I have to go to hospital for a cancer check-up again.

My husband has been dead for 25 years. Sometimes I just sit and cry. What can I do to get better? — am 53 — In Despair.

Dear In Despair: Your doctors are doing their best. But let me tell you about my beloved and widowed friend Norma. She has asthma, a failing heart, a hiatal hernia and a degenerating liver. She has been shifted from house to apartment to seniors' home to nursing home. She goes with shortness of breath when she talks to you. Her hearing is poor and one eye is gone, the other going.

When you visit her you come away cheered up. Never fails to tell you a joke or make a laughing remark, to know she can do it. She knows she's doomed!

Well, for one thing, her How does she do it? She long-time habit is to forget her own feelings and learn all about her visitor. If she had a very granddaughter she would play with her, write her a letter, buy her an extraordinary picture book (via telephone — her only resource for such purchases).

But the real secret is her tremendous faith. She is quite certain she goes on from here to a better world; that that life on earth is just a getting ready period.

Could you possibly get hold of that kind of a look at our country and future existence?

V. A.

Dear Doris: A reader said she used a large quantity of vitamin B for energy. Isn't this also used for nervous conditions in what form is it taken — All Nerves.

Dear Nerves: We need all the vitamins. We need minerals. When we eat food in their natural state, or as close as we can get to that, we get more of these. Cooking, any kind of processing or refining, takes down vitamin and mineral content.

My consultant on nutrition advises things like wheat bread, saladas made with uncooked vegetables and fruits. And when you need them, vitamin supplements. But your own doctor will have to tell you what you need, and advise a specific according to your needs.

Doris invites comments on correspondence, in care of this newspaper. If you read about a problem similar to one you have solved, let's hear about it.)

Author Attributes Fame To Careful Fact Checking

LONDON (CP) — Cecil Woodham-Smith is one of Britain's most distinguished contemporary historians and she attributes her prominence to her meticulous checking of facts.

Mrs. Woodham-Smith's latest work, Queen Victoria—Her Life and Times, 1810-1861, has been a best-seller from the day of publication on the fall of 1972. Reviewers have called it the finest, best-documented study yet from the author whose previous works are Florence Nightingale, published in 1950, The Reason Why, 1953, and The Great Hunger: Ireland 1845-1849, published in 1962.

In an interview in her London flat, she expressed annoyance with a reviewer "who said I had access to sources not available to anyone else."

She said she used sources which were available to anyone who cared to look for them but studying the course of material can be hard, even boring work. But it pays off, even rewriting half a dozen times.

It is her meticulous checking of every fact that has given so much life to her books — but she has no patience with those who make statements of fact without proof. Even references to weather should be checked.

"The meteorological office has been keeping records since the middle of the 18th century. I wrote to know what the weather was like on the day Queen Victoria was born. It was rainy and cold — but in the warm spell which preceded it Keats wrote his Ode to a Nightingale.

"You must never make a statement without evidence — and there is plenty to be found if you look," she said.

The conclusion of her new book is the account of the deathbed scene of the prince consort, Mrs. Woodham-Smith said every single word in the chapter was based on the evidence of the present. It was no glamorized version of events but the truth.

Queen Victoria has a strong fascination for Mrs. Woodham-Smith. She hopes her book will make readers understand the great queen better.

"I have a sort of crusade on her behalf. Because she gave her name to the Victorian age people think of her as 'Victorian.' But if ever there were a true Hanoverian, she was one. She had all the characteristics — excessive interest in sex, excessive interest in sex, excessive obstinacy.

"But, along with all these characteristics she had qualities which I like and respect very much: honesty, sincerity, ability to do with good grace something she didn't much want to do. She recognized that she was a constitutional monarch and must act as one.

"She never sulked nor bore a grudge. She never forgot a benefit, but she forgave. She forgave. One of the things which got her into trouble was that she didn't really like children."

Queen Victoria became highly nervous in pregnancy and her surgeon obviously understood this condition. "Her relations with the prince consort have been much misunderstood. They complemented one another. He gave her what he wanted. She had been brought up without a father, and, oh dear, with a mother!"

Mrs. Woodham-Smith continually defends Queen Victoria. She was always the most courted person in a room. In spite of her scarlet face and really deplorable figure, she was unmistakably a lady. She had a most delicious voice. She was a natural mimic.

"Oh, what we have missed in losing her diary! Most of Queen's personal journals were destroyed by her daughter, Princess Beatrice. Only the earlier journals, which were written in the knowledge that they would be seen by her mother, the Duchess of Kent, and her governess and companion, Baroness Lehzen, were preserved. I am sure Princess Beatrice acted from the highest motives."

Volume II will cover the period 1861 to 1901, the year of Queen Victoria's death. Already Mrs. Woodham-Smith has done much research and has written several drafts of the first chapter.

Mirror of Your Mind

Who uses a first name first?

GENERALLY, it is spontaneous when two people who have known each other for some time begin to call each other by the first name. On occasion, however, the same jockeying, to see which one sets the relationship on a more casual basis, that once the first one puts the relationship on a more casual basis. But once the first name is used, both generally feel more at ease. Every once in a while, though, a person will let others know he wants only to be addressed formally — and everyone gets the message.

Can a husband mask his feelings?

HARDLY. Let him meet his wife for a dinner date or some shopping downtown after a trying day on the job, and she will know in a flash that he is worried about something. The more a husband tries to act casual or nonchalant, the quicker his wife can detect that he is worried or concerned. Even as a husband denies anything is wrong, he might indeed begin to feel better simply because his wife can "read" him so well.

Does Mother resent Junior's anger?

THAT might be her immediate reaction, but a mother will quickly realize there must be a reason for her child's anger. Quite often, too, a mother won't resent it if her youngster takes his anger out on her, although she isn't the one who provoked her child. Perhaps she understands that he believes his mother will tolerate his angry outbursts; and he might have enough confidence to think that his mother will understand whatever made him angry.

Allen Assumes New Role

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Meet "the new" Oscar Robertson of Milwaukee Bucks — Lucius Allen.

"It's a difficult role," said Allen, who was cast as playmaker Sunday after Robertson hurt himself in the first quarter of a National Basketball Association game.

Allen knew what to do. He gave the ball to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and the super centre scored 37 points to lead a 99-92 victory over Los Angeles Lakers.

"I made some mistakes—a couple shots I should have made and a couple of bad passes, but for the most part the breaks at the end to win it," said Allen.

In the other games Sunday, Boston Celtics defeated Baltimore Bullets 116-98, Chicago Bulls routed Buffalo Braves 119-94, Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed Houston Rockets 107-97, Detroit Pistons defeated Portland Trail Blazers 101-96 and Philadelphia 76ers flopped Seattle SuperSonics 85-82.

Saturday night's scores were: New York Knicks 116, Houston Rockets 106; Cleveland 108, Los Angeles 97; Atlanta Hawks 116, Detroit 111; Milwaukee 110, Buffalo 96; Golden State Warriors 111, Golden State 100 and Phoenix Suns 118, Kansas City-Omaha Kings 112.

Along with his outstanding playmaking, Allen also scored 20 points.

Simpson opened a 15-point lead over mistake-prone Baltimore with a first quarter and went on to rout the Bullets behind John Havlicek's 33 points.

The Bullets committed 13 turnovers in the first quarter as the Celtics took a 29-14 lead.

Bob Love, Chet Walker and Jerry Sloan combined for 64 points to power Chicago over injury-riddled Buffalo.

Bobcats Bomb St. Mike's In 9-1 Jr. Win

The Belleville Bobcats line of Ken Holmes - Paul Lavcoder - Dwayne Dayton beat St. Michael's goaltender Pascal Renaud for four of the Bobcats' 9-1 victory total in Metro Junior "B" hockey action Sunday.

Lavender tallied two goals and assisted on Holmes' third period score, while Dayton netted the go-ahead in the first period.

Though the Buzzers kept the game in their reach with a 2-1 first period final, the Bobcats opened the scoring margin in the second as goals from Darrell Cole, Mark Coates, who added an three during the contest, and Rick Meagher with two gave the Belleville club a 6-1 lead going into the third.

Cole's third period score came as he ... in a pass from Coates who cleared a Meagher rebound to the Belleville ... er.

The Bobcats' victory earns them a 12-7-4 won - lost - tie record as they go into Friday's home game against the Westends.

The Belleville juniors were without the services of several players as defenseman Tim Yoha was under a suspension as a result of Friday's game with Markham Waxers while Wally Diamond was out of the line-up due to illness.

Brian Cousins hung up his 'Cats uniform as he went back to studies at Queen's University.

Though Andy Ricketts did not play a fin... game for the Bobcats, he did see action on the line with Meagher and Coates. Bevan Clarke, who played his first game in the Belleville jersey, made the St. Mike's forwards keep their heads up with tough defensive play.

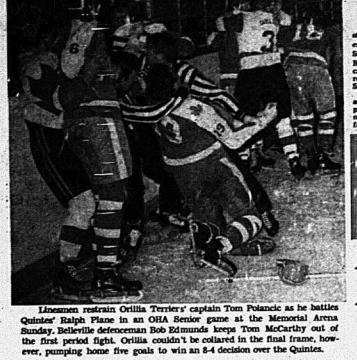
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1973



Linesmen restrain Orillia Terriers' captain Tom Polancic as he battles Quinte Bobcats' Wayne McConnell in an OHA Senior game at the Memorial Arena Sunday. Belleville defenceman Bob Edmunds keeps Tom McCarthy out of the first period fight. Orillia couldn't be collared in the final frame, however, pumping home five goals to win an 8-4 decision over the Quintes.

Quintes' Sag Costly

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Belleville Quintes began Sunday's OHA Senior A hockey game by going to the Terriers and finished it by going to the dogs.

The result was an 8 - 4 loss to Orillia Terriers as the Quintes sagged badly in the final period while the visitors potted five of their goals. Backchecking breakdowns by the losers led to a number of them - one - one and two - on - one breaks for the visiting Terriers who headmanned the puck well and took advantage of their scoring chances.

Belleville started strongly, outshooting the visitors 11 - 9 in the opening period. It wasn't until 18.59 of the first period that Orillia was able to credit the scoresheet tie. Defenceman Doug Kelcher gave his team a 1-0 lead when he beat Ron Jury with a low shot from the point just ahead of the siren.

The first period also featured a battle between Orillia captain Tom Polanic and Belleville's Ralph Plante, although neither was able to acquire himself from the grasp of his opponent and the linesmen long enough to administer any telling blows.

Al Ferguson evened the score at 1-1 after only 13 seconds of play in the middle period. The big right winger had been beaten cleanly by goalie Louis Levasseur in the opening period when he was left uncovered at the post. The Orillia netminder made another good save on Ferguson's original drive, but couldn't prevent him from backhanding the puck into the empty net on the rebound.

Gary Vaughn picked up a long lead pass from Grant Moore that sent him into the clear at 7.24 of the second and he beat Jury with a high shot to his glove side to make it 2-1. The Belleville goalie made a few more mistakes later when he gloved a hard rebound attempt from Gary Milroy.

Charlie Cipolla made it 3-1 near the middle of the period.

Tourney Champs

Oshawa captain David Smith holds the championship trophy for the Belleville Yardmen Juvenile Tournament contested during the Memorial Arena. The tournament winners edged defending champion Western Tire juveniles 2-1 in the opening game and went on to score a 5-2 win over Kingston in the championship game.

Duffy Robbed Twice

Danny Duffy failed to keep two goals he scored in a game against Bowmanville Lindsay Minor Hockey Association Tournament.

The Rollins Construction powerer major scored two goals against the Oshawa club, but both were called back by the referees with the result being a 3-1 loss for the Belleville team.

Though the Rollins peewees defeated Barrie 4-0 Saturday and Kingston Young Nationals 4-0 Sunday, they were eliminated from the tournament with the Oshawa loss.

According to Rollins manager Norm Harris a victory would have taken the Belleville team to the "A" series finals against Bay Ridges.

Rollins' goalie Brian Cook took care of the shutout for a two shutout credit while Gary Frederick took the high scorer honors with four over the three games. Duffy followed with two goals and two assists while Steve Pearce earned two tallies and Tim Coates one. Gary McInroy assisted on two Rollins gals.

Towers Blanked

The Belleville Towers Food City novice majors were kept off the scoreboard in both their games in the Thousand Islands International Atom Tournament held in Brockville January 6-7.

Belleville came up against "AA" teams from Glen Valley and Ottawa East and were defeated 9-0 and 2-0 respectively.

Alf Langner of Sir Sanford Fleming winces as he attempts to prevent a lay-up by former Belleville high school player Leo Baker now performing with the Durham College Lords. Baker's scoring attempt failed as did the Lords, dropping a 72-62 decision to the Lindsay school in the championship game of the Loyalist Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday. Loyalist College of Belleville took consolation honors in the four-team tournament.

Oshawa Wins Yardmen Tourney

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Belleville's Western Tire entry didn't repeat as the Yardmen Juvenile Hockey Tournament champions. And they were foiled 4-3 by Brooklin-Whitby in their bid for the consolation title.

They did receive one small consolation from the one-day tourney, however — providing the toughest opposition for the eventual tournament champions.

"I'd have to say that the Belleville game was the closest," acknowledged Oshawa coach Doug Stanton whose team defeated Kingston 5-2 for the "A" title. "It was our poorest game of the tough est. Any time you win 2-1 it has to be tough."

Oshawa had troubles again in their final outing, tying Kingston 1-1 at the end of the first period and leading 2-1 after 40 minutes before pulling away in the final frame for a 5-2 victory.

Tourney officials apparently agreed with the coach's assessment of netminder Bruce Portelous' work, awarding him the Most Valuable Goalie trophy.

Another key to the Oshawa title win was forward John Stainton who scored a hat trick in the title game against Kinston. Stainton tallied early in the third period to give his team a 3-1 lead before adding a breakaway counter to up the count to 4-1 and scored into an empty net at 19.30 to cinch the Oshawa win. He was awarded first medallion for that game.

In the tournament opener Paul Ackerman scored at 1.18 to give Belleville an early 1-0 lead before the champions bounced back with markers by John Kirk and team captain David Smith. Porteous and Belleville's Calvin Lane provided shutout goaltending over the last two periods to account for the final 2-1 verdict.

Western Tire rebounded to win their second game 5-1 over Trenton with Wayne Andrews scoring the winner at 9.15 of the final period. It was Andrews' second goal of the game and helped him to a gold medallion performance in that contest.

Peter Smrke added two goals to the Western total while Ackerman had the other. For Trenton it was Jim Whitney, Steve Mills, Curtis McLean and Les Kelly getting the goals.

Sir Sanford Fleming Turns Tables

Sir Sanford Fleming College of Lindsay turned strength into weakness in the championship game of the Loyalist Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday. They also turned in a 72-62 victory over Oshawa's Durham College Lords.

"We were playing them man-to-man in the first half," said winning coach Brian McFarden. "We switched to a zone defence in the second half, which generally doesn't work against them because they're good outside shooters. They weren't hitting tonight, though — maybe if they had it would have been a different game."

The teams had been tied a 27-27 following the half time break, but Lindsay's tough zone defence caught hold of the vantage combined to give them the final 18-point margin of victory. "I think our height helped us as well. Number 30 (Ted Harrison) must have had 80 per cent of their rebounds while ours were spread around."

Corner man Paddy Hall bumped in 26 points to lead his team to the championship win, while Keith Ebbs and Alf Langner added 12 points apiece. Harrison hooped 26 for Durham followed by Al Gates and Steve Ball with 13 each.

Loyalist College of Belleville won the consolation title taking a 66-48 win from Toronto's Humber College after losing 67-57 to Durham in the tournament opener.

"We played better defensively in the second game," said Loyalist coach Rob Sturdivant. "We gave up some easy baskets to Durham and it was enough to cost us the game."

Bill Kyle scored 16 points for Loyalist in the consolation championship while Hubert Hicks added another dozen. The pair were also top point-getters in the opening game as Kyle hit for 21 points and Hicks eight. Gates scored 21 points for Durham in their opening win, while Glen Mott connected for 13 to lead Humber.

Sir Sanford Fleming topped Humber 76-33 as their opener with Hall's 18 points leading the way. Durham continued win over Durham was particularly satisfying after being beaten by 26 points in an earlier meeting with the Lords this season.

Crawford Marks Up Weekend Hat Trick

Mark Crawford added to his goal total over the weekend as he scored three times for the Dixie Lee Fried Chicken peewee minors in Quinte - St. Lawrence League hockey action.

Crawford marked two up against Sunday's Trenton opponent in a 5-2 victory as Greg Sproul, Billy Rowe and Paul Chapman scored a goal apiece on the Trenton netminder.

Though the shots on goal were nearly even at 22-19 to Belleville's advantage, Crawford's third period tally was the only goal scored by the Dixiemen against Kingston Port Henry Saturday. Hoskins, Wessen and Combe beat the Belleville defender for a 3-1 victory for Kingston.

Hillcrest Summits did not rise high over the Belleville Kinsmen Club, as the bantam players defeated the team 4-0 and 6-1 in two weekend games.

Mark Meehan and Bruce Hamilton shared the shutout against the Summitts Saturday as Rob O'Brien scored two goals against Hillcrest. Ray Skelly and Paul Hayman added one apiece to give the Kinsmen bantams a 4-0 total.

McBrien scored his third of the weekend Sunday as Hillcrest's only tally came from Bradford. Hayman, Bob Thompson, Tony Meagher, Kevin Pope and Rob Chase each beat the Summitts' netminder for another five to earn a 6-1 finish.

The McInroy - Maines bantam minors also defeated the Willowdale Hillcrest Summitts in Sunday two away games as Randy Hutcheon and Bob Crawford each scored two goals for Belleville.

In the "B" championship, Belleville trailed 4-1 at one point in the third period before scoring twice in a comeback bid that fell one goal short against Brooklin-Whitby.

Brooklin's Bill Lockyer counted a goal and two assists in that contest which helped him to Most Valuable Forward honors in the tournament. Kingston's Craig Gavel was named Most Valuable defenceman.

Despite seeing his team dethroned as champions Western Tire coach Lou Smrke was pleased with the tournament. "I was talking to a lot of the out of town people and they said it's the best tournament they've had in. The Yardmen have done a great job," he commented.

Sunday the Summitts tumbled 7-3 as Hall, Dave McBride, Gary Gorgan, and Rick ville club with scoreboard marksmanship. Terry Thompson and Alan Sureh shared the goaltending duties in the two victories.

Mikita Moves Hawks To Win Over Boston

By IAN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The spirit was reclaimed, but the zest and determination with which Stan Mikita terrorized opposition goaltenders in his early years with Chicago Black Hawks is back.

The slightly-built centre, fully-recovered from back injuries that have plagued him the last two seasons, was up to his old tricks Sunday against Boston Bruins.

He scored Chicago's first goal then drew assists on the other four as the Black Hawks nipped Boston 6-4 to move eight points ahead of Minnesota North Stars, whom they blanked 2-0 Saturday, in the National Hockey League's West Division.

The five-point game moved Mikita into second place in the individual scoring race at the half-way point in the schedule with 58 points, two behind Boston's Phil Esposito.

Elsewhere Sunday, shutouts told the story as Buffalo Sabres downed Philadelphia Flyers 2-0, New York Rangers blanked Pittsburgh Penguins 3-0, Toronto Maple Leafs whitewashed California Golden Seals 4-0 and Detroit Red Wings bardered New York Islanders with a similar setback.

In another contest, the surprising Atlanta Flames, in first year franchise along with the Islanders, trimmed Vancouver Canucks 5-2 to climb into third place in the West.

Saturday's other scores were: Montreal Canadiens 5, California 0; Toronto 4, Los Angeles Kings 2; Buffalo 4, the Rangers 1; Detroit 4, the Islanders 0; Pittsburgh 4, Vancouver 2 and Atlanta 2, St. Louis Blues 2.

Montreal gets a chance to pad its two-point lead in the East over Boston when they enter ain Minnesota tonight.

It marked the second Chicago victory in as many meetings with the defending Stanley Cup champions this season. And the scrappy Mikita engineered the win, setting up linemates Cliff Koroll and Dan Maloney for two goals each.

Maloney's second of the game, at 19:09 of the second period, broke a 4-4 deadlock and gorliender Tony Esposito blanked the high-scoring Bruins the rest of the way.

Bobby Orr, the Bruins' acedefenceman, drew three assists but was in the penalty box when Malone scored the game winner.

The Sabres, meanwhile, stretched their unbeaten streak at home to 21 games—18 wins and three ties. Jim Dryden registered his second shutout and got all the scoring he needed when Gerry Meehan beat Philadelphia's Doug Favel at 14:41 of the second period after the Flyers' goalie had stopped two successive drives by Gerry Meehan.

East Beats West For WHA All-Star Title

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's not so much who you are but where you are that draws the World Hockey Association fans.

WHA officials discovered on the weekend, to their dismay, the league's elite were nowhere to be found in a showcase at Quebec City where the first all-star game drew less than half the expected crowd.

But in St Paul, Minn., where the Fighting Saints were performing for the first time in the new Civic Centre, a near sell-out house saw their favorites drop a 6-1 score to Winnipeg Jets.

The Jets' win gave them 48 points in the Western Division race to move five points ahead of second place Minnesota.

Only 4,891 were in the 10,000-seat Quebec Coliseum Saturday for the East-West over the West 6-2 in a lively encounter that featured many former National Hockey League stars.

Gary Jarrett and Danny Lawson of Cleveland Crusaders, two goals apiece, broke a 1-1 deadlock with three second-period goals. Edmonton Sharks' Jerry Odowski gave the Western all-stars a short-lived lead at 18:01 of the opening period. Twelve crowd.

GERRY CHEEVERS

47 shots, broke a 1-1 deadlock Johnny McKenzie of Philadelphia Blazers, Larry Pleau of New England and Jim Dorey of Toronto Whalers and Wayne Carleton of Ottawa Nationals scored for the East.

The winners, while picking up three Western goalkeepers for seconds later, Jarrett beat Eric Wakely of Winnipeg Jets for the lead with a shot on the ice at 18 Eastern shots to get past him.

In the second period, Pleau and Dorey added to the Eastern totals completed the rout on Minnesota's Mike Curran, the U.S. Olympic star of the 1972 Winter Games at Sapporo, Japan.

The game was carried nationally in Canada on the CBC television network and on the French regional network in Quebec.

Although the players, along with WHA officials, were disappointed at the Coliseum turnout, it was felt that blanket television coverage, severe winter temperatures and the fact it was an afternoon game contributed to cut into the expected

At Owen Sound, Bill Abbott scored with 13 seconds gone in the third period to earn the tie for the Downtowners. Don Vi pond and Wayne Weller scored Owen Sound's other goals. Mike Flanigan scored twice for the A league.

Only 500 fans turned out to see the game.

Jan Hrbaty and Milos Novak scored on the power plays and Alexander Vybony got the third on a breakaway in the closing seconds of the period. Jan Novy added a fourth goal early in the second period.

Three Qualify For Skating Championship

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Three skaters each qualified to enter two events in the Canadian figure skating championships at Vancouver later this month with strong performances in the eastern Ontario competition during the weekend.

Elaine Post of Peterborough advanced with victories in the novice women's and junior pairs. Her partner in junior pairs will be Stan Hughes of Oshawa.

Steve Klovan of Ottawa earned the right by finishing first in the novice pairs with sister Nancy, and third in novice dance with sister Katharine.

Barbara Anderson of Nepean will skate in the Canadian junior women's event following a second-place finish in the east ern competition. She qualified in novice dance, along with partner David Faulkner, when they placed second to winners Cindy Roeger and Gordon Forbes of Prescott.

Others who advanced were: Kim Alleston, Ottawa, first in junior women; Michaline Rioux, Ottawa, second in novice women; Laura and Vincent Johnston, Oshawa, second in junior dance; Lynn Nightingale, defending Canadian junior women's champion, was unconcerned in the senior women's category. However, the 16-year-old Ottawa resident skated Saturday night to met Canadian Figure Skating Association standards.

There were no competitors in senior men's competition.

The three-day event attracted 150 skaters from 27 clubs.

Henderson Rink Wins Bonspiel

The Quinte Curling Club rink skipped by Bill Henderson (left) vice Dave Brown, and lead Frank Morrell won the top honors in the Carlings Men's Open Bonspiel Sunday. The Henderson rink took a three game high total points win from QCC Riley's rink by a margin of one and a half points in the Carlings Award. Second Paul Knutson is absent.

Henderson Rink Captures Carling

The Quinte Curling Club rink skipped by Bill Henderson, came out of the "A" draw of the Carlings Mens Open Bonspiel competition to edge Bill Riley's "B" draw rink by one-and-a-half points.

The slim margin gave Henderson his third victory over the nine years that rinks have been competing for the Carlings Award. Henderson's win over his fellow Quinte club rink takes the award from Kingston.

The rink with lead Frank Morrell, second Paul Knutson, vice Dave Brown, and skip Henderson saw the closest competition in their first of three eight end games against the Murray Johnson rink.

"We were tied going home," said Henderson, "the Johnson rink was sitting two and I elected to hit. I hit the rock sliding in the four foot circle and it rolled enough to give us the win by a fraction."

The rink's second 10-2 victory came over the rink that had defeated Henderson's in club playdowns for representation in the British Consuls while the third 8-6 bonspiel win earned the "A" draw rink a three game high of 44½ points. Second place went to the Riley rink in the 16 rink competition while the two game high went to the Picton rink skipped by Frank Wastie.

The Picton rink beat QCCs Doug Bennett by two points to prevent a home club sweep of the Carlings Open as Murray Johnson's rink took the one game high award.

Gary Quinn and Betty Campbell of the Kingston Badminton Club had good reason to smile Saturday as they helped their team maintain possession of the Doug Grant Trophy by turning back the challenges of four rivals at Centennial Secondary School Saturday.

The defending champions compiled a total of 98 points for an 11-point margin of victory over Oshawa. Trenton took third place in the competition with 75 Spanklers followed by Belleville with 42 and Whitby with 22 points.

Bernie Lauzon, Jack Campbell and Gary Quinn combined to win the men's single section for Kingston. In the doubles it was Haughton and Quinn, Campbell and Jim Cole and Bill Hart and Larry Adams combining to give them yet another victory.

Oshawa won the ladies doubles and mixed doubles with by with 22 points.

Oshawa won the ladies doubles and mixed doubles with Kingston placing second in both events. Trenton's third place finish came on the strength of taking runner-up honors in mens singles and doubles.

The competition involved 300 games, running from 9:45 Saturday morning until 7.30 p.m.

Power of Negative Thinking Gives Funseth Open Win

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Temperamental soccer star George Best was reported in hot water again Monday, this time over a bar brawl involving two men needing him.

And naturally, there was a pretty girl around. Jennifer Bath, a 22-year-old artist, confessed the story "superstar" and said: "It wasn't george's fault. He wasn't causing any trouble."

Best, a 26-year-old Northern Irishman with a taste for glamour girls, apparently was into trouble as he sipped champagne to celebrate a good day at the races with friends in the fashionable New Grapes Hotel Saturday night.

Miss Bath said three young men "started saying things to" George how he was "getting on." It apparently got Best's Irish up and "glasses were thrown and blows exchanged," according to Miss Bath.

"Two men were taken out of the bar, one with a black eye. Police were holding George back."

Police were called in. Best, later left the hotel with his friends and police said they did not plan to take any action.

Best, fired by his Manchester United club last month after skipping training to frolic in London's Trendy night spots, was involved in a club fracas last November.

He was charged with assaulting a 20-year-old waitress in a Manchester night spot. He is scheduled to appear in court here Jan. 11.

Best's personal manager, Frank Evans, was quoted saying Sunday night the star will not fly to Canada to join a soccer circus. Best was earlier reported "enthusiastic" about the offer.

The Daily Mail reported Evans said the offer from wealthy ex cinema owner Joe Martin, would not be accepted "because neither George nor I know anything about this man's background."

"We had been waiting for an offer to come in writing before George finally agreed to play in the Canadian series. It was all over but for the signing.

"But when the contract arrives, it will now be sent to George's wife Pat who has nothing to do with Mr. Martin."

Martin offered Best $2,000 a game for a 12-match series in Canada plus at least $1,000 expenses.

Evans' rejection of the offer coincided with a refusal Sunday by the Ontario Soccer Association to permits any of its regular players to take part in the soccer circus series. There was speculation Martin's proposed series now may be called off.

Russian Nationals Bounce Buckaroos

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Russian national hockey team swept its four-game series with Western Hockey League rivals by ripping Portland Buckaroos 11-6 Saturday night before a standing room-only crowd of 10,492.

Earlier on the trip to the United States, the Soviets defeated Seattle, Phoenix and San Diego of the WHL, and New Haven of the American Hockey League. They also won the World Cup competition in Colorado and Minnesota.

Portland held a 4-3 lead after the first period, but the Russians picked up three unanswered goals in the middle period and added five more in the final period.

Boris Mikhailov scored twice within one minute and 27 seconds early in the second period to give the Russians a lead they never surrendered.

The Buckaroos went ahead 2-0 at the outset on goals by Art Jones and Mike Keeler. The Russians tied it on 2-2 on scores by Alexandr Maltsev and Alexandr Yakushev.

Maltsev scored on a power play and Yakushev tallied the first of his two goals while the Russians skated shorthanded.

Ken Campbell and Andy Herbert gave the Buckaroos momentary hope with Portland's other two goals, but Viacheslav Anisin scored with only five seconds remaining in the first period to close the Bucks' lead to 4-3. It was Russia all the way from there.

Hockey Briefs

ORILLIA (CP) — Hank Monteith, scoring leader of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series, has joined Orillia Terriers, it was reported here Sunday.

A club official said the 27-year-old native of Stratford, Ont., who scored 17 goals and 46 points for Oakville Oaks before that club folded two weeks ago, signed with the Terriers Saturday.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Soviet Union clinched the Soccer Cup hockey tournament by defeating Swedish hockey champions Brynas 4-3 after extra time Saturday.

The Barrie Flyers of Ontario won their second game, a 4-3 victory over Swedish major league team Vasteras and placed fourth in the six-team tournament.

Barrie scorers were John McMillan with two, Bob Baird and Frank Hincks.

Vastra Frolunda of Swedep trounced ZKL of Brno, Czechoslovakia, 1-0 to take third place.

Oshawa Generals and Ottawa 67s can thank high-scoring lines for victories in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series Sunday.

However, the biggest celebration was in St. Catharines where Morris Titanic scored three power-play goals on his 20th birthday as Sudbury Wolves tied the Black Hawks 5-5.

The Generals whipped Kitchener Rangers 8-5 before 1,868 Oshawa fans as the line of Brian Kinsella, Bill Lochead and Rick Middleton picked up 14 points.

Ottawa's unit of Blake Dunlop, Paul Sheard and David Lee earned 18 points in a 6-3 win over Toronto Marlboros before 7,849 fans at Toronto.

In Sault Ste. Marie, London Knights rallied from a two-goal deficit to tie the Greyhounds 4-4 before 1,241 spectators.

Peterborough Bantams Win Brighton Hockey Tournament

Peterborough captured championship honors in the Brighton Bantam Hockey Tournament Saturday.

The Littlock City bantams edged Picton 3-2 to capture the "A" championship, which was won by Napanee last year. Napanee made it two trophies in as many years by copping a 7-2 win over Port Hope in the "B" championship.

Eight teams competed in the one day tourney with Campbellford, Brighton, Stirling and Fort Henry Heights also seeing action.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

TUESDAY, JAN. 9

Aries (March 21-April 19): Cheerful approaches cover your feeling of vigor aggressive. Show your abilities without regard to competition.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Take what is available and make the best of it. The kind move succeeds at home and in romance—nobody is surprised at what you do.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): The nearest dispatient may be as good as you can get for the time being. Quibbling creates more confusion than you think —don't.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Be as tactful as you can but follow your own course, alone if need be. Just being out of communication isn't the answer.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): People need subtle problems, unaware that they do so. Your only recourse is to follow intuition rather than surface appearances.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Speak up where you have a definite opinion, sticking with the story you're most sure of, ready to be shown another side.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Now is the time to get to the main issues and get set for the long pull. Make amends where you must. Demands where appropriate.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A conference now will produce a surprising result. Appearances are of unusual importance—do things in style!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Chances of any sort get back quickly to your home base. Halfway measures are not favored. Proceed with confidence.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Indirect channels bring you information, samples of possible coming benefits. Follow the impulse of the moment.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Suspend judgment until you have more of the details, for today's circumstances include curious contradictory reports.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): The soft sell works if you are pleading the case for a group with important personages who can do something for you.

Tell of Cancer If Patient Asks

By G.C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can a patient trust a physician in telling the truth if, when questioned, he states that you do not have cancer? We all know that physicians will not tell terminal cases, for fear of suicide. God bless them for that. However, why be examined? — Ms. S.

In reverse order: Why be examined? Obviously to find out what ails you—which may or may not be cancer. And even if it is cancer, a considerable portion of cancer can be cured, or can be alleviated so the patient considers himself cured. Early and effective active life remaining.

Whether a patient "ought to be told" the cancer is a question that has been weighed for years by physicians, and I consider it usually—not it should be.

The answer has changed somewhat, and doubtless will change again as we learn more about treating cancer. I am not necessarily thinking of cures, although that is important, too. Something like one-third of cancer cases are now being cured—that figure probably could be doubled if we could start treating cases sooner—meaning find them sooner. Which is further answer to your question, "Why be examined?"

I can't swallow your flat statement that "we all know that physicians will not tell." It just isn't so.

Most physicians are naturally and humanely reluctant to tell a patient point-blank with a new-found cancer, "You have cancer." That's a pretty shocking way to do it, and anyway, the first suspicion may not be correct. Definitive tests usually are required.

Therefore, a good many patients gradually begin to suspect what's going on because of the way their doctor behaves.

Some patients, we know, prefer not to be told flatly what's the matter with them. They feel happier (and sometimes think they are) among relatives and friends by pretending it isn't cancer. But they have others. However, want it laid on the line.

Best rule, to my opinion, is to wait until the patient asks the question directly. If he asks, tell him the truth. If he doesn't ask, it may mean that he just doesn't want to be told.

Keep this in mind, too: Lying about it is destroying the core of the disease. (But treatment plan!) Most of us have certain things we want to do, and we are entitled to have at least some sort of rough estimate of how much time is left. (Nobody can be exact about that, though.)

However, there's another aspect of this problem which may be involved in your question. It happens often enough that somebody for no reason, gets the idea that he or she has cancer. You can tell them "no" until you are blue in the face and it doesn't help them. They keep on thinking you're lying.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm 45 and have been taking oral pill for several years. Just lately I have started to use tampons, but when my mother found out, she told me I shouldn't do so for the first few days of my period. She said they could make you clot which could lead you later on. Is this correct.—S.H.

No. The clots—if any—would not last when you change tampons, and no harm will be done.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♣	Pass	1♥
Pass	2 NT	Pass	4♥
Pass	7 ♥

Opening lead — three of spades.

This deal occurred in a European championship in the match between Finland and Belgium. Playing a highly artificial system, the Finnish North-South pair arrived at seven hearts on the sequence shown.

The final contract — with a 3-3 trump break — was quite obviously due to a misunderstanding in the bidding. The two club bid was normal and designated a very powerful hand. Two hearts, however, was artificial, and pronounced an ace and a king, but not necessarily a heart suit.

North marked time with two notrump, over which South bid four hearts. This was likewise an artificial response; it was a transfer bid commanding North to bid four spades so that he, with the stronger hand, would become declarer in spades instead of hearts.

But in the heat of the moment, North took that 2-spade leap to four hearts was conventional, and he thought his partner had lots of hearts in addition to the A-K of spades that South had already identified. In line with this, North jumped to seven hearts.

South realized that his partner might possibly have forgotten the convention, but he decided to take the chances of seven hearts. Accordingly he passed, expecting to find a seven-card fit in dummy headed by the A-K.

He led a spade, whereupon declarer cashed the A-K of spades and A-K-Q of clubs, followed by the A-K of diamonds and a diamond ruff. Then he led a 9-spade, it did not matter whether or not West ruffed. South made the rest of the tricks on a cross-ruff and racked up 2,210 points for making the grand slam in hearts.

A trump lead would have defeated the contract— but it would have spoiled a good story.

Tomorrow: Priorities.

Dentists Approve of Hiring Of Denturists as Therapists

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Dental Association (ODA) has approved the hiring of denturists as dental auxiliary therapists as part of a program to provide low-cost dentures throughout Ontario.

At a meeting here Saturday, the ODA board of governors and presidents of 27 dental societies in the province also approved a $20,000 per month advertising program to publicize the service.

For the first time in the history of the profession in Ontario, the names of individual dentists will appear in advertising.

Donald Soutter, representative of the ministry of health, told the meeting that it is "the responsibility and the duty" of dentists to inform the public of their desire and intention to fulful their commitment to provide low cost denture service throughout the province.

The first denture therapists are expected to be licensed in February. They will have the option of working in a dentist's office or a dental clinic, under the supervision of a dentist.

Free Guard Unharmed

MONTREAL (CP) — Three prisoners at the medium-security Leclerc Institute here held a guard hostage for more than an hour early Sunday but released him after they talked with a reporter and a photographer from a local newspaper.

A prison official said the three prisoners took the guard captive at knife-point and held him in a barricaded cell.

They told prison officials they wanted to speak to a reporter from the Journal de Montreal to complain about conditions in the prison.

When the reporter and a photographer from the newspaper arrived, the prisoners talked to them through the barricade and eventually were persuaded to release the hostage and surrender about 1½ hours after the guard was seized.

The guard was not injured.

In addition, following from an amendment apparently in the legislature Dec. 13, they will be able to carry out the actual assembly of dentures in their home or office, providing they see the patient in a dentist's office and return there for the final fitting.

One Teachers' Strike Over, Mediators Work on Two More

A provincial mediator switched his attention Sunday night from the recently-settled teacher dispute in Essex county to another in nearby Windsor while another mediator was the meeting with both sides in a similar dispute in Timmins.

Negotiations in Windsor and Timmins were under way Sunday night.

A news blackout was imposed on the talks in Timmins where 27 of the 244 secondary school teachers showed up for duty last week. Students were attending school on a voluntary basis to study independently.

Resolution of the Essex county separate school board dispute ended an extended holiday for the county's 13,000 elementary school students who were to return to class today.

Mediator William McGuire presided over a 16-hour meeting Friday which produced a contract between the board and its 420 elementary school teachers.

The new contract, which gives teachers an average increase of about seven per cent for the current school year, was ratified by the board Saturday and the teachers Sunday.

James Carey urged that "fair and reasonable" legislation be enacted by the province to allow teachers and boards to arbitrate reasonable settlements.

No legislation governing teacher-school board negotiations now is in existence.

Mr. Carey said similar disputes will "undoubtedly" occur in other parts of the province in the next few months unless legislation is enacted.

Sunday night, Mr. McGuire began to mediate the high school teachers' dispute with the Windsor board of education. The negotiations were continuing early today.

The board and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation asked for a mediator Saturday after a breakdown in negotiations Friday. Windsor high schools have been part of their 13,000 students to attend on a voluntary basis.

Mission for Deaf For Sign Language

TORONTO (CP) — Deaf people in Ontario must pay taxes to support a school system which they consider unjust, says the Ontario Mission of the Deaf in a letter to Premier William Davis.

"You have indicated to the young deaf child that his own language is bad, that it cannot be tolerated in the classroom," said the letter from the Toronto-based mission.

The mission is unhappy with the retention of the lip-reading system as the main communicating device for Ontario's 12,000 deaf children under 12 years of age.

The ministry of education has ordered that finger-spelling be added to oral speech as a means of communication in schools for the deaf starting in September.

But the mission said this "still excludes the most useful communicating tool for many small deaf children, the language of signs."

However, a ministry of education spokesman said many parents of small children often favor the lip-reading system.

"We find a significant number of parents are hopeful and quite desirous that their children can communicate orally."

The mission letter said sign language will not inhibit the deaf child's learning of conventional language skills.

"On the contrary, it will help accelerate the deaf child's development and growth."

Aviation Committee Seeks to End Piracy

MONTREAL (CP) — Another attempt to end or at least curtail acts of air piracy and sabotage against civil aviation begins here Tuesday with a meeting of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) legal committee.

For three weeks delegates at the meeting will discuss whether states can join together to close their airports to states "which harbor or encourage hijackers," an ICAO spokesman said.

More specifically the committee will be looking at a draft proposal drawn up by a subcommittee which met here in September.

That draft, a modification on a joint Canadian-American suggestion, calls for a graduated series of steps and punitive measures against countries which "contribute in any way to a threat to the safety of civil aviation"—a phrase covering nations which harbor or help hijackers and saboteurs.

The final step in the draft would be an air traffic to the offending country.

The U.S. state department has said it is "gratefully hopeful" that the meetings here will produce a "constructive draft" to be forwarded to ICAO's full assembly, possibly later this year.

The draft was approved only after several delegations to the 15-member sub-committee had insisted that, in forwarding the draft to the legal committee for study, they were in no way indicating their approval of it.

Canadian officials have said the draft proposal maintains the "integrity" of tough enforcement provisions originally suggested by Canada and the U.S., while refining the procedures to be followed against offending countries and thus meeting some objections raised by other nations about the original draft.

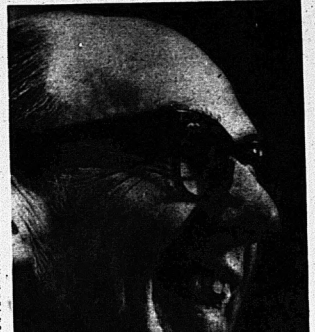
Hanoi Hopes Scant



PARIS (AP) — Henry Kissinger conferred with Le Duc Tho for six hours today in the second session of their Vietnam peace talks as Hanoi declared in a broadcast that "there has not been any sign showing that the negotiations will reach any results."

President Nixon's national security adviser was the host of the meeting in an American-owned villa in suburban St. Nom la Breteche. As at Monday's meeting, there was no public handshaking between the two sides, reflecting the apparent chill in the talks following the heavy American bombing raids on North Vietnam.

But Tho and his advisers emerged smiling from the villa at the end of the meeting, in marked contrast with their grim expressions when the meeting began. Kissinger also directed a wan smile toward waiting reporters and photographers when he left the villa a few minutes later.

Trudeau Slaps PCs

Lewis Rebukes PM for Speech

By STEPHEN SCOTT

OTTAWA (CP) — After telling the people of Canada the question of national unity has been solved, Prime Minister Trudeau has reversed himself and said it still is a crucial matter for the country.

The prime minister did this during the Commons throne speech debate Monday when he said some Conservatives are contributing to national disunity.

The speech was such that David Lewis, New Democratic Party leader whose 31-member group is supporting the Liberal minority government, took the prime minister to task for it.

Mr. Lewis also listed the price of continued NDP support for the Liberal government, saying his party is not writing Mr. Trudeau a blank cheque.

Mr. Lewis said the price for continued support of the Liberals included personal income tax reductions and higher old age pensions.

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette lashed out at both Liberals and Conservatives. He accused the Conservatives of exploiting fears of French power during the Oct. 30 general election.

He added that the throne speech—outlined planned government legislation for the parliamentary session—was proof that fear of losing power was the beginning of wisdom for the government.

Mr. Lewis also made clear that it will be Parliament—and not the Liberals—which will determine whether any adverse vote should bring about the defeat of the government.

Meanwhile, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Trudeau, came under sting-ing fire from an unusually heavy-hitting Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield.

In the obvious attempt to embarrass Mr. Lewis, the Conservative leader moved a motion that simply said the government does not possess the confidence of the Commons.

Mr. Lewis has said that the 31-member NDP group will not support motions of no-confidence in the government during the throne speech debate, making it impossible for the 107 Conservatives to upset the 109 Liberals.

There also are 15 Social Credit members and two independents in the 264-seat House.

If the promises of the throne speech were merely window-dressing, the government would not be long in office, Mr. Lewis said.

"We will bring it down to defeat if its legislative proposals fail to live up to the promise of the throne speech."

It was a day of glum faces and laughter in the House as various members reacted to their leaders.

Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Lewis sat with stony faces as Mr. Stanfield recalled that Mr. Lewis once had said the Conservatives and Liberals were Tweedle-dum and Tweedle-dee.

Now there was the same old Tweedle-dee but a brand new Tweedle-dum.

Mr. Trudeau obviously made many Conservatives angry as he returned to the national unity theme that won him the 1968 election.

Mr. Trudeau said he was optimistic and naive to use the theme "the land is strong" in the Oct. 30 election campaign.

"It is obvious that the question of national unity has not been solved in this country," he said. He had mentioned several times in the election campaign that it had been solved.

"I'm not speaking about it during the campaign and letting this field be occupied by many people who were not working to make this country any more united. . ." Mr. Trudeau began.

Mr. Stanfield, who had mentioned national unity in his election campaign, interrupted to ask if Mr. Trudeau was referring to him.

Other MPs called "smear."

Mr. Trudeau said Mr. Stanfield had shown his responsibility in the area of national unity but he had criticized Jean Marchand, then regional expansion minister, for giving too much money to Quebec.

Mr. Stanfield conceded that he called Mr. Marchand Father Christmas and said he accused him of lavishing funds. He said his criticism was made in Quebec City and that if he could not criticize a minister for wasting money "on the ground that by so doing I am anti-Quebec, then we have reached a pretty sorry state."

Postal Vote Count Being Made

OTTAWA (CP) — Preliminary results of voting by postal workers across Canada indicate mixed feelings toward conciliation board proposals that would give wage increases of 65 cents an hour over a contract ending Dec. 31, 1974.

The national negotiating committee of the Council of Postal Unions (CPU) had urged their 28,000 members to vote against the board's recommendations.

But as partial vote results were made known today, it was apparent that many postal workers across Canada rejected the suggestion of the national committee.

Complete results are to be released later today.

Timmins Teachers Working

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Secondary school teachers in Timmins have ratified a memorandum of agreement reached Monday and were to be back on the job today.

The agreement, giving the 241 teachers a 15-per-cent wage increase over two years, was passed by a vote of 89 per cent.

In Windsor, negotiations between the Windsor board of education and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation adjourned until this morning amid an information blackout.

Reason to Smile

News Briefs

Boycott Called Off

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The Australian Maritime Union today called off its boycott of United States shipping, imposed two weeks ago in protest over American bombing of North Vietnam. Union secretary Elliott. V. Elliott said the boycott had been stopped at the request of the Australian Council of Trade Unions, but that members retained the right to impose the ban again.

Illegitimates Inherit

TORONTO (CP) — Six illegitimate grandchildren of a deceased Toronto woman are entitled to the proceeds of her estate, valued at about $20,000, an Ontario Supreme Court judge, Mr. Justice Lawrence Pennell, has ruled. Lawyers commented that Mr. Justice Pennell's judgment, if sustained will place the rights of illegitimate children on equal footing with those of legitimate children.

Seek to End Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations resumed Monday in an attempt to end the 18-week strike by 2,800 members of the International Union of Elevators Constructors against five American-controlled companies.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A few flurries are expected near the Great Lakes today. Over the rest of Ontario it will be sunny to partly cloudy. U.S. Could Frustrate Regional Growth Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government hopes regional expansion programs will not be frustrated by special U.S. duties on imports from Canada, External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Monday.

But, he told the Commons, he is not aware that the issue of U.S. countervailing duties on a Canadian regional expansion efforts will be discussed by the two countries during current trade talks.

Earlier, Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie said the federal government will ask the U.S. government to rescind special duties on imports of Michelin tires from Canada.

Mr. Gillespie said representations were made to the U.S. before the special tariffs were imposed Friday. Additional requests would be made after a vote of confidence in the Government expected in the Commons today.

Michelin Tire of Canada, a subsidiary of a French company, received regional expansion grants to establish a tire plant in Nova Scotia. This was followed by the U.S. action of increased duties.

The company also has said it intends to set up a plant in the U.S.

U.S. officials said Friday that the U.S. action was not aimed at Canada, Michelin or regional development grants.

"But, if it impinges on international trade, then you're not talking about regional development," the official said.

"The original complaint against Michelin was filed with U.S. authorities last February by the U.S. Rubber Manufacturers Association.

Mr. Gillespie said in the Commons that the commitment by Michelin to produce and export that it had been solved.

"In not speaking about it during the campaign and letting this field be occupied by many people who were not working to make this country any more united. . ." Mr. Trudeau began.

Mr. Stanfield, who had mentioned national unity in his election campaign, interrupted to ask if Mr. Trudeau was referring to him.

Other MPs called "smear."

Mr. Trudeau said Mr. Stanfield had shown his responsibility in the area of national unity but he had criticized Jean Marchand, then regional expansion minister, for giving too much money to Quebec.

Mr. Stanfield conceded that he called Mr. Marchand Father Christmas and said he accused him of lavishing funds. He said his criticism was made in Quebec City and that if he could not criticize a minister for wasting money "on the ground that by so doing I am anti-Quebec, then we have reached a pretty sorry state."

Jobless Number Climbs

OTTAWA (CP) — Spurred by an unseasonal growth in the labor force, unemployment took another jump in December with an estimated 384,000 unemployed, Statistics Canada reported today.

The number compared with 324,000 jobless in November and 320,000 in December, 1971.

The labor force, which usually decreases at this time of year, showed an unseasonal increase, the statistics bureau said. It stood at 8,929,000 compared with 8,887,000 in November and 8,655,000 in December in 1971.

The number of persons employed decreased to 8,345,000 in December from 8,363,000 the previous month, a less-than-usual drop, Statistics Canada said. The figure was 8,125,000 in December, 1971.

But the unusual growth in the labor force helped push the total of unemployed higher.

Second Sniper Vanishes---Were Police Shooting Each Other?

Gunman Killed Sunday May Have Been Alone

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso says a sniper involved in the slayings of six persons slipped through a 200-man cordon from his hotel rooftop perch Monday either through "police negligence" or because he was super-smart.

Giarrusso said Monday night he is convinced more than one sniper was responsible for killing the six and injuring 17 others in a two-day battle. But when pressed by reporters, Giarrusso admitted there could have been just one sniper—the man killed by police gunfire Sunday night.

The shooting at the hotel, six blocks from the city's famed Latin Quarter, started Sunday night. Fires were set in the hotel and firemen responding to the alarms were shot at.

During outburst of gunfire Sunday and Monday, three policemen and three civilians were killed. The death of the sniper raised the toll to seven.

A floor-to-floor search of the 16-storey DownTown Howard Johnson's hotel was made by 100 policemen Monday night. They found no one and all but about a dozen policemen left the scene.

The central business district, which was cordoned off by police Monday, is to be opened to normal activity today, Mayor Moon Landrieu said.

As the floor by floor search of the hotel began, Giarrusso said: "If they start to turn up anyone . . . then he got away."

How could he have escaped through scores of police surrounding the hotel?

"There's a gamut of possibilities ranging from police negligence to a super-brain sniper," Giarrusso replied.

The theory of two or more snipers was based on "some evidence," Giarrusso said, stressing that after a sniper was killed on the rooftop Sunday night, there were reports of gunfire coming from the roof and three policemen were slightly wounded.

However, the superintendent admitted the possibility that the three were wounded by gunfire from fellow officers stationed in surrounding buildings.

Black Plot Is Seen To Murder Policemen

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Is there a United States-wide terrorist group bent on murdering as many policemen as possible?

Following Sunday's murderous outburst at a downtown New Orleans hotel in which three policemen were slain and which capped a rash of police shootings in the Louisiana city, the state's attorney-general, William Guste, said he is convinced there is and that the hotel snipers are part of the conspiracy.

On New Year's Eve a police cadet was shot and killed by a sniper who fired into a garage outside the New Orleans police headquarters. Then, in the next several days, seven more New Orleans policemen were shot by snipers, leading police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso to say: "There is a militant conspiracy here to kill police officers."

However, Giarusso did not pinpoint any particular militant group. So far as it is known, has any single terrorist organization been functioning in the city.

Also, a check of police departments in several major cities across the U.S. does not indicate that any cohesive militant group has launched an all-out assault on policemen.

In the late 1960s and 1971, police and the FBI attributed most of the police shootings to the Black Panthers.

The FBI said Panthers had killed 11 policemen and wounded 61 others during a two-year period from 1968 to 1971. The Panthers countered by claiming that 28 of their members had been killed by police during the same period.

But in the last two years the Panthers—their ranks decimated by police raids—have forsaken their cop-fighting image.

In the meantime, however, other black militant groups have formed, which, unlike the Black Panthers of old, chose to operate in a more clandestine manner.

Police generally knew where they could find the Panthers. In most cities, they were listed in the telephone directory.

But now—if there is any one, or indeed, several terrorist groups bent on killing policemen across the U.S.—authorities are pretty much in the dark as to its nature, let alone its name.

Damage Light in Fires

TRENTON — Keith Sprackett, pastor of Bethel Temple in Trenton, reports at 9.30 p.m. he and Albert Oliema, a resident of the Temple-owned house at 212 Dundas St. East were attempting to thaw frozen water pipes in a basement bathroom.

They opened smoke and began tossing water on flames, using pots and pans, while they waited for the arrival of firemen.

He said successful thawing of the pipes had been done before, but was not necessary until Monday night, this writer.

Mr. Sprackett had high praise for firemen, who arrived within minutes of the call. Damage was limited to scorching in the wall and ceiling partition of the house, plus smoke and some water damage in the upper portion of the house.

Trenton Fire Chief Cecil Ellis today said a small hand blowtorch was being used to thaw the pipes.

Firemen were again called to the house, this time at 3 a.m. Flames centred between walls in two-inch insulation, were again extinguished and a watch set up for the rest of the night in case trouble flared up again.

It was a busy night for Trenton firefighters who joined the one regular fireman on duty at the hall.

At 7.45 p.m. they were called to the offices of Barry and Forchuk Real Estate Ltd., 81 Division St., where a burning and crackling and thought fire might have broken out. The source of the sound was found to be ice cracking from heat in the plumbing on the roof.

And at 12:23 a.m. today they extinguished a small chimney fire at the 21 Bantiste St. home of Ernest McConnell. Little damage was done.

Marijuana Haul Brings Jail Term

COBOURG — A Belleville area man was sentenced to jail here yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of possessing more than 80 pounds of marijuna.

Steven George Watson, 24, RR3, Belleville was sentenced to 12 months definite, 18 months indeterminate, after he pleaded guilty to two charges that followed a routine police check here last October.

Claude Fitzgibbon, Port Hope lawyer and special federal government prosecutor, said Watson was charged along with three men — including two Bellevillians — after Cobourg police found bags containing about 18 pounds of marijuana in a truck Oct.-2.

A subsequent search of the Watson home by officers of the Belleville RCMP detachment turned up another 31 poupds of marijuana, said the prosecutor.

The three other men, charged with possession for the purpose of trafficking in connection with the Cobourg check, still face a court hearing said Mr. Fitzgibbon.

The prosecutor identified them as David Errol Christopher, 23, of 99 Avondale Ave., William Terrence Dufour, 19, of 29 Front St., and David Patrick Brummell, 25, Toronto.

He is expected to be in hospital and convalescing for six weeks, a ministry spokesman said today.

Hospital administrator Dr. Charles Wright said last night the health minister was in satisfactory condition.

Dr. Potter was in contact with his office by telephone today and will continue to direct his ministry through daily briefing sessions with senior personnel, the ministry spokesman said.

St. Agnes Manor Plan

Developers Helpful Mayor Tells Rotarians

By BARRY McCULLAGH
Staff Reporter

The developers of the proposed highrise complex on the site of St. Agnes Manor (two of whom Belleville citizens) are making a sincere effort to locate the building on the site in such a way to leave as much green area and trees to screen its appearance on Bridge and Ann Streets, according to Mayor Robin Jefferey.

Mayor Jeffrey told Belleville Rotarians at their Civic Day luncheon yesterday that although the building permit had not been issued, they had met willingly with her to discuss their plans. She said the setback from the street lines was more than required by bylaw and they had offered to have an artist's sketch prepared in order to discuss the building with citizen representatives.

"On Saturday," Mayor Jeffrey continued, "Alderman Doyle, as chairman of the subordinate planning advisory committee, Zdenek Kvarda, as task force chairman of the area and new citizen member of the planning committee, and I met with two of the residents. Their objection is to the height of the building and the effect it will have on the neighborhood. I noticed recently that in Stockholm the height of buildings is limited to the height of the trees in the older areas of that city. This is an idea that we should consider here in the location of our own city.

"I can honestly tell the developers who are willing to discuss their plans not only with me, but with representatives of the residents, that their attitude is one that will not affect to any great degree the existence qualities of the street."

She also noted that this year the Belleville subordinate planning advisory committee has included citizen and private ratepayers, resident in filtering through the roof.

And at 12:23 a.m. today they extinguished a small chimney fire at the 21 Bantiste St. home of Ernest McConnell. Little damage was done.

She noted further that council would be dealing with two new labor contracts — with the Fire Fighters' Association as well as one with the civic unions for public employees — inside workers at city hall.

"There will be tough bargaining ahead, but surely with men and women of conscientiousness we can reach a just settlement acceptable to both labor and management.

"We who are elected to office have a heavy responsibility to protect your tax dollar in these negotiations while still being fair to our employees. As well, the police commission is now working on negotiating a new contract with the police department.

Problems, said Mayor Jeffrey, had arisen between the consultants and the staff of the Quinte Area Planning Board concerning the preparation of the official plan.

Explaining that a meeting was scheduled for Thursday in the hope of resolving these problems, Mayor Jeffrey said "we cannot tolerate any lag in the receipt of the draft official plan for the city."

Their objection to the rezoning of January 3, Mayor Jeffrey said last night, was given to by laws that would permit the extension of services — roads, sewer and water — into the city limits in the northwest industrial park, presently city-owned land, affording 40 acres of serviced land for industry. There was another 25 acres of privately - owned land already serviced in the park. As well, third reading was given to zoning byla

Trenton Project Hits Legal Snag

By IAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Construction of Trenton's new municipal office-parking garage complex on the site of the former post office, has hit another snag in the five-year battle to develop the property. This time it is a legal one.

According to Frank Miron, his workers will be greatly delayed in excavating the old federal building site, unless they can gain access to adjacent land owned by Trenton developer and former town councillor Gerald Weaver. It is Mr. Miron's firm, Miron-Wiggers Construction Ltd., that received the contract for construction of the new $281,000 building, begun in the last week of December, 1972.

Mr. Weager, a leading opponent of the construction, advised council through his solicitor that no encroachment on his property during the construction of the new complex would be permitted in any way.

A letter to this effect was tabled before a closed meeting of council called last week.

Monday night, a letter from Mr. Weaver advised council he is willing to allow workmen access to his land, should certain requirements be met. "It appears that without temporary use of our adjoining property that the construction company will be put to some considerable extra cost. This may incur some design changes, relocating support footings, and changing property line clearances within which they must work to get maximum space," his letter stated.

Mr. Miron said without Mr. Weaver's sanction, there will be "a delay in completion of the excavation work". All that remains to be cleared is an approximate two-foot stretch of ground that runs the length of the site, a stretch that is awkward to reach without crossing onto land owned by Mr. Weaver.

In his letter, Mr. Weaver advised council of provincial laws that recognize such situations can develop. He said provision is made so that a municipality can make a by-law to prevent anyone being harmed by an irate neighbor".

"This bylaw provides that temporary use of adjoining property must be made available at no charge, but as I see it, that by-law makes it the first regular council meeting, that we will permit necessary use of our property."

Mr. Weaver concluded his letter with the following statement: "I can think of no valid reasons why this by-law should not now be put into effect. But if council is not desirous of this change, then I will advise the contractor that the direction given in our solicitor's letter to the town will continue in effect. I hope this is not necessary."

The letter, from solicitor R. S. Campbell, advises that it should unauthorized entry be made on land owned by Quinte Realty Co. Ltd., legal action will be taken. Mr. Campbell advised council the Weaver interests have owned the property in question for more than 30 years, with a fence dividing it from other property.

Mr. Miron said he too supports passing of this bylaw.

Councillor John Bonn advised that legal opinions be sought. He said he believes property laws establishing an unchallenged fence property line must stand for 60 years when bordering on Crown property (the Crown held the site to the town in 1967 for approximately $41,000 . . . the same figure Mr. Weaver bid for the property at the time. The Crown stipulated the town would be given a chance to meet the highest bid, which it did.) Dr. Bonn said he could not offer this opinion as one based on firm facts.

A letter will be forwarded to Mr. Weaver advising him legal opinion will be sought. Mayor Duncan McDonald said an answer should be ready in the next day or two.

71 Dundas Street West property when new construction was underway in the west of his building. Council refused to pass the bylaw.

"To my thinking, the passing of such a bylaw is long overdue" he said in his letter. "I think the time is now when Trenton council should provide that no citizen or company can be financially hurt in this manner."

I have assured the council that if consideration is given that this bylaw passed at the next regular council meeting, that we will permit necessary use of our property."

Substantial Increase In Trenton Building

TRENTON — According to the town's building inspector, Trenton experienced a "substantial increase" in both the number of building permits issued plus property value involved in 1972 as compared to the previous year.

Norman Mallory, who also wears the municipal hats of plumbing, weed, construction safety and trench inspector, reported to council a total of 268 building permits involving a building value of $4,557,881. A total of $7,280 was received in permit fees.

In 1971, 25 permits were issued for total building value of less than $3 million, and a revenue of $3,700 in permit fees.

The most substantial increases in Trenton's building boom of 1972 occurred in the categories of apartment and commercial construction, plus the erection of new signs.

Nine apartment buildings, valued at $1,620,800, compared to two, valued at $98,000 in 1971, were built. Commercial construction was up from nine to 10, at a value of just over $1-million, compared to $227,000 the previous year.

Because of a new bylaw, commercial signs were restricted to no more than an 18-inch protrusion from buildings (enforcing of this bylaw was subsequently delayed by the 1972 council until March of 1973). Only 13 signs, valued at almost $4,000, were erected in 1971, compared to 22 commercial and one industrial sign, valued at $43,000.

Additions and repairs to commercial property suffered a sharp decline, with only a total of $78,625 recorded, compared to just over $600,000 in 1971.

During 1972, Mr. Mallory attended a course on the National Building Code held at Centennial College in Scarborough, in co-operation with the Ontario Building Officials Association.

Plumbing permits were also increased. A total of 131 was issued, compared to 104 in 1971. Revenue produced was $2,518, compared to $1,218 the previous year.

Mr. Mallory reported to council Monday night receipt of numerous weed complaints during the spring and summer, but "due to the increase of work in the construction field, time was not always available to follow up all complaints."

Most of the orders concerning construction safety were given verbally during 1972, Mr. Mallory explained this was done as a result of the provincial labor ministry's indication that they would be enforcing the Construction Safety Act.

A total of 125 written orders was issued, as well as six stop-work orders. No deaths were reported on construction sites during 1972, but there were three convictions by provincial court as the result of charges laid against firms. Construction Safety Officer W. R. Ovens accompanied Mr. Mallory on 37 joint inspections.

Report Says Roof Needs Reinforcing

TRENTON — A report from a Trenton engineering firm, Lassing Associates, concerning inadequate construction braces in the Trenton Community Gardens, is to be forwarded by town council to the Trenton Recreation and Arena Committee for consideration.

Last year, a study was commissioned to determine the strength of the arena's roof, should dangerous accumulations of snow occur.

Council Monday night learned that roof trusses must be reinforced, certain joists are inadequate and that original architectural drawings by the construction firm from Peterborough that built the arena have been lost.

Councillor Ronald Price reported recreation committee members are concerned about the report and asked they be given the chance to study it in depth and report back to council. He was given the job of presenting it to the committee, and returning to council with the committee's opinions and recommendations.

Volunteers Save House

Trenton Volunteer Firemen were called yesterday to extinguish a blaze in a house at 212 Dundas Street East, started when a blowtorch was being used to thaw frozen pipes. Fireman Andy Dillon mans the hose while his partner, Bud Chard, removes charred ceiling tile in the bathroom of the house owned by Bethel Temple.

Put Your Hand in the Hand

Members of Sidney Township Council were officially sworn in yesterday to begin their two - year term of office. At the right are councillor Reg McCurdy, deputy reeve Glenn Meyers, reeve Gordon Wilman, township clerk Hugh Lyons, councillors Hadley Richardson, and Ernest Kelly.

Baysiders Insist On New Fire Hall

A spokesman explained to council the growth of the area would be centred in the Bayside area and that adequate fire protection was not available.

The same spokesman said because fire halls were more than five miles away from the area, insurance rates were exorbitant and in many cases, insurance would not be renewed by the company because of the high risk.

In a telephone interview, a spokesman for Merit Insurance said his company would no longer insure residents of the area because they were more than five miles from firefighting equipment.

He added this was peculiar to his company and that there were several mother companies who would be agreeable to insuring the area.

Though unable to make an official quote as to premiums, he said in one instance of a $30,000 brick home the rate, because of the distance to the fire hall, would be increased annually by perhaps $31.

The council has allocated $25,000 to the building of a new fire hall in the central portion of the township, which should come under construction this year.

A spectator heckled this comment, "we aren't concerned whether you put one here or not. What we want is one down in our area."

"This is like the war between the north and the south," called another.

Council, after quelling several outbursts from the gallery, said they would consider the petition and investigate the question of the fire hall location once more.

Firemen to See Demonstration

TRENTON — Between eight and 10 volunteer firemen from Thurlow Township Fire Department will be visiting the CFB Trenton fire department this Saturday.

Starting at 9 a.m. they will witness a demonstration of us of new firefighting foam now being used by the base fire crews. The new foam, manufactured by the 3M company of the United States, has improved firefighting more than 50 per cent above other foam used, base firemen report.

The Marital Scene

Looking at the institution of marriage and at some of its more eyebrow-raising variations — notably the common law state, or commume-style living, advice columnist Elizabeth Thompson of The Globe and Mail concludes that for all the dire predictions of it being on the way out, "no one has come up with an institution for the raising of children which offers qualities as strong-thening and important for growth than the family."

True, although of course this presupposes a reasionable degree of compatibility between husband and wife, strength of character, good humor and all round stability. It is where such qualities are weak, or absent, that the trouble starts, with all its capacity for a miserable time for all concerned.

Never has marriage and the sexuality, or lack of it, that goes with the institution been so much under the microscope as much as it is as at present. A large proportion of the popular magazines of the day — and the "agony" columns of newspapers, dwell on these twin subjects to an inordinate extent, zeroing in on the triumphs and disasters and telling us "what we should know" about this or that aspect of marital behavior and on and on. The same general topic manipulated in one form or another, from publication to publication, helps to make handsome profits for these productions.

• • •

Is it all too much? Well, back in 1969, Time magazine, in a piece entitled Sex as a Spectator Sport, said in part: "Hardly anyone can quarrel with the ideal of a healthy sexuality, free of false shame and guilt. Yet to judge from the nation's mood, a great number of Americans feel that the surfeit of sex must somehow be contained. Unless some restraints are imposed — or self-imposed — history suggests that the reaction to permissiveness may be strong. . ."

The foregoing, incidentally, we found quoted in the 1970 issue of the 4th annual report of the United Church's board of evangelism and social service, a comprehensive document which does not shirk from frank speaking on a wide variety of subjects, as well as quoting extensively from other publications. The above came under the general chapter heading, Sex Styles in Transition, and included a revealing article on a training program of contemporary sex education in the public schools by Deane William Fern in The Christian Century.

Marriage — and even more so, sex and what the therapists call sexuality — survive, however much some experiment with looser forms of relationship. As to means of strengthening the marriage state and family life Elizabeth Thompson suggests prior counselling . . . perhaps a six-to-eight week course along with the marriage licence . . . maybe compatibility tests before even contemplating marriage. And she hastens to add that counselling services are already more and more available today. Then again, for those who are married, with the old intimacy possibly not what it used to be, there is, as outlined in Newsweek recently, a new area of counselling called Sex and Couple Therapy. This involves the Masters and Johnson category of practitioner and they range from lone physicians to husband and wife teams. Again, the subject is tackled in a penetrating article on The Persistence of Marriage in the international magazine, Realities. Here Anthony Storr offers some of the most lucid and commonsense writing on marriage ,particularly as it relates to the continuing phenomenon of early marriage, that we have yet encountered. Pointing to the incidence of early divorce, Storr says the evidence is such that one is justified in urging the young not to get married before twenty, and preferably to wait for a few years after that. . . "He punctures the idealistic rationale, or lack of it, of the "in love" syndrome, which he says flourishes on lack of knowledge of the other person, as distinct from a state of loving which "grows and develops with shared intimacy." He warns also of the changes of feeling and outlook that occur after marriage. . .

Thus while marriage does survive, the road before and after it is as rocky as ever. There are many ups and downs. As concluding evidence though of its official sanction and worth in our society, we might point to the recent case of a Toronto man whom a judge ruled must marry his common law wife if he wants to visit his children by a previous marriage.

Hating But Needing Each Other

P.M. and Lewis in Unlikely Partnership of Convenience

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Look at this new minority House of Commons, and there are angle pro find Prime Minister Trudeau and New Democratic Leader Lewis equally on the spot.

They desperately need each other to survive but if they play political footsie too often openly, they run the very real risk of self-destruction.

Those 109 Liberals have to have those 31 New Democratic votes which means they will have to swerve to the left and cozy up to the socialists.

For if the 31 New Democratic votes join the 107 Conservatives in any word-of-confidence showdown, then that's it for the First Session of the new 29th Parliament.

The arithmetic of the new Commons puts Real Caouette's 15 Social Credit members out of the win-or-lose-the-government calculations.

It does not matter where the Social Credit votes go unless, through absences, the all-Opposite power balance between the Liberals, Conservatives and New Democrats is upset.

But in Lewis's present political climate, every MP is acutely aware the voters back home are watching and will and already are judging less than full-time devotion to duty.

Scores will be kept — and read in the press, and on radio and TV — of the votes and who come in the Commons, and every one of the Honorable Members better be in his seat, for absentees will have no place to hide.

In other sessions, when governments fall, majorities, or even reasonably safe minorities, an MP could slip away for a few days and seldom be missed.

If there was any danger of a close vote during his absence, he could always arrange to "pair" with his or her opposite side of the House.

This time, with the core of the Opposition Party whips have served warnings that "pairing" is a political reprieve that no "pairs" will be treasured.

In the squeeze the only men who can feel reasonably comfortable in this edgiest of-all-Parliaments is Conservative Leader Stanfield.

He knows that sooner or later — probably sooner than a lot of parliamentarians now think — the fatal vote will be polled against the government and he will get his chance, at last, to be Prime Minister.

It could come without an election, with Mr. Stanfield slowly taking over after the fall of the government. Or it could come the result of another campaign with the Conservatives still powered by their momentum of the last election and the Liberals in continuing minority form.

So for, self-preservation, David Lewis and Pierre Trudeau, while forced to be each other's bedfellows, must still maintain form a political partnership of convenience.

Mr. Lewis because he needs the Liberals to stay in and avoid another election the New Democrats fear would decimate them.

And Mr. Trudeau because the New Democrats simply mean victory or defeat.

But think of the difficulties of such an alliance.

Liberals urging a leftward lurch towards the New Democrats are painfully aware that they were cut down to their 109 seat minority in October largely as a result of reaction from the right against their increasingly socialistic policies.

Economic Expansion Minister Don Jamieson, for example, the other day in a public confession of faith, said he took their October election hiding because "we were too reformist-an activist, too busy with social change and in too much of a hurry."

So there's not much room for political manoeuvre for the Liberals on the left.

If they cannot go much, if any further left — and the Liberal - NDP alliance must be forged for survival — can the New Democrats edge right?

Can they string along with the Liberals, propping up the gov. ament while rediscovering this support as strong as ever, meet with public stable and progressive legislation.

They can, for a time, but it will not be easy.

The Liberals, out of sheer inchance necessity, will be sweetening to produce policies and programs that New Democrats, and that will mean no socialist economic revolution.

The New Democrats are extremely unlikely to the election statistics which show 52 percent of the taxpayers vote to reject the Trudeau government.

And New Democratic voters helped make up that percentage which sort of leaves Lewis in the same awful spot as Trudeau — both needing each other but not daring to do much about it.

British Isles Name Also Includes Many Little Islands Off Coast

British Features

Mention the British Isles, and most people think of England. Scotland and Wales on the major island, and of Northern Ireland across the Irish Sea.

But scattered around the shores are a vast number of smaller islands, some with holiday retreats, others remote and uninhabited.

These little islands are fascinating places, full of interest for the visitor. While basically Brit-ish, they each have their own atmosphere and individuality, differing in many respects from what we may term the "mainland".

Most southerly are the Channel Islands, geographically nearer France than Britain, and with their own parliaments and laws. Once part of the Duchy of Normandy, they became British after William the Conqueror became King of England. Even today, more than nine centuries later, they are often referred to in France as the "Isles of Normandy".

They still retain a strong French flavor: many of the place names are French, and the principal island of Jersey (12 miles long and 6 wide) street names are often displayed in both languages. On the Jer-sey — where 75-cycles hurry-Scot — is some 76 miles wide, and perhaps the most picturesque of the group— an old Norman patois is still spoken by the people among themselves.

Sark is, in fact, something of feudal domain which counts among its attractions romantic scenery and the complete absence of the motor car.

Guernsey also has a French flavor and was the home of Victor Hugo from 1856 to 1870. While to add to the diversity of these-islands, Alderney, although near France than Britain, is as British as can be — French has not been spoken by its people for many years.

Another island which has its own parliament and laws is the Isle of Man, roughly equidistant from England, Scotland and Northern Ireland. The Manx people proudly cherish their independence — indeed, it is that while they are of the British Isles they are not of the United Kingdom. Each Duly their parliament, the Court of Tynwald, holds a special meeting at which its main speeches are given in English and Manx — the only time the visitor is likely to hear the language.

Manx cat again are the Isles of Scilly, reached by steamer or helicopter from Penzance, Cornwall, on the English Cornish coast. On-these islands, winter comes late and leaves early, and the temperature averages growing flowers, fishing, and giving visitors a leisurely holiday. One should remember that when an islander refers to "the mainland "he is referring to Cornwall — the rest of British is to him a remote place.

A glance at a map shows that Scotland has a tremendous number of islands — 130 of them are inhabited. In the far north are the Shetlands and Orkneys, more than 170 islands, of which less than 50 have a permanent population. In these wild and beautiful islands you will find Norse blood in the veins. Shetland was a Norse earldom until the 15th century and at Lerwick on the 24th Tuesday in January they hold "Up Helly Aa," a spectacular Norse fire festival marking the end of the winter solstice. In both groups of islands, the archaeologist or historian will find fascinating reminders of the Vikings days, while the sea-angler gets plenty of challenging sport.

The Outer Hebrides, off Scotlands west coast, is a 130-mile chain which includes Lewis, with its wild moors and majestic cliffs; and Harris, renowned for its hand-woven tweed.

The romantic Isle of Skye, much closer to the mainland, is the largest of the Inner Hebrides, but its attractions have nothing to do with its size. It is a lovely wilderness of rocks and mountains, and the reader, a paradise for the fisherman and the photo formidable challenges for the rock climber.

Further south, 15 miles across the Firth of Clyde, from the Ayrshire coast, is another island well worth visiting. This is Arran, which has been accurately described as "Scotland in miniature and can easily be reached by regular steamer services from the mainland.

Drew Misunderstood Yet He Achieved Greatness

By DON O'HEARN

From The Intelligencer's

Queen's Park Bureau

George Drew must certainly have been one of the least understood and most underrated men in Canadian political history.

Drew in his years was a great many things to a great many people, but to a surprising number of the people a surprising number of the things were bad.

And for the most part they were quite wrong.

Probably the most common misconception was of a Colonel Blimpish stuffed shirt, a hidebound man who devoted much of his life / to picking feuds and little to accomplishment.

The finest years of George Drew's life were spent here in Ontario, approximately 10 years as leader of the Conservatives and particularly his five years as premier.

Those who got to know him then knew just how wrong the Colonel Blimpish image was.

And those who either then or since have assessed his achievements know how devoted to accomplishment he actually was and what a proud remarkable record of it he managed.

If the finest years of Drew's life were his period as premier of the province, these years from 1943-48 were also certainly the years of Ontario's finest years.

Many people since have said he laid the foundations, now 30 years ago, which Conservative governments have relied on ever since.

And foundations also on which the province flourished these years.

Politically, Drew had one big problem.

New 'Liberation Army' Raids Rhodesian Farm

LONDON (AP) — Under a moonless sky on the night of Dec. 21 raiders opened fire with rockets and bullets on Mare De Borchgrave's lonely farm house in the Zambezi Valley of Rhodesia.

Two nights later the black guerrillas struck again, against neighbor Archie Dagleish's place, where the De Borchgraves had taken refuge.

Within a few hours, a jeep-load of four Rhodesian soldiers arrived in a helicopter and swept over a land mine.

It was the newest "liberation army" was in action. It even has its own Ho Chi Minh Trail, meandering from base camps in neighboring Mozambique to the embattled bushlands of northeast Rhodesia, 120 miles north of Salisbury, the capital.

They are equipped with the Rhodesians say, with a modern armory of weapons from the Soviet Union or China.

The Zimbabwe African National Liberation Army, or Zanla, has vowed to wrest Rhodesia—which it calls Zimbabwe—from the grip of Prime Minister Jan Smith's white-minority government.

Since they still hope to play a role in Rhodesia, the British are following with greatest interest these developments in the African territory that declared its independence in 1965.

Britain reports that the black guerrillas have a long way to go and a lot to learn before they can pose any real threat to Smith's forces. In eight years of sporadic campaigning, they have achieved little.

Yet authorities here acknowledge the danger to the white regime in certain to increase as Zanla improves its techniques and its links with rebel movements in neighboring countries. The nearest and strongest of these is the Front for the Liberation of Mozambique, or Frelimo, which fought a long war against incursions from Portuguese troops.

Now fighting in northeast Rhodesia also creates yet another front for Smith's limited forces. Already he has 1,000 miles of frontier to defend eastward against incursions from Frelimo units in Mozambique, to the northwest against Zanla raids from Zambia, and on the southwest where Rhodesia meets Botswana. He is being helped by South African police units, and he is pressing for ever fiercer action by Portuguese forces.

This week Smith called up army, police and air force reservists to meet the developing emergency.

The British are hoping that time and experience will yet convince Smith's regime that its ultimate salvation lies in a constitutional settlement with Britain.

Along with the security problem, Rhodesia now is in the grip of a choking drought. It still remains an outlaw among most nations. Old friends in Australia and New Zealand have lost power. Continuation of sanctions still go on sapping the country's economy.

All these things, in London's eyes, should strengthen the case of those Rhodesians who argue for a compromise with Britain.

Few Vietnamese Mourn Americans

SAIGON (AP) — What do the Vietnamese really think about the Americans Some call them the American Satan, some call them other names not so friendly.

For a decade the aliens were curiosities, fatter and friendlier than the French who had departed.

In the summer of 1965 their numbers doubled. Now they are almost all gone. Few Vietnamese seem to regret it.

"They brought more war," said a farmer.

"Arrogant," said a shopkeeper.

"They are as cold as the North Pole," observed an office manager.

The Vietnamese do not distribute their mixed thoughts in short notice, especially to Western reporters. A Vietnamese reporter who took weeks crisscrossing the social spectrum to gather two dozen informal interviews. They indicate that the people of South Vietnam do not see the flower of flagpeople as the gallant, generous, warm-hearted folks that Americans like to think they are.

Vietnam had become accustomed to foreign influnces: the Chinese for centuries, the French for 80 years, the Japanese for five.

The latest newcomers ranged in color from pink to ebony and in size from big to huge. They spent money and ammunition with scandalous ease and were always in a hurry to get things done.

"The Americans are supermen," said a Roman Catholic politician, exaggerating what several of his countrymen expressed: Belief—a conviction that the U.S. was capable of doing anything it sought to do in Vietnam.

A journalist asserted that the Americans have run the war and could "permit it to be a victory if they wish."

Not everyone felt that way.

"They call themselves experts, but they are not experts at all," said an army captain in a government agency. "The rate is about one or two qualified men out of five."

Beef Price Soars, Enraging Britons

LONDON (CP) — A shortage of beef, aggravated by developments in the European Common Market, has set off staggering price increases and mounting public fury in Britain.

Climbing food prices have been an entrenched feature of British life for several years, but the rocketing rise in beef costs now has placed it out of reach of many wage-earners.

Prime Minister Heath, spurred by outraged consumer groups, has ordered an urgent inquiry into the latest increases. A three-member committee is to report to him before the end of the week.

Beef prices have climbed by nearly 50 per cent since last November. The going rate for a rump roast now stands at about $2.35 a pound. Prime steak is more than $2.50 a pound.

In Britain, where the average wage for men is slightly more than $105 a week, calculated on a 44 hour week, a roast of say, five pounds at $11.75 constitutes a considerable expenditure.

To a country where beef-eating is a kind of national tradition, the rising costs are particularly aggravating.

Heath has come under withering criticism from some consumer groups who blame Britain's recent entry into the European Economic Community for the price escalation, although there seems little basis for this charge.

In addition to a general world shortage of beef, the situation in Europe has become acute largely because the EEC subsidized Continental farmers in the last few years to slaughter their cattle at the rate of $125 a head. This was done to reduce the community's production of subsidized milk in order to get rid of a 350,000-ton butter surplus.

Thos. Bata Wins Suit By Cousin

"60% Co-Insurance — what's that?"

A home or commercial building may have a market value of say $30,000. Unless your fire insurance is at least 80% of value ($24,000) you cannot claim full compensation on a fire loss. Your insurance settlement would be the same ratio to the true loss that your insurance value bears to the true value of the building. To get it! If you carry only $15,000 insurance on a $30,000 building — in case of a $10,000 fire loss, your insurance would compensate you only $5000. WASHINGTON (Reuter) — The chief heir to the Bata shoe fortune, a Canadian, won a United States Supreme Court ruling today strengthening his grip on the family's worldwide manufacturing and financial empire.

The court, without comment, refused to review a Pennsylvania court decision that favored Thomas J. Bata of Toronto, son of the founder of the fortune, the late Thomas Bata of Czechoslovakia.

The younger Bata's opponent in the Pennsylvania court and the Supreme Court was Jan T. Bata of Sao Paulo, Brazil, son of the older Thomas Bata's half-brother, the late Jan A. Bata.

The lower-court order that, in effect, was affirmed today by the Supreme Court, requires Jan T. Bata to pay $508,000 in damages to Thomas J. Bata for failure to carry out a legal settlement his father signed into with Thomas J. Bata in Philadelphia in 1962.

In addition, Jan T. Bata was barred by the order of the Pennsylvania court from bringing "any action in any court in any nation" to undo the 1962 agreement—which he claimed his father was coerced into signing.

(It was not immediately clear how a U.S. court could prevent Jan T. Bata from pursuing his case outside the United States.)

The lower court also required the Brazilian Bata, as successor to his father, to stop claiming total ownership of N.V. Nederlandsche Schoenen Lederfabrieken Bata Best, a Dutch corporation better known as Bata Best.

The court said the Jan A. Bata holdings in the Dutch firm amounted to 45 per cent.

The order directed Jan T. Bata to abandon lawsuits in the Swiss courts aimed at proving that he controlled Leader sa. g., Swiss company that held the remaining 55 per cent of the Bata Best shares. Actual control of the Leader A.G. holdings, the court said, rested with Thomas J. Bata.

Canada's Mineral Wealth Depleted at Record Rate

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's mineral wealth was depleted at a record rate last year—but producers got record amounts for their efforts.

Statistics Canada reported Monday that mineral production during 1972 totalled $6.38 billion, up from $5.97 billion in 1971 and $5.22 billion in 1970.

Mineral and fossil fuels recorded the biggest increases in volume and value as rapidly rising continental demand squeezed available supplies. As the Statistics Canada report was being released, the United States government announced relaxation of oil import quotas because of scattered shortages of heating oil.

Over-all, Canadian production of fuels increased 13.6 per cent in value to hit an all-time peak of $3.3 billion.

Coal volume rose 13.7 per cent to 29.9 million tons, while coal value jumped 26.6 per cent to $154.7 million.

Natural gas volume increased 14.1 per cent to 2.85 billion cubic feet while value increased 11.1 per cent to $388.6 million. More dramatic gas value increases may come this year in the wake of an Alberta effort to increase gas prices.

The volume of natural gas by products rose 24.3 per cent to 96.9 million barrels, while their value rose 27 per cent to $245.4 million.

Crude petroleum had a volume increase of 12.5 per cent to 554 million barrels and a value increase of 14.1 per cent to $1.5 billion.

Details presented a mixed picture, with an over-all increase of only 1.9 per cent in value, for a total of $2.89 billion.

Although copper shipments increased 11 per cent in volume to 660,638 tons, their value fell 4.6 per cent to $595.1 million.

Nickel volume decreased by 12.9 per cent to 252,000 tons, while value fell similarly to $597.5 million.

Iron ore shipments increased in volume by 7.1 per cent to 38.7 million tons, but rose only 1.4 per cent in value to $363 million.

Ann Landers
Homosexuals 'Unnatural' By Law in United States

Dear A n Landers: Are you brave enough to print this? Well you will not. Recently I read where two men were legally married in Texas. What I object to, stand is why they had to resort to trickery to get married. Why are homosexual relationships considered illegal? Why is it considered a sex crime when there is no violence, not minor or child-molesting? Why do some police departments hire men to tempt homosexuals and then arrest him for being a sexual lovers do? Surely love is much more dishonorable, much baser conduct than loving someone of the same sex.

Why must people like me sneak around behind the backs of parents and relatives as though we don't shame or disgrace them? Why can't I hold hands with my lover in public and dance with him the way heterosexual lovers do? Surely love is not indecent, to be scorned and despised. The world needs less hate and more love—my kind of love. I do not understand why so many people do not understand. Can you explain it?—Gus

Dear Gus: You need wrong about the "sexual revolution." In no state in the union can members of the same sex marry. This goes for Texas as well as the other 49.

I agree that police entrapment is a rotten trick and I am against it. I also agree that most victimless crimes should be taken off the books. Prostitution, as well as many other states, (Illinois was first) homosexuality between consenting adults is not considered illegal.

Why can't members of the same sex kiss publicly and dance together? I proclaim their love as heterosexual lovers do? Because homosexuality is unnatural. It is, in spite of what some psychiatrists say, a sick sexe—a dysfunction. In our culture, in the year 1973, we are not conditioned to accept homosexuality as the normal human condition.

For 18 years I have been pleading for compassion and understanding and equal rights for homosexuals, but it's a constant to do so. But I do not believe homosexuality is normal behavior and unfortunately most people have a tendency to equate any and all abnormalities with sin, disgrace and shame.

Dear Ann Landers: I was amused by Wini's letter and your reply applauding the deemphasizing of wardrobe by the college girl.

Those few pairs of jeans with patches from Mae's scrap bag are just as much a status symbol as our cashmere sweaters were back in the 40s. And for your information, Ann, today's college girls are not content to cover up holes. They are purely ornamental and can be purchased right along with the new look.

Don't get me wrong. I am not opposed to fads. Every generation has them. What I am against is fuzzy thinking and downright nonsense, such as the adult who attributes this generation's anti-materialistic approach to a better sense of values. Anyone who thinks today's mod clothes are cheap hasn't priced them. As the grandmother of two teen-age girls I know what I'm talking about. Think it over, will you?—Thank Heavens For Good Credit

Dear Th. E. G.C.: I'm thinking. I'm thinking. And I must say, you have a point. In fact, you have several points. I've come to believe that the anti-materialistic attitude of many teen-agers is an expression of rebellion against affluent parents who tried to substitute "things" for time and attention.

Five Trend-setters

Where's Fashion 1973? Beach Clothes in School And Overalls on Streets

These five people were among the 10 best dressed men and women in the world according to some 2,000 fashion designers, social and theatrical personalities and the fashion press publicist Eleanor Lambert announced Wednesday. From left: New York Mayor John Lindsay; Nancy Reagan; Richard Baudrow; Mrs. Henry Ford II; Mick Jagger. (AP Wirephotos)

The year 1973 will bring in new fashion trends and exciting developments in the textiles people wear and use.

The big revival of traditional fabrics will continue through the year and include many classics with remarkably new talents. Velvets, for instance, may look traditional but the newest versions are noncrushable and spot resistant, according to the Canadian Textiles Institute.

First, old rules about what should be worn where and when are dead. Girls will wear beach clothes to school and farmer's overalls on city streets.

Traditional distinctions between fabrics for men's wear and fabrics now often appear in both.

A whole new range of feminine-looking printed jerseys will be the fashion in men's underwear. The first of these, in soft, slinky, nylon knits, are selling well.

What could be more traditional or classic than gray flannel? But in evening dresses? Yes, and you'll see lots of corduroys printed to look like tweeds.

Fashion changes reported during 1972 included less gimmicky styles in both women's and men's wear. Complaints of larger women were answered with a spate of new control bras and girdles produced by foundation garment manufacturers, previously preoccupied with minimal stylings for slim girls.

The freaky yearning for things past is seen as a search for the security of tradition in an insecure world. An new "real life" trend is promised in advertising marketing appeals to consumers during the New Year.

Liquor Lesson

SWANSEA, Wales (CP) — Paul and Michael Morgan are high-spirited youngsters. When their father refused to share his brandy with them one evening, the boys, aged seven and five, raided his liquor cabinet later that night. They were found drunk and half-conscious the following morning, but suffering from little more than hangovers. "The drink was nice when it went down but the dizzy feeling was very queer," Michael said later. "I think I'll stick to lemonade," his brother Paul added.

Sex Questions Evaded— Daughter Loses Trust

By DORIS CLARK

She was 11. She summoned up courage to ask her father a question. Somehow she knew the story already, but her father had always been honest and helpful and she wanted his confirmation of the facts. (And what she knew did not sound a little carnivorous.)

But Father was chicken. When it came to sex questions and he stalled. Told her he would tell her all about it in two years' time. She never asked again.

And soon, later, he dearly wanted to give her knowledge of the ways of men for her own protection, she had lost the confidence in him to listen.

Dear Doris: I am writing to thank you and your many readers who have helped me very much.

I finally found a considerate doctor and found out I do have low blood sugar (or hypoglycemia). I am on a special diet and vitamin B pills to get back to normal.

I have written to all the people who were concerned and am very good friends with a lady in Winnipeg. She has helped me so much!

I never thought people cared but I was literally swamped. I plan to start to plan my future with a brighter outlook on life. — No Name of Name, Ont.

Dear No Name: Wonderful news! I am thrilled that readers were able to give a concerned doctor the needed clue to help you.

Depression, dizziness, nervousness, nausea, pains all over — you had them all. And the right pills and vitamins ably recorded in strong print of the intimate connection between emotional ills and physical states of health.

P.S. Our grateful thanks to all who wrote in.

Dear Doris: Mom has been an active member of the Women's Institute for many years. Now, it seems, every new idea would be applied at an all-day discussion period for the meetings — any topic, history, geography, poetry, etc. Then programs are stimulating; each member contributes and all profit.

It is wonderful for the older women in the community who are mentally alert and wish to remain so. Every small community — conscious, always busy bees sewing, knitting, quilting, to give to those in need.

I have a feeling you have respect for the W.I. — Ideas, Please.

Dear Ideas: Respect? I think Women's Institutes in Canada are wonderful. What would we do without the outreach of alert, dedicated women?

If you want current topics, how about these:

1. The pros and cons of abortion.
2. Drugs — their use and abuse.
3. Your public library — the amazing services it offers
4. Local historical sites (Have you visited your own mansion or restored pioneer home?)
5. Modern uses of vitamins
6. Canadian poetry and poets
7. The European Common Market and how it affects Canada.
8. Public health services offered in your area.

Research into any one of these will yield a tremendous lot of exciting information; things you may never have guessed.

Nostalgic Canadian Fashions Show Great Gatsby Revival for Spring

By JOANNE MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

TORONTO — Canadian designed and manufactured spring clothing was featured at the Breakfast Clinic, sponsored by the Garment Salesmen Ontario Market, Inc., Royal York, Toronto Monday, January 8.

Miss Vivian Wilcox, guest speaker and fashion editor of Style magazine, predicted that Spring 73 would be the year of the short — in all aspects of fashion. The basic fashion theme is soft and pretty with pastels and navys among the prime color choices.

Rigid rules concerning what to wear and how to wear it are out. As for women wearing the pants — anything goes from peddle pushers to palazzos.

With the trend toward nostalgia, it's the '20's look all the way — part of the Great Gatsby Revival. That includes jaunty little hats, cringed cloche, and short bobbed hair.

"Use your imagination, don't be afraid of the new, nonconformist fashion rules, and create your own personal fashion style."

Also featured at the clinic was Marvin Z. Cooper, who TORONTO — Details are important for spring fashions 1973. The short bobbed hair seen in the motion picture, "The Great Gatsby," is back along with the important accessories of this nostalgic era.

Complementaries such as; bangle bracelets, large clutch bags for under - the - arm ease, high-heeled shoes in texture shades of brown and beiges, blacks and whites, are equally important to the dress, pants or suits of the 1920 revival.

The Great Gatsby" along with the Billie Holliday blues revival from the 1930's have inspired Canadian fashion designers to create easy, casual fashions that breathe nostalgia and individuality.

After the general meeting of various buyers, designers, and manufacturers, it was time for the real business to get under way. This involved the 725 individual manufacturers showing their latest spring and summer lines to potential buyers from Ontario and Quebec.

What the customers saw were the latest spring styles in the product of a long process of design, sell and impress.

CALDECOTT, England (CP) — Farm laborer Ernie Driver has claimed an extraordinary world record. He drank a pint of ale in 10.9 seconds, picking up his head. It's all the same to Ernie if the beer goes up or down. He drinks 20 pints daily, most of them upside down. "It seems to taste a bit better that way," he said.

OXSHOTT, England (CP) — One lucky bargain hunt picked up a gem at a Surrey village fair—a £200 (about $480) string of pearls for only £1. Stall holder Nora Philip removed her valuable pearls while serving customers. Unknown to her, the gems fell into a pile of imitation jewelry and were sold along with the rest.

Helping With Home-hunting

Canada Manpower official James Staveley (centre) scrutinizes newspaper advertisements in attempts to ease home-finding problem for Shanmuin Sumar (right) and son Zahir, 19. Expelled from Uganda, Mr. Sumar and family arrived in Belleville Saturday—and found apartment the same day.

Busy Day Off for Officials

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

For the two men from Canada Manpower, Saturday wasn't the typical image of a civil servant's day off.

But they may have typified how much the voluntary personal touch is a vital gear in big - government mechanism attempting to meet urgent human needs.

At least, that seems the experience in the Quinte district.

The area has been one of the liveliest chosen havens in the past 15 years - for those suddenly—and painfully—within big - government machine.

Like Shanmuin Sumar. He was expelled with his family from Uganda and arrived in Kingston in early November. With his wife, teenage son and young daughter, he lived in a hotel while Canada Manpower found him a post in his line of business — fabrics. Then recently, his employer decided to make Mr. Sumar manager of his Belleville outlet, Fabricland.

So last Saturday morning, Kingston Manpower counsellor Brendan O'Neil loaded his station wagon with the family—and their belongings—and drove them to Belleville.

There Belleville Manpower counsellor Jim Staveley had rented accommodation waiting while hunting up something more permanent.

But, understandably, after two months of hotel-room living the family was anxious to settle as soon as possible.

By Saturday afternoon the men from Manpower had shown them a three-bedroom apartment the family found suitable.

That night, Jim Staveley introduced them to other expelled families — one of whom turned out to be friends back in Uganda.

Such personal involvement — beyond scheduled civil service routine — is likely what helps government apparatus work when a human problem of universal dimension gets down to local working solutions. Co-operation between department officials to that end is nothing new, says Mr. Staveley.

He has been involved with such solutions since the late 1950s. That's when refugees from the abortive Hungarian uprising arrived to be followed in later years by Czechoslovakians, Tibetans, and — last October — Asian Ugandans.

Once the newcomers have done with immigration processes the rest of the job lies with Manpower.

The demands of such undertakings have broadened the scope of the department, says Mr. Staveley, who now co-ordinates Manpower efforts in the field with Napanee, Picton and Trenton offices.

"People lean on us as if we were just in the employment field. And I suppose that's the ultimate objective — to find employment for the benefit of everybody."

But this field has opened up special humanitarian aspects.

A fresh start is no rose-hued achievement when it means resettlement, adapting to new life styles, languages, climate and culture because of imposed exile.

"You have to become a counsellor in everything that will help them adjust to the Canadian way of life — advis-

TOKYO (AP) — The justice ministry said today it has advised against granting a Japanese visa to Mick Jagger, leader of the Rolling Stones rock band, because of a past conviction on a drug charge.

Justice ministry officials said, however, there were no objections to allowing 19 other persons associated with the British group to visit Japan for five concerts in Tokyo beginning Jan. 28.

The Music Office, which is promoting the Rolling Stones concerts in Japan, said it will decide Wednesday whether or go through with them without Jagger. All 69,000 tickets for the five concerts have been sold "two or three years ago in Britain after he was charged with possession of marijuana."

Jagger was fined $200 in Britain in 1970 for possession of drugs.

The justice ministry said foreigners who have been convicted on drug charges cannot enter Japan legally.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — British actor Michael Caine and former beauty queen Shakira Baksh were married here Monday night.

Caine used his real name of Maurice Joseph Micklewhite moments before the marriage to obtain a licence.

It is the second marriage for the 39-year-old actor and the first for Miss Baksh, 25, who specials a child by Caine in July.

Caine said previously he and Miss Baksh would be married as soon as he could find time between films and trips to promote them.

Both gave their home addresses as Windsor, England.

BRASILIA (AP) — Justice Minister Alfredo Buzaid has banned a collection of erotic prints by Pablo Picasso, calling them "contrary to the morals and good principles of the Brazilian family."

Ministry sources said Monday that after the minister's orders, federal police began seizing the prints from newsstands and book stores.

The collection has been sold in Brazil since 1969 in a sealed envelope priced at about $5. An official of the Artemeio Publishing Co., which published the collection in 1968, said more than 3,000 sets have been sold in the country.

Hastings Trustee Busy Mediator

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

"This has been a real crunch year" for teacher-board disputes, says Mac Smith, Hastings county public school trustee and past president of the Ontario Public School Trustees' Association.

Mr. Smith returned last Friday from week-long talks in Timmins in an attempt to settle the dispute between secondary school teachers and the Timmins board.

Only 27 of the 244 teachers in the Timmins system showed up for school last week. The rest had resigned over differences with he board on their contracts.

After Mr. Smith's return to Belleville with the tripartite committee hammered out an agreement which was signed Jan. 3.

The teachers had resigned earlier over their grievances. The negotiators had the dispute settled before schools opened Jan. 2.

Although salaries and fringe benefits are always issues in contention when mediators are called in, the chief difficulty this year appears to be tenure of office for teachers.

Faced with a decline in enrolments both per subdivision of some subjects (Latin and history, for instance) and that disappeared from some schools' curriculum, teachers are asking for some guarantee of job security.

If a teacher's subject is phased out and he is qualified to teach another subject, he wants assurance he will be assigned to teach that subject if a vacancy occurs on his board.

If declining enrolments force a board to let a teacher go, he wants first chance at any vacancy that occurs at another school operated by the same board.

This has been policy with the Hastings county board for some time and Hastings' policy has been given wide publicity among teacher and trustee groups across the province.

"It beats me," said Mr. Smith, confessing he can't understand why these tenure provisions are not incorporated into teachers' contracts.

After Mr. Smith's intervention in Lambton county, the teachers there were assured of protection against redundancies and tenure.

With tighter curbs on educational spending teachers are apprehensive about a possible increase in pupil-teacher ratio and consequent decreases in the number of teachers. This, most trustees admit, is the only way to shake subject cuts in school board budgets without expending la several-curtailed in the future.

In Lambton county the teachers asked for another clause taken for granted in Hastings county — the right to be consulted by the board before any teacher cuts are made.

"The trouble is," said Mr. Smith of his mediation work, "both local groups reach a stage where they're not talking to each other and outsiders have to be brought in."

Mr. Smith was forced to return to his business in Belleville before the Timmins talks were completed.

A settlement was signed yesterday between the Timmins board and its teachers, opening the way for a new working agreement.

Separate school students in Essex county returned to school yesterday after their teachers' dispute was resolved.

Secondary school teachers in Windsor are still out on their classrooms as mediators attempt to settle the teacher - board issues there.

The Last Vote

Belleville mailman Bruce Nickle cast the last ballot last night in the vote by city postal workers on national conciliation report, as ballot list is checked by George Johnson Jr., Belleville local secretary-treasurer, Letter Carriers' Union of Canada. Postal Workers Vote To Resume Negotiations

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Belleville postal workers have voted to reject a conciliation report and are in favor of more contract talks.

The vote was carried by the city's mailmen. They cast enough rejecting ballots to overcome a majority vote by inside post office workers favoring acceptance of the report.

The result was a slim two-paragraph calls for government and postal unions to begin negotiations.

The Belleville result supports a majority decision of the negotiating committee for the Council of Postal Unions, which voted 64 against accepting the contract produced by national conciliation talks.

The Belleville vote will be included in a national tabulation of similar ballots on the conciliation report, result of which should be known later today.

"This is not a strike ballot," said Jim Campbell, president of Belleville Local 43, Letter Carriers Union of Canada. "This is to get them back to the table to get both parties to negotiate in good faith."

He said no Belleville letter carrier wants to strike. Such action would only be a last resort move.

"I hope common sense prevails . . . that we can get good collective agreement," said Mr. Campbell.

Belleville carriers voted 26-7 against acceptance.

The inside workers, members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, were 27-10 for accepting the conciliation report.

Total of both votes was 36-34 against acceptance.

Jim Mathews, president of the Belleville inside workers branch of the CUPW — which also includes Brighton post office — said he remained "neutral" and "let the membership. Late last week the membership was as they saw fit."

This was in contrast to the letter carriers, whose executive, headed by Mr. Campbell, held three meetings to discuss the report with its membership executive urged the mailmen to vote rejection.

Had similar discussions been held with inside workers, more would likely have voted against accepting the report, indicated Mr. Campbell.

The report was a complicated document which would "take a Philadelphia lawyer to understand" and the meetings were necessary with the workers to "discuss its pros and cons," he said.

"You've got to be involved to know what you're voting on," said Mr. Campbell.

However, he said he was satisfied with the result of the ballot — taken during the past weekend.

Contentious issues in the conciliation report prompted the national ballot included job reclassification and the length of the contract.

McDonald Official Spokesman

A stepped-up drive against dogs — killing domestic dogs will be started in the southern Quinte townships this winter by provincial wildlife authorities.

Increased patrols by game wardens and stricter enforcement of protective legislation under which dog owners are liable to stiff fines are in the offing.

The move is part of a program by the ministry of natural resources to shepherd deer herds through the hazards of winter in the Tweed forestry district.

The program includes continued improvement of natural feed resources in district deer yards — areas where the herds gather to wait out the winter months.

But predator control is also apparently high on the priorities scale this year. Predators — dogs and cats running at large — is also a sizable threat to survival of deer herds.

There are two geographic areas of emphasis — with Highway 7 the dividing line. In the townships north of the highway, predator control will centre primarily on wolves and dogs. It will include trapping on known wolf trails, says a ministry official.

South of the highway, the major emphasis shifts to dog predation, and will primarily see increased enforcement of the Game and Fish Act, some sections of which carry a $1,000 axe -end-ty.

The law also permits a game officer to shoot on sight any dog found pursuing deer in an area known as a winter habitat of the game animal.

Dog predation has been a problem of mounting concern to district wildlife officers in recent years.

So much so, the ministry's official province-wide newsletter took occasion to publish a warning to all dog owners in rural areas where pets may roam at large.

Animals creating the most havoc are not, as might popularly suspected, hunting dogs, says the ministry.

The domestic pet "lying in front of the fireplace . . . is greeting the kids at the door. can become a terrifying enemy for a deer when the animal is at a disadvantage in the snow," says the ministry report.

"Sharp crusts can usually support the weight of a dog but give way beneath a deer in late winter or early spring. First are, without snow cover, is as slippery as a waxed floor, causing pursued deer to fatally flounder.

"It's unfortunate," says the ministry, "that many dog owners are not seen in premonitory this fact from year to year."

Dog Control to Be Stepped Up

No Comment On Letter

TRENTON — Town council Monday night made no comment upon receipt of a letter from former councillor and car dealership owner Vagn Lange.

In his letter, Mr. Lange said he was withdrawing his intention to appeal an Ontario Municipal Board hearing decision allowing the town to proceed with construction of two municipal offices and a parking garage on the site of the town's former post office building.

Fire Destroys Consecon Home

CONSECON — If an early morning fire here had broken out a day earlier a spokesman for Amelia sburgh Fire department believes Mrs. Myrtle Ostron would surely have perished in the flames that levelled her frame dwelling.

According to the fire department spokesman, Mrs. Ostron whom he described as an "invalid mother" was at home until yesterday.

At 1:01 a.m. today, her son Duke Ostron heard a noise downstairs and he sought the source in a back attached shed. As he opened the door to the shed, it was burning. The draft apparently sucked flames into the house, causing what is termed a "back blast". The flames burned part of his beard, searing his face. He was later treated and released from Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Volunteers from the Amelia sburgh Fire Department brought four trucks to the Church St. residence in the north end of this village. Flames had consumed much of the building when they arrived and they were unable to save it. However, they did prevent spread of fire to another house threatened by the flames.

No estimate of loss had yet been compiled but Mr. Ostron is sifting through rubble today in an effort to find what is left of his coin collection valued at about $2,000.

Firemen left the scene at 4:22 a.m. but had to return as the flames again erupted. Two trucks stayed at the scene until 8 a.m.

The fire is believed to have been the result of an oil furnace explosion.

Councillor Makes Statement

TRENTON — Controversy over construction of Trenton's new municipal offices-parking garage complex prompted newly-elected councillor Ronald Price to issue a statement on his stand.

An opponent of the development Mr. Price last week was unsuccessful in his bid to find a seconder for his motion before committee of the whole to halt construction pending filing of a threatened appeal. This is the context of his address:

"My money, and the $381-000 approved by the OMB, would have given the town of Trenton approximately one million dollars, of which a small part would have been used in a street and road program. Because, as I understand it there is very little money to be used for this purpose, I feel that exactly the OMB will give approval for more debenture borrowing, then you have to think of how much the people can slough a new street and road program. Therefore, I could not see the justifying of funds toward the development of the municipal parking complex since this would all but cover most of our debenture debt sanctioned by the OMB (Ontario Municipal Board).

"I think keeping the new council would have the chance to decide whether or not to burden the taxpayes of Trenton with this debenture debt. I would like to have seen the property sold, and our money recovered.

"This money, and the $381-000 approved by the OMB, would have given the town of Trenton approximately one million dollars, of which a small part would have been used in a street and road program. Because, as I understand it there is very little money to be used for this purpose, I feel that exactly the OMB will give approval for more debenture borrowing, then you have to think of how much the people can slough in mill rate increases.

"Therefore, I would like to point out at this time is that we are all aware of regional government spending in and taking over. In their last sweep of territory, there were approximately 22 municipal offices. Now there are approximately only nine that will be used for municipal purposes.

"Under the regional government includes Trenton, who in that they will be left with municipal offices to the value of what we are, the building we will have would be the big enough, nor the parking sufficient, considering all the people that would then using it.

"It is evident that there won't be any appeal against the OMB's decision to approve the project.

"Now, I can only hope that this project will continue to grow as speedily as possible without any delay to the contractor and that it will be the key to the future for Trenton."

Picton Town Clerk Resigns at Inaugural Council Meeting

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Town council's inaugural session dissolved in chaos last night when clerk Andrew Jarvis resigned in protest of Jeremy Harvey's McFarland's refusal to conform to "procedures".

Mr. Jarvis left the council chambers after telling mayor he is a motion to accept the minutes of the last council meeting and instead insisted upon forwarding a new motion to postpone their passage for a 30-day study period. The mayor felt certain portions of the minutes w hich recorded a council decision to construct a road i servicg a housing development which lies partly in Hallowell should be examined further.

The mayor said if council approved the December minutes the road would be constructed but the town would receive no tax benefits since the road would be in Hallowell.

A cost estimate of $2,500 per lot exceeds council's last meeting but mayor McFarland said he would obtain new figures of $7,000 to $10,000 for the road's construction.

"If we do this we are asking ourselves for a lot of trouble," predicted the mayor as he spoke of a decision now to construct the road.

He declared he was "not in any position" to sign a bylaw in the January minutes, authorizing the borrowing of $97,407 for new business until he was fully informed concerning the proposed road.

Mayor McFarland moved postponement of the adoption of the minutes and a member meeting approving the new road, though one them remained on the floor. When Town clerk Andrew Jarvis left the mayor said he was out of order he ripped the written motion in two.

"I'm afraid you'll have to find yourself another clerk," resign immediately. There are procedures even a clerk has to comply with," declared Mr. Jarvis.

Mayor McFarland insisted the clerk was working for "this corporation" and "not town" but the clerk replied he was working in the interests of the ratepayers and left the council chambers.

Rookie councillor Larry Richardson questioned certain procedures must be followed when a motion is moved. "I would be difficult to continue the meeting without a motion," he said. "I don't know he wouldn't go along," said the mayor, adding, "If that's what he wants to do he'll have to do it."

"I am very, very very surprised at Mr. Jarvis and the attitude he took over the continued moments later.

Andrew Jarvis, a former member of town council was hired as town clerk in 1967.

An interview with Mr. Jarvi this morning revealed he has not submitted a written resignation to council.

He did say there would have to be "a lot of changes made before he would reconsider hi stand on the matter."

Picton solicitor Jack Ward attended council last night they were not obligated to accept Mr. Jarvis' verbal resignation.

The meeting was adjourned on a motion by councillor Jack Evans and seconded by councillor Norman March.

A full gallery of spectators including former Picton mayo Margaret Ackerman had assembled for council's inaugural session.

Bridge street reeve Ross Cronkwright said today the proposed 136-foot road r ndd stretch from Simpson St. to the town limits ndd would service an apartment building built by William Pannell. An attorney representing Mr. Pannell had written a letter to council threatening court action unless a road was built by the town.

Dolphin Backs Not Feuding

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lemm Csonka is fed up with people trying to create a feud between Mercury Morris and Jim Kiick, his running partners in the Miami Dolphins' backfield.

"They love each other, they call for each other," says Csonka. "They just hate to ride the bench."

"To a real football player, the bench is hell. As far as I can determine, nobody enjoys hell."

That's one feud down, one to go.

Then there's the Bob Grieve-Earl Morrall sideshow at quarterback. When the icy, confident Grieve suffered a busted leg in the season's fifth game, the 38-year-old Morrall came to the Dolphins' rescue.

He led 11 victories in a row.

Now, with Grieve healed, Bob is No. 1 again for Sunday's Super Bowl VII matchup against Washington Redskins. Morrall is one of those bench-baiting types, too, but again the anger is professional instead of personal.

Don Shula is the man who decides who'll play and it ripped the iron - jawed Miami coach again in Sunday Morrall's dejected locker room.

"It was difficult because Earl is such a first-class person on and off the field," Shula said Monday. "We wouldn't be standing here today, preparing for the Super Bowl, if it were not for Morrall.

The darkest moment in a 16-0 season came when Grieve was crumpled under a furious pass rush by San Diego Charger stroughoys Deacon Jones and Ron Mix.

"Seeing Grieve, the player of the year in the National Football League in 1971, laid out before you is a shocking thing," Shula said. "Then I turned to Earl for help. He responded, oh, how he responded."

Morrall quarterbacked for Shula when both were employed by Baltimore Colts. It was Morrall who was intercepted three times when Baltimore was upset by New York Jets 16-7 in Super Bowl III.

He's won a lot of games for me," Shula said as the Dolphins went through a preapsoto day Monday at Biser Field in Long Beach. "Matter of fact, my long memory is what caused Morrall to be retained when we cut our roster to 40 regulars last summer.

Morrall experienced a shoddy pre-season and Shula admits there was some sentiment on my part in keeping him, but the overriding reason was that I remembered how Earl can go on the field and win games. Once again, my faith was more than justified, and it could happen again."

Redskins Hope For Repeat Over Dolphins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The last time Miami Dolphins lost a football game was in Washington. But that doesn't mean a thing, psychologically or otherwise, says Redskin coach George Allen.

"We used a lot of different people then and so did they," Allen said Monday of the Redskins' 27-24 pre-season triumph against the Dolphins, who then proceeded to clutch up a perfect regular-season record in the National Football League followed by playoff victories against Cleveland Browns and Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Redskins are working out here for their first National Football League championship game Sunday since 1945.

They attracted some 4,000 young fans to their hour-long practice Monday, then had to run for cover when more than half the spectators, ignoring the slim precipitation, vaulted the ball-park fences and stormed onto the field, seeking autographs, pictures and handshakes.

The Redskins coach also said he couldn't understand how Washington has been installed as a slim favorite to beat the Dolphins in Super Bowl VII.

"They've got 16-0 and they've got the No. 1 offence and No. 1 defence in the league," he said. "And they've got the three best running backs on any one team," Larry Csonka, Mercury Morris and Jim Kiick.

The Skins generally brushed aside the idea that Miami might have a psychological edge over them, having already been in a Super Bowl while it's new to Washington.

"It's all the same game," said wide receiver Roy Jefferson. "You formulate a game plan, work on it, then go into the game and try to execute it. That's all."

And linebacker Jack Pardee, one of the raft of Redskins who followed Allen to Washington after the coach had been dumped by Los Angeles Rams, added:

"We're not exactly rookies. And we've got a few guys who've been in championship games like Jefferson when he was with Baltimore, and Vernon Biggs when the defensive end was with the New York Jets and a couple of others. So the fact that they were here last year and we weren't doesn't really mean much."

Best May Play In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Soccer entrepreneur Joe Martin said Monday George Best, turbulent international soccer superstar, will participate in an indoor soccer league here starting this month.

Martin indicated he would build a 30-acre office and Bellevue-born player couldn't refuse.

"I'm making him a new offer of $7,500 for two games at Maple Leaf Gardens and if he stays for the whole season of 24 games I'll pay him $2,500 for each of the remaining 18 games," Martin said. "Also, I'll pay all his hotel, eating and other expenses."

Best has been suspended in England by his club, Manchester United and has been offered for sale to any takers at $750,000. The controversial player can select his own team and receives at least 10 per cent of the fee.

Earlier reports said Best was prepared to accept Martin's initial offer of $2,000 a game for the indoor season in Canada, but Best reversed himself during the weekend and rejected the proposal.

Best referred to Martin's adventure as a soccer circus after learning that the Ontario Soccer Association (OSA) had barred its players and officials from taking part.

Martin ignored the OSA threat to suspend players taking part in his league, saying he realizes their registration runs from March 1 to the end of February, the following year, "but if these players want to earn extra bucks in the off-season it is not the business of anyone."

He said 200 players already had served notice they would be attending the league's training camp at Seneca College Thursday night.

"How can you suspend 200 players in Ontario?" he asked.

There's Gold . .

TORONTO (CP) — There's still a lot of gold in those hills for an amateur skier.

Take the word of France's Jean Claude Killy, who won three skiing gold medals in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, in 1968.

"It's no secret. I made $40,000 in my last year as an amateur," Killy said in an interview here Monday.

"That was good money that year—but now there is twice as much money for a good amateur."

Killy's performances at the Olympics led to a commercialism binge lasting four years, during which he lent his name to products from ski goggles to cars.

He wouldn't say how much wealth he accumulated, but estimated: "It was good enough to please me."

Now, after a five-year absence from racing, Killy has joined the pro circuit. But his earnings so far have amounted to only $5,725. Even second, third and first-place finishes.

"I'm in good shape now and feel I will do well at the Bonson and Hedges races in Colingwood 20mi.) Jan. 26-28," Killy said.

"The money so far is not much to me," he said. "To do it again as an amateur I could make much more."

Killy is a close friend of Austria's Karl Schranz, who succeeded him as the top amateur racer after 1968.

Jocelyne Bourassa Undergoes Surgery

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Jocelyne Bourassa, rookie-of-the-year on the 1972 women's professional golf tour, was to face surgery here today to correct a knee ailment.

The problem forced her to withdraw from the Burdine's Invitational at the Doral Country Club in Florida during the weekend.

The operation, to remove a piece of cartilage from her left knee, is to be followed by a week in hospital and two weeks at home on crutches before she heads for rehabilitation in Florida.

She expects to get back on the $1 million circuit March 9, making her start at the $100,000 Green Sages Classic in Tucson, Ariz., the tour's fourth stop. Miss Bourassa's winnings last year were $16,095.

NFL Discussing Move Into Canada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (CP-AP) — Expansion of the National Football League into Canada will be one of the contentious issues discussed here during the NFL Players' Association annual meeting which began here Monday.

"The players feel that the league is essentially capable of destroying the Canadian Football League," Ed Garvey, the association's executive director, said Monday, but added:

"The Canadian League is the last vestige of competition for players, and without it players salaries would drop."

Members of the CFLPA are sitting in on the five days of meetings being attended by 24 players' representatives from all NFL teams except the two appearing in the Super Bowl.

The grievances to be discussed during the sessions, said Garvey, will likely lead to a strike next year because team owners have refused to deal with the association and any issues of substance.

The players will strike "unless there is a dramatic change in the attitude of the owners," Garvey told a news conference at a Las Vegas hotel.

"We haven't seen any evidence of it."

The players will hold a convention here June 2-7 to discuss priorities in bargaining when the current contract expires in January, 1974, and Garvey said he expects 300 to 500 players for the convention.

Garvey said the so-called Rozelle rule, named after NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle, will also be an issue.

Player reps will receive a progress report on a suit filed in federal district court in Minnesota to overthrow the rule. Under it, a player may play out his option and become free to join another club.

NFL rules require that the club he leaves must be compensated by the club he joins. If they can't reach a bargain, it becomes Rozelle's duty to decide on compensation.

The Players Association argues that the club does not deserve anything because it has done nothing to develop his talent. This contrasts with baseball, which supports a minor league system, the players say.

Fighting Back

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Panama retaliated against the World Boxing Council Monday for withdrawing recognition of Enrique Pinder as world bantamweight champion. It withdrew recognition of the World Boxing Council.

"We will never recognize a championship fight which carries the seal of the WBC," Dr. Elias Cordoba, president of the Panama Boxing Commission, told a news conference. "The only championship fights which will be valid here are those organized by the World Boxing Association."

Harrison Proves Merit As Player of Month

By AL ZARAS
Staff Sportswriter

Jim's Pizzeria goalie Bob Harrison shielded the nets behind a short staffed red clad players Monday night as he turned in the contest with a 6-0 shutout victory over Gas House Hockey League supervisor Rollins Lumber.

The shutout was the first for Harrison, who has "played goal since I was knee high to a grasshopper," has played the last three years in the Gas House League. The first year he was goalminding action with the Downtown Merchants, while last year he played part of his season with Jim's and the remainder with the Metro Junior "B" Bobcats splitting assignments with Bill Cormier.

Though Harrison said after the game that the 6-0 win will be "good for the goalie against average," there are players behose shooting he takes special care.

"Bob Mulvihill of Mead Johnson is pretty hard to stop," said Harrison, "he's always right in the corners. Ian Hyatt (Hospital) has a good shot, and Ron Fuller of Canada Bud had a snap shot. I think the most accurate shooter in the league, however, are Allan Ray and Carl Bouwers. I don't play against them, but they shoot against me in practice."

In Monday's game against Rollins, the pizzamen got "the best working right off the bat," as coach Don Putnam urged what to do in the dressing room at the beginning of the game. Jim's, which played with five defensemen and five forwards, earned scoreboard light-ups from Gene McGrath with two, Allan Ray, Brian Smith, Ron Lynch and Carl Bouwers with single tallies.

The lumbermen on the other hand, allowed a 5-6 lead over Mead Johnson to slip before they earned a 6-3 victory. It wasn't the last of trying to score on the part of Mead.

Meade coach Doug Preston pulled his goalie with 25 seconds to the final stanza, in an attempt to earn a tie against third goalie Warren Hay. The newspapermen scored two of their goals on defensive errors by Ted Rowland as the Mead Johnson captain fanned on a second period loose puck in front of the net where Fred Stickle picked it up to score.

Dennis Baregar made the move on Rowland in the third at the Intells blue line, "e flipped the puck over Rowland's stick at point, to carry it into Mead's end on a breakaway situation with Steve Ling. Baregar earned the newsmen's winning goal on this play.

Other goalscorers for The Intelligencer were Tim Henningsen and Jim McGuire while Fred and Steve Rodard each scored one for Meade with Jim Mulvihill adding another.

Wilson Concrete moved into sole possession of first place behind second place Hospital and The Intelligencer after their 4-2 victory over Constellation Monday night.

Despite the fact, Constellation goalie Rick Macdonald played a solid game against while Norm Pope and Tom Bellis tallied for the second team. Pete Enright, Bruce Stickle, Wayne Whaley, and Perry Soule provided the goal-scoring for Wilson.

Gas House League's 'Mr. Zero'

A goalie's job is by no means an easy one as Jim's Pizzeria's netminder Bob Harrison showed by his defensive maneuvering in the crease against Rollins Lumber in Gas House Hockey League action Monday night. Harrison had to put the stop on slap shots from Rollins' forwards Damon Richardson and Gerry Lucas to earn a 6-0 shutout victory for the pizzamen. Though goalie's are rarely on the receiving end of checks, on occasion Harrison has to stop the player as well as the puck from entering his net as he did with a Rollins' winger.

Gallupe Brothers Pace Basketball Sweep

Quinte Secondary further secured their top rank in the western division of the Bay of Quinte COSSA basketball league Monday as the Saints defeated Prince Edward Collegiate in all three games.

The Gallupe brothers, Scott and Mark ran away with the top scoring honors for the Saints as Scott dropped 34 points into the Picton hoop to lead the midgets to a 84-43 victory.

Mark lead the senior Saints to a 78-43 win as only Prince Edwards' Doug Dermon with 29 points topped his 25 point scoreboard pummeling.

In the midget game, Bob Jones earned 12 Quinte points while Kent Quinn and Joe Gillis matched 22 and 14 against the Belleville collegiate.

The junior visiting Saints lead by Peter Vos (20 points) and Ron Crook (10) bombed the Picton Panthers 37-41 as Bryce Rutter and Tim Barrett each scored 14 points for the over - the - bay cats.

Quinte Rink Eliminated

A Quinte Curling Club rink with lead Bill Meagher, second Chris Gilhens, vice Bill Riley and skip Murray Johnson failed to take the best of three series against Kingston Sunday.

The QCC's Senior rink's loss to the eastern division three representative of the Ontario Curling Association knocks them out of the playdown with a rink from the Petersborough area in Napanee January 14.

The rink skipped by Johnson defeated Kingston 9 - 8 in their first match, but fell 8-5 to their rivals in the final two games.

Kramer's Talent In Demand

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — To Norm Kramer's delight, he has found himself in the middle of the National Hockey League and World Hockey Association war for talent.

"I'm worth at least a goal a game," brags Kramer.

Only Kramer's talent is psyching up crowds, not scoring goals, with hockey music at the organ.

The 43-year-old St. Louis native is considered hockey's top organist after serving the NHL St. Louis Blues for five years.

The Blues not only changed coaches this year but also switched organists, Kramer noted.

Now, he's entertaining officers from Atlanta Flames of the NHL and numerous WHA cities. Kramer is in St. Paul this week for five Minnesota Fighting Saints games and has had requests to go on the WHA tour.

"The Flames hadn't won a home game when they sent me in November," Kramer said. "They tied the first night because the sound system wasn't just right, but the next game they just walked over Minnesota.

"The crowd came off its hands the last five minutes of games."

Kramer says it's his intention to provide catchy music to fit events taking place on the ice. He claims credit for introducing the current rallying tune used by most hockey organists.

"It's a matter of timing. It's something to enthuse the crowd—I picked it up watching the Astrodome scoreboard on television. If they can do it in baseball, I thought I could get something going to hockey to get the fans off their hands."

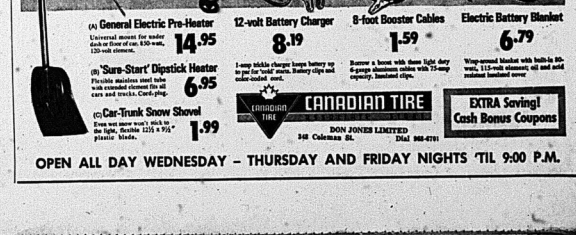
Mary O'Neill Second At Kawartha Races

PETERBOROUGH (Special) — A fast closing finish was enough to give Belleville's Mary O'Neill the Molson Ladies Trophy at the Kawartha Cup Snowmobile Races, but it did vault her into second place in the final standings.

The Arctic Cat rider had managed only a fourth place finish over the first two days of competition, but recorded a win in the 400 c.c. class Monday along with a second and two thirds.

First place in the women's section went to Barb Eaton of Hanover, Ontario who was also riding an Arctic Cat. She accumulated 586.3 points over the three day event while Mrs. O'Neill finished with a total of 523.39. Third place was taken by Toronto's Cathy Kwandrans on a Ski-Doo.

American rider Jim Adema captured the men's event with a 722.85 point total. The Sooner rider placed in eight of nine races to finish 118 points ahead of his nearest competitor Scott Heming. The Peterborough rider was competing for his third title. Third place in the competition went to last year's winner Jim Dubammel of Valcourt, Quebec.



Tie Canadiens 3-3

Stars In Fine Shape

MONTREAL (CP) — Monday night's 3-3 National Hockey League tie with Montreal Canadiens proved one thing that Minnesota coach Jack Gordon knew all along—his North Stars are in fine shape.

"We've played pretty well lately but we recently lost a couple of games in Chicago and Boston in which we looked okay and at times like that I wondered if anything's going to break," the North Stars' coach said after the game.

"I've been worried recently that we might be getting out of condition but I think we're in pretty good shape for this time of the year."

During the first two periods of Monday's game, it appeared that Minnesota might not be in such good condition.

Yvon Cournoyer's first period goal held up through the second period and when Frank Mahovlich scored his 17th of the season at 2:38, it appeared Minnesota would not recover.

But Dean Prentice got that one back 34 seconds later and the North Stars were back in the game.

However, when Cournoyer scored his second of the game and 30th of the season at 7:22, Gordon confessed his pessimism rose.

CESARE MANIAGO

"Cesare Maniago had kept us in the game when we were getting bad. I was afraid he weren't going to get another goal when we were down 3-1," the coach said.

But Dennis Hextall made it 3-2 54 seconds later and Buster Harvey knotted the score at 11:07 with Frank Mahovlich missed it.

In the other end of the Montreal dressing room, Jacques Lemaire, the NHL goal scoring leader with 30, was shaking his head at the opportunities he had missed.

"It looks like I'm going to have to do it the hard way, if I'm going to get it," he said of his 31st goal. "I sure missed some chances out there tonight."

Referee Lloyd Gilmour drew the ire of the fans and the players as he meted out only seven minors and two majors in the chippy contest.

"I was getting pretty hot at Gilmour at one point, I thought he was letting a awful lot go," Gordon said.

Gilmour assessed the majors to Hextall and Montreal's Bob Murdoch for their parts in a second-period scuffle. Montreal received four of the minors in the costliest being Mahovlich's minor in the final stanza.

serving a minor penalty.

It was the only scheduled game Monday night. Tonight Los Angeles Kings meet the Islanders in New York and St. Louis Blues visit Vancouver Canucks.

While Gordon was happy at the outcome, Montreal goalie Ken Dryden confessed to liking the tying goal.

"On the first two, there wasn't much I could do but I should have had the third one. The rangy goalie said. "I just missed it."

Quebec Wrecks Raiders

NEW YORK (AP) — Yves Bergeron backhanded a 10-foot shot past New York goalie Pete Donnelly after 2¼ minutes of sudden-death overtime Monday night to give Quebec Nordiques a 6-5 World Hockey Association victory over the Raiders.

The triumph nullified two New York goals scored in the third period and lifted the Nordiques within three points of the third-place Raiders in the WHA's Eastern Division.

Bergeron's decisive goal, his seventh of the season, came on the only shot of the overtime period by either team.

J. C. Tremblay started the play by shooting the puck to the corner where it slid behind the net. Donnelly missed a stab at it and Gordon picked it up and fed Bergeron in front of the Quebec goals by Jean Payette, Rejean Giroux, Andre Gaudette and Michel Parizeau and New York markers by Ron Ward, his 34th, and Gene Peacosh gave the Nordiques a 6-5 lead after two periods.

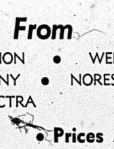
FARMED OUT

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings have returned left-winger Danny Grant, 20, to Fort Worth Wings of the Central Hockey League. Grues was called up to the Red Wings last 2 and played in two games.



"I've never seen Junior play like he does. But I'm glad this month football season is over."

Ward Pulls Away

SANTA ANA, Calif. (CP) — Ron Ward of New York Raiders had gone nine games without a goal and his lead in the World Hockey Association scoring race was in jeopardy.

Then, in one r t only two WHA games during the all-star break, Ward pumped in five goals and picked up an assist Thursday in a 9-4 victory over Ottawa Nationals.

The six-point outburst gives Ward a nine-point lead in the scoring race. He now has 33 goals and 36 assists for 69 points in 41 games for an average of 1.68 points a game.

Goalies Stymy Shooters

MONTREAL (CP) — Last weekend, the goalies in the National Hockey League went to work on the league's vaunted shooters. When the smoke had cleared, the netminders had a close-cut victory, amassing seven shutouts in Saturday's and Sunday's 13 scheduled games.

Roy Edwards of Detroit Red Wings was the only goalie to pick up two in this streak, both of them coming over the fledgling New York Islanders. The pair of 1-0 blankings marked the comeback netminder to move into a tie for the shutout lead with Ken Dryden of Montreal Canadiens and Minnesota's Cesare Maniago, each with four.

Dryden picked up his fourth Saturday night with a 5-0 verdict over California Golden Seals. The Seals, fresh from an 11-3 pasting of Vancouver Canucks last Wednesday, could not find their scoring touch during the weekend and were also blanked by Toronto's Ron Low in a 4-0 loss to the Maple Leafs Sunday night.

The seven shutouts raised the NHL total for the first five days of the season to 41, five more than in the same number of games last year.

Last weekend also saw 15 of the 16 clubs reaching or passing this season's halfway mark—Minnesota played its 39th game Monday but did not have a player among the scoring leaders.

When the weekend was over, Boston Bruins' Phil Esposito was 1200 richer as the league's top-point-getter after 39 games. Esposito, who has earned $7,250 in award money for his goal and point-scoring exploits in the NHL's last 5½ seasons, has 34 goals and 36 assists for 60 points, five more than runner-up Jacques Lemaire of Montreal, who had a league-leading 31 goals among his 55 points. Lemaire earned $250.

Two of Lemaire's teammates, goalies Dryden and Michel Plasse, collected the $250 as leaders in the goaltender's race. They combined to give the Canadiens an average of 2.28 goals against on 40 goals against in the first 39 games.

Ottawa Studies Possibility Of Limited Vietnam Role

OTTAWA (CP) — Officials are assessing a new and more limited role for Canada in a Vietnam ceasefire observer force.

Under the new formula, Canada would agree to monitor only certain parts of the ceasefire agreement now being negotiated by Washington and Hanoi.

Its main advantage, sources say, is that it would permit Canada to take part in a less than-perfect arrangement and facilitate U.S. withdrawal from the war. It might also come closer to Hanoi's demands for a small group of limited authority.

Until now, the government has indicated that the ceasefire agreement and the observer group's mandate as a whole must be workable before Canada would agree to take part.

Monday, the U.S. state department has refused comment on the motion passed Friday by the Commons deploring U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Nor has it responded to External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp's insistence that the proceedings of the four-member observer group be public, and that Canada limit its commitment to participation in two years at a time.

The Canadian Press has also learned that Prime Minister Trudeau sent a message to President Nixon Jan. 2 deploring the bombing, but has received no reply.

That message followed three others of similar content conveyed by the external affairs department to the state department Dec. 21, 27 and 29, to which there has also been no response.

In the Commons Monday, Mr. Sharp said Canada has not discussed the operations of the proposed ceasefire observer group with the other tentative members—Poland, Hungary and Indonesia. He said it would be appropriate to discuss the operation of a group on which Canada has not agreed to participate.

Under the new plan being discussed in the external affairs department, Canada would agree to check adherence by the combatants to only specified sections of the ceasefire agreement.

Those items could include withdrawal of troops from particular areas, and exchange of prisoners by all sides, and would be relatively easy to observe.

Items such as supervision of arms imports and elections, considered by officials as difficult to observe, in any case would be left out of the Canadian responsibilities.

One proposal suggested this proposal would ease U.S. withdrawal from the war without losing face. Canada "is the civil war that will continue."

Officials say this concept was developed when it became obvious last month that Hanoi wants only a small observer group—perhaps about 250 men—from a few countries—with tightly restricted powers.

Washington has pressed for a larger group of several thousand to oversee a ceasefire throughout South Vietnam as well as exchange of prisoners and withdrawal of troops.

Mercury Limit Likely To Be Lowered Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Mercury is extremely toxic at fish and any legal maximum levels for other foods probably will be "considerably lower" than the present 0.5 parts per million (p p m) that Canada has used for levels in fish, Dr. D. G. Chapman said Monday.

The director of the food advisory bureau in the federal health department said consideration of the total intake of mercury is what must be considered.

Canada and other countries are now trying to establish how much mercury an adult can take daily without health danger, Dr. Chapman said in an interview. So far the maximum daily allowance has not been established.

The World Health Organization probably will publish recommendations on this soon, he said.

In the meantime, the government will stick to its administrative guideline of 0.5 ppm of mercury in fish.

"All evidence points to the desirability, from a health hazard standpoint, of reducing this level as soon as possible," he told the Ontario Council of Commercial Fisheries last year.

He stands by this:

"We're never too happy about a chemical as toxic as this to ever find product and therefore we wouldn't want to establish even this level too firmly.

"We might want to see it reduced."

Mercury is present in the environment naturally, but it occurs there in small amounts — about 0.08 ppm in the earth's crust.

He disagreed with an article in a recent U.S. nutrition magazine that said minute amounts of mercury helped it essential in the diet.

"My toxicologists suggest that there is no scientific evidence of any positive role for some of the elements—including mercury," he said. The fact that some animals, including man, have developed ways to get rid of mercury from their bodies doesn't indicate that it was necessary to absorb them in the first place.

Although some countries appear to allow greater levels of mercury than Canada does, this is often misleading, Dr. Chapman said Sweden, for example, allows up to one ppm of mercury in fish—but it also advises that fish should be eaten only once a week.

Canada allows one-half as much in fish, but it does not restrict the individual's intake—meaning Canadians could be consuming more mercury than Swedes.

Ennismore To Protest

ENNISMORE, Ont. (CP) — The council of this hamlet 15 miles north of Peterborough decided Monday to protest the proposed revisions of the federal electoral boundaries at public hearings in Belleville next month.

Reeve Robert Young said that under the changes Ennismore would be shifted from Peterborough riding to Victoria Haliburton, which, with 46 communities, would be too large for one man to handle.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 10

Aries (March 21 — April 19): Chances are you have provided somebody to actions which don't contribute to your progress. Something you did long ago echoes favorably.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Presenting demands to you nothing much today; partly lately from people closely associated. A fresh idea brings exceptional results.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Put in for any dividend due you; taking care to avoid personal losses. Be prepared to account for your portion of group finances.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Letting other people make your decisions comes easily, but do not promise results of the sort you'd like.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Again you have a day with the strongest accent on just plain hard work, nothing startling, but well worth the doing.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The fine art of realizing what went wrong in the past can be profitable as education, but gets nowhere as a conversational subject.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take up any opportunity promptly, but don't be surprised to find that some of them aren't real. At least you will know.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Staying close to home gives you time for something you might otherwise miss. Plans will need some revising.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An early start is advised, as you are indicated to make extra trips, carry with unaccustomed zest over a lengthy period.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Yourself once more open than is customary. Benefits exist in both material and intangible forms near at hand.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Be alert for the chance to help people, but cautious about promises—they may not be able to do what seems to you logical.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Work with what is available, not touching your reserve resources for the moment. You can make progress on career matters.

Surgery Only Cure If Bladder Drops

By G.C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have never had it in your column about a dropped bladder. I am past 65 and lifting, etc., cause me to have some pain down in the vagina and is very uncomfortable.

This happened five months ago and I was wondering if it was a common thing for it to suddenly let down. Does it ever repair itself without surgery? Is there exercises for it which the doctor gave me, but it still does. I would like to hear from you before I resort to surgery. —Mrs. T.

This condition is called cystocele, too, and I'm surprised that you haven't read about it elsewhere since it is a rather common problem in women.

It is treated with a ton of strength in the tissues which support the bladder. So gravity lets it descend where it doesn't belong. (Strain accidentally earlier in life often has a bearing on development of the trouble later.) I doubt that lifting had anything to do with it.

Exercises may help a little but the condition is not one that responds to exercise itself. The answer is surgery—which, together with a less

Queen Will Visit West

He told the Commons during the throne speech debate that the Royal Couple will visit the Western provinces as part of the RCMP centennial celebrations.

Mergers Sought

TORONTO (CP) — Nationalism in the advertising agency field, often a subject of public debate, rarely enters into private negotiations between a Canadian-owned agency and a potential business partner, says a brief to be presented to the Ontario legislature's select committee on economic and cultural nationalism.

Andrew Kershaw, chairman of Ogilvy and Mather (Canada) Ltd. of Toronto, said in the brief it has been his experience "that Canadian-owned advertising agencies are not loath to enter into merger discussions."

Law Assailed

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation prohibiting dentists from selling false teeth directly to the public without a dentist's supervision is unworkable because it lays down conditions that would be physically and financially impossible to fulfil, a spokesman for the Denturist Society of Ontario said Monday.

Gordon Smith, a public relations consultant for the denturists, said the legislation, passed Dec. 15 and expected to be proclaimed law early this year, would require denturists to take an impression from the patient's mouth in a dentist's office, run back to their laboratories to make the teeth, and then return to the dentist's office to fit them.

Man Had Gas

NEW YORK (AP) — A laboratory technician from Emerson, N.J., was arrested at La Guardia Airport Monday by U.S. sky marshals who said he tried to board a New Orleans-bound Eastern Airlines jet with two bottles of deadly cyanide gas.

The arrested man, Hugh C. Ballantine, 27, was turned over to the FBI and held for arraignment today.

BOAC Plans Cheap Fare

LONDON (Reuter) — British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) proposes to introduce a $140 return fare between Britain and North America, the cheapest ever offered on a scheduled service.

The fare, which requires approval from Britain's civil aviation authority and the United States Civil Aeronautics Board, was announced Monday following the failure of international negotiations to reach an agreed fare structure. BOAC is confident it will get the necessary approval.

In Ottawa, a spokesman for the Canadian transport commission said the fares could not be applied in Canada without the commission's approval.

He said the low fare could be applied to Britons travelling to Canada, but the airline could not sell the tickets in Canada.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement. Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. . . ."

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Peterborough Explosion Kills Three Children

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Three children were killed and their mother critically injured when an explosion ripped through their semi-detached home shortly before noon Monday.

One of the victims was identified as Christopher Fenn, about three months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fenn. Two other children, ages of 4 and 5, the same family, also were killed.

Mrs. Fenn, trapped underneath the rubble, was reported in critical condition.

Mr. Fenn was out at home at the time.

Residents of the other half of the two-storey brick home, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas West, their daughter Robin, 7, and son Nicholas, 4, also were absent.

A 15-year-old girl, believed to be a sister of Mrs. Fenn, was trapped beneath the rubble for about two hours. She was discovered by firefighters who notified her father.

The girl told firefighters she heard them around her, but had not called out because "she didn't want them looking for her when they could be looking for the other children," a fire department spokesman said.

The girl was reported to be only slightly injured.

The fire department said "somehow she was blown from inside to outside through a brick wall and covered with bricks."

"How she got through that brick wall I don't know. She was found some time after the building collapsed. She was out in the driveway and somebody covered her."

The fire department spokesman said officials found "a broken gas main in the street in front of the house—under the boulevard." He said the mass was sealed off shortly after the explosion.

Capt. Jim Smith of the Peterborough fire department, one of the first at the scene, said Monday night in a television interview: "The neighbors were yelling that there was a person in there, at the front of the building."

Capt. Smith said: "We put in a line fire hose to protect her against the fire and went to work to remove her. Everything was hand-pulling for the bricks away."

He said that after Mrs. Fenn was pulled free, "we found a baby in the same area."

The two were taken to hospital.

Capt. Smith said, "Every room and kid was helping—they were pitching right in. They just did everything they could. They were lifting bricks and debris by hand.

The fire department spokesman said the explosion site was under police guard until this morning when investigations would continue.

Residents of homes on either side of the destroyed building "have moved out," said the spokesman. He said those homes were damaged only slightly, but "windows were blown out."

Paul McKerracher, an official of the Ontario fire marshal's office, is in Peterborough to conduct the investigation.

Policeman Says Colleague Helped Youth Beat Brothers

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — A Wallaceburg, Ont., police officer testified Monday in provincial court that a fellow officer helped a white youth "get even" with two Indian youths Sept. 22 by letting him beat them at the police station.

Constable Larry Murdock was testifying at the trial of the Indian youths, Donovan Sands, 19 of Sarnia, Ont., and Bradley Sands, 16, of Lorndon, Ont.

The Sands brothers were convicted of assault causing bodily harm and were remanded out of custody for sentencing Jan. 22.

They were found guilty by Provincial Judge John Seneshen of assaulting Kirk Robinson, 17, of Wallaceburg during a street scuffle in Wallaceburg Sept. 22.

Robinson, who suffered an injury to the left eye and a fractured jaw in the fight, said he assaulted the brothers after they were in custody in the Wallaceburg police station.

He was placed on probation for one year by Provincial Judge C.E. Perkins last month.

Cpl. Wilfred Lewis of the Wallaceburg police department will be tried Feb. 5 on a charge of assault laid by the Sands brothers.

In Monday's hearing, Constable Larry Murdock of Wallaceburg testified that after he took Robinson to the station, he heard Cpl. Lewis ask the youth if he wanted to get even."

He said he heard Robinson say that he did and that the youth was taken to a back room. He said Cpl. Lewis then escorted Bradley Sands from his cell and grabbed him by the hair when Sands refused to enter the room with Robinson.

Constable Murdock said Robinson struck Sands a number of times and that Sands was then taken back to his cell and his older brother was put in the room.

Donovan Sands was also hit repeatedly and blood spattered the room, he said. He added that neither brother had tried to defend himself.

Housing Parley Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial housing conference has been scheduled for Ottawa Jan. 22-23, Urban Affairs Minister Ron Basford said Monday.

Mr. Basford said in an interview that, among other things, new amendments to the National Housing Act will be discussed at the conference.

The amendments have not yet been introduced to the Commons but Mr. Basford said they would be "very shortly."

"I have heard that all provinces will be represented by ministers," the urban affairs minister said.

He said he had requested that municipalities be included in the provincial delegations.

But it is understood that only the Saskatchewan government has invited representation from its provincial association of municipalities.

Mayor D. G. Newman of Whitby, Ont., president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, indicated recently that the municipalities would like to be represented as a separate party at the talks—not as part of provincial delegations.

Hees Forces NDP Into Hard Choice

Pension Boost Bid Rejected

OTTAWA (CP) — To the raucous accompaniment of Conservative jeers, the New Democrats balled the minority Liberal government out of a potentially-embarrassing parliamentary situation Tuesday.

George Hees (PC—Prince Edward-Hastings) interrupted the three-hour speech debate with a motion that it be adjourned so the government could begin legislation immediately to increase old-age pensions.

The New Democrats, who in past Parliaments have vocally supported higher pensions, voted with the Liberals against that motion, as did Social Credit MPs.

The motion was defeated 154-104 with five members absent from the House.

NDP support of the motion would have meant its success with the present House standing—Liberals 109, Conservatives 107, NDP 31, Social Credit 15, independent 2.

Later Conservative speakers accused the NDP of abandoning their principles to support the Liberal government. Andrew Reilly, freshman member for Ottawa West, accused the NDP of an unholy marriage with the Liberals.

But Ed Nelson (NDP—Burnaby-Seymour) countered that the Conservatives would be even quicker to jump between the sheets in a marriage of convenience because of "their lust for power."

Speaking to reporters, veteran New Democrat and higher-pension advocate Stanley Knowles lashed out at the Conservative motion.

"It was a farce and it comes from a party that refused to agree to $120 a month for the old-age pensioners, has refused to say where it stands, and we think that this was a vote that was just designed to mislead the old-age pensioners, that it was just fun and games and playing fast and loose."

Since the government did not have pension-increase legislation ready, said Mr. Knowles, an adjournment would simply have meant stopping debate for the day and going through the same farce the next day.

Repercussions of a speech Monday by Prime Minister Trudeau's defence...

Mr. Trudeau had accused unnamed Conservative MPs of making remarks detrimental to national unity.

Finance Minister John Turner referred to the bilingualism and national unity issue Tuesday, but struck a more conciliatory note in declaring "I do not believe that any political party has a monopoly on national unity."

Mr. Reilly, however, was not conciliated.

He accused Prime Minister Trudeau of delivering a "disgraceful, discursive, didactic diatribe" and establishing "a new low in gutter politics."

Discussing the economy, Mr. Turner said unavoidable strikes and crop problems caused an economic slowdown last year, but the economy is recovering.

As an opposition backbencher shouted "fairy tale," Mr. Turner said the rate of price increase has slowed, industrial production has rebounded sharply, labor income and consumer spending are up...and the trade picture has improved dramatically.

Builders Dislike Lever Role

OTTAWA (CP) — The construction industry issued a plea Tuesday that it not be used by government as a lever to control savings in the economy.

In a brief to the Economic Council of Canada, the Canadian Construction Association (CCA) says there is enough instability in the industry as a result of seasonal and other cyclical effects.

It asked that governments make long-range plans covering construction needs and stick to them, cutting down the swings between boom and slump.

The economic council, an independent body which gives advice to the federal government, is conducting a study of instability in the construction industry.

The CCA says 35 per cent of all construction is publicly financed and the federal government is the industry's single largest customer.

Job Insurance Defended

'Mandarins' Are Flayed By Emotional Macksey

OTTAWA (CP) — Former manpower minister Bryce Mackasey tore into critics of the Unemployment Insurance Act Tuesday in an emotional address that had members of all parties cheering him on.

Mr. Mackasey said in debate on the throne speech that one of the reasons he remained in the Commons after resigning from the cabinet following the last election was to see that "reactionary forces in the House do not destroy unemployment insurance legislation."

Alleged abuses of the unemployment insurance plan raised a controversy during the election campaign and were credited with helping turn the tide against the Trudeau government.

Mr. Mackasey produced polls of the people who voted against the government, only five per cent did so because of discontent over unemployment insurance...buses.

"I have looked up the results of polls, not only the Gallup poll but private polls which people were kind enough to place in my disposal after the election," said Mr. Mackasey.

"I find that 21 per cent of the people who voted against the government voted because of unemployment, that 13 per cent voted because of inflation, and six per cent because they thought old-age pensions needed improvement," he said.

"Only five per cent of the electors voted against the government because we increased unemployment insurance."

The figures indicate, Mr. Mackasey said, "that the government shouldn't react so readily to the reactionary forces in this country."

Mr. Mackasey's first targets were the government "mandarins" whom he accused of using the unemployment insurance controversy as a screen to divert attention from unemployment figures.

He said there are several economic forecasters in the finance department whom Finance Minister John Turner might be better off without.

They used issues such as unemployment insurance as excuses for their own failures, Mr. Mackasey said, adding that had they been in his department they would have been gone "15 minutes after I took over."

Politicians who jumped on the reactionary "bandwagon" also were criticized.

"They went from being humanitarian to reactionary" because they felt that's where the votes were, Mr. Mackasey said.

To end the act would be to opt for the bread lines of the 1930s, Mr. Mackasey said. Then the country would have "maximum incentive."

Freed Ally of Gestapo Roaming Paris in Fear

PARIS (Reuter) — Paul Touvier may be walking the streets of Paris in mortal fear of tattooed avengers.

Now in his late 50s, he once headed absolute power over the lives of many of his countrymen as a regional leader of Milice Francais—a sinister collaborationist group which aided Germans in tracking down resistance fighters in the Second World War.

The men who hunt him hear the Nazi ordered tattoo on their arms designating them to the concentration camps.

A year ago Touvier was pardoned by President Georges Pompidou. He twice had been sentenced to death in absentia for treason in 1945 and 1947.

The late President de Gaulle once rejected his plea for pardon. De Gaulle at that time was reported to have written across the top of the file—"doune balles dan la peau" (12 bullets in the body).

Touvier now is a target for vengeance-seeking survivors of the Milice torture chambers.

Men of the French resistance had believed Touvier had been dead for more than a quarter-century.

With the announcement of his pardon came the disclosure that he eluded the firing squad with the aid of a high Roman Catholic Church dignitary who eventually obtained a pardon for him. The disclosure raised a storm of protest.

The chirchman, Mgsr. Charles Duquoire, has since said that he acted out of the same charitable motives which led the church to help resistance men during the war.

Some war veterans and other groups claim Mgsr. Duquoire protected Touvier because he could present evidence of collaboration between the church figures and the German authorities.

No Reply Likely

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Tuesday the Commons resolution disqualifying U.S. bombing of North Vietnam was handed last Friday to U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers by Paul Martin, government leader in the Senate.

He said the state department has not replied to the motion passed by all parties in the House last Friday. A spokesman for the department said no response is expected.

Montreal Policeman Held In Murder by Masked Man

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal police constable with 32 years' service is being held on a coroner's warrant in connection with the shooting death last May of 43-year-old Andre Lacasse.

Constable Gerard Cormier, 59, is to testify Friday at a coroner's inquest into the death.

Mr. Lacasse was sitting in the kitchen of his home with his wife and son shortly after midnight May 13 when a man wearing a black nylon stocking over his face entered the house, then fled after firing seven times with a .22 calibre pistol, police said.

At the time of the attack the victim was recovering from an earlier shooting. On Jan. 27, 1972, while shopping with his wife, he was shot six times.

3 Job Applications Planned Each Week

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Union leader Ala Taylor said Tuesday night the federal government will introduce legislation soon that will provide for new government action on Unemployment Insurance Commission applicants.

Mr. Taylor, president of Local 222 of the United Auto Workers Union, said he had just returned from Ottawa, where he had been assured the local UIC offices would not enforce this "ridiculous legislation."

However, local officials had obviously not been informed, he told the annual meeting of the Oshawa and District Labor Council.

Bill Rutherford, a local representative, presented an emergency resolution calling on the Ontario Federation of Labor and the Canadian Labor Congress to investigate the legislation which he said would make it mandatory for the unemployed to make three job applications a week.

He said if the applications were not made, the claimant's benefits would be cut off. The resolution was approved.

Mr. Rutherford said most local industries now are hiring through Canada Manpower offices and do not even accept job applications at their own offices.

Euromart Trade Picture Dark But Cheese May Be Exception

TORONTO (RP) — The chairman of the Milk Marketing Board of England and Wales painted a gloomy picture Tuesday for those countries outside the European Common Market who wish to continue agricultural trade with Britain.

"For certain of our traditional partners, particularly Commonwealth, suppliers, the outlook for continued trade with the United Kingdom even this year looked distinctly gloomy" Sir Richard Trehane told the annual meeting of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

The significance for Canada is that $5 per cent of the country's cheese exports—almost 13,000 tons—goes to the U.K.

However, Sir Richard said, in commodities such as cheese where customer loyalty may os strong or produce differentiation marked, "then continued trade is still a possibility."

He indicated there was still hope for Canadian cheese exports to Britain, even though the U.K. joined the Market Jan. 1, because in the original six nations who joined the Market, cheese imports from third countries are still significant and this offers certain encouragement for Canadian suppliers.

Agency Helps Handicapped

Thanks to the Ontario ministry of community and social services, mentally, physically and mentally disabled persons in the Belleville area are getting the necessary training through which they can become self supporting.

Known as the Vocational Rehabilitation Services, the program in the Quinte area is operated from its Eastern branch with local service being provided Tuesday and Thursday each week from an office at 14 Bridge Street West. The telephone number is 968-3861.

Although, understandably, there was some hesitation about calling specific, cases, area rehabilitation counsellor Allan Hughes assures that many people in the immediate Belleville area have benefited since the program began operation in the middle 1960s.

The program provides for a comprehensive range of vocational rehabilitation services to assist disabled persons to acquire substantially gainful employment.

Referrals come from the medical profession, from established organizations as well as from the general public.

The service may be provided to any person of working age who has a physical or mental disability which affects his employability.

Eligibility does not depend on the nature of the disability and services are available to those with unseen handicaps as well as those with visible disabilities. Neither does eligibility depend on the cause of the disability, which may have been present from birth or be the result of a later sickness or ac. dent.

The rehabilitation service cannot be offered however, to those who are eligible for similar service from the Department of Veterans' Affairs or Workmen's Compensation Board.

Other services include medical, social and vocational assessment to determine the nature and degree of disability, personal interests and aptitudes, and training and work capacities, as well as counselling and guidance to assist in the selection of realistic occupational goals.

The branch also provides operating and capital subsidies to non-profit sheltered workshops employing or assisting handicapped persons.

Rotary Guest From Nigeria

A guest of Belleville Rotary Club Monday was Lewis Judges, a Madac resident who is teaching at a governmental technical training school in Nigeria under the Canadian technical aid program overseas.

A former Tyrwhitt, Mr. Judges was posted to Jos, in plateau country in the far northern region of Nigeria short ly after moving to Madac two years ago. He was one of 12 Canadian families posted to Nigeria at the same time to pass on their knowledge and skills in various spheres.

A member of the recently established Rotary Club of Jos, the community in the Benue Plateau state in which he is located, Mr. Judges said his club lends aid to local and former mission schools in the area, as well as acting as blood donors.

Mr. Judges was presented with a club banner by President Robert Orr to take back to his club in West Africa. He and Mrs. Judges, who have been home in Canada on leave, return to Nigeria shortly.

OMB Hearing Feb. 14 On Seniors' Housing

TRENTON — Increasing demands for senior citizens' housing and recreation facilities in the area prompted Councillor George Greer to inquire as to the status of two new proposed developments in Trenton.

Town deputy clerk Arden Royce, at Monday's council meeting, reported that an Ontario Municipal Board public hearing has been called for Feb. 14 to discuss construction of a proposed senior citizens' centre on Bay Street near Centennial Park. The community - centered building has been sought after lately. Last fall, approximately $8,000 was raised in pledges for participants in a walkathon, raising funds for the centre.

A firm location for the hearing has not yet been established.

Objection to a proposed 36-unit building on Wragg Street, filed by a man who died before a hearing could be held, was withdrawn early in November, 1972, by representatives of his estate.

Also, the CN railway had requested crossing signals be erected on nearby tracks, an estimation of ice were to commence.

Committee members approved the September date on the understanding that the ice-making machine would be turned on immediately after the circus performance.

Circuses Coming

At any rate, two circuses — Garden Bros. and Canadian Circus, Inc. have expressed a desire to show in Belleville in 1973 and have booked dates for rental of the Memorial Arena.

Garden Brothers will play in the city in May, while Canadian Circus Inc. will show in the local arena on Sat., Sept. 1.

The Sept. 1 date was questioned by several members of the city recreation-arena committee at the inaugural meeting yesterday, it being noted that this was the date when preparations for installation of ice were to commence.

The committee members approved the September date on the understanding that the ice-making machine would be turned on immediately after the circus performance.

Residents Request OMB Intervention

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Ontario Municipal Board intervention is to be sought against Belleville's newest major apartment - building development.

Request for senior government action comes as organized protest develops around the project — a 79-unit complex scheduled to rise on the site of St. Agnes Manor.

The site, on Bridge East and Ann Streets, is at the core of what, historically, has been the city's prime East Hill residential sector.

Mounting the protest is a citizens' group — Keep Belleville Beautiful. The organization also is circulating a petition seeking support for aims which include a temporary freeze on city highrise development until its effects are curbed.

Dr. David Lintern — spokesman for the group hurriedly formed when the St. Agnes project was publicized last week — says a telegram has been sent the OMB requesting a hearing on the issue.

A newspaper advertisement bearing the petition — for publication in Thursday's Intelligencer — cites these objectives:

(1) Direct approach to the OMB to seek "an immediate freeze on the building of further highrise . . . until its effects on the citizens can be studied. There are a number of precedents for a temporary halt of this nature."

(2) Request to city council for a "review in depth" of all recent building permits issued for proposed highrises.

(3) Speedier completion of Belleville's official plan.

Apartment tenants in the manor — a structure dating to 1800 and once a girls' school — recently received notice from the owner, Robin Enterprises Ltd., first move toward demolition and redevelopment.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey stated this week developers were making a sincere effort to site the blue amid greenscape and screening trees. She said they are willing to discuss plans with residents representatives.

The protest bid for senior government attention in the issue, indicated Dr. Lintern, is dictated by two key factors:

— Demolition of St. Agnes is due to start in about three weeks — and development should begin shortly after.

— A building permit already has been issued for the project and city council is powerless to withdraw it.

Present zoning allows such development in the area. The current protest echoes a similar controversy activated less than two years ago by a highrise development — Parkwood, since completed — further east on Bridge, opposite East Hill Park playgrounds.

Fundamental to the new issue is concern that the St. Agnes project would adversely affect the traditional residential character of the neighborhood. A modern highrise would be in dominant contrast to the surrounding urban setting, which includes Corby Park rose garden.

Dr. Lintern, who took up practice in Belleville in mid-1972 and whose home faces St. Agnes, says the group does not oppose modern development there. But it wants projects that would blend more easily with the neighborhood's character — an end that might be achieved by height restrictions, he suggests.

"We're not against something new going there and we're not for preserving St. Agnes Manor. But we feel it shouldn't be a highrise.

"We just feel it's a beautiful part of old Belleville and a lot of the houses are beautifully kept — and the owners pay some of the highest (residential) taxes in Belleville," said Dr. Lintern.

"We also feel if this particular building goes up this is the end of the line for old Bridge St.," he added. "It will so alter the character of the area we feel if we lose this battle we will lose the war."

The Keep Belleville Beautiful group would like zoning changes so that new developments along the older Bridge East urban line might be limited to three or four storeys, about the height of the street's one line, he said.

The issue already has been discussed with Mayor Robin Jeffrey.

"I think the mayor is trying to do what she can. But it doesn't seem within her power or that of council to drastically modify this building because they have already granted the building permit."

He notes that issuance of permits that comply with zoning regulations do not involve council.

The "We think the council should be informed by the building inspector when a commercial building is proposed," says Dr. Lintern.

Dr. Lintern says the group could also "be glad" to meet with the developers.

But it's felt "any-modifications they are likely to make are minor and will not alter the fact this is going to be a highrise."

He said the Keep Belleville Beautiful petition already had been signed by about 300.

"We feel we have a number of councillors sympathetic to what we're trying to do because that was their election platform," he said.

Pleasure Palace Future For Napanee Post Office?

NAPANEE — Old part of Shire, abandoned by the federal government a few years ago when new structures were built, have become civic white elephants.

After several contentious years, the fate of Napanee's old post office site has been resolved with construction now under way on a commercial office and parking garage.

Latest proposed use for the staid old turreted building is a dance hall and gaming arcade if local tastes in entertainment dictate, says Mr. Pannell. The owner at the ground floor is rented to a catering business for storage. Mr. Pannell has announced the second floor is unable to be developed and has been vacated, since new complaints and two-storey grill is constructed when a building permit is issued.

Mr. Capps bought the building from Crown Assets Disposal Corp. in 1969 for $12,500, after the town council failed to up his bid. Since then Capps has shown no interest in developing it. Mr. Capps also bought the old Gananoque post office and tried unsuccessfully to get both buildings to profitable use. Attempts to turn the Napanee building into a youth hostel, a hotel, a newspaper office and a museum all failed. The Gananoque building has since been razed for a new bank site.

Town officials say Mr. Capps has not paid taxes (about $1,300 annually) on the building for the past three years. The town could claim the building for tax default but so far has taken no action.

Petition Opposes Sewerage System

WELLINGTON — A petition opposing installation of sewerage facilities in Picton was circulated in Wellington and will be presented at an Ontario Municipal Board hearing in the town hall on January 24 at 11 a.m.

Two canvassers for signatures, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Pollard of Narrow Street, Wellington, properly agreed protests against the sewerage system, prepared by village council are based on "cost and hardship." The estimated installation cost of the sewerage facilities is $1,153,369. Fifty per cent of the expenditure would be paid through a government subsidy while the balance must be met by village ratepayers over a 20 year period. Interest would be charged on their share.

It has been estimated the new waste treatment system would cost ratepayers approximately $127 annually. Each resident must pay the cost of a hookup from his house to the street. Mr. Pollard, a retired engineer who settled in Wellington a year ago, predicted this expenditure could be high if a home owner has built on rocky ground.

The Pollards, who have visited a summer home in Prince Edward County since 1948, said the petition is "quite sizable" and carries a wide cross-section of names. Many senior citizens have lent support to the protest because of the cost of the proposed sewerage facilities.

Mrs. Pollard observed a number of village residents complain of water in their basements, a problem that grew worse when a water line was installed in Wellington and blasting performed. Blasting again would increase this inconvenience if a sewage system were installed.

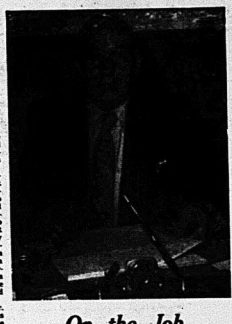
She said homeowners have been advised by council that they will not be permitted to drain the water in their basements into the new sewage system since the cost of service will be based directly to volume processed.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard explained the petition is not "wealthy area" and is traditionally a retirement area. Residents are not generally prepared to pay the cost of the proposed sewers.

The Pollards said most Wellington businessmen feel the new sewage system will prompt growth but the people disagree with this theory. One Wellington retailer questioned yesterday said, however, that she and her husband strongly oppose the project on a cost basis.

The OMB hearing at the town hall this month is open to the public and many Wellington homeowners are expected to attend.

Wellington reeve Robert Hoyes was unavailable for comment on the proposed sewerage system yesterday. Immediate past reeve Douglas Marvin supported the project during his term in office and cited it as a key to growth.



On the Job

Picton's clerk-treasurer, Andrew Jarvis is still at his desk today, despite his recent announcement of his resignation to a startled council and spectators at Monday night's inaugural session of town council. Mr. Jarvis, who stalked out of the meeting after Mayor-Elect J.J. McFarland tore up a motion to adopt the minutes of the last council meeting of 1972, has not yet submitted a written resignation.

Picton Town Clerk Remains at Post

PICTON — Picton clerk-treasurer Andrew Jarvis, who resigned at the inaugural meeting of town council Monday night, yesterday said he has not submitted a written resignation.

The clerk, who is a former councillor, was hired in 1967 when Harvey J. McFarland was mayor of Picton. He resigned because he considered the mayor was ignoring procedure and was out of order during the early stages of the council session.

Mayor McFarland had refused to sign the December minutes of the 1972 council because he wished to revise them for a month. When he suggested a motion to this effect, the clerk reminded him a prior motion to adopt the minutes was on the floor. In reply, Mayor McFarland moved this motion in two. At this point Mr. Jarvis resigned and left the meeting.

The clerk said yesterday that he understood the mayor has empowered the finance and personnel committee to hire his replacement. It is anticipated that a special caucus meeting of council will be held at the Picton fire hall soon to deal with urgent business.

Councillors Sworn In

The new Tyendinaga Township council members were sworn into office Monday at their inaugural meeting at the township hall. Invocation for the inaugural session was by Rev. J. Ferguson with the oath of office being taken by Clerk William J. Walsh.

The new township reeve is Leonard Walsh, succeeding last year's reeve Carman Gibson, who retired from municipal life. Deputy reeve is George Rutherford with council members being Charles Long, Kenneth Juby and newcomer Raymond Ketcheson.

Appointment of council committees was deferred until the next meeting but former reeve Leslie McFarland was appointed township representative on the Moira River Conservation Authority, while last year's Reeve Gibson was named to the Napanee Region Conservation Authority.

Sewage Lagoons Approved Over Residents' Protests

Ontario's ministry of the environment has approved five - million - gallon capacity sewage lagoons near the headwaters of the Moscadaqui watershed eight miles south of Desoligh.

A Toronto firm, Nucleurs Ltd. had requested the approval to construct the lagoons that will receive raw sewage from a 150-unit development at Hastings and Lennox and Addington Counties.

The environment ministry approved the Nucleurs proposal provided certain changes are submitted and adequate provision is made to protect the watershed's lagoon as nearby water courses. It also said its district staff would monitor the site closely.

The five lagoons, each with a capacity of a million gallons, are located 400 feet from Kilmeeker Creek, starting point of the vast Moscadaqui River and Lake system. Echo Provincial Park is located on the watershed.

The Moscadaqui Lake Property Owners' Association has opposed the project, fearing the dumping of industrial wastes as well as sewage would pollute lands.

John Lester, spokesman for the association's executive, said the blanket approval of the project by the ministry allowed the company to dump industrial waste if it could do the trial waste if it could do the trial without the environment department asking for limits on the company's dumping action.

At a public hearing in November, Nucleurs spokesman said the holding lagoons would be lined to prevent seepage leaching and no industrial chemicals would be discharged. After a three-year period, the stabilized sewage would be sprayed on deposit sites and plowed into the ground.

Picton Filly Safe In English Home

PICTON — June's Bouquet, a five - and - one - half - month - old Palomino American Saddlebred filly has become Prince Edward's first equine ambassador to England.

The foal, bred by Culmer Stables, Picton was purchased by C. R. Norris, a former Vancouver Island resident who has flown June to her new home in Cainscross, Stroud, Gloucestershire. She was shipped at a cost of approximately $1,000 and will become one of Her Palomino saddlebred horses in the English countryside.

An equine Cinderella, June was sired by the champion Palomino saddlebred Bouquet's Bourbon Bob and is out of the Culmers' broodmare, Rita's Choice.

The filly is the first foal raised by the Culmers to be sired by their champion stud, Bouquet's Bourbon Bob was purchased from the famed Goldenoaks Stables of Trumbull, Kitkieon in Minnesota and imported to Canada.

An offspring of superior parents, June has displayed talent to follow in their best prints at an early age. Shown at the Royal Winter Fair this year she captured the title of Palomino foal of 1972.

By winning this division, the foal became eligible for competition against champions of two-year-old mares vying for the junior championship. June was taken by nomination by her competitors, captured the junior Palomino mare championship and another red ribbon.

Her sire, Bouquet's Bourbon Bob, not to be outdone by his tiny daughter, was judged first in the senior stallion class for Palominos and also the Palomino stallion grand championship. For the second year, Culmer Stables accepted a silver tray presented to the first place winner.

He has written to Mr. and Mrs. Culmer this month saying that he is very proud of the foal who will be used for breeding purposes at maturity. She is possibly the first horse to travel to England from the Quinte area.

Mr. and Mrs. Culmer also have their prize winning Palomino parade gelding, The Parading Major, to an Ottawa district horseman. Mr. Culmer will continue in competition with his parade horse Tavia Star and Bouquet's Bourbon Bob, his Palomino champion. The winning horseman is president of the Prince Edward Agricultural Society and has been keenly interested in 4-H's and horse shows for a number of years.

Mayor's Address

Belleville's pew Mayor, Robin Jeffrey, has a straightforward, no-nonsense quality that augurs well for her term of office and for the community.

In a characteristically businesslike address to the Rotary Club the other day she outlined the more pressing issues confronting Council and citizens. In the course of it she stressed the fact she would be a full-time Mayor and mentioned her desire for closer ties between City Hall and the community. To this end she will be writing a monthly column in this newspaper, but she lamented that even on a 9 to 5 basis there still was not sufficient time to complete the day's work. Alas, that is the way of the world for many a working man and woman, and more especially for those in public office. If it is any consolation to Mrs. Jeffrey, Mayor Claudette Millar of the new city of Cambridge (formerly Galt, Preston and Hespeler) expressed similar sentiments recently. But then, Mrs. Jeffrey has already had five years on Council; she knows the pressures and responsibilities and while she acknowledged the campaign had been an "exhausting experience," as well as stimulating and exciting, she said that, even knowing what it was like, she nevertheless would do it again.

Capable person that she is, Mrs. Jeffrey in her address acknowledged "we are all well aware that we are human beings, who do not attribute all knowledge or all wisdom to ourselves," and she went on to ask for the support and advice of her service club audience and of the community at large.

Earlier, Mayor Jeffrey thanked city clerk Adam Stalker for his introduction and for "the help and guidance he has given me as an Alderman." There was much to learn when first elected to Council and Mayor Jeffrey said she remembered clearly during her first years on Council turning to him often for assistance and explanations.

As an example of the firm hand we may expect from Mayor Jeffrey, she told of her meeting with the principals in the planned high-rise development on the St. Agnes Manor site and of the assurances she had received from them regarding the aesthetic and structural aspects of this proposed building.

Looking ahead, Mayor Jeffrey mentioned that in 1978 Belleville celebrates its 100th anniversary as an incorporated city. We agree with her that the community should be giving some thought to this event even now.

Mayor Jeffrey is off to a good start. She heads a Council which is a blend of experienced and new members. We have high hopes that, together, they will provide this community with continued good government.

Story Without End

Maybe there is some dark conspiracy behind the New Orleans shootings. Is what we have been witnessing a further flaring of the muscles of the urban guerilla movement believed to be rooted extensively in the American fabric today but of which we have had only occasional manifestations thus far? If this is so, the worst could yet to come and it is not a comforting thought.

As to the actual events of the last few days, following as they did on the recent high-rise office block fire in New Orleans, in which several people died in horrifying falls from upper floors, it was all so typical of a frustrated society. Police, courageous and enterprising as they are, have added to the violent image of the United States domestic scene with their numerous shootings, some real and their fire power. When 40 odd cops poured onto the roof of the hotel, in pursuit of one or more snipers, and all began firing at once a couple of them (and we had been thinking it was bound to happen) were hit by their companions' ricochetting bullets. It now appears there was only one sniper and he was shot down from a helicopter.

But in the ultimate, who knows how best to deal with such critical, such truly appalling and difficult situations. First there was the blaze, then the gunfire. Something had to be done to get the killer arsonists and the police did their utmost, in the best American tradition — and at considerable cost in lives and injuries. Unhappily though, it is just one more in the succession of major tragedies that have plagued U.S. cities in recent years from political assassinations through the University of Texas campus shootings, Kent State, the Sharon Tate murders and goodness knows how many thousands of individual homicides to this latest spectacle in the deep south. It is a chronicle of violence seemingly without end, and one from which we must learn if we are to ensure that nothing of the kind erupts here

Fiji's Experience

Tourism A Mixed Blessing for Developing Countries

By JOHN HARRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Can tourism wreck a country? Many value judgments have been made, since the boom in tourism developed in the 1970s, that it can.

When hordes of affluent, and all-too-often insensitive foreigners overrun a more conservative, less-developed country during so-called "high seasons," their effect can be negative, even disastrous.

Take Fiji, once an idyllic, largely empty, (in terms of tourist beds and tourists), island—domain in the south Pacific, now an independent country concerned with economic development.

Today the Fiji Islands are advertised as a relief from Hawaii and its crowded luxury hotels with booked with package tours. Fiji along with Samoa, Tonga and the Cook Islands and New Hebrides are all scrambling for the affluent tourists who will fly the extra 1,500 miles across the Pacific for the new island paradise of their dreams.

Charles Stinson, Fiji's finance minister, admits to deep worries that tourism and the resultless rush of high-rise hotels in his country will ruin the islands of his birth.

But Fijians now caught in the same rush for the good things of life, will only get many of them if their small country has something to sell from which a tax base can be created. What else other than tourism?

Fiji's prime minister says the explosion of tourism in his country is "an experiment" and has called a moratorium until 1975 on further tourist developments.

Two of the many developers (among them Joan Carlos, heir to the Spanish throne), include Peter Monk and David Gilmour of former Canadian and Clairtone Sound fame.

Their London-based Pacific Hotels and Development Ltd. is already seeking public financing for Pacific Harbor Development, a 7,500 acre outlay with a man-made lake, golf courses and even single family homes in the Fiji Islands. And they are presently negotiating for 25,000 more acres.

This kind of activity clearly takes a lot of money from outside of life and can shatter the indigenous nature of a country. Take Spain at high summer. In July and August there are more tourists, either resident or passing through Spain, than there are resident Spaniards!

Stretches of Spanish beach are now hemmed in by hastily-built hotels, and sleezy condominiums, the latter offered for sale to foreigners under Spanish laws which have been "liberalized" to bring in investment funds.

If you like gals in bikinis—and who doesn't—the effect of so many of them on Spanish public beaches, where women could formerly be found lie appearing in shorts, has to be positive. Ernest Hemingway's famous battle against ultra-conservative, namely the conservative Catholic bishops and church prelates around General Franco.

Now gallant, young Spaniards can see how pretty their own women are in bikinis, without having to follow a Swedish blonde Lolita-like girl friend back to Scandinavia!

Mediterranean countries both Catholic and Islamic once have seen some of the most conservative societies of this country overwhelmed by Northern Americans and European tourist.

Still, there is nothing so appalling abroad as rude and nudity visitors in another country. Anglo-Saxon campers, exuberant American or Canadians complaining about the local food.

For that matter nothing so maddening as the French taxi driver, Moroccan tourist guide or Mexican street peddler trying to con the unwary, confused and all-too-often, well-meaning tourists. Ah well, tourism had as well as good is left to stay.

City Firm Purchased By United States Interests

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

So Wilson Concrete has been purchased by Stanley Works of Connecticut!

A firm started up over 20 years ago by two local entrepreneurs and built up into one of our major industries will now be controlled by men in the United States. The profits from this enterprise will now go south of the border. Decisions such as where to purchase supplies, what products to produce, what men to promote (or fire) and whether to close or cut back operations will be made ultimately by people who know little or nothing of this community, and interests are not in Belleville, nor even in Canada, but in the United States.

Unfortunately, the story of Wilson Concrete Products is being repeated all across Canada and at an accelerating rate. The 1969 Calura Report shows 57.4 percent of Canadian manufacturing either owned or controlled by foreign interests.

This lamentable situation has been allowed to happen, primarily I think, because Canadians were led to believe that we needed large amounts of foreign capital and therefore that foreign ownership was inevitable. The Gallup Poll also showed a clear majority against a further increase in foreign ownership.

Happily the recent Speech from the Throne promises stronger measures, although it will be too late to prevent the takeover of Wilson's. It is also worth noting that our MP Jack Ellis is concerned about foreign ownership and in particular about the Wilson takeover.

These and other developments lend hope to those of us who look forward to the day when Canada drags herself out of the mire of economic colonialism.

Flying Mishaps

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Today, when we are able to send men to the moon and back safely as a matter of routine, is, perhaps, the time to turn our attention to the matter of flight safety among the civil airlines. The mounting incidence of air tragedies emphasizes the need for serious research in this area. As it is when the engines of a modern jet stop, that's it. It usually means a long ride down to death and destruction.

Aircraft weighing hundreds of tons and laden with a precious cargo of humans daily climb into the passing air only to drop from take-off to landing, over highly-populated areas. The frightening thing about it all is an engine failure almost certainly means a crash.

Of course, a plane can, and often does make a safe journey using only one or more of its engines, nevertheless, in a case of all engines failing there is built in safety devices to land the machine. Up to 300 passengers are trapped in a flying coffin. There is no individual means of saving their lives. Ejection seats and the obvious impracticality preclude the use of parachutes.

It amazes me that we can fire rockets and probes into the moon and, by using parachutes, slow the descent into the ocean of water spacecraft from more than a bump. Yet, with all our technological know-how we still have not devised a means to bring a crippled aircraft down safely.

Here, with firmly on terra firma we are subject to all sorts of stringent regulations regarding the operation of many safety procedures even to having our seat next to the bottom of a ladder while another climbs up maybe 15 feet. We send aircraft up to five miles in the air packed with people and have no means whatever of saving their lives in an emergency. It is little relief, I think, to feel, in this day and age, totally unnecessary.

Instead of designing bigger and faster machines to carry bigger loads at high speeds, it is time we turned our energy into discovering a method of passenger preservation.

Water Resources Rema in A Political Football

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

An opening move has been made in what could turn out to be one of Canada's and Ontario's prime battles of the century.

It was noted here a while ago, the water levels in the Great Lakes are going into a high cycle and there is concern that there may be serious damage to shorelines this year.

Because of this, some 30 U.S. congressmen have petitioned President Nixon.

They want the president to negotiate that Canada hold back some of the water which it now diverts from the Arctic system into the Great Lakes system.

This diversion which takes place in northwestern Ontario is principally for the benefit of Ontario Hydro.

The diversion has always been somewhat controversial, and the request could get this heated up again.

However, even more significant could be a second request.

This is that the Chicago diversion should again be considered.

The Chicago proposal is a really hot issue.

It would divert water from Lake Michigan at Chicago, take it through the city in a drainage canal and then feed it into the Mississippi system.

The amount of water that has been suggested to be diverted would lower the level of the lake by some eight inches.

The proposal was first made a good many years ago but was firmly, and successfully, resisted by Canada.

Now, however, if it is to be revived it could bring the whole matter of water rights to a showdown.

The U.S. has a thirst for our water, and it is a thirst which has been growing and will certainly continue to grow.

With the Chicago proposal it has room for a strong argument. For though the Great Lakes system originates in Canada much of it lies in U.S. territory.

The U.S. can claim this gives it equal rights.

Rationally the argument perhaps is not strong. But emotionally it could have a lot of appeal.

And with the Chicago proposal affecting a good portion of the U.S. through the Mississippi system, it is not hard to foresee it developing into a major cause south of the border and with this great, and perhaps nasty, pressure on Canada.

Honors For Canadian Publisher

Kingston Whig-Standard

The former editor of the Peterborough Examiner, Robert Davies, made a name for himself as an outspoken and scholarly Canadian newspaper editor. That was some years ago. Since then he has been Master of Massey College, University of Toronto. His newspaper career was a natural outlet for his particular combination of talents because he is a member of a newspaper family. He is still Vice-President and a director of The Kingston Whig-Standard, whose President, Arthur S. Davies, is his brother.

During his years as editor and scholar Dr. Davies has written much. Along with a great body of shorter prose and several plays, he has five novels to his credit, including Fifth Business and The Manticore, the latter released just recently, the former much acclaimed about a year ago. Along with all this, he now finds himself a Companion of the Order of Canada, which is the premier official Canadian civil decoration.

It is pleasant and reassuring to find that those who have shown themselves to be eminently independent of mind and spirit are considered worthy of receiving this national award. Robertson Davies has never compromised either with intellectual excellence or with straight talk. He did a great deal for the tone and status of Canadian journalism and has proved to be a force for similar forthrightness in the academic world. We join his fellow citizens in complimenting him on this honour and elevation to a fully deserved honour.

The American freighter Flying Enterprise sinks off the coast of England 21 years ago today—in 1952—at 4:10 p.m., minutes after the heroic captain, Kurt Carlsen, jumped into the sea and was rescued by the tug Turmoil which was trying to tow the ship to safety. Carlsen had refused until the last to abandon the ship, remaining aboard for 16 days after it was first battered by a hurricane.

In 1971 a DC-9 CAF CF-100 jet fighter set a Winnipeg-to-Ottawa speed record of just under two hours at an average speed of 530 m.p.h.

Re - affirming a statement made previously that the provincial and federal governments should assume a greater share of municipal costs, Mayor A.M. Haig said that municipalities faced bankruptcy unless they were relieved of a big portion of costs for education, welfare and hospitalization. The mayor was speaking at a luncheon sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Belleville and attended by members of city council, city hall officials and heads of the police and fire departments.

Plans have been completed for the women's physical program at the "Y" starting Wednesday evening. A full class is anticipated in which the ladies will be given a 15 to 20 minutes of "keep fit" exercises followed by volleyball, other games and basketball till 8.00. There will be swimming instruction from 8.00 to 8.30.

Past president Mackenzie Robertson welcomed the guests and Rotary appreciation for the address was conveyed by ex-Mayor Morley Duff. Ald. CP News Roundup

Odometer Rollback Defended

TORONTO (CP) — Mileage on automobiles used by Cross Canada Car Leasing Ltd. was turned back prior to their sale to the public in June, 1971, as a "necessary business practice," the Ontario Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal was told Tuesday.

The tribunal is hearing an appeal by Cross Canada official David Allan Robertson and Camp Cars Ltd., a Toronto firm that sells Cross Canada cars, of the revocation of their provincial motor vehicle dealer registration.

Protests Bar

TORONTO (CP) — The chairman of a multinational Canadian-advertising agency based in New York told an Ontario legislature committee Tuesday his firm feels like a second-class citizen operating in Canada.

Andrew Kershaw of Ogilvy and Mather (Canada) Ltd., Toronto, said he regards his firm as an exemplary corporate citizen in terms of its volunteer work, charitable contributions and support for the Canadian arts.

That was why he found it a "shock" that both the federal and provincial governments bar his and other non-Canadian-owned firms from competing for public advertising accounts.

Land A Mess

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — Bertram Foth, a farmer at nearby Pelham, said Tuesday that part of his land still is "a stinking mess" as a result of a train wreck June 4 that released 1,000 tons of sulphuric acid from tank cars.

Budget Cut

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — The University of Waterloo must cut $1.65 million from its 1973-74 budget, Ronald Callaby, vice-president of finance, told the senate finance committee Tuesday.

Trip Planned

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — Member of the Kirkland Snowmobile Club are planning an 800-mile round trip to Kirkland Lake this winter, Ed Smith, Kirkland Lake alderman whose brother-in-law is a club member, said 15 snowmobiles are to leave Kingston Feb. 17.

Pleads Guilty

MONTREAL (CP) — Giles Eccles, 36, pleaded guilty to manslaughter Tuesday in connection with the Sept. 1 fire at the downtown Blue Bird Club which claimed 37 lives.

Mr. Justice Peter Shortenо set Jan. 19 for representations on sentence.

Appeal Lost

TORONTO (CP) — The Federal Court of Appeal dismissed an appeal Tuesday by Karleton Lewis Armstrong, ordered last June deported to Wisconsin to face a charge of first degree murder and three charges of arson.

Occupy Office

TORONTO (CP) — About 30 students, protesting attempts to force them to pay their $200 winter tuition fees, began an indefinite occupation Tuesday of the registrar's office at York University's Glendon campus.

FLORA MacDONALD

Scores First

OTTAWA (CP) — Flora MacDonald, in Parliament for only a week, apparently achieved a first Tuesday.

According to Judy LaMarsh, a bit of an authority on female MPs, Miss MacDonald became the first to wear a pant-suit in the Commons.

Dozen Deer Equipped With Radio

FREDERICTON (CP) — Twelve deer have been outfitted with radios and their wanderings and life habits in the Upsalquitch area of New Brunswick this winter may give scientists clues to deer survival in a lumber-oriented province.

Dr. Arnold Boer, of the resources department's wildlife branch, says the four- to five-year study will try to determine which forest-cutting practices will be of most benefit to the deer, while still remaining economically and technically feasible.

Dr. Boer described the project as "very comprehensive" and encompassing other studies on the winter and home range habits of the white-tailed deer.

Forestry is important to deer survival but forestry practices must be conducive to good game management, the biologist said.

The project began last March 1 when 21 deer were trapped and tagged, and then released in the observation area. However, there were no verified sightings of the animals again and the researchers turned to radio tracking equipment to resolve the most difficult part of the program —keeping tabs on the deer.

The radio tracking will become a major focus of the study. The radio collars, with batteries having life for one year, will enable the project's participants to follow the roving animals and determine the range of their travels as well as the areas preferred for food and shelter.

"We'll be able to follow the deer from the deer yard in the spring and will be able to determine where they go in summer and if they return to the same deer yard in winter."

In a progress report, Dr. Boer noted the influence of deer on regeneration in clear-cut areas, snow depths, deer track depths in open areas, temperature under shelter canopy and bedding sites as sources of data.

By next spring, there should be enough data to allow planning for experimental forest cuts, so the effects on the deer can be monitored.

Liberals Not Enamored With Trudeau's Speech

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau's first speech to the new Parliament Monday appears to be attracting something less than rave off-the-record reviews from his own backbenchers.

Some privately objected to his material—particularly about national unity—and others argued that it should have been said. But few said it was an inspired speech.

Many opposition MPs were enraged by Mr. Trudeau's charge that "there are members in the Conservative ranks who, during the election, tried to divide Canada."

Despite repeated calls for him to "name names," he didn't specifically identify the MPs in question, although at one point he mentioned Allen Lawrence (PC—Northumberland-Durham) in this regard.

"Perhaps he will want to tell us whether during the election campaign he did suggest that this government had mainly regard for the province of Quebec."

Mr. Lawrence, a former Ontario cabinet minister replied: "Is a word, Mr. Speaker. No."

Some Liberal MPs expressed private concern that Mr. Trudeau hammered too heavily at the Conservatives on the national unity issue.

"It looks like the beginning of a dirty election campaign," said one.

Another said that Mr. Trudeau might have pulled it off better if he had been speaking in a tone of angry indignation, appearing unable to repress his emotions. But he delivered his speech in level tones, punctuated with pondered pauses, as he leaned lightly against the desk behind him.

It was obvious that his followers were not sitting on the edge of their chairs.

Some of the MPs felt that if Mr. Trudeau wanted to tackle the Conservatives on divisive issues, he should have become more specific and cited examples, particularly since he earlier offered to do so.

One new Liberal MP said that if Mr. Trudeau's speech turns out to be a one-shot operation, he won't be too upset. "But if this is the trend of things to come, it could be a very uncomfortable Parliament.

"I just hope this is not the start of a campaign theme."

Don Jamieson Stages Show

OTTAWA (CP) — Don Jamieson had the House chuckling Tuesday night as he gave his first Commons speech as minister of regional economic expansion.

The portly former broadcaster devoted only one minute and 30 seconds of a 36-minute speech to his department and the rest to a series of fast-paced jabs at Conservatives who did their best to reply with generally good-natured heckling.

Mr. Jamieson's first target was Allan Lawrence, a former Ontario cabinet minister and MP for Northumberland - Durham, who has been ruled out of order several times during the Commons question period.

Mr. Jamieson said he wishes "that having come from the minor leagues he would spend a little time trying to learn what the batting order is in the House before trying to be the star of the show."

'It's in the Stars' For Belleville Women

Astrology is becoming a household word.

Her interest in the field in 1940s and since then it has been a process of reading, studying maps and an intense intrigue in the unknown.

"It's amazing how things really work out according to the stars." Mrs. Simpson says that everything is influenced by the rays emitted by the bodies of the universe. This can be witnessed in the effect that the moon has on the waters and landmasses of the earth.

The position of the planets in relation to the place and time of your birth has a primary part in making each individual an individual.

Astrology involves more than meets the eye, and requires time and hard work to chart a person's personality.

Sometimes the relations of the planets and stars can be used to explain or predict future trends. One example given is the influence of Neptune in Scorpio. Scorpio rules the reproductive system and this may account for the increased interest in sex, that things are explored more openly.

"It's much like a pendulum, from one extreme to the other."

It's important to realize the forces that surround us, Mrs. Simpson explains and the forces that are within us which are always interacting.

Poetry writing and song lyrics are Mrs. Simpson's other loves. She has had several poems published and constantly fills her notebooks of thoughts and quotes.

Mrs. Simpson, as a follower of one of the world's oldest sciences, maintains that astrology is a personal interest. She has a feeling for the unknown, and her philosophy says that "all things will pass."

Blighted Spuds May Affect Pregnancy

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Medical Association (CMA) has joined in urging women to be careful about eating blighted potatoes during the early stages of pregnancy.

An editorial in a recent issue of the association's Journal said preliminary investigations are "plausible" but added "a great deal more work is needed before the theory can be accepted."

Dr. Jacques Renwick, an expert in human genetics and birth defects from the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, was in Ottawa last November to discuss theories with federal health officials that consumption of blighted potatoes in the early part of a pregnancy could lead to serious birth defects in the child.

He said in an interview at that time that outbreaks of spina bifida, a failure in the formation of the lower spinal column, and anencephaly, failure in formation of bones on the skull, showed definite relationships in geographic incidence of potato blight.

The CMA Journal said studies in Canada showed that the incidence of these birth defects is high in Quebec, "and the blight control there is said to be inadequate."

Other studies around the world have shown a higher number of birth defects in areas where blighted potatoes are grown, the editorial said.

Trip to Hawaii Enjoyed By Women Sales & Ad

Though Tuesday evening, January 9, was a chilly 17 degrees above zero, a ray of warm sunshine and festivities greeted Belleville Women Sales and Ad clubs.

Mrs. Irene Rohf of Rohf's Travel Centre and Neil Carty, marketing and sales representative for Canadian Pacific Airlines, conducted Hawaii, the colorful popular tourist spot to the 125 women present.

"I don't have to sell Hawaii," said Mrs. Rohf. "Everyone wants to travel there."

Neil Christy showed a film during the Hawaiian Travel-ogue presentation. This film illustrated the people, their dress, their entertainment and the individual island's features: Kauai (Orchid Island), Maui (Valley Island) Kauai (Garden Island).

Each member and her guest received an orchid flown from Hawaii Tuesday.

Leaving the meeting, Mrs. Rohf said, when you leave, say "Aloha, goodbye 'til we meet again."

'Little Bo-Peep' Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — For the mother trying to lure her teenage daughter out of blue jeans this spring, manufacturers will offer styles from palazzo pants to halter dresses.

"Forget it; jeans are too expensive and they last a long time," said one recalcitrant teen.

But if your daughter has a hidden fondness for spring fashions are ready to bring it out.

If she's the Little Bo-Peep type, Betsey Johnson for Alley Cat suggests a long, lavender-flowered dress with puffed sleeves and parasol.

For the bicycle rider, Alley Cat offers a short yellow skirt with knit halter top.

The organization woman could slip into a Jonathan Logan white pleated skirt with black and white striped top and bow tie.

If your daughter is already out of blue jeans, in love and thinking of marriage, bridal gown companies are still making plenty of those long, white extravaganzas.

Pictured are bridals showed dresses with all the frosting — appliques, trascery of lustrous lace, sheers, layered cascades of lace, puffed sleeves.

Dangerous Films

BEIRUT (AP) — Youngsters have been packing movie houses to see Hong Kong films showing Kung-Fu, a form of hand-to-hand combat. Several of them tried it out on one another and ended up in hospitals with fractures, police said.

Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CONWELL

Is it foolish to fear a failure?

FOOLISH or not, most people are afraid of failure—and there is little chance in life then out of their fears. Perhaps the difficulty is that fear is focused too much on one single objective. That is, of course, the blow to the person's self-esteem. Those who would try to help such an individual often fail because they don't know how to bolster another's sagging self-respect. Just comforting him might do the trick.

Can a man deny he is in love?

NO, not to himself at least. On occasion, though, a man may find himself attracted to a woman who in nearly all respects seems to be just the one he would like to marry. Yet he might be troubled because he simultaneously wants to declare and deny his love for her. Perhaps there is something about the woman that triggers an unconscious drive to avoid her. It is, of course, best that he resolve his inner conflict before he can profess his love.

Must Pop make his son proud of him?

YES—proud as only a son can be that he has such a loving and responsive father. Of course, if Pop has some other accomplishments that he is proud of, they also can be a source of pride to his son. But the boy wants his father first to be the sort of father a son can take pride in because he is his father. If Dad does something that makes him proud, then a son can rejoice in knowing that his father is happy.

Fashion Designer Presents Snow-White Look for Spring '73

NEW YORK (AP) — The snow-white look is a good set for spring, particularly if your clothes are machine washable.

Otherwise, it's a disaster, especially if you spill what you eat.

Bianco, designer for the Gino Paoli line, went to white for his spring line. Why?

"Because my name means 'white,'" said Bianco, wrapped in his white fishermen's sweater, which he designed for men as well as women.

He offered this wrapped and buttoned sweater in short jacket and longer coats. It tapped white pants and green striped fall colors.

After a series of white dresses and jumpers, he paired white with black for a plaid pump suit, which he said is an important look.

Bianco will continue this luxurious theme for next fall's collection, wifich he sayd is "very expensive looking with fur trimming and plenty of lurex," he offered this wrapped and a shiny fabric.

He has planned new shades of red and green as well as a special apricot beige for his key

Dinnertime Conversations Provide Communication

By DORIS CLARK

"We of the Women's Press must inspire today's mothers and fathers to talk to their children; to learn from their children when their children can no longer learn from them.

"We must persuade the mother to put conversation on the menu at mealtimes. The old habit of 'eat up and shut up' must be buried with the ignorance that encouraged it. There is something else out there beyond the boundary of their own tight little world, which may have gone sour on them.

"Once comments are flying across the table, both parents should keep an open mind. Gone are the days when father was always right and mother agreed just to keep the peace! So from the mothers, who almost always set the standard in the home, I ask for a greater understanding. Love, but not possessive love. We do not want a mother to tail all day washing her sons clothes, only to send him out into the world to fend for himself." — Elizabeth Reprt, Women's Press and Permanent Educator.

Dear Doris: Is the family supposed to send a thank-you note to each one who sent flowers to a funeral Or, not knowing addresses, put an ad in the paper

When people come and shake hands at the house one day, should one phone the next? Should the minister be paid a certain fee Some of them seem very miserable up. (My brothers, to be truthful!)

I'm sure I do not know whether the family is supposed to have meals and lodging for all those who call or not. — Needing You Again.

Dear Needing: Not just your brothers are mixed up. Funerals may be a rare experience for them, and for a heap of others who haven't lived long enough to see contemporaries die off.

Yes, a handwritten note is better than a printed thank-you card. Try to track down all addresses; an ad in the paper is too bold.

What to say Sometimes a "thank you" and a warm handclasp are enough. Friends understand when family members are shaken up for much conversation. No minister gets a fee.

Invite family members, maybe few close friends, back to the house if you can. Friends are highly likely to help with meal and cookies; and to do some of the jobs in the kitchen.

There is a wonderful warmth which comes back to you when you share your grief with those who care along with you.

Dear Doris: I am 29. I have four children, ages two, three, five and eight. I find myself becoming so angry with the children, and I get so decrepit and I could sit down and cry any minute.

My husband and I get into endless arguments. He never wants to go out socially at all, and I feel sometimes I would love to go out for a day or an evening without the children.

We can afford some entertainment. Am I being selfish? — Young Mother.

Dear Mother: Selfish Not at all! Every young mother needs to get away from home and children regularly. You and your husband need to be too.

Encourage him to take you out once a week, even if it's just for a drive. Do things on your own like joining a bridge or bowling club, or taking an evening course.

We all need people and interests outside of our homes.

Chickens Roasted

STANBRIDGE EAST, Que. (CP) — About $6,000 worth of roast chicken was all that was left of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bergeron's chicken shed when it caught fire and more than 4,000 chickens were burned alive. The local fire department arrived too late to save the chickens but averted an explosion by diverting flames from a propane gas

Ann Landers

Look-alike Sister Annoyed She's Called Wrong Name

Dear Ann Landers: I must comment about the girl who signed her letter "Tired Freak" because it reminded me so much of my own life That girl and I understand why name. But what bugs me is that the teachers are constantly calling me by my sister's name no matter how many times I correct them. One teacher was so embarrassed about it that she stopped calling on me altogether. Another teacher is now calling me by my last name because she can't seem to get my first name straight.

I guess what bothers me, deep down, is that my sister makes such a lasting impression on people that they never forget her—and me, well, I'm just a shopping and decided to eat dinner in a little out-of-the-way place we'd never been to before. Seated in a dimly lit corner, I saw the husband of a good friend of mine with a striking young redhead. After I recovered from the shock I went to the phone and called his wife. She told me the girl was their grandchild who had been having some marital problems with her young husband. Then she added in a hostile tone, "I suggest in the future that you mind your own business."

I am crushed. I meant to do the woman a favor. Believe me, Ann, if my husband were playing around I'd appreciate it if a friend would tell me. Did I do such a terrible thing—Please. Well

Dear M.W.: If you're looking for a pat on the head, Lady, you've rattled the wrong cage. Self-appointed vigilantes like you can make a lot of trouble. She gave you good advice. Take it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter. My husband reads your column every single day so I know he'll see it. Some how I can't tell him this to his face. I would rather die than hurt his feelings. It's his teeth. He's a good husband—until he opens his mouth. He needs to see a dentist.

He has so many fine qualities that I just hate to pick on him for any reason, so I keep quiet. But I want him to have a healthy mouth and I also feel it is important that he make a good appearance. Thanks for your help. Ann.—Love The Gap

Dear Woman: If you love the guy, don't wait for him to read this. Call a dentist and make an appointment for your husband. Tell him, but not too far in advance. And by all means, go with him.

Most adults who neglect their teeth are afraid of pain. What they need to know is that dental techniques today are much easier on the patient, less time-consuming, and bear no resemblance to the torture chambers of 30 years ago.

Oil Price Goes Up

It's going to cost home-owners with oil furnaces more money to heat their homes for the balance of the winter.

That, as of today, the price increase for heating oil is still not greened out yet all companies have decided on the same markup.

Shell Oil increased its price for furnace oil on Tuesday by 1.5 cents a gallon, bringing the price to 25 cents.

Texaco announced it went up two cents this morning with their price being 25.5 cents a gallon.

But today Texaco still had received no word of an increase, although this wasn't ruled out for any time later in the week.

Also, Moira-Schaefer Fuels said no word from its suppliers of a price increase.

First indication that a price increase for domestic heating oil was from a Kingston Shell supplier who early this week said the price in his area was up by 1.5 cents a gallon to 25 cents.

And today a story in the Globe and Mail said a sweeping list of price changes affecting customers coast to coast had been announced by Imperial Oil Ltd. (Esso) of Toronto.

The price increases, effective immediately see the wholesale price of gasoline increased by 1 cent a gallon with a 2 cent increase in the price of home heating oils.

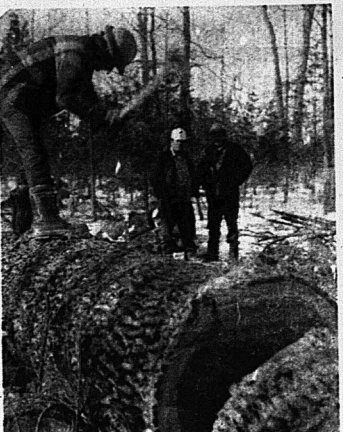
No Injury In Crash

TWEED (Special) — A Stirling - area man escaped injury when his car went out of control and into a ditch yesterday on the Ridge Road two miles east of Highway 2.

The car, driven by Bernard James Michael, RR2, Stirling, sustained $500 damage in the accident that occurred at 3:35 p.m. Jan. 9.

Slices of History

Giant elms have witnessed hundreds of years of Quinte history, but are now falling to whining chain saws as workers topple thousands of the diseased trees. Towering sentinels are thundering down between Belleville and Shannonville.



Elms Topple as Works Started

By HARRY MULHALL

Staff Reporter

Chain saws rasp and trees crackle groundwards.

It's a below zero and the air is as sharp as an axe edge as the work gangs begin another day downing the decayed elms along Highway 62.

In recent weeks, hundreds of de ad trees have been felled on land bordering the freeway corridor west of Shannonville as winter weather progress get under way in the Quinte district again.

The 401 project is a provincial government undertaking.

But municipal schools, funded 100 per cent by the province, are also involved in numbers throughout the Quinte area.

They are aimed at creating jobs to blunt the peak of wintertime unemployment, while producing community results with projects that otherwise might have been deferred for west of local funds.

The projects vary.

Hastings County, for instance has received approval for programs cutting $46,700 that will produce improvements in county forestland in Monteagle township; brushing and cutting of growth along county roads and a parklet at its Centennial Manor for the elderly in Bancroft, along with various paintup and repair programs.

The projects also ease pressure on local government funds in an area where costs are traditionally skyrocketed in winter: Welfare.

Manpower allocations for the wo.. schemes are divided between local municipal administrations and Canada Manpower offices.

Manpower may supply 40 per cent of the needed crews from its applicants' roster and welfare 60 percent from among welfare recipients. says Hastings welfare administrator Reginald Tucker.

Such undertakings already are "making her hrrush" on local welfare rolls, although the full impact may not show for another month since a member of the municipal projects are only recently under way, he says.

To date, he estimates, may- be up to 60 jobs have been found for men on welfare; — about 25 per cent of the number of people he pegs on the rolls. (In December, there were 229 recipients registered in that category.)

The result of such programs will be measured in human as well as economic terms, says Mr. Tucker.

It may represent a "substantial" savings in local taxes.

It also is sound for personal morale, he believes.

"I think it's good for the men to be able to feel they are working to support themselves, instead of waiting for someone else to do it," he says.

However, the programs do not mean that jobs can be found for everyone registered with his department, he says.

"Sometimes the job site is too far away, or a man hasn't any means of transportation. We're also trying to give preference to men with families."

Wage rates on projects directly run by the province are set at $2.67 an hour while municipalities have set- tled for $2.50 an hour, he estimates.

On the 401 project, Darrell Weaver, ministry of transportation and communications inspector who is area crew supervisor for elm-tree removal estimates up to 2,'00 trees have been cut. since.- work started west of the Shannonville Gravel Road, Dec. 8.

Plans call for the crew to work as far as Belleville, then back along Highway 2 to Desoronto. How much of the schedule can be filled depends on the number of trees in need of felling — and weather conditions. .

Distinguished Native Dead

A native of Belleville and frequent visitor to this area and to Kingston, Mrs. James A Richardson, former president of James A. Richardson and Sons of Winnipeg has died suddenly in that city, She was 82.

The former Muriel Spragge, Mrs. Richardson was born in Belleville in 1890 of United Empire Loyalist descent.

She attended public and high school here and also the old St. Agnes Manor school on East Bridge Street.

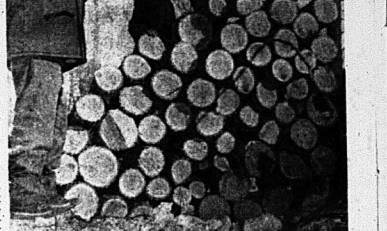
In 1919 she married James Armstrong Richardson, a former president of the firm established in Kingston in 1857 and one-time chancellor of Queen's University. They established their home in Winnipeg where Mrs. Richardson resided until her death.

When her husband died in 1939, she became president of the Richardson firm and remained president until 1966. The same year she retired from the board of trustees of Queen's University after 24 years of service.

She is survived by two sons James A. Richardson, ministe- of national defence, and George T. Richardson, now president of the Winnipeg firm, and two daughters. Mrs. W. M. (Agnes) Bentickson of Ottawa and Kathleen M. Richardson of Winnipeg.

Log Pileup

Logs pile up on the spot as felled trees are saiwn in provincial government cleanup of dead elms in Shannonville area. Such pileups are plentiful since about 2,000 trees have been cut in past month.



Unions Say Sword in Conflict

By COLIN BRUCE

Staff Reporter

You can't mix oil with water was the stand three unions took last night when they threatened they would leave the Quinte District Labor Council if conservationist Doug Sword remained the president of that body.

The three unions, United Cement Workers and Lime and gypsum workers, employed by Lake Ontario Cement, describe Mr. Sword to or in conflict of interest because of his dealings with the two groups.

Mr. Sword, president of People Against a Contaminated Environment (PACE) since the beginnings in Belleville, has gone on record several times calling for a halt of the use of sand from Prince Edward County's sandbanks.

His position with the labor council dictates he present the views of the council, which speaks for unionized labor, the unionists say.

A spokesman for one of the unions involved in the charge (two others have decided not to attend any more council meetings) claims Mr. Sword's PACE actions are jeopardizing their jobs.

With tempers beginning to flare among some members of the council, the spokesman queried whether any jobs had been lost due to PACE statements, and was it not true automation had accelerated for the loss of a good number of jobs?"

The spokesman retorted that automation was coming. "You can't stop that. The company is having to spend a lot of money in upgrading equipment due to ecology complaints."

He said, "I don't think our president should have anything to do with this other group. We can't remain in this council with Mr. Sword as its president."

The three unions from the plant are entitled to send nine representatives to council meetings.

Mr. Sword, who sat silent for the early portion of the brief, which he later described as a condemnation, told the representative, "you are not just condemning me, but all the people who voted for me." This was Mr. Sword's first meeting as president and chairman.

"You're condemning me before you give me a chance," he said.

Disturbed by the proposal and angered by some comments made by the union spokesman, Robert Andrus, representing Belleville's firefighters said, "the delegates of the council decide what policies should be made and it is they who run the council, not its president.

"If you leave this council, remember you are leaving a council that supports you."

The Quinte District Labor Council has had a standing policy that environmental hazards should be dealt with but are secondary if it means the loss of a man's job.

The spokesman, who never before had met Mr. Sword, said he would take all the information back to his local.

Delegates and the spokesman agreed a meeting must be held between the executive of the council and the executives of the three unions.

A member of the council said, "you won't set any policy (at the meeting) and you will have a better understanding of each other."

A motion by treasurer Joe Wilson was passed by council to the effect there would be a three-month period during which Mr. Sword could prove his interests and at that time, if the unions weren't satisfied, everything would be brought out into the open.

It is expected that reports will be available by the next monthly meeting as to the outcome of the joint executive meeting.

Sidney Appointments Made

Sidney Township Council became official Monday as each member was sworn into office, and Gordon Wilman took over as reeve of the municipality.

With little fanfare, members of council, all incumbents with the except ion of Ernest Kells, repeated the oath of office, each holding the same bible. Mr. Kells is a former reeve of the township.

There were no spectators for the swearing in.

Sidney council now stands with Gordon Wilman as reeve Glenn Meyers as deputy reeve with councillors Ernest Kells, Hadley Richardson and Reg McCurdy. Hugh Lyons remains township clerk and Bob Vandervoort, is treasurer and tax collector. These last two are not elected positions.

Appointments to committees was a major item on council agenda during yesterday's 11-hour meeting.

Representing the township on the Quinte Planning Board will be former reeve Jack Bush, councillor McCurdy, Reeve Wilman and alternate representative is deputy reeve Meyers.

Reeve Wilman will serve as industrial contact for the township.

Deputy reeve Meyers has been accounted as representative to the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority and councilor Kells will represent council on the Moira River Conservation Authority.

Woman Killed On CN Tracks

A Belleville woman was killed beneath the wheels of a Canadian National passenger train Tuesday, while supposedly attempting to cross the tracks via a "well-used short - cut."

Dead is 51 - year - old Kay Livesey of 87A Queen Street, the wife of Jack Livesey.

The incident occurred at 1:18 p.m. near the north end of Coleman Street, which terminates before it reaches the CN right of way.

Ambulance crews had to trek through a field and scale a five-foot fence to reach the accident scene.

A spokesman for the ambulance said the fence bordering the CN property was broken down and that a pathway was created through the snow showing the short cut was used often. The same spokesman ventured Quinte High school students might use the path on their route to and from school.

Police officers could not accurately say if the woman was attempting to cross the tracks.

A police spokesman did say there was no pedestrian crossing anywhere near the area.

It was not until the woman's purse was retrieved that positive identification was possible.

To get identification, a cheque was taken from the woman's purse and traced through a local bank where officials divulged the name and address of the holder.

Mr. John Steck, city coroner, pronounced the woman dead with a test mertem conducted in Belleville General Hospital.

It was not known whether an inquest would be held.

Trenton Seniors Bowl Along

TRENTON — A new bowling league, unique to Trenton, has been organized, its first regular games held Tuesday.

But the new bowling league is not just open to anyone. You've got to be a senior citizen before you can set foot on an alley, pick up a ball and let fly at the five pins that so often defy the avid bowler.

The league, sporting eight teams with a total of 40 mixed members and 10 to 12 stand by players, will see action until the spring of this year.

The exact fees charged to the players haven't been divulged, but they are paying a reduced rate. As well, the town is providing $200 through parks and recreation for the new group.

After the opening ball was tossed by Councillor Ronald Price — he guttered, adding a touch of humor to the festivities — the members set themselves for an afternoon's pleasure. League organizer Harry McKee of RR2, Carrying Place, says the number of players who showed up Tuesday were 25 fewer than hoped for. He said there is a lot of flu among members and the teams averaged about three instead of five players.

"But they all had a wonderful time," he said after the ward.

Dignitaries were on hand to herald the league.

Cliff Lowcock, president of the Trenton Senior Citizens Club, expressed pleasure in the fact that forming the league was a "first" for Trenton. "I hope it's a real success."

Trenton recreation director Dino Gettas added his words of welcome. "If a group is functioning well on its own, I don't like to get too highly involved and the league seems to be functioning really well," he said. Mr. Gettas said he will offer any assistance toward the club that hopes to soon see construction of a senior citizen drop-in centre in Centennial Park.

On hand with the Chamber of Commerce, Dr. James MacDonald, former mayor of Trenton, said the league "is a wonderful idea. I think you will have a lot of fun and to you, the best of luck."

Ronald Price, newly-elected town councillor, acting for Mayor Duncan McDonald, said bowling is a sport for "people of all ages" who might not be able to enjoy more physical activities such as hockey or tennis.

"I hope it's an annual success," he said.

The league will be using the facilities of D and A Bowl at 31 Dundas Street East until the spring. If the idea proves successful, the 105-member club will reorganize its bowling league on an annual basis.

He Guttered

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League

QUESTION: On our trip to California we would like to visit Scotty's Castle in Death Valley. We are drive in the Valley and reach the Castle by car?

ANSWER: The name is misleading. Death Valley isn't dead.

At a number of fact, the vast desert cradled along the California-Nevada border is crowded with life — more than 50 species of mammals, nearly 300 species of birds, over 600 plants and tourists.

Death Valley acquired its name and its morbid reputation in the winter of 1849 when a group of pioneers — looking for a short-cut to the gold fields of California — trekked across the forbidding terrain, panicked because of a shortage of food and water, and split up into several groups going off in different directions trying to find their way out of the desert.

All but one of the groups survived the harrowing experience, but Death Valley was forever christened with its fearful name.

Death Valley is a winter resort attracting visitors from early November to late April. During this period, daytime temperatures range from 65-80 degrees. For Easter sunrise service, Thanksgiving, Christmas, the Death Valley Encampment held in early November and other long weekends, this area can become the unlikely scene of a traffic jam.

One of the hottest regions in the world, the valley's daytime temperatures can be as high as 120 degrees for days in succession; 134 degrees is the highest temperature ever recorded by the U.S. Weather Bureau. Although the average yearly rainfall is less than two inches, there are springs in a number of places; visitors should drink only from those that are clearly marked. Because of intense heat, a tour of the valley is not recommended during the summer months. If a trip across the valley is essential it is advisable to carry extra water.

Death Valley's climate has created both botanical and zoological life indigenous to the area. The softbodied snail found at Badwater exists nowhere else in the world; unusual species of small pupfish inhabit the Furnace Creek Springs and Salt Creek. Bighorn sheep are residents that seldom venture into public view. Wild burros are easily seen in the Panamint Mountains.

More than 600 species of plants and trees, several unique to the valley grow therein. Those found solely in the area include the Panamint daisy, the Death Valley sage and the Death Valley sandpaper plant. Cacti are found at most elevations. Marsh grass are visible at the lower elevations, while Joshua trees grow on the slopes of Tin Mountain and near Grapevine Canyon.

Elevations range from 3,475 feet above sea level at Dante's View to 282 feet below sea level near Badwater the lowest point in the United States. An interesting view is that from Zabriskie Point in the rugged Black Mountains of the Amargosa Range. Especially noteworthy scenic points are Twenty Mule Team Canyon; Devil's Golf Course, crystal salt formations; Titus Canyon; the Salt Pools so rich in salt that crystals may be a forming at their surface; Golden Canyon; Umbrella Point; Mosaic Canyon; the Sand Dunes; Aguereberry Point; Natural Bridge; and Furnace Creek Ranch.

Artists Drive, between Golden Canyon and a point opposite the Devils Golf Course in the foothills of the Black Mountains, makes easily accessible one of the most colorful areas in the central part of the valley. A 7.6-mile trail from Mahogany Flat leads to Telescope Peak, 11,331 feet above the valley floor. The peak affords a fine view of the desolate valley below.

Scotty's Castle, at the northern boundary of the valley is an amazing sight in this isolated region. Built as a whim of the late "Death Valley Scotty" the castle contains beautiful furnishings and art treasures.

Open daily 9 to 6. Admission $1 — Children 6-12, 50 cents on the hour in winter; starting time varies according to demand in summer.

THE SUPERLAWYERS — Joseph C. Goulden

The most powerful and least publicized of all the lawyers in America today are those who do business in Washington, D. C. The million-dollar fee, the billion-dollar clients, the interface between Big business and bigger government the high - level friendships — all are detailed in this readable book. Mr. Goulden's book is a blend of investigative reporting and interviews with topflight Washington lawyers, some of whom speak with rare candor and tell startling tales.

WHAT DO YOU SAY AFTER YOU SAY HELLO? — Eric Berne

Here is successor to Eric Berne's best seller — "Games People Play". As a psychiatrist, Dr. Berne found that each person — under the powerful influence of his parents — writes in early childhood his own script that will determine the course of his life. He demonstrates how each life script gets written how it works, and how each of us can break free of it. The book gives final shape to Dr. Berne's system of transactional analysis a rational method of understanding and analyzing human behavior which is gaining increasing application in modern psychiatry.

A WORLD BEYOND — Ruth Montgomery

This is an account of the world beyond, dictated to Ruth Montgomery, by Arthur Ford, a deceased medium. In a series of morning sessions, Ford dictated and Mrs. Montgomery recorded a full explanation of what life is like beyond the physical plane. He gives an account of what it is like to make the transition from earthly form to the spirit world and gives information about the spiritual state and present activities of a number of famous people including President Kennedy, Martin Luther King and Bishop Pike.

SONGS THAT LIFT THE HEART — George Beverly Shea

Mr. Shea is a well - known musician who has been soloist for the Billy Graham crusades for many years. In this behind - the - scenes look at the world of gospel music, he recounts many of his favorite stories and reveals information about himself, including his early home life, how he met Billy Graham and how he chose his hymns.

MAN OF VALOUR — J. R. Colville

Lord Gort's career as a soldier was extraordinary. During the first World War he won a VC plus four other decorations. At the outbreak of World War II he was made commander-in-chief of the British Expeditionary Force and was responsible for the retreat to Dunkirk, which saved the greater part of the army. Mr. Colville was one of the private secretaries at 10 Downing Street and so well qualified to follow Brigadier Gort's progress as a soldier and to describe in detail the three weeks that culminated at Dunkirk.

RICHARD BURTON — Very Close Up — John Cottrell and Fergus Cashin

Richard Burton, the son of a miner and barmaid, was born and raised in poverty in South Wales. Today he is a millionaire and lives like a king with Elizabeth Taylor his queen. How has he achieved such success? And what kind of man lies behind the myth? These questions are answered by John Cottrell and Fergus Cashin who spent two years researching the book and interviewed almost everyone who has known him well.

No Solicitation

HALIFAX (CP) — Art Conrad, director of education for city schools, denied reports that soliciting of money from local businessmen was being carried out by canvassers indicating "this will help support" a drug education program sponsored by the school board. The school board does not sponsor any program that requires solicitation of funds, he said.

Dead New Orleans Sniper Young Negro from Kansas

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police have identified the man they killed on a hotel rooftop as a young Kansas black whose minister says "hated white folks."

Supt. Clarence Giarruso told a news conference Tuesday that the sniper was Mark J. Essex, 23, of Emporia, and added: "There's some evidence of a conspiracy by other people, but I cannot positively tell you yet."

Six persons were shot to death and 17 injured in the night-long incident.

Giarruso also said:

—Ballistics proves a .44-caliber magnum carbine found next to Essex's body was the same weapon that killed a young police officer and wounded a police recruit and wounded a policeman in New Orleans on New Year's Eve.

In Essex's hometown of Emporia, Rev. W. A. Chambers, his family's minister, said:

—He just hated white folks." Mr. Chambers said.

In Washington, the navy said Essex was given a general discharge for unsuitability Feb. 18, 1970. A spokesman said this type of discharge involves "character and behavior disorders" but would not elaborate.

Meanwhile, police debated whether there was more than one sniper.

Giarruso gave these reasons to think Essex wasn't alone:

—After his death, a helicopter, which participated in a police seige on the hotel was fired upon.

—After Essex died, several policemen saw another person on the roof.

—Policemen heard foul language and shouting and talking on the rooftop after Essex was killed.

Giarruso cited these reasons for believing Essex acted alone.

—"There has been but one person found."

—"Our men insist the area was adequately sealed off."

Essex had developed a strong dislike for whites when he came home from the navy.

He Saw Sniper Plainly

'Dead Man Not One Who Shot Me'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Robert Beamish considers himself remarkably lucky to have only been wounded by a sniper and says he hopes to be even more fortunate if the gunman returns to finish the job.

From his hospital bed Tuesday, Beamish, when asked if he could describe the sniper who shot him from 30 feet away, said:

"Yes, I could, but discretion is the better part of valor because the man they shot on the roof (of the DownTown Howard Johnson's Hotel here Sunday) is not the same man who shot me."

Numerous attempts to ask Police Supt. Clarence Giarruso why a witness with information concerning a second sniper remains unguarded were unsuccessful.

Beamish, 42, described how he had been shot and why he felt the man who shot him had not been killed.

Beamish first encountered the man when he discovered the hotel was on fire, and he was moving his luggage from his eighth-floor room to the patio around a swimming pool which adjoined his room.

"I looked up and a fellow jumped out of some bushes about 30 feet away," Beamish said.

"He looked me in the eye for a full second, then he raised the rifle, cocked the bolt on it and took very careful aim.

"And I was saying it couldn't be for real—it was bad enough getting out of the fire, but you just aren't prepared to walk into the business end of a rifle."

The shot knocked Beamish into the heated pool, where his air-filled coat acted as a lifepreserver.

Beamish floated in the water for more than three hours, playing possum and keeping as close an eye on the sniper as he could. When the sniper appeared to be busy elsewhere, firemen broke in to rescue the waterlogged broadcast engineer.

Income Has Risen More Than Prices

TORONTO (CP) — A study of price movements during the last six years shows that the rise in average income has been far sharper than the increase in over-all consumer prices or in food prices.

The study says that real purchasing power—the difference between higher incomes and increased prices—expanded by 21.5 per cent from January, 1967, to August, 1972.

The study, prepared for the Grocery Products Manufacturers of Canada, is based on statistics released by Statistics Canada. It was compiled by a Toronto firm of consulting economists.

For the 1967-72 period, the study notes that in manufacturing average hourly earnings increased 31.3 per cent and average weekly wages and salaries rose 32.4 per cent.

But the all-items consumer price index increased only 25.9 per cent during the same period and food prices moved up 24.1 per cent.

The federal government's throne speech proposed establishing a joint Senate-Commons committee to investigate rising food prices.

Among the main conclusions in the Grocery Products Manufacturers study are:

—Prices received by farmers for their products rose 13 per cent since January, 1967, much slower than the consumer price index, a situation reflecting the large quantity of farm produce going into the export rather than domestic market.

—Food prices rose faster than the all-items index between 1961 and last November, 45.1 per cent compared with 42.3 per cent, but since January, 1967, the increase was only 24.1 per cent, for food compared with 25.9 for all items.

Ontario Ministers Put Shares in Trust

TORONTO (CP) — Three Ontario cabinet ministers and the wives of two other cabinet ministers have placed their corporation shares in trust to comply with guidelines dealing with conflict of interest.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Premier William Davis, who said he and 18 other members of his cabinet were not affected as they had no shares in public corporations doing business in Ontario.

Affected are cabinet ministers James Auld, environment Jack McNie, colleges and universities, and Attorney-General Clifton Bales.

Mrs. John White, wife of the minister of industry and tourism, and Mrs. Robert Welch, whose husband is provincial secretary for social development, also placed their investments in trust.

The trust agreements means they will have no control or day-to-day involvement in their investments.

They affect only stocks, or shares in companies that trade on the stock exchange. They don't involve private holdings, such as the 230 non-controlling common shares Mr. Auld owns in a weekly newspaper, or the financial interests in a London icerink and hockey team held by Claude Bennett, minister without portfolio.

In the guidelines laid down Sept. 14, ministers had to first list their land holdings, then their private investments. They had to the end of last year to either sell or place their stock investments in blind trusts.

The stocks held by the ministers and their families were not disclosed. A spokesman for the premier's office said these would be only available from the ministers involved.

The wives of the three cabinet ministers affected also had to place their stocks in trust as well as Mr. Bales' son, Joseph.

Rhodesia Closes Zambian Border

SALISBURY (Reuter) — Rhodesia is hoping the closing of its border with Zambia will persuade President Kenneth Kaunda to withdraw shelter for nationalist guerrillas attacking Rhodesia.

A Rhodesian official said the border, closed Tuesday to all road and rail traffic except copper exports, will remain closed until satisfactory assurances are received that Kaunda will no longer allow Zambia-based guerrillas to attack Rhodesia.

The blockade is expected to hit hard at Zambia's exports even though, as an official later explained, it will not affect Zambia's copper exports through Rhodesia.

Observers noted the concession over copper traffic takes some bite out of prime minister Ian Smith's retaliatory measures for recent guerrilla raids.

'Mini-capitalist State' In Poland Faces Purge

ZAKOPANE, Poland (AP) — Scores of citizens and Communist officials have gone on trial here for turning Poland's most popular holiday resort into a "mini-capitalist state" seething as one paper puts it, with corruption.

Zakopane, known as the Switzerland of Poland, is in a picturesque valley near Czechoslovakia, bordered by the dramatic snow-peaked Tatra Mountain range. Every year it is visited by more than three million holiday-makers.

Now the town of 30,000 has come under the glaring spotlight of Warsaw's central authorities because of massive land price increases, private speculative deals and widespread bribery of officials.

Zakopane's affluence sticks out a mile. Visitors familiar with the grey, monotonous designs of Warsaw's prefabricated apartment blocks immediately notice the difference in this southern town.

Its lush green hillsides are studded with beautiful Alpine-style houses—many costing five times more than what an average Pole earns in his whole life. Hundreds of these luxury villas have sprung up here in the last few years.

Those now on trial include former officials who allegedly received gigantic bribes in return for approving building sites to private developers. Investors have been charged with obtaining precious offic building materials without holding proper permits.

Although Poland has a Communist system, it allows private housing amid rigid safeguards against land speculation. This town allegedly made holes in the regulations, mainly through bribery.

One local paper, Zycie Literackie, wrote: "Private initiative did not ask how to bribe, as there was plenty of money around, but whom. Zachopane was unlucky with its authorities.

"There was a saying rife in the town: an official arrives with a briefcase, after two years he has a car and after three more, a luxury villa."

Polish stone masons are also reported to have made a big pile. Businessmen paid them 700 Zlotys a day in wages — nearly half a month's pay for many Poles.

Consumers Likely to Pay More for Dairy Products

TORONTO (CP) — The federal government expects consumers to pay more for dairy products, Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan indicated Tuesday.

Speaking to the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, the minister said that federal subsidies—more than $125 million soon added.

Redskins Will Sink Dolphins

by

Eric Emerson

Sports Editor

It's a nice feeling to be an expert, no matter how obscure your area of excellence may be.

Somewhere in Oklahoma lives a man secure in his knowledge that he's the world champion chicken plucker. Imagine the status connected with being a part of the team that set the record for bounce boards cramming. Or knowing all about the mating habits of the preying mantis, should the topic arise in everyday conversation.

Just the other day I had a buddy sidle up to me and ask, "Well Ace, who's gonna win the Super Bowl?"

The "Skins" ". I whispered, not wanting to start a run on local bookmakers should the knowledge become public.

"You're sure?" he asked.

"No question," I empahasized.

"Good!" he returned, "I'm putting five on Miami."

I realize that every prophet has his doubting Thomas. I'd even admit to the odd wrong prediction . . . Green Bay over Washington, Dallas over Washington, Oakland over Pittsburgh. But what the heck, sports fans, even Nick the Greek makes mistakes.

All of these little errors will be money under the bridge after Sunday's Super Bowl. I have not only figured who will win — any fool can do that — I've also figured how Washington will beach the Dolphins.

While it's truce that Miami has run up an incredible unbeaten string this season, it is also true that they've done it against mediocre opposition in many instances. They did not play a single team during the regular season that qualified for a playoff berth.

The Dolphins were forced to stage a dramatic comeback win over Cleveland's mediocre Browns in the AFC Semi-final and then barely managed to beat Pittsburgh 21-17 despite the fact that Terry Bradshaw was injured for most of that game.

Washington, on the other hand, topped the finest team in football — the Green Bay Packers — and followed that by humiliating Dallas' defending Super Bowl champions 26-3.

Offensively, the teams are pretty evenly matched and to give the Dolphins their due, it's not likely that any team will completely contain the devastating Csonka - Morrow - Kiick ground attack. However if any team in football is equipped to slow it down, Washington is that team. They handled the Pack's powerful duo of MacArthur Lane and John Brockington and completely stymied the Cowboys' Calvin Hill.

Outside linebackers Jack Pardee and Chris Hanburger are among the best in the business and they could provide some problems for Mercury Morris on his patented end sweeps.

The quarterbacks are again pretty much equal with Bob Griese's edge in talent being offset by the injury which kept him out for most of the season. He could still be a little rusty.

Redskin pivot Bill Kilmer does enjoy one big advantage. His receivers are far superior to Griese's, even granted the fact that Paul Warfield is the best single passcatcher alive.

Kilmer has the choice of throwing to either Charlie Taylor or Rey Jefferson which is a little like deciding between chocolate and vanilla ice cream. They're both nice to have around. He also has a big edge at tight end, where Jerry Smith ranches with the best of them, far better than Marv Fleming of the Dolphins who is noted mainly for his blocking ability.

Defensively, it's no contest. Washington has the edge in line play, linebackers and the secondary. Cornerback, the key defensive position, is a Washington strong spot with Mike Bass and Pat Fischer backing up wingmen.

Miami, on the other hand, has midget Lloyd Mumphord filling in for injured Tim Foley and that could be the key to Washington's attack. Kilmer showed what he could do against an experienced cornerback when he picked apart Charlie Waters in the NFC title game. Lloyd could be in for a long afternoon.

The final key factor in Washington's win is that Dick Lovering is betting on Miami. Lovering's loot is the kiss of death to any sports team. It was wagered on Winnipeg for the Cup, Don Shula's Colts for the Super Bowl and the Russians to beat the Belleville Quints. Talk about your lousy track records!

With this crucial bonus favoring the 'Skins, there's just no way they can lose. The score will be 17-10 for Washington. You read it here first.

Meagher Adjusts to Boston Style

By AL ZARAS
Staff Sportswriter

Terry Meagher graduated from one brand of hockey to another last year, as he left the Belleville Junior "B" Bobcats at that time to join Toronto Ontario League, for the American arena of Boston University.

The former Bobcats' right-winger was "interested in playing hockey and going to school at the same time. I applied around and got a letter back from Boston."

Meagher received an athletic scholarship from the Boston University school and is now playing on their freshman team. "It was kind of funny at first, because their hockey is different," said Meagher. "but I like it better now. Playing as a team is more important there than it is here."

The game is a lot faster than Junior "B" and there's not as much physical action, though still a fair amount. It's a lot more exciting hockey because they don't use a red line so you can ice it as soon as you clear your blue line. "There are quicker lines," said the 20-year-old winger home over the holidays, "so they really stress a system of forechecking. You have to be right on the man all the time if the team does break through then you have to connect for backchecking right away."

"It's end to end hockey, and there is more opportunity to score," said Meagher who played Belleville Junior "B" for three years. "One team doesn't dominate like it did all the time."

Though we dump the puck in a lot, in a power play situation we set up and pass the puck around the hot until either a defenseman makes a mistake or you get a clear shot."

According to Meagher, Boston is "really hockey crazy" with the big ambition down there being to play hockey in high school and then go on to college hockey. High school hockey, which is about the level of our Junior "B" can fill Boston Gardens for a final game. That's how enthusiastic they are."

For Boston University Varsity Team gained the promotion is usually full according to Meagher. "Players get up for the games because they don't want their standing if they lose one game. There are no set leagues. Coaches and sportswriters rate the teams and if a number one rated team loses 10-0 to a number five rated team, they won't stay on top for long."

Meagher predicted that there will be good players coming out of the area as "skating wise and shooting wise American hockey players are really improving". Some of the players on the Boston Varsity Team which has won the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships the past two years, have gone on to the pro ranks according to Meagher.

Meagher who was one of the leading scorers on the team with John Mulvihill and Peter Ackerman, hopes to continue his education at Boston for a Bachelor of Science degree with a physical education major.

Mumphord Not Worried About Starting Role

Lloyd Mumphord isn't worried about Billy Kilmer picking on him as Super Bowl VII... and cornerback's lack of concern.

Miami Dolphins coach Don Shula isn't worried about Ria "I'm not afraid. I've been a starter before," says Mum phord, who will be starting left cornerback in place of injured Tim Foley for Sunday's National Football League championship game against Washington Redskins.

The Redskins' quarterback, in a couple of crucial games this season, has successfully picked on cornerbacks—rearend and otherwise.

Most notably was their National Football Conference championship game, when Charley Taylor outran and outflanked Dallas' Charlie Waters and his second-half successor, seven passes, two for touchdowns, in the 26-3 rout of the Cowboys.

But Mumphord seemingly wasn't impressed by Kilmer's performance.

"He's a good passer but not one of the better ones," he said. "I'm confident I can do the job."

At 5-foot-10, Mumphord is the smallest of Miami's defensive backs. And he is giving up four inches to Taylor who, at 210 pounds, outweighs Mumphord by some 30 pounds.

But this doesn't faze Shula, either.

"What do you expect Lloyd to say, 'I'm scared to death?' " The Miami coach said of Mumphord's slap at Kilmer. "I'm sure they're going to pick on Lloyd and I'm sure Lloyd feels the same way . . . I'm confident he can do the job.

"We're not a bump-and-run man-to-man coverage football team," Shula continued. "The secret of our success defensively has been the fact that we zone, we play man-to-man, we mix our coverages and we don't really put a lot of pressure on a corner man, play in and play out."

Kilmer acknowledged Shula's assessment of the Dolphins' pass defence.

"Their safeties are both all-pro as far as I'm concerned," he said of Jake Scott, formerly with British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League, and Dick Anderson. "They give the cornerbacks a lot of help and keep them from going man-for-man very often."

Shula, turning to the debate over whether Washington's role as the underdog's favorite is justified, commented:

"I don't pay much attention to underdogs or overdogs. You still have to line up and play and do whatever you can to win."

Rauch Named Argonaut Coach

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts confirmed Tuesday night that John Rauch, former head coach at Oakland and Buffalo, has been signed to a three-year contract as head coach of the Canadian Football League team.

Argo general manager John Barrow said in a telephone interview from Chicago, where the two met at the annual American Football Coaches Association convention, that he expected Rauch to provide the discipline necessary to make Toronto a winning organization.

"John Rauch will be the type of coach who demands total respect from his players and total discipline," said Barrow.

Rauch, 46, succeeds Leo Cahill as head coach. Cahill was dropped after the 1972 Eastern Football Conference season when the Argos finished out of the playoffs.

The only stipulation that Argo management had in the agreement was that at least one of Rauch's three assistants must have been either a coach or assistant coach in the CFL.

The former all-American at the University of Georgia established himself as a top-flight coach at Oakland where the Raiders compiled a 33-8-1 mark during his three seasons, 1967 to 1969.

Oakland, American Football League champions in 1967, were beaten 33-14 by Green Bay Packers in the 1967 Super Bowl. Rauch resigned to join Buffalo in 1969 but after a hassle with Bills' owners he was released in July, 1971.

Before joining Philadelphia Eagles last year as an offensive coach, Rauch served as a scout for Green Bay.

Kilmer Can Count Blessings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billy Kilmer whipped tremendous odds to make Super Bowl VII as Washington Redskin quarterback. He couldn't be a one-legged cripple or even dead.

The one-time UCLA single-wing tailback was almost killed in a 1972 automobile wreck. Even when survival was assured, doctors debated whether to amputate Kilmer's mangled right leg.

Later, there were doubts if he'd walk again.

"Those were anxious days," Kilmer, now 33, was once a few of the reasons why I might not be lucky enough to be sitting here with reporters, talking about playing the Miami Dolphins in the Super Bowl."

Kilmer, now 33, was once a member of the angry fraternity of quarterbacks that have stayed behind to shadow John Brodie with San Francisco 49ers. He preceded George Mira and Steve Spurrier in the undesired role as Brodie's understudy.

"I never got a chance as a T-formation squarterback until 1967," said the man who assumed the Redskin leadership after Sonny Jurgensen's heel injury at mid-season. "Even then, my Super Bowl chances weren't too hot."

Kilmer figured he'd be an old man before New Orleans Saints, who grabbed him in a 1967 expansion draft, threatened to exceed the higher plateaus of the National Football League.

Then came George Allen.

The Washington coach, who believes youth in pro football is a misfortune, noted that Kilmer again was backstage after the Saints drafted college star Archie Manning of Mississippi to direct their attack.

Kilmer was available at a bargain price.

Allen wanted a veteran to back up Jurgensen and it has paid off twice.

Kilmer bailed out the 'Skins in 1971 when Jurgensen was hurt, passing for 2,221 yards and 19 touchdowns as Washington made the NFL playoffs for the first time in 27 years.

When Sonny was hurt again this season, Kilmer again did the job.

He hit 53 per cent of his passes for 1,648 yards and 19 touchdowns. He fired two scoring passes to Charley Taylor as Washington swamped defending Super Bowl champion Dallas 26-3 in the National Football Conference title game.

Foreman In Fighting Form

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuter) — George Foreman, who challenges Joe Frazier for the world heavyweight boxing championship here Jan. 22, had to be restrained Tuesday from battering a sparring partner who had jarred him with a left hook.

Trinidadian Carl Baker, who once held the Jamaican heavyweight title when he was serving in the army here, appeared to have hurt Foreman with a left hook.

Foreman's response was to fire away at him with combinations that had Baker helpless.

There were shouts of "stop it, stop it" from Foreman's corner. But the challenger would not ease up. Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler, had to rush into the ring and stop the action with about one minute remaining in the round.

Top Athlete Out for Month

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — A spokesman for Jocelyne Bourassa, 1972 rookie of the year on the women's professional golf tour, said today it is too early for any news on results of surgery performed Tuesday to correct a knee ailment.

The operation, to remove a piece of cartilage from Miss Bourassa's left knee, is to be followed by a week in hospital and two weeks at home on crutches. Then she plans to convalesce at the Florida home of fellow pro Jane Blalock.

The knee problem, which goes back to 1967, forced her to withdraw from the Burdine's Invitational at the Doral Country Club in Florida during the weekend.

Doctors have assured her there is no reason she will not be able to regain top form. Miss Bourassa has said she expects to be back on the tour before March 9 for the $100,000 Green Stamp Classic in Houston, Tex.

Nice Guys Finish Last

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The plight of Philadelphia 76ers, according to Chet Walker, is just more proof that nice guys finish last.

Walker, an ex-76er now with Chicago, scored 20 points in the Bulls' 126-110 rout of hapless Philadelphia Tuesday night, becoming the 19th player in National Basketball Association history to score 15,000 points.

"After I got the basket to pass the 15,000 point mark," Walker said, "I looked over sadly at the press table and saw Philadelphia owner Ike Kosloff. I guess he tried to console.

"He's just too nice a guy. He tries to be so fair with everybody, but he probably has a tendency to be influenced by persons not equipped to make the right decisions."

The loss gave the 76ers a 4-26 record and left them 20 games behind Atlantic Division-leading Boston Celtics. The Bulls meanwhile, pulled within two games of second-place Milwaukee Bucks in the Midwest Division.

Elsewhere, the New York Knicks nipped Kansas City-Omaha Kings 116-115 in overtime, Baltimore Bullets defeated Portland Trail Blazers 106-92, Atlanta Hawks downed Houston Rockets 128-114, Golden State Warriors whipped Detroit Pistons 105-98 and Buffalo Braves beat Cleveland Cavaliers 106-102.

Kings Edge Islanders 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bob Pulford looked somewhat embarrassed Tuesday night after his Los Angeles Kings succumbed by New York Islanders 3-2 to move into third place in the National Hockey League's West Division.

What can a coach say after checking the first-year Islanders, a foot most clubs have done with increasing regularity and without nearly as much difficulty?

"I'm glad I'm finished playing with the Islanders," said Pulford's honest reply. "This is the best I've seen them play."

The Kings were four of the five meetings between the two clubs this season. The victory gave Los Angeles 42 points, one behind the second-place Minnesota North Stars and just one up on Atlanta Flames, another first-year team.

Pulford wasn't ready to gloat over the Islanders' footprints after they set a club record of eight straight losses. He and most of the Kings know how it feels.

Just a year ago, it was the Kings who were wallowing in the cellar, finding it difficult to grab any sympathetic points, just as the New Yorkers are this year.

In the only other game Tuesday, Dave Dunn blocked 32 shots as Vancouver Canucks blanked St. Louis Blues 3-0.

The Islanders, with four victories against 32 losses in 41 games, are in Toronto against the Maple Leafs tonight. In other games, Montreal Canadiens visit Minnesota, Detroit Red Wings are at Pittsburgh Penguins, Atlanta is host to Chicago Black Hawks and St. Louis goes against California Golden Seals at Oakland.

Jean Ratelle scoring those three goals so quickly probably had an effect on one, if not two of them," Pulford said in a postgame interview, referring to goals by Mike Corrigan, Serge Bernier and Vic Venasky by the 2:46 mark of the opening period.

Islanders goalie Gerry Desjardins held them in check the rest of the way, however, and scores by Dave Hudson in the second and Brian Spencer in the third had the Kings' victory hanging in doubt to the final whistle.

Pulford said the big difference between the Kings, who he played with that year, and the Kings of 1972-73, that he coaches, is the team's defensive strengths.

"Defence and goaltending have done it for us. We were always able to score."

Statistics seem to bear him out.

After 41 games last season, the Kings had allowed 161 goals while scoring 82. With 41 games under their coach, Los Angeles has given up just 126 goals while scoring 125.

While Pulford was delivering accolades to the Islanders' spunky comeback, New York coach Phil Goyette was upset that the club's continual defensive lapses that the opposition has been quick to capitalize on.

Harris Finds NHL Problems

TORONTO (CP) — One of the big questions of the 1972-73 National Hockey League season has been why Billy Harris, last summer's No. 1 junior draft choice, hasn't emerged as a big star.

Harris, 20, was drafted from Toronto Marlboros by New York Islanders and signed to a three-year contract reported to be worth about $125,000 a year.

The Islanders, who face the Maple Leafs here tonight,have won only four and tied four out of 40 games this season.

Harris's critics sometimes ask why the high-priced right winger hasn't been able to match the performances of such players as Gil Perreault and Rick Martin who set rookie scoring records with Buffalo Sabres.

Bill Torrey, Islanders general manager, doesn't see Harris as a disappointment at all.

"Harris has had a very difficult rookie season for several reasons," said Torrey.

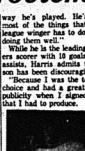
"For openers, adjusting to the NHL and living in New York is a major feature for a kid. Then, signing a big contract placed much pressure on him.

"Our lack of a good, experienced centre who could give him the puck at precisely the right time and allow him to use his shot, speed and strength to move down the wing and go for the net has handicapped him.

"The people who are knocking him consider only these things. We're pleased with the way he's played. He's doing most of the things that a big-league winger has to do, and is doing them well."

While he is the leading Islanders scorer with 16 goals and 14 assists, Harris admits the season has been discouraging.

"Because I was the top draft choice and had a great deal of publicity when I signed, I felt that I had to produce.



BILLY HARRIS

"Early in the season, I pressed very hard, which was the wrong way to do it. I was running all over the place instead of playing my wing in the pro style. Now I'm trying to play basic fundamental hockey, staying in position and just looking after my own area."

Duhamel Sidelined

TORONTO (CP) — Yvon Duhamel, one of Canada's top motorcycle and snowmobile racers, may be sidelined at least two weeks, a spokesman for his snowmobile racing team said Tuesday.

Pierre Luc of the Ski-Doo team said Duhamel suffered "two small broken bones in the back on the right side" when he spilled from his machine Monday during the final race of the Kawartha Cup competition at Peterborough.

"The doctors said he would not be able to race for at least two weeks," said Luc, "but he says he would like to race at Eagle River."

The Eagle River, Wisc., race is scheduled for Jan. 19-21.

Luc said Duhamel went home to Montreal Monday night and was to undergo further treatment there. He was treated in hospital at Peterborough Monday but was released in time for the awards presentations where he accepted third prize in the Kawartha competition.

Brockville Moves Closer to Third

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The see-saw for position in the middle of the Central Junior Hockey League standings continued unabated Tuesday, with Brockville Braves downing Smiths Falls Bears 6-4 to creep closer to third-place Nepean Raiders.

The soaring Pembroke Lumber Kings continued their unbeaten rampage in front of the pack by dumping the last-place Hull Festivals 8-4.

Mike DeSalso turned in a two-goal performance for Smiths Falls, with Don Robertson and Terry Fournier getting one goal apiece.

The win gives the Braves sole possession of fourth place, within one point of the idle Nepean and two points in front of the Bears.

The Lumber Kings had an easy time handling the Festivals, with Steve Croucher getting three goals.

Pembroke's incavalier scored twice for Hull. Pierre Dagenais and Robert St. Cyr once each.

The Braves maintain untouchably in first place, coasting towards a league championship with Ottawa Rangers steady in second place.

The Festivals meet the Rangers Thursday.

Yvan Injured

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvan Cournoyer, Montreal Canadiens right winger, entered hospital Tuesday for tests to determine the seriousness of an abdominal injury he suffered in a game Monday night against Minnesota North Stars and will miss at least one game.

"The doctor thinks its a bruised abdominal muscle but they don't know for sure," said Sam Pollock, general manager of the National Hockey League club. "It was so bad he was thinking of going to the hospital during the night."

Cournoyer, who scored two goals in the 3-3 tie with the North Stars, was slammed into the boards during the first period by Minnesota defenceman Ted Harris. They were his 33rd and 36th goals of the season.

Pollock said Cournoyer will not be in the Montreal lineup when the Canadiens visit North Stars in Bloomington tonight.

Venevuzzo Gets Chance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gary Veneziano, like many of his World Hockey Association colleagues, got little opportunity to prove his worth in the National Hockey League.

And just as did so many dissatisfied NHLers of a year ago, Veneziano decided to give the WHA a whirl, a decision he has not regretted.

The 28-year-old right winger from Thunder Bay scored the clincher at 1:37 of overtime Tuesday as Los Angeles Sharks tripped Minnesota Fighting Saints 4-3 at St. Paul, Minn.

It was his 36th goal of the fledgling WHA campaign. He also helped set the stage for J. P. Parise with just 12 seconds remaining in regulation time to send the game into extra minutes.

Elsewhere, Houston Aeros upset New England Whalers 7-5 and Ottawa's fight-scoring Bob Charlebois tallied twice in the third period to lead the Nationals over Quebec Les Nordiques Tuesday as Los Angeles Sharks 7-5.

Alberta Oilers visit Winnipeg Jets tonight with Philadelphia Blazers tangling with New York Raiders and Los Angeles at Chicago Cougars filling out the schedule.

Veneziano, who labored with the Toronto Maple Leaf clubs for three years after graduating from Thunder Bay junior ranks, discovered that size was against him in the NHL.

At 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds, he hardly met the requirements of a major leaguer at that time — 1964 — when the scouts looked for monsters in order to draft and save their end of up-

Eagleson Set Hockey Pattern

OTTAWA (CP) — Whether you were thrilled by the last-minute victory of Team Canada in Moscow last fall, or embarrassed by their antics on and off the ice, the credit—or discredit—belongs to Alan Eagleson.

Douglas Fisher, columnist for Toronto Sun and chairman of Hockey Canada's executive committee, writes that the tournaments Russia-Canada hockey tournament was Eagle—'s creation.

"He set its pattern," says Fisher in International Perspectives, the bimonthly journal of the external affairs department.

Eagleson is executive director of the NHL Players Association and a director of Hockey Canada. A lawyer, he bargains for players in contract negotiations with the National Hockey League.

To Fisher, he is also "a fast talker, a fast thinker, one of the best natural salesmen and traders I have ever met.

"Metaphorically, he was at the throttle of the series juggernaut; we were the passengers, waiting to straighten up the accounts after it was all over."

Writing as an insider in Hockey Canada, Fisher recalls how Eagleson took control of the team, its players and the series itself. He even named the team.

By the time he and coach Harry Sinden returned from an advance planning trip to Moscow, "he was the executive at the core of almost every important aspect of the series."

And, says Fisher, Eagleson was a more typical representative of Canada abroad than External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp or the "fair, peaceable, high-minded neutrals" who bays set the tone of official diplomatic behavior.

Before the series, he voiced the cocky confidence of the team, predicting an eight-game streak. He was in tune with the players: "Generally rough and ready. His teenagers in their enthusiasm and interests; essentially simple men of instinct, not highly rational."

"Lusty, capricious, fun-loving and proud, quick to anger, always ready to belly-laugh and clown."

After the shock of losing two games and tying another in the first four games in Canada, and a loose-up in Stockholm, Team Canada started to stress what NHL players do best—tough checking, challenging the referees and scrambly pressure plays.

But in Moscow, "the most marvellous quality of the team on the ice was simply absolute determination."

Fisher scores the "maudlin assertions that 'we played for democracy'," and says he won't forget Mrs. Eagleson, distraught when her husband was momentarily seized by police, screaming: "We'll never come back to this bloody dictator ship."

But was there any other way for Canada to win than the bruising, bitchy tactics of Team Canada?

"My answer is no, there was no other way, given the similarity in attitudes and values between Eagleson, Sinden and most of the players.

Their world is a simplistic, emotional one; it is also a very fast-moving one."

Fisher draws lessons about Canada and Canadian hockey from the series.

Dillion Paces Marlboros To Win Over Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP) — Centre Wayne Dillon picked up two goals and two assists Tuesday to lead Toronto Marlboros to an 8-3 Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series victory over Hamilton Red Wings before 1,-139 fans.

The win increased Marlboros league lead to 14 points over Ottawa 67s. Red Wings are in seventh place, six points behind Oshawa Generals.

Paulin Bordeleau also scored twice for Marlboros who led 2-1 after the first period and 6-2 before scoring two unanswered goals in the third. Mark Howe, Brad Winton, Bruce Boudreau and Glen Goldup scored the other Toronto goals.

Team captain Pat Hickey and Jim Mosey scored for Red Wings who had a six-game unbeaten streak at home bowhen.

Marlboros outshot Red Wings in every period to finish with a 42-27 advantage. There were five minor penalties, three to Marlboros, and each team was assessed two fighting majors.

Toronto winger Marty Howe was handed with a misconduct and game misconduct after protesting a high-sticking minor at 12:28 of the second period.

Philadelphia Flying

PHILADELPHIA (AP) General manager Keith Allen feels his Philadelphia Flyers are on the verge of a breakthrough in the National Hockey League.

Allen was given a year's extension on his job this week and reflected on the state of the six-year-old hockey franchise.

"We're in a position now where we're ready to break with anyone in the league," said Allen.

"It's just a matter of confidence with our club. We've reached a plateau where it is necessary to overcome certain handicaps."

One of these handicaps, said Allen, is the club's inability to win on the road. Philadelphia is 3-15 in games away from home this season, but still has managed to stay in the West Division race only three points out of second place.

"What we have to do," said Allen, "is to go into Boston, or New York (Rangers), or Chicago, or Montreal and win a game so our kids can believe in themselves."

"What is the problem on the road?

"It does appear to in that our club is capable of winning on the road," Allen said.

"We've tried lately to tighten our checking a little bit. We've been for years a tight-checking team, and suddenly we've become a pretty good scoring club. Our checking has suffered as a result of the improvement in scoring."

Allen expects his team to have a strong second half season, and he foresees a second place finish. He's not committed first place to Chicago Black Hawks, but feels that second place is a more realistic outlook.

Allen has been with the Flyers, first as coach and later general manager, since they club was admitted to the NHL in 1966. He recalls the forecasts at the time that it would take the expansion teams five years to reach equal status with the established clubs. Have the Flyers attained the equality?

"I think we have made good strides in this regard, but we haven't reached the status at this stage of the Boston Bruins, Montreal or New York Rangers.

"I think we are now on equal par with the Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit, and certainly we're very close to the Chicago Black Hawks, who are in our division and been involved in a fight for first place all season. So, I think we've closed ground on three of the clubs and with three we still have some way to go."

Afghan Politicians Waiting For Parties to Be Allowed

KABUL (CP) — Afghan politicians who were hoping to see the emergence of political parties in their country as far back as five or six years ago, still are waiting, with waning hope, for the political parties bill to be signed by King Mohammad Zahir. The bill was passed by the Afghan parliament about four years ago, but the king is under no obligation to sign it, and keeps sending it back to parliament for amendments.

"Frankly," said one Afghan politician. The way he saw it, the king or is hoping to assemble one or two political parties that would be compliant to the crown. During these last four years, however, the king has not been able to get together a centrist, conservative group large enough to dominate parliament.

But apart from refusing to co-operate with the executive, there is little the legislature can do to force the king's hand, for the time being at least. The king has the ultimate weapon of dissolving parliament if it gets too troublesome and has once threatened to do so.

The king took the first step toward democracy when he gave the country a constitution in 1964, voluntarily limiting some of his own powers to establish a "constitutional monarch." This was reported to have been done under pressure from the liberal and progressive elements in the country.

The promulgation of the constitution was followed by a discontinuation of the practice of appointing a member of the royal family as prime minister.

Two democratically elected parliaments have come into existence since the country got its constitution, following elections in 1964 and 1969. But some sides feel they are not bothered to select his cabinet from within parliament itself.

But though two or three of the premiers appointed by the king since 1964 have been fairly able men, with high qualifications, their relations with the 216-member lower house and the 84-member upper house have not exactly been the love stories of the century.

For instance, Noor Ahmed Etemadi, who chose as foreign minister 11 the preceding cabinet of Mohammad Hashim Maiwandwal, quit May 17, 1971, when he got wind that parliament was preparing to pass a vote of no confidence against him. Maiwandwal, another able man by several accounts, had quit under similar circumstances in October, 1967, soon after student demonstrations combined with labor risks and pressure in parliament to make his seat a little too hot.

The incumbent, Dr. Abdul Zahir, who took Etemadi's place June 9, 1971, is not considered particularly competent. He has come under widespread criticism for mishandling relief operations in starving peasants in central and northeastern Afghanistan. He resigned after a block of 118 deputies announced that they would refuse to co-operate with him. But the monarch is said to have asked him to stay on as caretaker until another government is formed.

Dr. Zahir's resignation, however, was rather hushhush and produced an interesting side-bar. The editor of the newspaper Kawan, Abdul Haq Wahb, got wind of it before the official announcement and sent the scoop to the British Broadcasting Corporation, for whom he happens to be a stringer in Kabul. The government was infuriated, and had Radio Afghanistan announce that the editor of this paper had been questioned by the security police for sending reports abroad that were "detrimental to the interests of Afghanistan"—though no such interrogation had taken place up to that time.

Following this radio announcement, two brief questionings did occur, but now it was the turn of publisher Sabahuddin Kushkaki to be infuriated by the implication that the editor was a spy. Kushkaki, in not his first courageous act in dealing with authorities in Kabul, used the government—and got a promise of a corrective announcement. The government really had no choice, as it had no documents whatever to prove the earlier allegations, and what was more, Radio Afghanistan itself announced Dr. Zahir's resignation officially shortly afterwards.

Anyway, as figures add editorially about the resignation, where do we go from here? Reports in Kabul have it that the king has tipped his able Foreign Minister Mohammad Musa Shafiq to be the next premier.

If Shafiq does succeed in forming a government, it is going to be another interim one, in a sense, as the next general elections in Afghanistan are due in July or August next year. In the meantime, the political disease of government instability observed ever since the constitution was promulgated eight years ago is beginning to worry Afghan intellectuals.

Pies Stolen

BRIGHTON — Some time overnight, a thief with an eye for sweet things got hungry and raided a refrigerator in the village.

The walk-in cold storage fridge at Rundles' Factory on Richardson Street does not stock the usual goodies sought by nocturnal dieters.

After forcing the apple-processing plant door lock, the fellow made off with eight frozen apple pies, valued at about $8. Nothing else was touched.

Milk Board Vice-president Backs Industrial Milk Boost

Any increase in the price received by farmers for industrial milk would be more than welcome.

This was the reaction today of a Belleville - area producer on hearing the suggestion of Kenneth G. McKinnon, vice-president of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, that farmers should press for an increase on "not less than eight per cent for industrial milk.

Mr. McKinnon called for farmers to press for the increase as he spoke at the annual meeting of the OMMB being held in Toronto.

"I think would be very encouraging" assured a 2nd concession of Sidney township farmer who supplies milk to the Foxboro Cheese Factory.

Mr. McKinnon said the Dairy Farmers of Canada had made representations to the federal government last October for an increase in the price of industrial milk "but they did not achieve, unfortunately, any concrete results."

In the light of the effects of adverse weather conditions on milk yields and feed costs he said it was urgent that the producers of industrial milk receive an immediate and significant increase in their returns.

Industrial milk is that used in the manufacture of such products as cheese and butter and is also made into powdered milk.

But the price which farmers receive for their industrial milk is approximately $1.50 per cwt. less than that received by farmers whose milk production goes into the bottle trade.

And farmers point out it costs just the same to produce industrial milk as it does bottle milk.

Currently industrial cheese milk producers receive $4.96 a cwt. for their milk and in addition to this amount receive a federal subsidy which boosts their return by about another $1.

In contrast to this price, producers of fluid milk now receive $7.66 a cwt. Until December 31 bottle milk producers received $7.65 a cwt. but this was increased by 33 cents on January 1.

The lower price received for industrial milk hurts the producer all the more this winter as result last year's wet weather conditions which resulted in feed shortages and higher feed prices.

One producer said that because of the wet weather last fall, 80 acres of grain corn on his farm failed to mature in time to allow normal harvesting.

The corn is still in the field and as a result they, as is the case with many other area farmers, will have to purchase feed.

Feed mill operators are quoted as saying that because of the bad harvest prices will increase another $15 to $20 a ton before spring.

Mr. McKinnon told the Toronto meeting that the OMMB will press the DFC to seek increase from the federal government of three cents a pound in the support prices of butter and skim milk powder.

He said also that the OMMB believes the support price of cheddar cheese should be raised to the support levels on butter and skim milk powder in order to maintain stability in the price of milk used in cheese production.

Mr. McKinnon suggested that in the future cheddar cheese may only be manufactured for a known market, including the quantities now exported to the United Kingdom, the United States and the Caribbean.

He said with Britain's entry into the European Common Market "Canada will no longer find it feasible to clear surplus cheddar cheese by subsidizing the export price to that market."

Seniors Ask Space

The city Recreation-Arena Committee will hold discussions with the Belleville Senior Citizens' group to determine the amount of additional accommodation they require at their Pinnacle Street headquarters.

The senior citizens have indicated that they need more meeting space but so far have not indicated the size of building required.

Alderman Jean Smith, committee chairman, said an enlargement of present facilities was owed to the senior citizens and suggested that if there was to be an extension of the present building it be built to the north on property now owned by the committee, and occupied by a storage structure.

Will Buy Food

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba Premier Ed Schreyer, who recently returned from an eight-day visit to the Soviet Union said that despite rapid increases in the Soviet food production capabilities the country still plans to continue with a "substantial and substantial purchase of Canadian food stuffs."

LONDON (AP) — Ecstatic applause greeted four work premieres and one British premiere at one Tuesday night's Fanfare for Europe presentation by the London Festival Ballet.

The highlight of the evening at the Royal Festival Hall were Cole Porter's Can Can, danced by Dagmar Kronke and Peter Schaufuss, whose father Frank Schaufuss created the ballet especially for them.

Also on the program were Michael Somes' Mirrors, to Harold Hyed of the Bluebird State Opera; Le Peri, a work of choreographer Roland Petit; and a prelude to In Nomine by Barry Moreland.

The British premiere was Les Rendezvous, created by Maurice Bejart, and the finale had George Balanchine's ruler of ballet entitled Bourree Fantastique.

LOS ANGELES (Reuter) — Mick Jagger and the Rolling Stones announced here Tuesday they would like to hold a benefit concert in Los Angeles Jan. 13 for Managua earthquake victims.

Jagger, 29, recently flew here from Memphis where he had gone with his Nicaraguan wife Bianca in a successful hunt for her mother after the quake.

Jagger, scheduled to leave for a Pacific tour on Jan 26, already is in difficulties with the government of Japan because of a narcotics offence in British Columbia six years ago.

Japanese authorities this week tentatively turned down permits for the group to perform there at the end of January.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two veteran actors, Rudy Vallee and William Lundigan, have filed to run against two incumbent Democrat city councilmen.

Vallee, who battled with the council in an unsuccessful attempt to change the name of the small street where he lives to Rue de Vallee, said Monday that he wanted to "tear the guts out of the council" of 15 members and "curb some of the arrogance of these little tin gods."

The 72-year-old singer filed to oppose incumbent Robert J. Stevenson, 56, who represents parts of Hollywood Hills and Hollywood.

Lundigan, 58, announced he is running against incumbent Edmund Edelman, 52.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

THURSDAY, JAN. 11

Aries (March 21-April 19): Adversity is the natural state of affairs today, nothing to be depressed about. Your persistence and good manners carry well.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Seeking or giving technical advice is favored. Unexpected turns of circumstances upset all schedules, shouldn't ruffle your equanimity.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): What you are asked to do is probably more than you have trained for—congratulate, add good questions.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): The world seems to expect too much of you. Some of this is perhaps realistic, but much of it is your opinion of yourself.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Realizing today is full of contradictions, you thrive in the arena where your vigorous efforts are concentrated.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Proceed with positive assurance as to direction. Financial advice is based on misunderstanding of your actual position.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Patience, tact and quiet diligence are needed in the circumstances of this somewhat stressful day. One thing at a time.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You have a special advantage coming up in purchasing of any sort so be alert. Give thought to your health.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your personal magnetism supersedes words, needs no explanation. Be persuasive, return to a question you've given up on, try again

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): At this season you are riding the high side of a yearly cycle that sets the stage for directions of natural favor.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Serious thought is again in order as you see too many factors running at cross-purposes. You can live much more effectively.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Pick your company according to the story you'd like to hear, but don't get carried away in your sympathy with it.

Brother Slain

Minnesota Man Plans To Resume World Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Minnesota brothers set out 7½ years ago to walk around the world in behalf of UNICEF. They were more than halfway to their goal—having covered 9,000 land miles—when a gang of murdering bandits jumped them near Kabul, Afghanistan.

The brothers, from Waseca, Minn., had been warned by officials about the dangers of the area in winter—danger from wolves and possibly from people. Oct. 22, 25-year-old John Kunst died in the dust along a road in a rugged gorge in Afghanistan.

But Dave, 32, back in New York and still recuperating from his own bullet wound from the bandit attack, is determined it will not be the end. He is busy in a United Nations Association office making plans to resume the march at the very spot where the bandits attacked to go on through Pakistan, India and China and then back to Wisconsin.

Dave and John originally started out in June, 1970, just to do something for "education, experience, adventure," something that had never been done, the surviving brother recalls, but soon decided to give more meaning to their walk around the world by doing it to promote UNICEF—the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

A woman in Minneapolis gave them the idea of walking with a mule, not only to carry their provisions and call attention to their project, but also to ward off people thinking they were hitchhikers.

In Ankara, Turkey, they acquired a wagon for the mule to pull, supplied by Turkish tourist officials. American air force officers provided them a cover for the wagon so they would have shelter when they stopped to eat or sleep.

Across most of Afghanistan, the walkers had Afghan police protection, Dave says, and "John and I agreed that Afghanistan was one o the best countries we'd been through, as far as officials were concerned."

They met us at the border, and sent police to check on us as we walked. At Herat they gave us breakfast, put us up at a hotel, and the governor gave us an official banquet.

The police followed us almost to Kabul, but we thought we had got through the dangerous part. We could have called for police protection through the gorge, but we never really wanted police. I can't explain it, but you want to do it yourself."

About six o'clock the night of Oct. 22, Dave suggested they pull the wagon off the road for the night. They were cooking dinner in the wagon when the dog began barking.

"John said there were six Afghans walking down the road," Dave recalls, "and I said 'Watch 'em.' We finished eating, and were sitting there talking when we saw headlights up the road quite a ways, and I said 'It's probably a truck broken down.'

"About 9 or 9:30 I looked out a little peekhole and the truck had parked about 200 feet from the wagon, and I said 'It must be the same truck in trouble again. These guys got out and looked under the hood.

"Then John said the same six Afghans were coming back. I had a shotgun they had given us in Askara for the wolves the winter before and I loaded it.

"When the six Afghans got by the truck, they seemed to rush over and grab the driver and his helper and I said 'I think they're robbing the truck.' They took the driver across the road and I asked John if I should jump out and shoot up in the air, and he said 'No, you're not in the United States.'

At five of the men came toward the wagon. Dave argued with his brother over whether to shoot first, and after shouting the Afghan word for "Go Away," Dave fired the gun in the air.

"They jumped back and spread out," he said. "A shot was fired—I don't know why, I think it was a signal shot, and I said we should get under the wagon but John said no, we should walk up the mountain."

But before they could do either, more shots rang out and both brothers were wounded. The bandits yanked Dave's wristwatch and belt off, and threw a mattress over him.

"I could hear them going through the wagon," Dave recalls, "Then the truck started up and it must have scared them—they took off. I went to my brother and tried to feel a pulse, but I had a feeling he was dead."

It was 2:30 in the morning before a jeepful of Afghan soldiers rescued Dave and took him back to Kabul to a hospital.

The bandits had taken clothing, a Persian rug given them by Iranian tourist officials, a gift bag from the Afghans, field glasses, a tape player, three cameras, and of course, the shotgun.

Water Said Turned South

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — An Ontario legislature committee was told Wednesday of rumors that water is being diverted from Northern Ontario to the Great Lakes, and a member said "there will be hell to pay" if the rumor is true.

A member of the audience told the legislature's select committee on land drainage that a local radio station had reported a north-flowing water was being diverted from the Albany River basin through Lake Nipigon to Lake Superior.

He gave a member of the U.S. Corps of Engineers, based in Detroit, as a source for the report.

Rev. William Ferrier, New Democratic MPP for Cochrane South, said "one of the biggest battles fought yet" would occur if water diversion is responsible for high Great Lakes levels.

Serious flooding occurred late last year in the southwestern Ontario region when high winds whipped unusually high lake waters over the Lake Erie shoreline in the Windsor area.

"There will be hell to pay" if Canadian water is being diverted for use by the United States, Mr. Ferrier said.

Lorne Henderson, Conservative MPP for Lambton and chairman of the committee, said "more than rumors were prevalent that diversion of Northern Ontario water had in fact taken place."

He promised that a provincial committee will meet within three weeks to investigate charges of water diversion.

A Ticklish Confrontation

It used to be that, while a man's moustache was not always a thing of beauty, it was at least something to call his own.

Even as women's lib darkened the face of the land — and the features of tradition-bound males.

After all, a moustache is a natural process to begin with. Little of male chauvinism surely could be charged against the cultivators of superlip carpeting.

But an incident at CFB Trenton may have shredded the moustache theory to tatters.

Organizers of the airbase Astra Winter Carnival added a moustache growing contest to their program and encouraged everyone to join.

Some wives took a hardnosed attitude. Wednesday a band of 'em turned up to register to prove that "everyone means more than the male of the species, females are also a part ..."

As yet, the men have more than a hairs-breadth start on their women challengers — as witness the above photo contrast between Cpl. Rick Crowe and Lorraine Forrestall.

As for the final outcome ?

The men are keeping stiff — if sprouting — upper lips until the last hair is in place.

Liberals Would Extend Ban on Death Penalty

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal government will ask Parliament to extend the partial ban on capital punishment for another five years, Solicitor-General Warren Allmand said Wednesday.

He said outside the Commons that the capital punishment bill will be introduced this week, either today or Friday.

He expected a debate, under which all MPs will be allowed to vote as they choose rather than following any party line, before the end of the month.

Mr. Allmand has said in the past that the government will seek to extend the ban on capital punishment, except in the cases of murderers of police officers and prison guards.

But this is the first time he has said he will seek a five-year extension.

He said the bill he will introduce in the Commons will be substantially the same as that passed in a free vote five years ago. There would be some insubstantial changes but added "here's no way I'm going to extend capital punishment," to other murders.

He has also said in the past that he is opposed to the death penalty but that he does not think the people of Canada would accept a complete ban.

The five-year trial period approved in 1968 ended last month.

NDP Says Fidinam Will Get CN Loan

OTTAWA (CP) — A New Democrat MP said Wednesday he understands that the Canadian National Railways pension fund has agreed to advance a controversial Swiss-based company $33 million to help build a Toronto building.

John Harney said outside the Commons that the company is the Fidinam company which received a large loan from the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board around the same time that it made a $50,000 contribution to the conservative party of that province.

An inquiry conducted into the affair by the Ontario legislature found no irregularity had occurred.

The member for Toronto Scarborough West had asked Transport Minister Jean Marchand in the Commons whether the pension fund was going to enter into the same kind of lease back arrangement that the Workmen's Compensation Board has, Mr. Marchand said he will answer at a later date.

The compensation board loaned Fidinam $18 million at 10 per cent interest and agreed to lease 15 floors of the building, Upper Canada Place.

Mr. Harney said the scandal is that a foreign corporation brought in only about $7 million to build a building that was going to cost in excess of $50 million. He said that it has been the rule in Ontario for many years that the governing party gets contributions amounting to about one-tenth of one per cent of the value of major projects.

Bemedalled B-52 Pilot Balks After 175 Raids

SAIGON (AP) — A B-52 commander who balked at bombing North Vietnam after his 175th mission said today he refused because "the goals do not justify the mass destruction and killing."

"It was not specifically the bombing of the North," said Capt. Michael J. Heck, 30, of Chula Vista, Calif., in an interview. "There is enough suffering just in South Vietnam to warrant a discontinuation of the war. But the massive bombing of the North might have been the last straw and I think the step that specifically pushed me over the brink.

"After the cessation for Christmas, the massive bombardments resumed and I decided I had to take the step. I reached the decision Dec. 26 and I went to see my wing commander and informed him of my decision. He advised me to seek legal assistance."

Heck, a 1964 alumnus of President Nixon's Quaker alma mater, Whittier College, could get two years in a military prison if a court martial convicts him of failure to obey a general order.

"I can live with that easier than I can with taking part in the war," he said.

Heck said he was disturbed by some pilots—"only a few"— who want to bomb civilians in North Vietnam.

"One man made the statement that he wanted to hit civilian targets in the North because it made him feel good to hurt them," Heck said. "That's the route. But this is not typical. Most people here don't like what they are doing, but they follow orders."

A spokesman for the Strategic Air Command in Omaha, Neb., said Heck is "the first and only" B-52 crew member to face a charge of "alleged failure to obey an order to fly a combat mission in Southeast Asia."

Heck's decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with 10 Oak Leaf Clusters and two Presidential Unit Citations.

Vote Confusing Postmen Negotiate

OTTAWA (CP) — Meetings between postal union and government negotiators resumed here today after a union vote that rejected proposals of the workers' national bargaining committee. The postal workers rejected by a narrow margin a negotiating committee recommendation to turn down contract proposals of a conciliation board report.

But the result of the vote, announced Wednesday was causing interpretation problems. Some union leaders saw it as an expression of non-confidence in the bargaining committee, while others saw it as a motion of support for basic principles outlined in the conciliation report.

The vote against the 16-man negotiating committee's recommendation also meant the national executive had no clear mandate to take members out on a national strike, a union source said.

The 28,000-member Council of Postal Unions (CPU) has had the legal right to strike since Dec. 21.

Members were asked in a three-part ballot to approve clauses already negotiated between the union and government, to back rejection of the conciliation report, and to support resumption of talks with the bargaining committee armed with a strike mandate.

Meaning Of Vote Not Clear

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Comedians in old-time burlesque, playing out the "who's-on-first" gag, never confused an audience as much as postal workers did this week as they voted on a conciliation report on their dispute with the treasury board.

The workers did not vote on the report itself, but on a recommendation by the 10-man bargaining team that the report be rejected.

When the cross-country vote was tallied, 10,128 full-time and 1,009 part-time postal workers stood opposed to the team's recommendation.

Another 9,847 full-time and 432 part-time employees had chosen to support the recommendation.

But in voting against the bargaining team, had the slim majority voted to accept the conciliation report? The opinions of union officials differed across the country.

In Belleville, the recommendation was turned down by two votes.

Windsor Teachers Stay Out

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Secondary school teachers rejected a contract offer from the Windsor board of education Wednesday by a vote of 418 to 311 and will remain out of their classrooms.

The vote was held at the request of the board and with rejection of provincially-appointed mediator William McGuire who conducted two negotiating sessions this week.

Jim Bethune, teacher negotiator, urged caution on the offer because it did not include job security and working condition clauses. He termed these the major issues in the dispute.

Minto May Send Manure To Toronto

HARRISTON, Ont. (CP) — A suggestion that 10 tractors, pulling fully-loaded manure spreaders, drive to the Ontario legislature buildings will be considered by a group opposing the sending by rail of 2,000 tons of Toronto garbage annually to a landfill site in this area.

A publicity committee of the Derail Dumps Today (DDT) group, which opposes the garbage plan, was told before a Wednesday night meeting the expedition might offer to give "something back to Metro Toronto in return for the garbage."

Ulster Rioting Renewed

BELFAST (AP) — Rioting broke out in a Roman Catholic district of Londonderry early today as bombs and bullet violence returned to Northern Ireland after a brief absence.

A crowd of youths attacked British troops with rocks and bottles after soldiers made three arrests in the Creggan area, until last summer a stronghold of the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Army patrols fired rubber bullets and used tear and nausea gas to disperse the mob, but several cars were overturned and set ablaze. Crude street barricades were erected by the crowd and were later removed.

The three persons arrested, including a boy and a girl, were released shortly after the disturbances.

The unrest followed a day of trouble Wednesday. For the first time in nearly three weeks bombs exploded in the streets of Belfast and Londonderry. A Belfast schoolyard was sprayed with machine-gun fire. There were no casualties.

Lillian O'Connor Board Chairman

Hastings - Prince Edward county's separate school board last night elected Mrs. Lillian O'Connor of Marmora as its chairman for 1973.

Vice-chairman of the board for the last two years, Mrs. O'Connor replaces Rev. Keane, who retired as a trustee this year.

New vice-president of the board is Paul Fleming of Belleville.

In her inaugural address, Mrs. O'Connor referred to the possibility of regional government coming to Hastings and Prince Edward and said the board "must take a look at its effect on school registers."

She told fellow trustees that they must consider the request by the ministry of education for shared facilities with the public school system.

"We are willing to co-operate on sharing, provided we do not in any way compromise our system as it is today — a system of which we are all very proud," said Mrs. O'Connor.

Mrs. O'Connor quoted the remarks of education minister Robert Welch at the inaugural meeting of Metro's Toronto separate school board.

"I am greatly concerned about providing an opportunity for the development of unity of values among young people in public schools."

Mr. Wells said, "and perhaps I shouldn't admit this, but I am hesitating on which way to move. I have been wrestling with the problem of finding unified values that are still based on some kind of religious belief."

Mr. Wells said that separate school boards are helping to develop a Christian character in young people and this unique form of education is leaving its mark on the province.

"It is gratifying to hear these words from Mr. Wells, and they explain the position of and the reason for separate schools," said Mrs. O'Connor.

Mrs. O'Connor said later that good teacher - board relationships had been achieved by the board, and referred to the two - year salary contract signed last May, one of the first in the province.

Mrs. O'Connor, mother of 14 children, in Kingston discussed president of the Women's Catholic League and is one of 19 lay members of the board of governors for Canada of Development for Peace.

Mr. Fleming listed two priorities for 1973.

The board must continue to investigate ways of maintaining and increasing communication and contacts with ratepayers and parents, he said.

Every effort must be made to insure the curriculum of the separate schools, the opportunities for the children and the relationships thereto, take are the foundation of the system, he added.

In his farewell remarks, Mr. Keane reviewed the accomplishments of the last ten years and their effect on the regional government.

Trustees must make every effort to ensure that the board is not deprived of any area under its jurisdiction in the event of regional government in the district, he said.

PUC Chairman Determined To Retain Water Services

"Hanging onto the filtration plant," is one of the main concerns chairman Lyle Langabeer foresees in the coming year as he steps for the fourth time into the office of chairman of Belleville's Public Utilities Commission.

The announcement of Mr. Langabeer's new office was revealed after elections held at Tuesday's meeting of the commission.

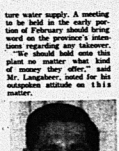
Mr. Langabeer, a master mechanic with Canadian National Railways, has been elected to the commission since 1966 and since that time has served as chairman in '67, '69 and '70.

Mr. Langabeer looks casually on talk of regional government but also sees Belleville as the source of water supply for much of the Quinte area.

"I don't want to let the water facilities here get out of our hands," he said. "There is nothing to stop the rates from going sky high if the government takes over." Mr. Langabeer ventured the rates could double or triple in that event.

Negotiations are being conducted now between Belleville and neighboring townships, the city, Canadian Forces Base Trenton and the provincial government regarding future water supply. A meeting is to be held in the early portion of February should bring word on the province's decisions regarding any takeover.

"We should have the plant no matter what kind of money they offer," Mr. Langabeer, noted for his outspoken attitude on this matter.



LYLE LANGABEER

Mr Langabeer did say that if, in the next year, townships annexed PUC's purchase water, "we will sell it to them."

Cost to the townships per unit of water would be 50 per cent greater than consumers. A service charge would also be levied for maintenance of the system.

"We'll have to play it by ear . . . we don't really know how we stand right now," he said.

Because of an increase in cost of electrical power to the PUC, Mr. Langabeer said an increase in rates would be inevitable either this month or next. The cost increase to the PUC is 7.8 per cent.

The Tuesday meeting was the first Mayor Robin Jeffrey attended as the delegate of city hall, taking over from past Mayor Dr. J. Russell Sont who had served the commission in its chairman.

In a telephone interview Mayor Jeffrey said she lacked ed certain technical knowledge in the workings of the PUC and that for a while it would be "learning process."

"As an alderman I received very little information about the PUC" the mayor said. "Establishing better communication between the PUC and the public is a concern of mine mayor who said she "didn't think there was so much communication before."

Plans are afoot to implement, at the spring opening of the Herchimer reservoir, Mayor Jeffrey said. Also on day of all PUC facilities "The Commissioners hasn't been there before," she said.

Accident Record Good In Quinte Industry

Industrial firms in the Quinte area had an encouraging accident reduction record over the past year.

This was indicated Wednesday night by G. A. Callan, co-chairman of the Central Ontario division of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association at a senior management meeting at its Belleville — Trenton section held at the Four Seasons Hotel.

Mr. Callan, an official of Lake Ontario Cement Ltd. at Picton, said that while there were seven per cent reduction in accident claims throughout Ontario last year - the Central Ontario Division, IAPA showed an 11 per cent reduction.

And the Belleville - Trenton section, including such outlying areas as Bancroft, Campbellford, Picton, Frankford and Stirling showed a 16 per cent reduction in compensatory accidents.

During the same period there had been a 52 per cent increase in attendance at section IAPA meetings which Mr. Callan suggested could mean greater attention was being given to accident prevention measures.

Guest speaker for the meeting was J. V. Findlay, assistant general manager of IAPA who talked on how Total Loss Control management could be used to reduce industrial accidents.

Former plant manager of Procter - Lewyt in Picton and well known in the Quinte area, Mr. Findlay emphasized that the best way to avoid plant accidents is to eliminate the causes.

The elimination of all downgrading incidents in plants was simply the practice of sound management, he said.

One of the highlights of the dinner meeting was the presentation by Mr. Findlay of a plaque to Lake Ontario Cement Ltd. in recognition of its achievement of 1 million accident - free man hours.

Plant Manager John Clarke accepted the award on behalf of his company, saying full credit for the honor must go to the people who work at the cement company.

He said the award honoring the company's accident-free record also presented a challenge — to work for a second million hours of accident free operation.

Clay Lined Dump OK

HILTON — As long as a new sanitary land-fill site to be used by the village of Brighton and the township of Murray and Brighton, is lined with clay rather than plastic, the provincial environment ministry will approve the project.

The subject of a new land-fill site for the three municipalities, was the topic of a public hearing called at the Brighton Township municipal hall here Nov. 30.

Under the hearing, most of the many residents who attended left convinced that a sanitary land fill project of the kind suggested wouldn't pollute nearby water sources.

Planners proposed to the extensive with a thick plastic that is designed to prevent seepage. Prime objection during the hearing was that the very nature of garbage could lead to puncture of the plastic, by cans, bottles or other objects.

The 70-acre site between Highway 401 and the Trent - Severn canal, would require a full-time attendant.

The stipulated approval was received in a letter from E. A. Childs, manager of regional operations for the ministry, who was chairman for the environmental hearing board meeting.

Retired and Busy

Interest in a volunteer project for special hobby can sometimes lead to a more or less full-time job.

At least that is the position that H. R. Frank, retired Belleville public school principal, and dedicated conservationist, has found himself in with the Moira River Conservation Authority.

For the past several years Mr. Frank has been a member of the Authority Information and Education Advisory Committee and this year was named one of two city representatives on the authority executive.

And now, in the absence of a full-time authority resources manager, the retired school principal has been given the further responsibility as special projects officer.

Last autumn, with the transfer of resources manager John Wulte to the Sudbury district, Jim Bailey was named as replacement.

But Mr. Finlay already was involved in the Ontario SWEEP program and he recently has taken on responsibility in the provincial winter works program so the Bailey duties and the local authority resources manager.

The advisory committee has already recommended the construction of the annual spring maple syrup demonstration which has been successfully perfvised by the resource manager.

Yesterday, Mr. Frisk was appointed to look after the maple bush demonstration and also to act as special projects officer until a full-time resources manager is available.

Picton Plans Science Fair

PICTON — The first science fair to be presented in Prince Edward County will be held Wednesday, March 21 under sponsorship of Prince Edward Collegiate Institute and the Picton Kinsmen Club.

County activist Clarence Young had originally asked for a recount of ballots cast a the election.

County court judge Gerald Smith of Napanee today ordered a tally of the statements provided to Belleville's city clerk by deputy returning officers at the Dec. 4 municipal election here.

His decision was given in the judge's chambers at the Hastings county court house here today, said city solicitor John Millege.

Everyone involved in education in the county, said Mr. Smith, deserves "a pat on the back for what you've accomplished."

Mr. Smith referred to "my travels of the last few weeks" which have included contract negotiations in Sarnia and Timmins.

"Situations have evolved that led to breakdown of communications," he said of these situations. "We take it theall - board - teacher relationship for granted in Hastings county but we must continue to evolve means of communication."

Board Chairman Outlines Priorities

A new administration building and a two - year salary agreement with teachers are probably be the first items tackled by Hastings county board of education.

They were listed last night by new chairman Mac Smith in his inaugural remarks as his priorities for this year.

He said that the subject of a n administrative building had been discussed and adopted in the past, but must be "one of the things we tackle in the future.

"This is an inefficient way of operating," he said of the present setup. The board now has offices at 208 Bridge St. East, on College St. adjacent to Quinte Secondary School, on Annedale Road and in Trenton.

"I'm amazed that the administration operates as efficiently as it has when we have four offices serving the needs of the children of our county," said Mr. Smith.

A two-year salary agreement was his second priority.

"This is the year for it," said Mr. Smith. "We said we too much time on salary negotiations."

Teachers' contracts are negotiated yearly, with discussions starting early in the new year, and sometimes dragging on until May.

Later, Mr. Smith said the teachers had indicated interest in negotiating for a two-year contract.

Third among Mr. Smith's intentions was a planning session by the chairman's committee. The board's chairman's committee is composed of the present chairman and vice - chairman and the past chairman. It is empowered to decide on what conventions and conferences employees and trustees can attend and who is appointed to attend them, but it can be asked to review any matter brought to it by the board.

Mr. Smith, who has often been called in by the ministry of education to mediate disputes between boards and teachers in other parts of the province, had warm words of praise for the situation in his county.

"The thing that stands out to the way we have worked together," he said in reviewing the first four years of the Hastings county board's existence.

"We have worked out a method of involving board and administration and staff," he said of decision - making in education.

Safety Award for Picton Plant

Jim Findlay, (right), assistant general manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, presents award to John Clarke, plant manager at Lake Ontario Cement Ltd. for 1 million hours accident-free operation. Award was presented at Wednesday evening dinner meeting of the Belleville - Trenton section of the IAPA Central Ontario Division.

Votes to be Tallied

The number of votes for some aldermen differed in the first count released by the clerk's office and in the revised count released Dec. 7.

The error appears to have been the addition of totals by the clerk's office," said Mr. Miller this morning.

City Clerk Adam Stalker had earlier blamed a malfunction in the adding machine used at city hall for the error.

The final addition of the votes cast at the election will take place in the judges' chambers at the court house the morning of Jan. 16.

All candidates in the municipal election will be notified of the coming tally, and can be present, if they wish, when Judge Smith adds up the totals.

Trees with Garbage

Trenton town councillor George Greer said Monday night at council, discarded Christmas trees will be collected with regular refuse pick ups.

Grant Creates 30 CFB Jobs

TRENTON — A federal labor incentives project grant of $800,000 for winter works projects at CFB Trenton was announced Tuesday by Trenton local officer Captain Robert Burke.

The majority of the allotment . . . almost $600,000 . . . will be contracted to private companies off the base.

The remainder of the money will be used for work by base personnel in addition to about 30 men hired from the Trenton area.

Some of the major items involved are: installation of sequence flashing approach lights for improved landings, especially during adverse weather conditions; installation of radiophonometal device called a commissinator in the water pollution control plant as well as phosphorous removal facilities to reduce phosphates; a new incinerator for improved anti-pollution; renovations and improvements of permanent married quarters in Middleton Park, plus miscellaneous improvements to established buildings and defence property.

Highrise Proposed For Waterfront

A public hearing has been scheduled for Feb. 7 to debate the construction of a highrise apartment building and marina on Belleville's waterfront.

Described by city planners as "very high-class, commanding very high rent," the 60-unit structure would be located on the old Moira - Schumacher lot on south Front Street.

Overlooking the Bay of Quinte, the semi - circular building, drawing rents of $300-$400 monthly, would be accompanied by a marina facility for residents.

Members of the Subordinate Planning Advisory Committee last night queried if there was a market in Belleville for a 60 accommodation.

Frank Stokmans, the city's deputy planning director, relayed from the unnamed developer "he expects to draw some clientele from tourists visiting from the United States who come to Belleville for sailing".

Mr. Stokmans broached the topic at last night's meeting, saying he was ready to submit a report to the city but a public meeting must be held before the development could be inserted into the city's official plan. The report would also have to be rezoned to allow for the building.

After discussing the project, committee member Alderman Jack Ireland said, "It is hard for me to believe there would be any objection to such an impressive development."

Other members of the committee ventured opinions that some people just don't like highrise buildings and the new complex would obstruct the view of the bay.

The public hearing of which all area residents will receive notice, will be held in council chambers.

Another Vote Believed Not Too Far Distant

Liberals—The Past Behind Them—Rally for Next Election

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Love 'em or leave 'em in the lurch on election day this much you have to say about the Liberals, on a matter what, they keep their eye on the one thing that matters. And that is power.

Nothing else matters to them. Power is both the why and the answer to everything.

So while a lot of people — and some of them around here on Parliament Hill who should have known better — have been thinking the Liberals are still standing around stunned from the awful impact of that massive public rebuke they suffered in the October vote, they have, in fact, been quietly rallying, re-grouping, re-organizing and preparing for a new assault on the citadel.

Some politicians still may be suffering under the delusion of the next election, but not the Liberals.

They know it is soon a month, perhaps two or maybe at the most — and they have alerted their troops.

The word came out officially, from both the president of the National Liberation Federation and the retiring national organizer.

In response, the Liberals, with almost knee-jerk reaction, all still standing around stunned from the awful impact of that massive public rebuke they suffered in the October vote, they have, in fact, been quietly rallying, re-grouping, re-organizing and preparing for a new assault on the citadel.

Some politicians still may be suffering under the delusion of the next election, but not the Liberals.

They know it is soon a month, perhaps two or maybe at the most — and they have alerted their troops.

The word came out officially, from both the president of the National Liberation Federation and the retiring national organizer.

Terrance Wylie, in one of his last messages before retiring at the year-end as national Liberal organizer and director, sent out the election word in a letter to some 24,000 key Liberals across the country.

Mr. Wylie, in an official "warning", as he phrased it, that "Campaign '73 is the Party's greatest test to date."

At the same time, Senator Richard Stanbury, speaking as chief of the National Liberal Federation, foreswarped the party faithful across the country not to expect miracles from the Trudeau government "considering the political and economic realities of minority administration".

National Director Wylie's letter read, in part: "... with the government in such a small minority, can an election long be delayed? Hardly!

"So the Number One Priority for '73 is quick election preparation, a new campaign committee, platform, candidates, and finances. Meeting the whole ball of wax, and putting everything together again both nationally and in each of the 264 ridings.

"Time, must be our party's resolution for '73 ... be ready to fight hard in a hard election."

So Torrance Wylie, who, as national organizer took his lumps in the last election and since has been returned to private life, had no illusions.

It is going to be a tough election, and if the Liberals love power as they do, above all else, they must fight for their political lives to hold it.

Senator Stanbury as Liberal Federation Chief seems to be sounding an cautious note in his letter to the faithful.

The Liberals — unlike the Conservatives — never have openly cut down their leaders. Despite whatever differences the party opinion there have been, and over the years there have been many and deep, the Liberals usually managed to keep it to themselves, regarding it almost as "family business", and closing ranks against a hostile outside political world.

But now with defeat having come so near — just a couple of seats and a few votes in close counts away — something may be happening to the old Liberal solidarity.

For, writes Senator Stanbury: "This is the time to be loyal.

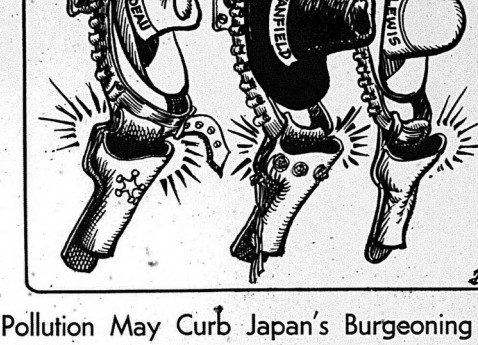
"The next month or two are three are going to be most difficult for our leader and the parliamentary wing of our party.

"They are going to need our support. Their last vestige of loyalty and support."

Can there be dissension in the sheltered Liberal ranks?

Yes, there must be plenty except for the bitter Bryce Mackasey full of recrimination on resignation, it has been pretty well camouflaged.

But disloyalty? A questioning of the creed of the Divine Right to Rule?



Increase in Crime

While this is a year of distinction for Kingston, in the celebration of its tercentenary, there is alarm at the growing incidence of crime in the historic city.

Reports show an increasing number of robberies and break-ins, some involving hold-ups and not to mention snatching of bags and pouches containing funds being taken to the bank or to cars.

Store owners are understandably concerned. According to the manager of one drug store, Kingston has more drug addicts than in the Ottawa-Hull area and they have to pilfer to pay for the habit. Doctor' offices have been among the targets.

For a population of 58,000 there is a police force of 93. Additional men are needed, particularly in the downtown areas and one store owner is quoted as saying there should be more men on the beat — on foot patrol — than driving. This seems reasonable; Kingston has its share of corner stores, some of them in dark, gloomy avenues around the university. It might profit to have men on duty in or near such establishments, and on a rotating basis so that as many as possible are covered.

It is not Northern Ireland of course, or even Montreal and Ottawa during the FLQ crisis, but Kingston being a military centre it seems a pity that soldiers, or military police at least, cannot lend a hand in circumstances such as this.

Mayor George Speal has spoken of the possibility of establishing an auxiliary police force and this idea has obvious merit too.

We were at the Kingston shopping centre last weekend and while it was all very peaceable the milling shoppers had among them a sizeable number of youths who looked as if a suggestion from one of them could send them all off on some act of mischief or other. One of the circular rents of this shopping centre was taken up all the way around by a group of bored-looking boys. Farther along a trio of youths who suddenly approached us, a much larger group, one of whom had looked in their direction muttering, "That's him!" It all looked a trifle menacing but almost as soon as they two groups came together they dispersed again. By contrast, behind the bus station, in front of some apartments, other young people were getting more in order to enjoy an unhurried was many a youthful group in the countryside en route through Desoronto and Napanee.

We don't know what plots, harmless or otherwise, are hatched in such gatherings as we have described. The vast majority of people of every age are going about their business as best they may. Nevertheless there is a restlessness and boredom abroad that sometimes manifests itself in undesirable ways. The crime rate in Kingston is indicative of the need and its prevention will lie not only in intensified police work but in community efforts to improve the quality of life generally.

Picton Stand-off

The confrontation in Picton council chamber the other day, when Mayor Harvey McFarland questioning minutes from the last council regarding construction of a road serving a housing development, and the clerk refusing or resigning over the Mayor's refusal to conform to "procedures," was in a heroic tradition, with perhaps a touch of farce.

Mayor McFarland may indeed be serving the interests of citizens by seeking further information on the cost estimate — especially if it is much higher, as he says it is — but rules are rules and we can understand Mr. Jarvis' no-nonsense reaction to the Mayor's refusal to sanction the minutes.

He resigned on principle, leaving the Council chamber as he did so. So it was a case of no clerk . . . no meeting. We await with interest the next step in this stand-off. Mayor McFarland was left saying he "never thought he (Mr. Jarvis) wouldn't go along." Well he didn't and there's a little lesson in matters of principle there for Mr. Mayor and his council.

Strap Ban

It is no more caning for primary school youngsters under the jurisdiction of the London (England) Education Authority. But the ban will not apply to schools outside London, nor will it affect those in private or church-aided schools. Discriminatory? Well, not everyone is convinced the city ban on the strap, cane or whatever is a wise one. They should know for sure in six months to a year when its effects will begin to show.

Pollution May Curb Japan's Burgeoning Economy

By JOHN HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

What of Japan, fresh from a national election with perhaps the best new cabinet in years and diplomatic relations renewed with China for the first time in over 40 years?

The Japanese with almost all external factors in favor of their still very dynamic economy, appear to be moving to that point in the late 1970s when they are predicted to have the world's largest economy.

Prime minister Tanaka did not get the big majority he anticipated in the Diet which now has substantial socialist and communist delegates. But he has made up for this by assigning his top ministers, foreign minister, international trade and industry and deputy prime minister to three of Japan's best politicians and planners.

Looking around the world, the Japanese industrial image is semi-present. In this country, the western provinces are becoming more and more part of Japan's worldwide "commercial empire."

They are supplying a growing tonnage of coal to feed Japan's steel industry, but more important her pacification plants. And in turn, they have become, along with the rest of Canada, a major importer of high-technology Japanese goods, cars, electronic equipment for consumer, medical and industrial use and electrical equipment.

In the United States, Toyota already by 1980 the third largest car manufacturer in the world with other Japanese car makers, have been the major factor in boosting U.S. car imports to almost 30 per cent of total American car purchases.

In Third World countries, Japanese banks and trading companies are either lending funds, or setting up the classic Japanese joint ventures in a host of overseas natural resource industries whose products, iron ore, aluminum, petroleum, paper, coffee, copper feed both the ever - hungry maw of Japan's industries as well as the mouths of 100 million Japanese consumers.

And now with mainland China available and the world's largest market of nearly 800 millions open to Asia's industrial giant, is there anywhere on earth where the ubiquitous Japanese businessman will not make a deal?

Only the tiny islands, which once believed military conquest and territorial aggrandizement were prerequisites for a world commercial empire, is burdened with a population explosion and perhaps the worst nation-wide industrial smog in the world.

In fact, Mr. Miki the new deputy prime minister, has also been named director of Japan's all-important National Environment Agency. Environmental pollution in Japan is now so bad, that her major industrial complexes, beginning with the 20 million population Tokyo-Yokohama manufacturing region, will have to reduce either expansion or production to make these areas livable by the end of century.

The population explosion in Japan, unlike that even fastermoving development in India, is taking place in the country with the highest living standards in Asia. Demands for high standard housing and consumer durables equal those of the West.

Mr. Tanaka's almost impossible conundrum will be how to match a consumer rate-of-demand for the products of Japan's factories with the need-escalating capacity for permanent pollution of the island country's limited living spaces.

Ex-service Men in the Bureaucracy

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's Queen's Park

Comment made here a while ago on the great influx of retired army men into the civil service drew considerable reaction: much of it, of course, from retired army men.

It seems that some further word of explanation might be worthwhile.

In criticizing the use of these men it isn't the individuals themselves that are questioned but the system they represent.

Our armed services necessarily are run on rigid lines.

They go by the book, follow set patterns and leave little scope for individual initiative or enterprise.

While this may make for good operation of armies it doesn't fit well into other administration. And unfortunately when men who have been following it all their lives are put in positions of authority in other spheres they tend to bring it with them.

And it is this intusion of the army system into civilian administration of government which is the point of concern.

This in one branch of government quite senior officers now are required to make out work sheets.

They must account for their day minute by minute and task by task.

Such an executive who has perhaps dozens of projects underway this is not only a tremendous chore but in many cases would be really quite impractical.

They also go around for time thinking. Or perhaps should you not think.

Then rank is becoming chronologously evident all through the service.

Thus a certainly fairly senior official I know was approached directly by his superior's executive assistant with a request to do something for the minister.

Four other officials who outranked him got identical notes out of joint because the request hadn't been channelled down through them.

It is all just too rigid to be efficient.

Also, of course, it is more red tape. And that is the last thing any government services needs.

"And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal." Matthew 25:46

Jesus makes it very plain that man has a choice of pardon or punishment depending on the decision he makes while on earth. "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life, he that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him."

Dr. Britain urged citizens to take a close interest in municipal management for there is no doubt but that citizens will get just about the kind of government they deserve. In reply to a question as to the results of city managership, Dr. Britain said that several managers of one factory will kill the business, but it could prosper under the control of one manager; the same applies to a city.

Admits Wiretap Guilt

WASHINGTON (AP) — After hearing the prosecution describe an alleged campaign of espionage against the Democratic party, former White House consultant E. Howard Hunt has pleaded guilty to three charges growing out of the break-in at Democratic national headquarters last June 17.

Government lawyers said the operation was ordered by top officials of President Nixon's re-election campaign committee, and included wiretapping and bugging of Democratic offices in the Watergate buildings here as well as attempts to eavesdrop on the headquarters of Senator George McGovern, the party's presidential candidate.

Lawyers for the six other men charged with Hunt declined to say Wednesday what impact his plea would have on their clients.

After hearing the plea, United States District Court Judge John J. Sirica recessed court overnight to consider whether to accept it.

Hunt, a former Central Intelligence Agency agent, pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping. Sirica will decide whether three similar charges will be dropped.

Hunt and the other defendants are charged variously with conspiracy, burglary and implanting microphones and telephone taps in the Watergate offices.

The other defendants are James W. McCord Jr., former security co-ordinator for the Nixon re-election committee; G. Gordon Liddy, former general counsel for the Committee for the Re-election of the President; and Bernard L. Barker, Frank A. Sturgis, Eugenio R. Martinez and Virgilio Gonzalez, former CIA operatives.

The case became a leading issue in last year's presidential campaign because of the links between some of the defendants and Nixon's White House and campaign staffs. The White House and the campaign committee have denied any responsibility.

In his address to the jury, Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl J. Silbert said there were "obvious political motives."

"It was in a political campaign," Silbert said. "It was directed against Democrats, especially Sen. McGovern because of his alleged left-wing views."

McCord, Barker, Martinez, Sturgis and Gonzalez were captured at gunpoint inside the offices of the Democratic National Committee in the Watergate.

The maximum sentences for the three counts to which Hunt pleaded guilty would be 12 to 25 years if they ran consecutively.

Committee Seeks Loaned Equipment

PICTON — The Cancer-Polio-Tuberculosis Committee sponsored by the Bay of Quinte Odd Fellow Lodge and Macpelah Rebekah Lodge now is beginning its 27th year of service here.

Although modern medicine has reduced the incidence of these diseases since the CPT committee organized, members still offer help to many persons suffering disabilities or personal misfortunes.

Phillip Dodds, a press reporter for the local CPT, said many families who have lost their homes through fire in Prince Edward have received aid from the committee. In 1972 the CPT raised $2,100 to assist persons in need.

To raise these funds, bingo games were held weekly in the recreation room of the Odd Fellows' Hall at the corner of Main and Ross Streets.

In the interest of public service, the CPT also offers a loan service for wheelchairs, crutches, canes and walkers. Mr. Dodds advised several of these items have remained on a long-term loan basis and the CPT committee is eager to learn their whereabouts. If still required, the items will be left in use. Persons wishing to return wheelchairs, canes or other equipment should contact Milton Dulmage at 476-6010.

Town Map Prepared

PICTON — A town map carrying the official crest of the corporation of Picton has been presented to council for examination.

The map, printed by a Richmond Hill publishing firm, contains advertisements by local merchants and will be distributed by them free of charge to the public.

The publishers appealed to town council several months ago for permission to use the corporation's crest on its cover. Council agreed to this request and the map was prepared accordingly. It shows Picton's main street plan and includes many unopened streets such as Hart and Marshall. Several points of interest listed on the map are no longer in existence.

Among these are the CNR station and telegraph office, the Regent Theatre, now closed, and York Street Public school which was sold to a religious group many months ago.

Ministry to Meet On Water Sharing

The City of Belleville, in the opening days of February, will have a clearer picture of its position pertaining to the township's water situation when a meeting will be held with the provincial government, it was revealed Tuesday.

In the talking stages for the most part, conjecture is that Belleville, with its facilities, will be utilized to supply water to neighboring Sidney and Thurlow.

The note of contention during past meetings with the townships and the government has been the cost to the township residents for the service.

"The ministry of the environment is coming down to give us some idea on the available subsidies that would offset the water cost to the township," said Public Utilities commissioner Gerry O'Connor.

It has been supposed until now that the scheme would be worked on a pay - for - use basis to the PUC.

Mr. O'Connor said another alternative would be for the government to take the water plant over.

This meeting with the Advisory Committee of the Area Water Board would mark the second such conference.

The first was held in city council chambers in the closing days of October.

No exact location or time has been set for the coming meeting which will bring together representatives from both Sidney and Thurlow Townships, Belleville, Canadian Forces Base Trenton and Hastings County.

Planning Board First to Be Paid

TRENTON — Town council Monday night voted to accept interim monthly billing levies from the Quinte Planning Board, amounting to $2,540.41.

The levies of the eight member-municipalities that form the board total $14,023.23, to be paid before the 15th of each month.

To date, no decision has been made concerning the status of the village of Brighton and the townships of Murray and Brighton, regarding their membership on the board. Last year, these three municipalities, including Trenton, voted to opt out of membership in the board.

Trenton subsequently returned to the board. If the three are allowed out of the Quinte Planning Area's jurisdiction, total monthly levies of approximately $2,000 will be lost. It is not known what plans are being considered for distributing the loss or if the other five members will be called upon to do so.

HIGH RISE OVER CORBY PARK

The recent news that yet another high rise apartment is to be built in an unsuitable area of Belleville is a matter of great concern to a considerable numbers of citizens. We agree that St. Agnes Manor is long overdue for demolition, despite our sympathy for the hardship caused to its tenants. We are not against new developments, we are however appalled that the proposed new structure is to be even higher than the controversial Parkwood apartment building on Bridge St. E. Surely a modern building could be designed that would not completely despoil the character and charm of this irreplaceable part of the old city. As we progress let us leave to our children at least a small part of this city's past heritage.

We have therefore formed a society to KEEP BELLEVILLE BEAUTIFUL with the following aims:

(a) We will directly approach the Ontario Municipal Board, and ask for an immediate freeze on the building of further high rise in Belleville until its effects on the citizens can be studied. There are a number of precedents for a temporary halt of this nature.

(b) We will ask Mayor and Council to review in depth all recent building permits granted for proposed high rise developments in this city.

(c) We will also ask Council to speed up the completion of the official zoning plan for Belleville, which has already taken several years. It is obvious to us that you cannot have planned growth without a plan.

(d) We intend to apply for a reduction in the rateable assessment of properties in the vicinity of high rise development.

At present it appears that new construction in Belleville only has to meet the provincial standards but we feel there should be local modification. We would like to improve this situation and we are sure that the present Mayor and Councillors, many of whom were elected because of their apparent sympathy for our aims will support us. We understand that the matter of uncontrolled high rise development is to be discussed at the next Council meeting on January 15th.

We hope that speedy action will be taken in this matter of great concern to a considerable number of the citizens of Belleville.

We already have a petition with hundreds of signatures and we ask all those in sympathy with us to sign the cut off slip attached and return to Box Number A99, The Intelligencer.

Signed by the Officers and Founder members of the KEEP BELLEVILLE BEAUTIFUL Society.

TO THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL

I (we) the undersigned wish to protest the erection of yet another high rise apartment block on Bridge Street E. We feel that a building of this type will despoil the character of this unique and gracious old residential area.

Pregnancy Tests for Men Bring Kickbacks for Doctors

NEW YORK (CP) — In a city where welfare is the biggest go-for business, even dwarfing some giant corporations, fast-buck artists from all walks of life have a ready-made market to exploit. The latest scandal to break is the medical gyp.

It cost the state-run Medicaid program, which provides medical care for some 1.4 million New Yorkers, most of them on welfare, an extra $4 million in fees for examinations in 1971 and 1972.

Authorities disclosed Wednesday that the city's Medicaid program had been bilked of millions of dollars through a widespread doctor-laboratory arrangement under which needless tests, including a pregnancy test for a man, were ordered in return for fat kickbacks.

While considered unethical, the system of "bonuses" paid by laboratories to doctors is not illegal. Legislation was introduced Wednesday to make such payments a criminal offence.

Dr. Howard Katz, senior medical auditor, said a survey of 35 laboratories showed that 26 of them had "bonus" arrangements with doctors or medical groups.

Typically, he said, a laboratory makes regular cash payments to a doctor or medical group, pays the salary of a technician on the doctor's staff or rents space in the doctor's office.

In one case, Dr. Katz said, a laboratory paid a doctor $2,000 a month for rental of a closet in the doctor's office.

In return, the doctor ordered needless but expensive tests for his Medicaid patients.

Included were Sickle cell anemia tests for white persons although the disease is found mainly among blacks.

A review of health department records showed that the percentage of laboratory tests was "considerably" higher in instances where doctors received kickbacks, Dr Katz said.

The health department suspended four doctors and six laboratories from doing business with Medicaid for up to six months and recovered $250,000 for unnecessary tests including $25,000 from one laboratory.
